UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

The Annual Commencement Held at the New Horticultural Hall-Conferring of Degrees-Valedictory Address.

This morning at 10 o'clock, this honored in-stitution of learning held its annual commence-ment in the new Horticultural Hall. The in-creased enthusiasm of late among the patrons of art and education, the pre-eminence which this University enjoys in our midst, the nature of the exercises—all tended to draw forth a large and appreciative audience. At 10 o'clock the students proceeded in a body to the new Hall, where they were greeted by hosts of friends from far and near, and a convocation of citizens which could not be also than saits of citizens, which could not be else than satis-factory and flattering. The programme of exercises, at the appointed hour, was taken up, and fully realized the ex-pectations and interest to the audience which its arrangement had foresha lowed.

THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY.

THE MEDICAL DEFARTMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY. Of the many public institutions of which Philadel-phila can boast, none surpass those for medical educa-tion. In this department of science we have been fa-vored with the lators of a Shippen, Rush, Wistar, Physic, Barton, Dewees, Godman, Eberie, and a host of others equally eminent. Thissiephians have just cause to feel rejoiced at the excellence of their medical colleges, and in the metropolis of the United States. Here obstetrics has become a science, and surgery advanced fully equal to the European state. Philadelphia surgery is no where secondary. She has the oldest surgical olicit, and can abow the greatest number of surgical opera-tions, besides having the largert and bees has orted metropolis, but he country. Here was established the first medical school in the Union, and here are how the largest number of medical colleges, the most valuable publications, the most learned authors, and by far the greatest number of medical unders.

The University of Pennsylvania had been in exist The University of Pennsylvania had been in exist-ence, first as a simple academy, and then as a college, some sixteen years before a system of medical in-struction was admitted into its plan. This event took place on the 3d of May. A. D. 1755, the date at which the first medical professor was appointed. This was undoubtedly the first medical college in the United States. The idea of establishing this school in Philadelphia was conceived by Dr. William Shippen and Dr. Wil-liam Morgan.

liam Morgan. Dr. Morgan formed the project of engrafting a medi-chl department in the (then) College of Philadelphia, and accured in its favor several of the most influen-tial friends of the Institution, both in Great Britain

The project was laid before the trustees on the 3d of May, 1755, and approved. Dr. Morgan was immediately appointed Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, and on the 23d of September, in the same same appointed Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, and on the 23d of September, in the same same appointed Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, and on the 23d of September, in the same same appointed Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, and on the 23d of September, in the same same appointed Professor of the factory such a superior of the the factory such a superior of the factory such a superior of the factory such and the the University has its professors for all the respective branches, and includes in the factory such eminent gentlemen as Rev. Daniel R. Goodman, D. D., Provost, John F. The Anatomical Museum in the Medical Hall is first and calculate to give the fullest illustration of a course of anatomical spiparatus and in extent and variety to any in the county. The Medical Hall is admirably adapted to the purposes of the school. It is central in location, and mas ample sace around for the free circulation or air. Its intensions and architectural character are such as not to appear neo groups with the extent of the school, and the high objects for which it was established.

THE POLYTECHNIC COLLEGE OF THE STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA -- ITS COMMENCEMENT, -- This evening the public Commencement of this In-stitution will take place at the new Horticultural Hall. Vicksburg First National Bank.

The Cashier of the First National Bank of Vicksburg telegraphs the Treasury Department that all reports of trouble to that bank are false. It has not even been embarrassed, and the only foundation that the reports of failure could have had was the delay of certain remittances in reaching New York.

Treasury Buildings at Philadelphia. The Treasury Department to-day ordered work to begin on the new appraisers' stores which are to be erected on the old Pennsylvania Bank property at Philadelphia. They are to be of iron, 75 by 250 feet, four stories high, and fire-proof. They will be constructed under the supervision of the Treasury architect, Colonel Mullett.

FALSE PRETENSES.
Samuel Davies had a further hearing. He is charged with collecting money under false protenses. John L. Thompson, book keeper in the Franklin Fire Insurance Company's office, No. 510 Walnut street, testified that the defendant and another man came and solicited subscriptions. He received nothing, as winces was aware of a previous transaction, when Davies had come in with a purported member of the Weccacoe Engle. and received 55. The latter afterwards proved to be an impostor.
James H. Cirk, President of the Franklin Éngine Company, testified that Davies had not been a member of the Company for over a year. He was not authorized to collect anything for the Company. testified that bis attention was called to the fact by a clierk in the North America Insurance Company's office, who told him that Davies had received $10 for the Franklin Engine; the received as Davis' handwriting; may and was recognized as Davis' handwriting; may and was recognized as Davis' handwriting; many and the received to make collections for the Company.

The way not authorized to make collections for the Company. The defendant called Marsha' Blackburn to testify in regard to the matter. He stated that he was in the office at the time, and Davies came un to him, and said something like the following:—'I came in to in-troduce my friend Conway who is making collections to assist in burying one of the members of the Frank-lin Engine, who was killed at the fire at the American Theatre?' I supposed it was all right; if I had sus-pected that that anything was wrong. I would have cautioned the Insurance Company; I had known both of these men as members of the Franklin, and pre-sumed they were authorized to act for the Company. Davies then made a longthy appendent in extension of this conduct, but was cat short in the middle of it by the Alderman requiring him to give ball in the sum of $1000 for a further hearing.
