BRAZIL

OPENING OF THE BRADILIAN CHAMBERS-SPEECH OF THE EMPEROR ON THE WAR AND THE CON-DITION OF THE COUNTRY.

The steamship North American, which left Rio Janeiro May 25, arrived at New York yesterday. She brings word that the United States steamers Brooklyn and Huron were at Rio Janeiro. The Brooklyn expected to leave for home about the 8th of July. There was no sickness at Rio Janeiro on the departure of the steamship North America. The cholera excitement had completely subsided.

The Brazilian Chambers were opened on the 23d ult. by the Emperor in person, who made the following address :-

AUGUST AND WORTHY REPRES STATIVES

THE NATION:—The meeting of the General Assembly inspires me and all Brazilians with high delight and grateful hopes.

Order has been unalterably maintained among the people of the Provinces; and the tranquility during the late elections is a further condense of the provinces. evidence of the love consecrated by Brazilians to national institutions.

Thanks to Divine Providence, the state of the public health is satisfactory in the greater part of the Empire. The cholera morbus, which I am sorry to say afflicted the capital, and some parts of Rio de Janeiro, S. Pedro of Rio Grande do Sul, and Santa Catharina, disappeared rapidly, without proving so fatal as on the oc-casion of its first appearance. The Government took every precaution, as in duty bound.

The war brought on by the President of Paraguay has not yet reached its desired termination; but Brazil and the Argentine and Oriental Republics, true to their alliance, will soon realize the end.

In the execution of such a sacred duty, the Government has received the most valuable aid in the indefatigable exertions of every Brazilian, and all have entire confidence in the valor of the army, navy, national guard, and voiun-teers, to whom is due the sincere thanks of the cholera morbus, which unfortunately invaded the river La Plate, caused considerable loss to the allied forces in front of the enemy. I profoundly lament the death of so many of the brave, who were anxious for the moment to risk in battle their lives for their country.

To Brazil and allied republics the Government of Peru offered its kind services, as a preliminary mediation on the part of itself, Chili, Bohvia, and Equador Republics, to re-establish neace with Peruspical Lates on the Helical peace with Paraguay. Later on, the United States Government also offered its gracious mediation for the same purpose. The allies, thankful for the offers, could not permit. It is gratifying for me to communicate to you that Brazil is at peace with all other toreign powers, with whom the Government exerts itself to cultivate the most amicable ties. Was signed in Paris, and is in force a declaration interpreting article 7th of Consular Convention celebrated with France, putting thus an end to the doubt respecting inheritance, which occurred in the practical execution of said convention, and the same result the Govern-ment hopes to obtain with respect to other conventions of a similar nature. It delights me to announce to you that the navigation of the Amazon, and some of its tri-butarics, also of the rivers Tocautins and S. Francisco, were by decree, No. 3749, dated 7th December last, decided to be opened to the mercantile marine of all nations, on and after the 7th of September next.

This measure, corresponding with the expectations of natives and foreigners, promises the most important advantages to the Empire. The public revenue continues to increase, but the expenditure, especially that originating with the necessities of war, has increased in a manner to produce a deficit in the budget, which it is of the most vital importance to clear off, in the way that your wisdom and patriotism may suggest. The servile element of the Empire cannot fail to merit opportunely your consideration, acting in a manner to care for the high interests attached to emancipation, by respecting actual property, and without giving a profound shock to our main source of industry, agriculture.

To promote colonization ought to be the object your particular solicitude. Equal attention is due to public instruction. Among the measures required for the army service are most prominent that of a law for recruiting, penal codes, and military regula-

Experience teaches that it is most urgent to alter the classification of naval officers,
Practice has also shown the convenience of modifying the organization of the national guard, principally with reference to the further mobilization under extraordinary circumstances.

August and worthy representatives of the Your dedication to the public welfare, and the benefit of your counsel, assure me that you will enable the Government to overcome the present difficulties, and to establish ever prosperity of the country on a more solid basis.

The session is declared open.

A PHILADELPHIAN DISAPPEARS NEAR CIN A PHILADELPHIAN DISAPPEARS INSAR CIN CINNATI—FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.—From our Cincinnati exchanges we gather the particu-lars concerning the disappearance of Dr. T. H. Ridgeley, of Philadelphia, who went to the for-mer city to attend the Medical Convention re-cently in session there. Dr. Ridgeley's mother and brother-in-law, Rensseizer W. Lee, Esq., reside in Kentucky, about two miles south from Covington. On the adjournment of the Convention Dr. Ridgeley and his family went Convention Dr. Ridgeley and his family went to Mr. Lee's residence to make a censiderable visit, the Doctor, meanwhile, frequently returning to Cincinnatt. On Monday of last week, June 10, Dr. Ridgeley was last seen by his friends in Cincinnait. He left them in a very chearful mood, and started for the residence of his brother-in-law, to join his family. Since that time no one of his acquaintances has seen or heard anything of him, and as may well be imagined, his continued absence causes great distress on the part of his family and friends, who are led to the conclusion that he has been foully dealt with.

Dr. Ridgeley was formerly an assistant surgeon in the army, and at the close of the war was Medical Purvey or for East Tennessee. He is about thirty years of age, about five feet eight inches in height, of slight build, fair complexioned, and having light hair and side whiskers.

SOMEWHAT MIXED .- Jacob Keller, who is the Somewhat Mixed.—Jacob Keller, who is the sole proprietor of a beer establishment at No. 1102 Girard avenue, lately let the upper apartments of his house to a young single woman, named Ellen Klaise. Jacob vehemently asserts that she thereafter kept a disorderly place. For this he laid a charge of disreputable conduct, and had her arrested. At the bearing she gave testimony that Jacob sold liquor on Sunday, which led to his being taken in custody. The latter followed it by swearing that sue had perjured herself, and in return was impeached for an as-ault and battery. Both were held to keep the peace. But Jacob could not stand the pressure, and so last night be went up to Miss Klaise's room, and demanded admittance, and, being refused, deliberately kicked opened the door, which led to his arrest for foreible entry. Alderman Fitch held him to snawer at Court. Alderman Fitch held him to answer at Court.

THE RECEST DESTRUCTIVE FIRE .- The account | published yesterday afternoon in THE EVEN-ing Telegraph, of the desirective confugra-tion by which the New American Theatre was reduced to a heap of ashes, was so full and cor-rect that but little remains to be added. Fire Marshal Blackburn is diligently engaged in working up the case, and the evidence thus for ellcited goes to show quite conclusively that the fire was the work of an incendiary. It is also ascertained that the fire originated in the so ascertained that the fire originated in the southern part of the stable, among several bundes of hay and straw which were in the hay-mow. This portion of the stable was separated by a slight partition only from the apartments on the second floor, which were occupied as a residence by John Rigney, the gas man of the Theatre.

Yesterday afternoon, the iron safe of the es-tablishment, which had been removed from the office where it was located, before the flames the office where it was located, before the flames had singed the paint on the exterior, was opened, and then, for the first time, Mr. Fox was aware that one of his insurance policies had oxpired just before the disaster. This policy was for the sum of $3000, so that the insurance remaining on the building amounts to only $6000—$3000 in the Hope, of New York, and $5000 in the Baitimore Fire Insurance Company. The scenery and theatrical properties in the building at the time of its destruction atone were worth about $15,000, so that Mr. Fox's loss, over and above the amount of his insurance, over and above the amount of his insurance will be about $30,000. "A THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREYER."—
The enchanting scene presented last evening at the Academy of Music, will long be remembered by all who witnesed it. The platform was thronged with children and youth of the Tabernacle Baptist Schools, whose white dresses made a strong contrast with the woodland scenery of the stage. The choruses were splendidly rendered under the leadership of Mr. John M. Evans, and we did not hear a jarring note from the many hundred voices. The solos of Miss Blackburne, and the quartette and trio of Miss Blackburne, and the quartette and trio sang by the choir of the Tabernacle Church, could scarcely have been excelled, and the whole affair was certainly a splendid success

A CURIOUS LETTER FROM QUEEN VICTORIA AND LOUIS NAPOLEON TO MR. SEWARD. WINDSOR, June 13, 1867.

Dear Sir:-It has come to our ears that a certain Maximilian, Emperor of your sister Republie, Mexico, is now in the hands of some insurgents of that troublous empire. It is also rumored that there is a possibility of his being shot-a proceeding, it is needless to say, wholly repugnant to the refined feelings of a gentleman, connected, as he is, with some of the first Courts of Europe. I therefore, with my royal brother, Napoleon III, implore of you that you use the influence of your great republic to have our royal brother Maximilian put into some Mexican Fortress Monroe for a season, instead of being shot, for, to a nature like his, this debasement will be, if anything, a greater punishment.

We feel the more confident in making this application to you, as you have served one so, whom your country and the world at one time thought a great criminal.

Myself and royal brother will be pleased to see you in Europe, or at the Exposition this summer, and bring with you that suit of Ready-made Clothing you wrote us about, purchased, we believe, of a Charles Stokes & Co., Clothiers, under the Continental Hotel, Philadelphia, (Signed), VICTORIA

Trial of John H. Surratt.

Mr. Brooke, stabler, was recalled and examined by Mr. Pierrepont—Surratt sent back to the stable a team of horses which he had hired; do not recollect that it was a pair of horses Surratt had; have seen Booth, Alzerot, and Harold conversing with Surratt at my stable; I had a conversation with Alzerott about a trip of Surratt; he showed me the conclusion of a letter from Surratt, and Alzerott said he had a letter from Surratt, but that he would not let me see it all: I read the concluding paragraph; Alzerott said the letter was dated in Richmond; and Surratt understood the detectives were after him, and he was making his way North as fast as he could; that was in the early part of April, 1855; the conversation between us commenced by Alzerot calling me out on the pavement and telling me about the letter; I asked Atzerott to let me see the letter; I understood that Surratt was making his way North from Richmond; the only difficulty. Atzerott said, that Surratt was in, was that the detectives were after him; I understood Alzerott to mean Government detectives; Surratt and I had frequent conversations about the payment of money; I remember that Surratt took away a blind horse, but cannot remember the exact time; the horse was a fine racking norse at the same time a bay horse was taken away, they were Surratt horse were brought mack a terwards by Alzerott for sale; they were not sold and I saw the blind horse again, at the Government stables on Nineleepth street; that was during the process of the conspiracy trial; I was sent nere by the Judge Advocale to see the horse. (A staper was exhibited to the witten order I have referred to: it is in Surratt's horse were not sold and I saw the blind horse again, at the Government stables on Nineleepth street; that was during the process of the conspiracy trial; I was sent nere by the Judge Advocale to see the horse. (A staper was exhibited to the witten order I have referred to: it is in Surratt's handwriting. Continued from the Second Edition. Mr. Brooke, stabler, was recalled and examined by the written order I have referred to: it is in Surratt's handwriting.

The paper was read to the jury. It is dated February 21, 1865, and was an order from Surratt to J. C., Howard, authorising Atzerott to use his (Surratt's) horses, gloves, and leggings. These things were kept in Mr. Howard's stables.

The wi'ness resumed—When these men came to the stable they would go to the back end, and engage in conversation together, in a low tone, at least I could not hear what was said. They were at least 120 feet from me.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bradley-Booth took the horses away after I had been informed by Surratt that Booth would take them away and pay for them; at the conversation referred to, it was stated that Surratt was in Richmond, and that the detectives were after him: I do not recollect what time in April the conversation occurred.

By Mr. Alexander, a juror-It is a frequent occurrence that gentlemen who keep horses at my stable walk to the rear end of it.

James W. Pumphrey sworn, and examined by Mr. Carrington-I keep a livery stable at No. 24 Sixth street, between Fourand-a-half and Sixth street; knew John Wilkes Booth; he came to my stable and asked for the proprietor: I stepped up, and he wanted a saddle horse to ride to the country; I told him I would accommodate him with a good saddle horse: I told Booth, as he was a stranger, he would have to leave security, or give city reference: Surratt came up and said that he knew Mr. Booth, and that he would take good care of the horse: Surratt also said he would take good care of the horse: Surratt also said died, and when the boy brought him out Booth had gone across the street to the Pennsylvania House and mounted the horse, and ro'e away: I never saw Mr. Surratt after that; Booth trequently came to the stable after wards, and generally got the same saddle horse; this was about six weeks before the assassination; on the I uricenth of April, at II o'clock. Booth came and been in the babit of riding: I told him I could not give him that horse; and sind he wanted the horse he had been in the babit of riding: I told him I could not give him that horse; and sind he wanted the horse he had been in the babit of riding: I told him I could not give him that horse; at sit he cornor of Sixth and C streets; I

By oth since.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bradley—Witness in 1858 kepi a stable at the corner of Sixth and C streets; I saw John Surratt there, he was a small boy and came with his father; I never saw-David Reed at my stables half a dozen times in my life.

John Fietcher sworn, and examined by Mr. Pietreront—I reside at Naylor's livery stable, near Thirteenth street; on April 11, 1865. I saw Atzerott and Harold at Naylor's stable, but they were not together, and saw Atzerott first, and an hoor afterwards saw Harold; Harold engaged a horse till ten minutes past 4 o'clock; he came at that time for the horse, and said he was going to take a ride with a lady; nearked for a particular horse named Charley, and was very particular about the saddle and bridle that he would take; he selected a double relied bridle, with two bits on its when he mounted I asked him now long he would tay out; he said he did not know, and I to d him not to keep the horse out longer than between eight and nine o'clock; the horse did not come back at that time; when it came to nine o'clock. I had a suspicion about Harold not coming back; Atzerott came for his horse at ten o'clock while the boy was getting the horse, Atzerott and I took a drink at the Union Hotel, and Atzerst said "If this thing happens to-night, you will have a presen;" Atzerott made some remark ibout the horse being good on a retreat and I suspected him for some reason, and foliowed him to the Kirkwood House, where he diemounted on went in. Atzerott came out sgala and moved ong D street, and torned up Tenth street; I then lost sight of Atzerott and a few mons—o's after wards I saw Harold at Fourieenth street and Pennsylvanila avenue. I accosted Harold and demanded the horse, but Harold refused to give him up, and put events to his horse and went up Nineteenth street to F. I then went to the stable and saddled a horse; I knew that Atzerott had to cross the Nayy Yard bridge to go loome, and I followed him down in F. I Len went to the stable and saddled a horse; I knew that Atzerott had to cross the Navy Yard bridge to go home, and I followed him down in that direction, but was prevented from crossing by the guard, and returned to the stable. I haver saw the horse Harold rode since; Harold rode a light roan horse; Atzerott rodes dark by we horse; this horse Atzerott brought there in the first instance; I never saw the one-eyed horse until Atzerott and another gentleman brought two horses there; the other man was about five feet seven or eight inches: he had black hair and a beavy black moustache; he was thin, and about medium height. No cross-examination, John J. Roffery sworn, and examined by Mr. Witson—I reside at Hudgon City, New York. On April 14, 1865. I was in the Veteran Reserve Corps, and commanded a company at Lincoln Hospital; between twelve and one o'clack that night one of the guards of my company captured a horse, saddle and bridle; the horse was sweating very much; I had neard of the assassination, and took the horse to General Augur's beadquarters, and gave him up; the horse was a dark bay, and was blind in one eye; I identified the horse afterwards at the stables on Nineteenth street; the horse was much excited, and I had great difficulty in riding him; the Lincoln Hospital is about three-quarters of a mile east of the Capitol. No cross-examination.

WHAT IS DESPERSIAL DYSPEPSIA HAS THE FOLLOWING

SYMPTOMS: lst. A constant poin or uncastness in the pit of the Stomach—Which is caused by a permanent contraction of the stomach upon the undigested food. It generally begins immediately or a short time after eating; is often very sovere and obstinate.

2d. Flatulence and Acidity.—These symptoms arise from the indigestion of food, which ferments instead of digesting.

obstinate.

3d. Costiveness and Less of Appetite.—These symptoms are the offects of the unnatural condition of food in the stomach, and the want of a pure bile and gastric julco. The stomach is often painfully distended by wind; the appetite is sometimes verselons. sometimes voracions. ath, Gloom once Depression of Spirits.—This state unfits many (or the enjoyment of life, and is caused by the impure blood furnished by imperfect digestion. In this stage of the disease many persons commit suicide. There is a constant foreboding of evil, and an indifference and positive inability to perform the offices of life.

Sth. Diarrhea.—After being at first costive, the sufferer is afflicted with diarrhea, which is owing to a diseased condition of the bowels, produced by the undigested food, which is evacuated in the same condition as when eaten, and of course gives no strongth to the greater.

6th. Pains in all Paris of the System-Arise from the action of impure blood upon the nerves. They are felt chiefly in the head, sides, and breast, and in the extremities. In many cases there is an uneasiness in the throat, with a sense of cheking or suffocation; the mouth is often clammy, with a bad taste and a furred towards.

7th. Consumptive Symptoms and Palpitation of the Heart.—Many persons pronounced as having these diseases have, in fact, nothing but Dys-pepsia, she lung and heart disease being only

8th. Cough.—This is a very frequent symptom of Dyspepsia, and leads very often into confirmed consumption.

9th. Want of Sleep.—A very distressing symptom, resulting from mental derangements.

10th. Symptoms of External Relation.—The patient is affected painfully by cold and heat, which is owing to unnatural dryness of skin, and the skin is often affected by cruptions and tetters. The gloomy dyspeptic avoids society as much as possible.

11th. Vomiting.—A frequent and distressing symptom. It relieves the pain, but emaclates and wears out the patient.

12th. Diminess, dinness of vivion, headache, and staggering in walking.—These are very alarming symptoms, which are speedily removed by our medicines; but if neglected are quickly followed by numbuess and studen death.

13th. It is impossible for us to give all the symptoms of Dyspepsia in so small a space, but the above are considered sufficient, if we add that the patient loses his memory and regard to surraunding objects, and frequently becomes morose and sour in disposition. We should say, hovever, that pains in the joints and stiffness of the limbs, which go by the name of rheumatism and neuralgia, are produced by Dyspepsta. Also, a hardness of the muscles of the abdomen, which becomes contracted and hard; and in some cases the belly sinks, instead of being gently prominent. gently prominent. N. B.-Perhaps we have not said enough of that strongest symptom of Dyspepsia, melancholy. We have examined hundreds of cases of Dyspepsia, who were so much affected in their minds that they constantly forbode loss of their reason, which unfitted them for business of any kind, and many of them have been patients of the Insane Asylum, who are now permanently cured by our medicine. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent yearly, and hundreds of thousands of the best men and women of America linger in pain and die, and fill a premature grave, with that awful disease, Dyspepsia. They try this physician and that physician, but alas! alas! no relief, ne cure; and the next we hear of them they have gone "to that bourne from whence no traveller returns."

Out of the thousands of cases of Dyspepsia that have used Dr. Wishart's Great American Dyspepsia Pills and Pine Tree Tar Cordial, not one of them has failed of a perfect cure. We warrant a perfect cure in every case, no matter if it be twenty years' standing. Sold by all druggists everywhere, and at Dr. Wishart's Office, No. 10 N. Second street, Philadelphia, Pa. All examinations and consultations free of charge. Send for a circular, Price of Pills, One Dollar per box. Sent by mail, free of charge,

PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL. A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF THROAT AND LUNG DISEASES.

PINE TREE TAR CORDIAL.

It is the vital principle of the Pine Tree obtained by a peculiar process in the distillation of the tar, by which its highest medical properties are retained. It is the only safe and reliable remedy which has ever been prepared from the juice of the Pine Tree. It invigorates the digestive organs and restores the appetite.

It strengthens the debilitated system, It purifies and enriches the blood, and expels from the system the corruption which scrofuls breeds on the lungs. It dissolves the mucus or phlegm which stops the air passages of the lungs, Its healing principle acts upon the irritated surface of the lungs and threat, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving pain and subduing inflammation.

It is the result of years of study and experiment, and it is offered to the afflieted with the positive assurance of its power to cure, if the patient has not too long delayed a resort to the means of cure. CAUTION.

Whereas, Base and designing men, regardless of the lives of the sigk, and with a view solely to their own pockets, are making and vending a spurious article worse than useless representing it as my Pine Tree Corolal, copying, in some cases, my labels and bottles, with slight variation to protect them from the law, the subscriber has been induced as a protection to the public, to punish a fac-simile of his bottles as last patented by the United States Government; and hereby cautions all persons who value their health and life against purchasing any of the many preparations offered for sal, as Tar Cordial, unless my name and a Pine Tree is blown on the bottle; all others being a wicked imposition to deceive the suffering and fleece them of their money, regardless of con-bequences.

The genuine Pine Tree Tar Cordial is made by a process and of ingredients known only to myself, which secret has never been divulged; and any and all persons claiming to make my Pine Tree Tar Cordial are but vile impostors.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON EN ROUTE FOR BOSTON

A special train from Washington bore his Excellency swiftly through this city at halfpast I o'clock this afternoon. In the hope that the President would retract his announcement and stop for a short time, a number of persons proceeded to the railroad junotion in West Philadelphia, in order to catch a glimpse of the nation's Chief Executive. There it was thought the train would stop for change, but it rushed by, and, in a tantalizing manner, halted a number of blocks above. The crowd ran, and just as they neared the train, off it started, was soon lost to sight, and none of the anxious spectators saw President

The Washington Marine Band was in attendance with the Presidential party, dressed in full regimental regalia, with their instruments exposed through the car windows, but no sounds of music were heard. The train was composed of three cars, the last of which bore the President, one or two of the Cabinet officers, and a number of military gentlemen.
