Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.,

The tenth annual Sængerfest of the German Musical Societies of the United States will be held in this city next week, and the prepara-Mons which have been made for the affair, give promise of its being one of the most sucpessful that has ever been held in this country. In point of numbers, especially, it will be unrivalled, as there will be present over twentythree hundred participants from abroad, representing eighty-three musical organizations.

The Participants

will be represented no less than forty-five Sociehies from the city of New York and vicinity, as f ollows:-Allgemeine Sængerbund 12 N. York Sing-Academic 32

The Headquarters at National Guards'

The National Guards' Hall, on Race street. between Fifth and Sixth, has been selected as the general headquarters of all the societies during the continuance of the festival. To prepare it for these purposes the interior and ex-terior have been elaborately decorated, at an expense of about $2000. On the railing in front of the gallery at the rear of the hall there is a large glided harp, adorned with roses and sur-mounted by an arch of silver stars. Below this is a crimson curtain fringed with gold, and the large tri-colored shield of the United States.

At the rear of the gallery are full-length portraits of Mozart and Beethoven, the one reclining his head upon a desk, the other standing erect. Surrounding each is the representation of a large wreath of evergreens, entwined with bands of different colors, on which are inscribed the titles of the principal operas and oratorios of these great masters.

On the wall to the right, as you enter the hall, are similar representations of Haydn, Men-delssohn, Schubert, Gluck, and Meyerbeer. To the left are the portraits of Wagner, Handel, Weber, Abt, and Bach. These are the production of Stoeckhardt, of New York city. Between the portraits, on all sides of the hall, are variegated shields, bearing the names of the Philadelphic and restriction of Stoeckhardt. delphia and visiting societies, alternating favorite German mottos in the language of the Fatheriand.

Around the hall, in front of the cornice and pending from the ceiling, are the national colors, looped up at intervals with materials of the same character. The chandeliers are also tastelully draped with wreaths and pendants of flowers and evergreens, and altogether the scene sented by the interior of the hall is beautiful and chaste.

On the arrival of the visiting societies tomorrow, it will be rendered still more attractive, by the addition of the flags which they bring with them, and which are to be arranged around the sides of the Hall on a railing pre-

The exterior of the hall has likewise received an elaborate decoration. In the centre of the second story is a large representation of the Goddess of Music. To the right of this are Arion and Columbia, and to the left Apollo and Ger-neath these are the coats of arms of the United States, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the City of Pailadelphia, German, and Switzerland. A number of large variegated pennants are also displayed from the front of

Over the main entrance is a large transparency, containing the following inscription:-"Beid Wilkommen Sængerbrueder, Seid gegruesst nach Deutschen Brauch; Wie ale einen unsere Lieder, Finden sich die Herren auch,"

This being translated, significe—"He welcome, brother singers! He welcome, with hearty encore! Harmonious as our merry songs, our hearts shall ever be!"

The entire decorations of the hall, within and without, have been under the superintendence of Mr. George Klein, of New York, whose wife, Mrs. Francesca Klein, made the besultful prize banner. This last will reach the city at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The Formal Reception of the visiting societies will take place to-morrow afternoon, preparatory to which there will be a general rehearsal of the Philadelphia singers this afternoon, at the New Horticultural Hail, Such of the visiting Societies as arrive during the afternoon, will be met at the different depots by the Reception Committe, and conducted to their respective quarters. At 7 o'clock in the evening, such of the guests as may have arrived by that time will be met at the National Guards' Hail by the Honorary Committee and the Philadelphia. Hall by the Honorary Committee and the Phila-delphia societies. These will all form in proces-sion, and proceed to Walnut street wharf, at haifsop, and proceed to walnut street wharf, at half-past 7 o'clock, to meet the other visiting socie-ties, on their avrival. The approach of the boat containing the strangers will be areeted by a salute of ten guns and a splendid dis-charge of rockets and other pyrotechnics. The guests and their escort will then be formed in procession, and proceed to Independence Square, where addresses of welcome will be de-livered—one in English, by his Hover Mayor livered—one in English, by his Holor Mayor McMichael, and another in German, by Dr. Kellner. The Philadelphia societies will then unite in singing Schuster's "Sængergruss," after which the visiting societies will be conducted to their several quarters,

The Programme for Sunday.

Sunday will be nominally a day of rest and recreation; but it is doubtful if much of the former will be enjoyed by the participants, on account of the excitement which will naturally attend the final preparations for the great events of the week. The Liederkranz, of New York, who are the special guests of the Sangerbund of this city will devote the day to an eventrion of this city, will devote the day to an excursion down the Delaware, which has been tendered them by their hosts. The steamer Pilot Boy has been secured for the occasion, and will leave the second wharf below Arch street at 10 o'clock in the morning, returning by 8 in the evening. As two full brass bands will accompany the party, it may be anticipated that they will enjoy themheartity in the good old fashion of the canves.

Other Societies will amuse thembeatingiand.

Fatherished, selves by going on excursions to the suburos of the city. The Mennerchor of this city have chartered the steamer Star, on which they will make an excursion up the river with the Germania Mænnerchor of Baltimore, the Teutonia Mænnerchor of New York, and the Wilkesbarre Mænnerchor as their guests.

The Great Concert of Monday evening will be the most attractive feature of the testival. A rehearsal will be given at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Academy of Music, and it is announced that the holders of tackets who desire to avoid the great crowd that will be present in the evening will be admitted to this preliminary concert. In the evening the grand concert will take place at the Academy, and it is expected that the affair will entirely surpass everything that has been witnessed there in a musical way. The orchestra, selected from among the best instrumentalists of Philadelphia, will open the exercises by the performance of the grand overture to Weber's opera of Oberon. This will be followed by two grand compositions—the hymn "Herder," to be sung by the New York societies, and the Twenty-fourth Psalm to be sung by the Baltimareans. But Psalm, to be sung by the Baltimoreans. But the great feature of the evening will be the singing of several choruses by about twenty five hundred voices in concert—an achievement which has never yet been attempted in this country. The pieces selected are the following: Tschirsch's "Harmonie," Krebs' "Heil der Got-ten des Gesanges"—"Hall to the Gods of Song" -and the immortal "Hallelujah Chorus" of

The Prize Concert on Tuesday Evening, to be held at the Academy of Music, will determine the question as to what societies are to be the recipients of the prizes. At the two last festivals, the first prize has been awarded to the Sængerbund of this city, but on this occasion none of the Philadelphia societies will enter into the competition.

The prizes are three in number, consisting of a silver goblet, a beautiful decorated banner, manufactured by Klein, of New York, and a handsome sash and banuer.

The first of these, the grand prize of the festival, is of great intrinsic value, being sixteen inches in length, and of the most elaborate manufacture. The ornamentation is very fine. On the top of the lid is the Goddess of Music in effigy, and around the body are the busts of three distinguished musical characters. It bears an inscription in German, stating that it is the prize of the Tenth General Sengeriest, held in Philadelphia from July 13 to July 18, 1867. This fine specimen of the silversmith's art was manufactured by George Sharpe and Christian Laug, of this city, and is certainly a credit to the ingenuity and workmanship of Philadelphia mechanics.

The following eminent Philadelphia mustcians have been selected as the Committee to determine upon the award of the prizes:— Messrs. Gæriner, Fischer, Kunzer, Heinemann, and Hartman. The following Societies will compete for the prizes above-named:-The Colonia, Liederkranz, Mozart Verein, Beethoven Mænnerchor, Harmonia, and Quariette Club, of New York; Aurora, of Egg Harbor City; Eintracht, of Newark; Liederkranz, of Baltimore; Deutscher Sangerbund, of Buffalo; Sangerbund, of Brooklyn, and Quartette Club, of Hoboken.

On Thursday there will also be a meeting of delegates from the different organizations to determine the place for holding the next annual

The Grand Picnic Wednesday.

On Wednesday morning, at 7 o'clock, all the societies will form in procession and march to Engel & Wolfe's Farm and Washington Retreat, where they will pass the day. The line will be formed on York avenue, the right resting on Green street, and extending to Fourth and Arch streets. General Ballier will act as Grand Marshal, and Generals Meade, Cadwallader, and Patterson, as Honorary Marshals. The procession will consist of five divisions, made up as

First Division.—The Honorary Marshals in carriages; the Grand Marshal and his aids, and the society marshals, all mounted; a band of music; the National Guards, under the command of General Peter Lyle; and the Committee of Arrangements. Among the exercises to take place will be an address, at Washington Retreat, by the Hon. William B. Mann, District Attorney. Another interesting performance will be the distribution of the prizes to the successful contestants of the previous evening. A bird's-eye view of Wash-ington Retreat, showing the precise location of each society on the day of the distribution of prizes, will be made and photographed, in order that copies of it may be preserved by the parti-cipants as mementoes of one of the notable events of their lives.

Military Instruction in Colleges.

Major Whittlesey, of the regular army, has, under the direction of General Grant, and by special order of Secretary Stanton, after con-sultation with the authorities of the principal colleges of the United States, matured a plan for the introduction of a system of military la-struction into the colleges.

The plan proposed by Major Whittlesey is in the iorn of an Act, which it is expected Con-gress will pass at an early day. It provides that upon the application of any established college having the attendance of two hundred students, the President of the United States shall detail an army officer to act as a military shall detail an army officer to act as a military professor, and while so employed to have the rank and pay of a lieutenant-colonel, if he has served twenty years in the army, and if he has the rank and pay of a major. The President shall likewise detail a competent lieutenant of the army to act as military assistant. Whenever any college has established a course of instruction in military studies, this act provides that thenecessars text books shall be issued gratuitously to the students, and a suitable collection of military books of reference be added to the college or study is to comprise "Instruction in the Theory of Ordnance, Projectiles and Gunery, in Military Engineering, in Military Law and the Practice of Courts Martial, and in the Art of War," It is provided that from each class as it graduates rive shall be selected who have distinguished themselves for general proficiency in the collegiate course, special attainments in military science, and of good moral character and of sound hearth, and that the names of these five snail be published in the Army Register, and that one of the five commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army, upon precisely the same footing as graduates of West Point.

The plan has been presented to the Faculty of Amberst College, and has received their approval. The Trustees are to act upon it at the present Commencement.

Exterminating the Indians.

Those persons who talk highly of "exterminating the hostile Indian tribes," as though it was a comparitively easy matter to do this by force of arms, are no doubt ignorant or misinformed as to the actual numbers and power of these fighting tribes. It is for their benefit, therefore, that we give below a statement of their numbers, and the processle strength of the confederation drawn from them, as it is made by a border newspaper. This statement is as ollows:-Apaches. Arapahoes ..... Blackfeet .... Crows...... Kiowas ..... Cheyennes....... Gros Ventres..... Minatares.... Sloux.....

.78,000These are only the prominent tribes, most of whom are more or less hostile, and as such may not be drawn into the confederation of which Red Cloud is the head will carry on the fight independently. Should the league be as complete as indicated, comprising many small tribes not above enumerated, it would possibly embrace 106,000 souls. This would enable R d Cloud to bring 25,000 to 30,000 warriors into the field, the most of them mounted and well

With the above figures before them, readers may see what a bloody and expensive work a war of extermination would prove, to say nothing of its wholesale barbarity, and the great uncertainty of its final success.

With such an enemy conquest may be comparatively easy, but extermination is exceedingly problematical, while conciliation is assuredly easier and chenper than either. After all, the Indians have undoubled wrongs and outrages to complain of as well as we, and where there are errors on both sides, it is well for the stronger to temper justice with mercy.

We are in the Midst of a Revolution. No more premature decay of the teeth. So 20-box Trenders them indestructible. Nay, more, it makes the enamel as white as Parian marble, and the breath as odoriferous as "the Sweet South breathing o'er banks of violets." Neither the teeth nor the gums can become diseased, if it is used daily.

—The English papers are greatly excited at the intended appearance of the wife of a Duke and the wife of a Bishop as public performers. The ladies are the Duchess of Newcastle and Mrs. Ellicott, and they were to sing in Exeter Hall, on the 2d of July, in behalf of a charity for the relief of children with diseased joints. The oratorio selected for performance is Herr Schachner's Israel's Return from Babylon.

-A matrimonially inclined couple in the rural districts of Indiana could not wait for the minister who was coming to marry them, and went out on the road to meet him, where, says a local paper, "they were united, with the blue canopy of heaven overhead and a cornfield on either hand." DRY GOODS.
