CITY INTELLIGENCE. FOR ADDITIONAL LOCAL IVENS SHE INSIDE PASES.) A SERIOUS AFFRAY.

A Shooting Match at Seventh and Shippen Streets-One of the Participants Seriously Wounded - Antecedents of the Parties.

the Parties. About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon a shoot-ing affray took place in the neighborhood of Seventh and Shippen streets, which will pro-bably result in the death of one of the partici-pants. The circumstances of the affair, with the affected of the parties, were asfoliows:--On the 3d of August, 1865, a riot of no small pretensions occurred in the neighborhood of Seventh and St. Mary's streets, between the negro and white residents of that disorderly locality. On the side of the white combatants in this affair was a clothier by the name of Philip Madden, who resides at No. 712 Shippen Street, John Gallagher, surnamed "Bucky," formerly a conductor on the Fourth and Eighth streets line, and at present a night in-was transpiring by a small boy, when he re-paired at once to the scene. Becoming engaged in the melec, he received a severe cut on the check, administered by a butcher'scleaver in the check administered by a butcher'scleaver in the streets, administered by a butcher'scleaver in the scheck administered by a butcher'scleaver in the streets, administered by a butcher'scleaver in the scheck administered by a butcher'scleaver in the streets of Madden. This was the first encounter of the varies but nothing turther owne of it as cheek, administered by a butcher's cleaver in the hands of Madden. This was the first encounter of the parties, but nothing further came of it at the time, as Gallagher recovered from the effects of the blow, and Madden was permitted to go his way without the interference of the law. Still, it is not to be supposed that the two bore much kindness towards each other, as was manifest from the character and results of their encounter yesterday afterneon. Between 3 and 4 o'clock Gallagher left his house, and crossed the street to the corner of between a and a below wathingher let his house, and crossed the street to the corner of Seventh and Shippen streets. At the time he he was in the ordinary summer deshabille of that locality—shirt sleeves and hat. One of Alderman McMullen's constables, Finnegan by name, engaged Gailagher in conversation, and while they were thus occupied, Madden came up Shippen street and stopped at the corner. The friends of Gallagher allege that Madden then, without any provocation, and without giving warning of his intentions, struck the former on the back of the neck with his hand, and knowled his hat into the writer. On back and knocked his hat into the gutter. On behalf of Madden, it is stated that he is unfortunately given to such salutations, it being a common j astime with him thus to teach his friends and

J astime with him thus to teach his friends and at quaintances the manners of good society. "Bucky" Gallagher, however, was not dis-posed to take this sort of salutation in good part, and retailated by striking his assailant. Madden returned the compliment, when Gal-lagher sold to him.

Madden returned the compliment, when Gal-lagher said to him:--"What do you mean? Do you want to fight?" The words had scarcely fallen from his lips, ere Madden administered a third blow, and Gallagher measured his length upon the side-walk. Not content with thus prostrating his opponent, it is alleged that Madden then ad-ministered to the fallen man several kicks, and ministered to the fallen man several kicks, and by-and-by the two combatants clinched and began a furious scuffle. The encounter lasted me minutes, until the two enraged men were some minutes, until the two enraged men were parted by the bystanders. After the separation, Madden proceeded to his house, near by. It is said that his wife, who was standing in the doorway, exclaimed;— "For —'s sake don't let him in!" Mrs. Madden was aware that her husband had in the house a loaded pistol, and probably feared that be intended to procure it, and, thus armed, renew the contest. Such evidently were his intentions, for he forced his way into the house, and shortly returned with a six-barrelled revolver.

Meanwhile Gallagher had proceeded a short Meanwhile Gallagher had proceeded a short distance from the corner, up Seventh street. As Madden approached, a person by the name of Granson, living in the neighborhood, and familiar with the desperate character of the armed man, exclaimed:— "For God's sake take him (referring to Galla-gher) into the house, or Madden will shoot him."

Gallagher accepted this friendly advice, and hastened into his own house. But fearing that he might be pursued, he armed himself with a Small pistol. By this time Madden had reached Gallagher's house, the lower story of which is occupied by Mrs. Gallagher as a second-hand clothing store. Into the open door Madden fired three shots in quick succession, but without harm to any one. At this assault Gallagher made his way into the stract and started away from the house. Made street, and started away from the house. Mad-den thereupon kneeled down upon Gallagher's doorstep, to get out of the way of sundry second-hand skirts which were dangling about the entrance, and at once fired a shot at his re-treating opponent, which struck him in the back between the shoulders.

Our DETECTIVES-WHAT THEY HAVE BEEN DOING.-During the past six months the de-tective department of our city has not been idle, not only attending to those mysterious affairs which occasionally startle our own com-munity, prosecuting investigations into affairs which seemed to abound in darkness only, and exhuming them for public information, but they have been engaged, more or less, in the arrest of persons and recovery of goods in dis-tant citles. Since the advent of the present year the various officers of the department have made 25 arrests, among others the follow-ing, as graver offenses:ing, as graver offenses;-

They have also recovered goods, bonds, stocks, etc., to the value of $200,640 62, The gentlemen composing the force are as follows: — John Lamon. Chief, George H. Smith, Joshua Tag-gart, George D. Callanan, Benjamin Levy, Joseph Sommers, John W. Brown, Samuel Hen-derson, Edward K. Tryon, James Webb, John H. Stephens, Charles H. Smith. Mr. J. Henry Bulkley is the Clerk of the Detective Depart ment. ment

Although the number of arrests for the year so far does not equal that for a corresponding time of 1866, yet the value and amount of goods recovered vastly exceed those returned during the six months of 1866.

A DARKENED INTELLIGENCE SERKS ENLIGHT ENMENT AT A COST OF $125 .- Recently a young man, who in truth may be termed an ambitious "neophyte," while inboriously engaged in "howing out his row" on a small farm in Ches-ter county, cogliated upon his past progress, his present status, and future prospects. After long and deliberate reflection, wherein the case long and deliberate reflection, wherein the case was viewed with all its lights and shadows, the mists of error got the better of what intelli-gence he had, and he determined that the in-dispensable condition to individual advance-ment was to see the world. Collecting various outstanding debts in his favor, packing up his wardrobe, laying aside his farming utensils, so long his companions, he made a speedy exodus from the farm to the city. One star-light, pleasant evening, he commenced his light, pleasant evening, he commenced his ramblings through the various thoroughfares, and by some and fatality he wandered through labyrinths to him unknown, all agog at what labyrinths to him unknown, all agog at what he saw, until he found himself within a pleasant home on Shippen street. He progressed finely. Already had "light" dawned in upon his mud-died brain. "Would he be willing to take a glass with his hostess?" Most assuredly! He pro-longed his stay; music electrified him; the wine exhilarated him; everything was going round; his boots were aerated, while his head was heavy; his legs gave out; his hody as. was heavy; his legs gave out; his body as-sumed the horizontal; his sconce thumped the floor; and with a spasmodic groan-no doubt of pleasure—he went off into somnolency. A bi peasure—ne went on into somnoiency. A police report the ensuing morning displayed Richard Boyden's patronymic, where he was arrested; his disorderly conduct; and, further-more, the cost of his night's enjoyment, $125, a watch and chain. The last seen of Richard was when making for the railroad.

ABRIVAL OF THE VETERANS-THEIR RECEP-TION IN THE CITY OF "BROTHERLY LOVE."-Yesteiday afternoon that veteran military organization.Company H. of the 14th Regiment, from Brookiyn, N. Y., who so vallantly fought and signally defeated their focs in the late war, and signally defeated their foes in the late war, arrived in this city. The National Guards met them at the depot landing, and escorted them through various thoroughfares to their quarters at the La Pierre House. Last evening, by special invitation of Mrs. John Drew, they attended the Arch Street Theatre, after which they proceeded to Mr. Bird's billiard saloon, adjoining this handsome temple of amusement, and were kindly received and hospitably enter-tained. At eleven o'clock this morning the company.

and were kindly received and hospitably enter-tained. At eleven o'clock this morning the company, in full regimentals of red pants and blue jack-ets, arms bright and faces smiling, preceded by an excellent band of music, and under charge of the National Guards, marched to time-honored Independence Hall, where Mayor McMichael, in a pleasant manner, welcomed the heroes to Philadelphia. Mayor Wood, of Brooklyn, who accompanied the "veterans," replied in a few fitting remarks. After a short stay the company proceeded to the Union League House, and to other institutions of interest, concluding their sojourning with a banquet. They leave to-morrow for Gettys-burg. burg. THE ORPHANS' HOMESTEAD AT GETTYSEURG.— Lately many munificent donations were re-ceived by the managers of this national home for three made orphans by the late civil strife-not only of money, which of itself is so neces-sary to rightly forward this benevolent enter-prise; but donations of coal, household utensils, furniture, and other articles. It will be re-membered that but a short time since our lead-ing Generals visited the institution, and there, with Grant in the centre, and the little orphans in "soldier's blue" at his right and left, were photographed. A contemplated enlargement of the "Homestead" is now eliciting much thought and discussion among the managers, who are wailing for our patriotic citizens to come to their aid. Soon 500 orphans—an army of youthful soldiers — will find comfortable shelter under the imposing edifice in process of erection, and to cost $160,000. THE ORPHANS' HOMESTEAD AT GETTYSBURG .--erection, and to cost $160,000. The children are growing up rapidly—let their training for both worlds keep pase with their growth in days and years. Remember, this is a national institution, and chartered to be a perpetual Asylum for orphans.

OTTAWA, C. W., July 1.-This day has given birth to the political infant the Dominion of Canada.

Canada. At five minutes past 12 last night its advent was halled by a salute of one hundred and one guns and a bonfire, also by the ringing of bells. The day dawned clearly and brightly on its nativity, and the capital was dressed with bunting to testify the public pleasure. The flags hung out were of course the British, with a few, very few, French flags. It was evident that the celebration of the birth of the new State was to fall upon the shoulders of the authorities, the people generally taking a pas-sive interest in it. THE THIAL OF JOAR H. SURNATI. WARHINGTON, JULY 2.—The trial of John H. Surnats was resumed this morising in the Criminal Court, Judge Elabor presiding. The court room was again crowded with spectators. Judge Fisher is still very hour, and consequently the business of the day was to commenced until 10.28. M. McMillan was readed to the withness stand. M. Bradley said that before the examination was fourties an incident that occurred us prove to the dournment of the Court yesterday, and he would ask that the reporter's noises be read. The Court and h was necessary therefore that the noise and h was necessary therefore that adequates and h was necessary to the counsel.

it was due to the members of the Bar that adequise protection should be given to the counsel in every case. Mr. Clephane, the official reporter, then rend as extract from his notes of yeaterday, including the passage between the witness and Mr. Merrick. Judge Fisher said that when the testimony imme-diately preceding the objectionable remarks was being given restarday, he did not hear all of it, and when the witness made the remarks he did he (Judge Fisher) supposed that the counsel had offered some provecation, and had worried the witness, but apon hearing the notes read he could not see that any pro-vocation had been offered. He could see no jusifica-tion for the remark of the witness, although Mr. Mer-rick may have said on a former occasion that some of the witnesse were describing. The witnesse must make remarks insulting to the counsel. Line were seen a case in which there was so much truth and so much bitterness of feeling, and he nover saw witnesse cross-examined in such a way as they had been in this same, and it was not to be wondered at that they sometimes and it was not to be wondered at that they sometime and it was not to be wondered at that they sometimes and it was not to be wondered at that they sometimes and it was not to be wondered at that they sometimes and it was not to be wondered at that they sometimes and it was not to be wondered at that they sometimes and it was not to be not described in this same, and it was not to be not described upon the stand, and the emarks as had been made by the counsel that all in the witness-room avoid be in the ponicentary. Some most respectable witnesses, as General Grant, Mr. Frederick Seward, and the court could not belp it if witnesses helped themselves, but he would acdeavor to stop such pro-ceedings in future. they can appeal to the Court, and their rights will be respected. Mr. Merrick said he feit it due to say that his re-mark was not intended to apply to all the witnesses. He had the highest respect for General Grant and for Mr. and Mrs. Beward, but he apprehended the wit-nesses themselves knew to whom the remark ap-plied, and no man could imagine that it applied to General Grant or Mr. Seward. Judge Fisher said he knew no witnesses high or own in the matter, and he admonished the counsel to adhere in the future more strictly to the rules of prac-tice, and to avoid any side remarks, or directing any remarks to the jury. Mr. Merrick said Mr. Bradley had called up the question this morning of his own motion. He (Mr. Merrick) could not be insuited by the witnesses, but at he time he thought the diguity of the Court was, to a certain extent, involved, and he was not insuited presently.

Madden followed, and entering the tavern, again fired at Gallagher, the ball entering his right breast, just above thenipple. This brought the wounded man to the floor, but before his body was entirely prostrate, Madden discharged his pistol the sixth time, but, happily, without hitting anybody.

The officer states that he was then struck on the side of the head by Gallagher, whom he placed under arrest. Madden again assalled his opponent, while the latter was in custody. Proceeding down the street another souffle ensued, but the officer succeeded in extri-cating Gallagher, whom he delivered over to Alderman McCluskey and Con-stable Finnegan, who promised to be responsible for him. Officer Hammon then attempted to arrest Madden. Before he suc-ceeded in doing this, the two parties had pro-vided themselves with the pistols, and when they again encountered each other at Galla-gher's door, Madden pointed his pistol at Galla-gher, and prepared to shoot, saying:-"Gallagher, I'm going to shoot you!" Gallagher, I'm going to shoot you!" After the fall of Gallagher, Frank Fin-negan, Alderman McMullen's constable, forced his way through the crowd, and attempted to arrest Madden. The latter, it is alleged, there upon wrenched Gallagher's pistol from his grasp and fired it at the constable, bored in making him. Madden then succeeded in making him. Madden then succeeded in making him way out of the saloon by way of the back door, which he locked on the outside. Jumping over the fence in the rear, he pro-ceeded to his house, where he was soon after arrested by Policeman Hammon, of the Se-cond District, having previously sent for an officer, to whom he wished to give himself up. The prisoner was taken before Alderman Tit-Gallagher's injuries. In the hearing before the Aiderman, it was testified that during the melee Gallagher pointed his pistol at Madden and attempted to shoot, the weapon missing fire. This morning Madden, who had been con-fined during the night in V.s. Second District Station House, was trained for the County Prison for safe keep'ar. Madden is a tall, heavy built man, standing shont six feet high, and is about fifty years of are. His reputation is exceedingly bad in the neighborhood, where he enjoyr the renown of being an habitual wife-beater. Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada pefore Chief Justices Draper and Richards and Mr. Justice Wilson, Hagerty, and Mondalet.

Mr. Justice Wilson, Hagerty, and Mondalet. His Excellency then proceeded to name the members of the Privy Council. At this early hour it is impossible to give a positively correct list of the Council, but it is believed that the following members will form it.—Hon. Messrs, J. A. Macdonald, Alexander Campbell, William McDougall, William How-land, Alexander T. Galt, George E. Cartier, J. Chapais, and H. L. Langevin for Canada, Eest and West, while Hon. Messrs. Tilley, Mitchell, Archibald, and Kenney are the members of the lower provinces.

lower provinces. Macdonald was then knighted and Cartier made a Companion of the Bath, from which it will be seen that Cartier is not so indifferent to the senseless titles in the gift of the Crown as the senseless titles in the gift of the Crown as the Montreal Minerva and his friends would have Canadians believe. The omission of Blair's and McGee's names will cause some dissatisfaction. This may be ascribed to Mr. Cartier, who has got the Govern-ment formed to suit the views of the French Canadians.

Canadians. Lord Monck will remain at the head of Gov Canadians. Lord Monck will remain at the head of Gov-ernment for twelve months only, it is reported, and will be succeeded by the Duke of Bucking-ham, with the title of Viceroy. This would be the next step towards monarchy, which could not be suddenly imposed upon the Canadians. The only Lieutenant-Governor appointed, I am told is SIT N.F. Belleau, who is the Execu-tive for the province of Quebec. The respective commanders of the forces of the other provinces will for a time be acting Lieutenant-Governors. —that is, administrators of the Government. This is all that is as yet known of the organi-zation of the new Government. After the affair was over Lord Monck re-turned, after a salute of artillery, to Rideau Hall, the gubernatorial residence, and there was a petty review in front of the Parliament building, the chief features of which were the firing of a feu de foie, and the giving of three cheers. The doings of the latter half of the day will reach the Herald from another pen. I will wind up by saying that the celebration of the Union has not here, at least, been im-pressive, although it will be said by the Cana-dian press, ministerial side, to have gone off with cold. This day, July 1, will henceforth be known as

Union Day. Mr. McGee delivered an address of the new dominion at Cornwall on the 28th, and I give you the most important passages in it. Of the act of union he said, "It is not a question of meeting the new state of affairs upon which the country bas entered, and as plainly as if it had been written. To the very letter does the Union act convey to us the language of Great Britain regarding our new position and the new responsibilities which the country must assume. She says to us, 'I have interfered in your legal affairs for the last time. You have come to me for an act of union, whereby your separate provinces may be bound together, and I give it to you for your own good; that your may work it out in your own way; that henceforth you may go of according to your own desires and without interference from me. The people of the new dominion number nearly four millions, and they are strong enough and should be wise enough to meet the new duties which this last gift from the impe-rial suthority imposes. Added to these new relations with the Empire, the observance of which should constitute a part of the new poli-tics for the whole dominion, there is a new duty which specially belongs to Canada. The provinces of Ontario and Quebee, which from the weight of their population have the lead in the shape of affairs of British America, and the responsibilities attached to this heatship, are to wrich out the whole problem of America, what representative government is. If our system should fall; if the new Constitution does not assure us in the enjoyment of nerves of the shoule world, and espe-cially to the other population of America. Union Day. Mr. McGee delivered an address of the new does not assure us in the enjoyment of representative government, we shall have no choise left but to full under democratic rule. Democratic rule, to speak from eleven years' personal experience, may be the worst system of tyranny, because the mers brute force of the majority bears down and tramples the rights of the minority. I don't deny that democratic rule may be good in some respects, but our rep-resentative system, founded upon the recogni-tion of the rights of all classes, acknowledging the claims of minorities to protection from the

The Indian War-Gen. Sherman's Ideas.

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—The Denver papers publish a despatch from General Sherman to General Hancook, on Indian matters, in which he says:—"We must not remain on the defensive, but follow them up and attack them on all pos-sible occasions. We must clear out all the Indians between the Platte and Arkansas, and Indians between the Platte and Arkansas, and then move against the hostile tribes in force beyond these regions." An Omaha despatch says Colonel Patrick, the Agent for the Northern Cheyennes, Arrapa-hoes, and Ogulaliah-Sloux, has just arrived from the North Platte, where he met Spotted Tail, Swift Bear, and several other chiefs in council, with the view of gathering all the peaceable Indians at one point to be subsisted by the Government. About 1100 Indians were represented, and are now camped near the

by the Government. About 1100 Indians were represented, and are now camped near the North Flatte. They profess friendship, and agree to remain in camp subject to the Government during the present hostilities. Big Mouth, with his band of Ogulallahs, Pawnee Hiller, with fifty lodges of Sloux, and other bands, including Bed Cap and Dog Hand, who with these bands particl-pated in the Fort Phil Kearney massacre, are all moving to join their camp, which will num-ber 4000 Indians. Colonel Patrick thinks the arrangements will be earried out in good faith, but that the public may not be misled, he says that Red Cloud, the biggest Sloux Chief, and all the Choyennes on Smoky Hill, are clamorous for war, so that hopes of an early peace are not to be indulged.

The Dominion of Canada-Inauguration of the Viceroy. OTTAWA, July 2.—After being sworn yester-day as Viceroy of the Dominion of Canada, Lord Monck announced that her Majesty Queen Victoria has conferred on the Hon. John A. that of Companion of the Bath. The inauguration of Lord Monck took place in the Executive Council Chamber, about fifty persons being present to witness the proceed-ings. Sir Jehn A. McDonaid has formed a Privy Council, which has been sworn in. It is understood that the Council is constituted as announced some days ago. Writs are now being issued authorizing the swearing in of the Governors of the different Provinces, at their respective capitals. respective capitals.

From San Francisco-The Newly Discovered Island.

Covered Island. Covered Island. Sax Francisco, July L.-The schooner Caro-line Mills, one of the vessels which went in search of the reputed Island, said to have been discovered 1900 milles west of San Francisco, returned yesterday, with only a portion of her orew. Her captain engaged an extra large crew and sailed again to-day. He made no marine report, and as he sailed again under a fishing iteense, the fact is considered proof positive that they had found the Island and something valuable on it. Alvin Flanders has been elected Congres-tional Delegate in Washington Territory. He is a radical Unionis: The business portion of the town of West point, Calaveras county, was destroyed by firm on the 28th nit. Loss 355,00.
