SHORT METER-ILLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS FOR

June. Menday, 10.—Sale of Portraits at the Rogues' Gallery. The heads of a choice collection of "knucks," "pals," and "gob sluicers" were knocked off to the lowest bidder, as should have been done before their portraits were taken.

Tuesday, 11. -Beer Brewers hold a Convention in Chicago. Their object is for the promotion of the sale of beer. Some little disagreement in the Convention caused the different Committees to get to lagerheads with one another.

wednesday, 14.—Regatta on the Schnylkill of the Schnylkill Navy. The maneuvring of the various vessels of the line was excellent. The neatness with which the crews put into Port after the review was worthy of all praise.

Thursday, 13.—Meeting of City Councils.

The vote to receive President Johnson with the hospitalities of the city passed on the plea that it was not Mr. Johnson, but the President of the United States, that was coming. This nice distinction will make people anxious to see who it is. Friday, 14 .- Strawberry Festivals break out in the city, and threaten to spread to an alarming extent. Fire Horns, Bibles, Spanners, Arm Chairs, and Wax Fruit offered as inducements for people to eat the Strawberry crop.

Saturday, 15.—SERIES COLUMN DAY. The Editor has been waited upon by Mr. McMullen, Alderman and Referee of the late fight, to say that Betsy Stanton is going to stump the State on female suf-frage, and to declare Bets off on that ground,

"Little Mill" between Horry Greeley, the "People's Pet," and Uny League, the "Gotham Rooster"-Six Rounds Fought -Some Pretty Sparring Done!-The "Gotham Rooster" Badly Punished! [SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE SERIES EDITOR.]

This little "mill," so long on the tapis, came off, notwithstanding the vigilance of the police, according to agreement. Both parties were in excellent training. Uny League had his headquarters near Madison Square, where the fancy nightly met to discuss the chances of their "Rooster," and exercise with him and put him through the motions. Uny's backers were Sinclair Toucey, alias "Newsey Tewsey," and W. Philips, alias "Windy Phillips." Uny was put in a severe course of training daily, and bets of three to ene were offered by his friends during the fore part of the time of the challenge, with but few takers. Uny's seconds had been in the "ring" often themselves, and posted their principal well up in all passes and defenses, and they had no doubt of his being able to crowd Horry on to the ropes. In fact, during the preliminary sparring prewious to the day of the fight, it was the opinion of almost every one that Uny's passes, which were straight from the shoulder, must send Horry to "prayers" on every round. "Newsey Tewsey" offered to stake one whole week's edition of the New York Ledger on Horry's headquarters were at Printing House Square, where he has so long held outand where he has heretofore done all his sparring. His trainers and seconds, Harry Beecher, alias "Plymouth Game Cock," and Bill Raymond, alias "the Little Villain," knew that Horry would show fight, and trusted more to their "pet" in getting his adversary in chancery, and punishing him with a few telling punches on his peepers, than in a long fight. Both parties, however, were in excellent training, and as the time drew near for the "mill," bets on the "Rooster" found ready takers among the friends of the "pet." Simmy Draper was chosen referree.

THE PIGHT.

The choice of position was won by Uny, and stakes and ring were put up; formed at 8 o'clock P. M., sharp.

Round 1-Both came in confident, and after a little sparring Uny let go his left mauley, but Horry dropped, and Uny struck wild; coming up to the scratch again, Horry fetched one on Uny's knob, which he said felt like a block head. First blood for Horry.

Round 2-Uny, after the first blow, kept on the defensive, Horry following him around the ropes, getting in occasionally on Uny's mazzard, and drawing a little claret from his smeller. Second blood for Harry, amid cheering.

Round 3-Bets offered three to one on Horry, with no takers. Uny came up a little groggy, and began striking out wild. He, however, fetched a lifter on Horry's potato trap, clesing that up for a short time, and both parties retired to their corners.

Round 4-At the call of time both parties came up smiling. After a few feints Horry struck a blow, which was claimed as foul, and caused much excitement among their friends at the time, but the referee disallowed the claim.

Round 5-This round was the most decisive of any yet fought. Horry got Uny in chancery, and administered some very heavy punishing, Uny being rendered perfectly powerless, while Horr's pummelled Uny's nob until both peepers were in mourning, and Uny went to grass. Great cheering for Horry. Ten to one offered and no takers.

Round 6-Both parties now show signs of punishment; Uny's peepers closed; while Horry came up weak in the knees. After some parrying and stopping Horry got home his bunch of fives on Uny's bread-basket, caving in that department, when Uny's seconds threw up the sponge.

The "Pet" was taken off the ground, while the "Rooster" was too badly punished to be moved, but was nursed where he was. Uny's backers declare themselves not satisfied with the fight. They say that Horry struck below the belt on the fourth round, and that their man will be ready to fight again in a twelvemonth from date. Horry's backers want the matter to drop, as their principal declares his intention of retiring from the ring.

This fight was conducted under the amended rules of the P. R. (Private Republican) Asso-

Although Uny had choice of position and weight, yet Horry's activity on his pins won him the fight.

The police were promptly on the spot in less than an hour after the fight.

FROM OUR EUROPEAN CORRESPONDENT.

Paris, June 1. Dear Editor :- I am now a daily visitant here of the Great Exhibition, and although all the exhibits are not yet in their places, I am, and will, consequently, take a few moments to scratch off a little account for you. The shape of the building, as you are aware, is round, except the square part, which is oblong. You enter it at one of the door-ways

-that is, after you get your ticket-and then a most bewildering sight, and over twenty direction-signs, meet your eyes. Like the Light Brigade at Balaklava, that Mr. Tennyson speaks of,

Things to the right of you, Things to the left of you, Things in front of you, Labelled and numbered, knock down and even rivet your attention, until you are glad to cry, "Enough ! enough !" My valet (who is not what Wadsworth would call a "peaceful valley") is all of the time getting himself and me into all sorts of squabbles. I believe he cannot speak a word of French.

The interior decorations of the various avenues are gergeous; they all look like the "avenues to wealth" that we read about, but, like these mystical avenues, you must have the wealth to get into them.

An American cannot but have a feeling of regret to see how meanly his nation is represented here, from our Minister down to Mr. T. J. Markland's coal scuttle, in the Phitadelphia department. One looks in vain for a display of the Atlantic cable of 1858, and other jewelry from Tiffany & Co., or for those beautiful "Soldiers' Packets" for twenty-five cents, that contain within their envelopes so many gold and silver watches, pencils, penknives, and writing paper. In vain one looks for a model of the "big organ," or of a head of Emerson, with its organs, from Boston. Where are the specimens of colored covers from the American News Company, which enclose literature so light that it necessarily illuminates the covers? And among the side arms, where are our New York Aldermen's inkstands?

In the Scientific Department, why are there not a few bottles of "Jersey lightning," which make and break more "jars" than ever Leyden could turn out, working to its full capacity? I feel ashamed of my country, more particularly since I am engaged to-morrow to take around the Czar of Russia, the Sultan of Turkey, and the Viceroy of Egypt, as Iwill have to explain to each of them in their own language, in all probability, all about Mr. Sewand Our Department, which will be a very hard job in any language, particularly as to the former.

Most of the departments from America have a special agent to take care of the articles on exhibition. This is omitted, however, in the contributions from some of our Southern States, as they were reckoned by the French Committee of Arrangement as

ABLE TO TAKE CARE OF THEMSELVES ; consequently no agent has been appointed either by them or the States, and it will, of course, devolve upon me to exhibit these products of the Lower Mississippi to the aforesaid Crowned Heads, and if they want to keep their crowns on their heads they will give them the same latitude as they would a Werkman's

I see by the illustrated papers here that one of our countrymen yesterday took advantage of the numerous steamboats on the Seine to make a trial of his submarine torpedoes for blowing up vessels. I understand it was a perfect success, not less than three crowded boats having been completely destroyed, and two others seriously damaged. All of the excursionists on the boats were more or less fatally injured. The Emperor has given the lucky inventor an order for three hundred thousand of them; he said at the time he would have made the order larger, but that the "Empire is Peace."

As an evidence of the reckless way in which our countrymen spend their money I may mention of one of them at the Chamber of Deputies giving the Garde fifty dollars to hire M. Thiers to make a speech, in order, I suppose, that he may compare it with some of President Johnson's. The colored visitors from the United States are continually insisting on the French bootblacks blacking their boots in the most public places, until they are not able to tell which way they are standing, whether on their "heels or their heads"-both ends of them are so black and shiny.

All sorts of mean expedients are resorted to here to see the Exhibition. They know the admission fee to see it is one franc, yet they impose on the doorkeeper, and get in at half price by wearing a green patch over one eye: the Code Napoleon is so strict that it would not allow the clerk to charge the same for a sight with one eye as it would for two; thus, by closing one of their eyes, they "shut up" both of the clerk's eyes, as we say in America.

The great attraction of the Exposition, as suppose most of your readers know, and which draws all of the Heads of Empires, Principalities, Powers, and Duchies to Paris, crowned and uncrowned, is now on exhibition, as a kind of a side-show at the Tuileries. This wonderful work of Art was raised out of the sands of St. Helena, and placed in its present position on the night of December 2, 1851, after three years of hard labor, day and night. The resurrection of this image, which was reckoned to have been buried in 1815 deeper than ever Egypt's Sphynx was by the crowned heads of Great Britain, Russia, Austria, and Prussia, is regarded as very wonderful by the "Crowners" of to-day; consequently their inquest now held over it. A Jew by the name of Daniel, about twenty-five hundred years ago, wrote that this Sphynx would be on exhibition about this time; but as his House has no standing on the Bourse, of course his notes of hand have not much value with the friends of Rothschild and other more modern Israelites.

I will explain to your readers more particularly the construction of the building. Take a link of sausage, and lay it down flat on a table, then take another link large enough to enclose the first link, then take another still larger, and so on until you have sausages enough, and then you have it. The spaces between each of the links, as they are laid inside one another, are the aisles, and all the curious things and stuff you see in walking through the aisles is your sausage. The avenues cut the sausage up into mouthfuls, so to speak, and of course they get larger as you go out to the circumference. Napoleon's cousin is the inventor of this plan, and is himself a native of Bologna; consequently it is no new thing to him.

I shall stay here while the rest of the Crowned Heads are here. I am reckoned among the Bell-Crowned Heads, as they call us , Yankees, on account of one or two antiquated specimens from Wisconsin, who make themselves prominent in their bell-crowned hats and short, strapped pantaloons.

FIRE AND BURGLAR PROOF SAFES

MORE ABOUT LILLIE'S CHILLED-IRON SAFES

IMPORTANT FACTS

WHICH THE PEOPLE SHOULD "MAKE A NOTE OF.

FACT I.—LILLIE'S CHYLLED-IRON SAFES have been largely introduced for the last twelve years, and sold to those having the largest amount of valuables, as the best and most thoroughly Burglar-Proof Sate; and, up to the last three years, it has been as rare to hear of one of Lillie's Sates having been robbed by burglers, as to see or hear of a white bine abird or a white elephant.

Fact II.—It is notorious that the profession of the burglar has advanced at a rando pace within the last eight years, and what was thoroughly burglar-proof then is not so now, which accounts for the fact that within the last three years very few of Lillie's Sales have been robbed, and the secret anonymous circulars distributed by other safe-makers latterly, showing a very few cases only, is the strongest evidence that but a very small number have been robbed to this time, notwithstanding the large number in use, and the amount at stake it successful.

FACT III.—There are two, and only two, general and leading princidles upon which all burgiar-proof safes are constructed. The one is pouring liquid from between and around bars of wrought iren, hardened atreel, or any proper combination of metall. This principle is adpted by Lillie, in the Chillediron Safe, and covered and controlled by his letter patent.

The other is made up of layers of plates, or different retails, held together by boits or rivets, or both. To this principle there are various objections:—The cost is double. The wrought from plates, which are the strength of the safe, are outside, and are operated upon by the whole catalogue of burgiars' tools. The boits or rivets are easily forced by suitable tools, with or without powder, and cannot be suntained. The former principle, adopted by Little, avoids alt these objections, can be made any thickness, and withstand any amount of resistance required; avoids the rivets, boits, etc.; has no wrought from outside to be operated upon by burgiars' implements.

Pact IV.—Mr. Lillie, the Patentee, as soon as he

the rivets, bolts, etc.: has no wrought fron outside to be operated upon by burglars' implements.

Fact IV.—Mr. Lillie, the Patentee, so soon as he learned that it was possible with the modern improved tools for burglars to grind through chilled iron or hardened atet, began experimenting to avoid the difficulty, and after much labor and expense he has perfected a system for chilling iron and expense he has perfected a system for chilling iron and expense he has perfected a system for chilling iron and combining metals that is entirely proof against the burglar's drill, or any other of his tools, even the wedge, warranted to stand the hardest test practicable for any burglar to make. As a croof of his success, the following certificate is now offered from the Novelty Works, New York, 18th December, 1866.

Messes. Lewis Lillie & Son:—

Gentlemen:—We have subjected the sample of Chilled Iron you furnished us to the most severe tests (as regards drilling through it) that we could bring to bear upon it, and without success.

It is our opinion that it can only be penetrated by the use of a large number of drills, and the expenditure of much power, with days of time.

And we think it impossible for a burglar, with his time and power, to penetrate it at all.

Yours truly,

INAAC V. HOLMES, Superintendent,

LYMAN G. HALL, Foreman.

And the following extensive Iron manufacturers in Philadeiphia, Boston, and Chicago, after the most thorough tests, find the result to be substantially the same.

Aud their principal Iron Workers so certify:

Miessrs. Merrick & Son, Southwark Foundry, Finnadelphia.

The Finkley & Williams Works, Boston, Mass,
The Union Foundry and the Northwestern Foundry, Chicago, Ill.

Fact V.—The proposition made the public heretofore is now renewed: I will furnish Safes or Vanit Doors, of same size and capacity of other best makers, and at one-third less price; and the same may be tested when finished, and I will furnish the man to test the work of any other maker, and he shalf furnish the man to test my work; and the party so ordering may accept the work which stands the most resistance, in any wayor manner practicable for a burglar to work, Fact VI.—I would now say to any of the owners of Lille's Safes, that, in view of the preceding facts, it they feel the need of additional security, I will exchange with them, on fair terms, giving them all the late improvements, and the increased security, which is claimed to be beyond the reach of Burglars, unit some new system shall be developed in the working of Iron, which would now seem hardly possible. FACT VII.-It is true that the Sheet-Iron or comm Sale, as now made, under ordinary circumstance (and when not crushed by the fall of walls or timbers usually saves the written matter, but if the fire is acvere it has to be copied, for the ink will soon fade out besides, the safe is twisted up and useless.

It is equally true that the Chilled-Iron Safe saves the written matter in a perfect state, that it does not fade out or require copying, and that the safe itself is ready for further use. Any number of trials in fires, certified to, prove these facts, and if any of the safe venders who are distributing ascret. safe venders who are distributing secret, anonymous circulars to injure the reputation of LLLLIE'S SAFE, are not satisfied with these statements, they can have the opportunity of testing by fire one of their own safes with fillLIE'S, on equal terms, whenever Sares with LILLIE'S, on equal terms, whenever they so decide.

Fact VIII.—In answer to the story circulated by interested parties, that Lillie's Safe had gone up, and had ruined Lillie, etc., I would say that at no time in the last two years could Lillie & Son half supply the demand for Safes, and were unner the necessity of forming a large stock company, with a very large capital, to meet the demand; and Mr. Lewis Lillie, Sr., is now the president of that company, which is located on the Delaware, in Pennsylvania, near Easton, and is the largest Safe Works probably in existence, and will be able to supply all demands for Safes, Locks, Chilled-Iron Vaulis, etc.

In conclusion, I beg to call, the attention of my Chilled-Iron Vaults, etc.

In conclusion, I beg to call the attention of my patrons and friends, and the public, to the facts here presentee, and to say that I am very thankful for past invors, and that I am prepared to furnish Lil-Lik's BURGLAR AND FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES, VAULT DOORS, CHILLED IRON VAULTS and COMBINATINN LOCKS, all at short notice, warranted to be the best and cheapest in market. I also keep constantly a large assortment of second-hand Fire Proofs, taken in exchange for Lillie's Burglar Proofs, of the best-known makers, all put in good order, and offered at helow usual auction prices.
