COMMENCEMENT AT LAFAYETTE. We are glad to notice an nansual interest on the part of our citizens with reference to the approaching Commencement of the College, ladies are already preparing for the dinner which of late years has been so pleasant a feature of Commencement week. As the Masonic Hall is otherwise engaged for that day, the lecture room of the German Reformed Church has been kindly granted to the ladies fer the occasion.

It may be well to state that the public exersises commence on Sunday, July 28. The sermon before the graduating class, and the Baccalancate address, will be delivered in the morning at the Brainerd Church; and the sermon before the Brainerd Society in the evening at the First Church. Each year these services alternate between the First and Second Churches, and the congregations, for the last few years, have workshaped together. Last year few years, have worshipped together. Last year the Brainerd Church was closed in the morning and the First Church in the evening. On Sun-day afternoon the topic for the conference in the chapel will be "Christian Activity in Col-On Monday the usual public examina-Biblical studies and the dresses of the visiting committee from the anod. Tuesday morning the Trustees the College and the Board of Examiners of the Pardee Scientific Course meet in Jenks Hall, and at the same time candidates for admission to either course in the College, classical or scientific, will be examined by the Professors in the various departments. At 10 o'clock the hierary societies hold "reunions" in their respective halls, to which the Alumni and honorary members are invited. The public meeting of the Alumni in the chapel at 4 o'clock, and the oration before the literary societies in the Brainerd Church at 8 o'clock, will conclude the exercises of Tuesday.

Wednesday is graduation day. The members of the graduating class and the Masters will deliver their speeches, and their degrees will be conterred. It is supposed that the procession will leave the Church for the Commeucement dinner about one o'clock. In the evening, from eight to ten, President Cattell will hold his reception at his house on College Hill, where there will doubtless be the usual throng of beauty and learning. Many of the Alumni and others accustomed to leave on Wednesday afternoon have concluded to remain to attend the levee of the President, and meet there the Professors, the Trustees, and our citizens generally for a friendly and social chat. It is of course known to our readers that no special invitations are given to these receptions of the President, but all friends of the students and all who take an interest in the College are invited to attend. The President's house is always thronged on Wednesday evening by an intelligent and de-lighted company, and thus affords a most pleasant termination to the public and private exercises of Commencement week.

There will be no "corner stones" of new buildings laid this year; in fact, the Astronomical Observatory, owing to unexpected difficulties in securing castings for the revolving dome, has not been completed; while in view of the increased expense of building, the work on the wing of the main College building has been suspended. But Jerks Chemical Hall has been completed, and visitors will have free access to the museums and cabinets. Some of the recent additions to the museums are very interesting, especially the celebrated papyrus of the time of King Shishak, pronounced by Professor Sey farth, the eminent Egyptologiss, to contain "the finest Hieratic inscription known to exist." It was written nearly three thousand years ago, but the colors in the hieroglyphs are as fresh as if painted yesterday.

Among the class meetings, next in interest to that which takes the Master's degree will be the "December," beginning with the class of 1837. To this class belongs the orator before the Literary Societies, one of the most distinguished Alumni of the College, Hou. J. Morrison Harris, of Baltimore. He is one of the Trustees of the College, and now returns after an absence of thirty years to the scenes of his stu-dent life. He will find old Lafayette has taken a grand stride in advance since the days he studied Euclid and Homer in her quiet halls.

May all the exercises give pleasure and profit, and the blushing honors of the laureatt give joy to the parents and brothers and sisters who will be present, and may no unpleasant circumstances or conduct unworthy the manly reputation of a Latayette student mar the it social pleasures of the week .- Easton Express,

A Rad. to a Reb, Greeting. LEXINGTON, Ky., July 18, 1867. — Raphael Semmes, Editor Bulletin, Pirate, Traitor, Fite. — Sir:-Some one has sent me a copy of your paper, in which you devote nearly a whole column to my late speech at Lexington, Kentucky, You think me "incendiary, wicked, bad, and a party man on the Fourth of July." What right have you, a vile wretch, living by the grace of God and the mercy of a too humane Government, to take a loyal man to task for what he may see fit to say? Have you so soon forgotten your crimes, or are you insane enough to believe that they are lorgotten among men, and that treason, after all, is not to be punished? For the sake of your soul I beg you not to forget the past, nor be unmindful of the future, for the day is coming when you and Forrest will both be called to a just account for your misdeeds. Pirates and butchers of innocent men cannot long live in America Be constantly prepared, for you know not the day nor the hour wherein the righteous Judge will come to do justice. Being a Chris-Jadge will come to do justice. Being a Christian man, when your trouble is great, and deep tribulation is upon you, send for me, and I will come and do all I can to prepare you for your end; though I tell you frankly, I believe no earthly intercession can save you from the hottest hell in damnation. You fear "such men" as I am will "rise to power" on the shoulders of the blacks. When you recollect your awful guilt, and that by the law of nations you are an ontlaw, well may your coward conscience make you tear such an event. You assail the poor blacks, and charge them with the committing of "murder, arson, riot, and robbery." All good men know the blacks have behaved wonderfully well since they were set free, and your charges are as unjust as they are lalse. You say such men as I instigate them to do lawless acts. You, a pirate and a traitor, are a pretty fellow to talk about instigators of lawless acts! The devil rebuking sin would be a mild comparison. I have always advised the negroes to be law-abiding, quiet, sober, industrious, and peaceful, and shall con-tinue to do so. They have no occasion to take the law into their own hands, and when they do I shall as much condemn them as I do you. We who are their friends, by the help of God and a radical Congress, will, in good time, in a legal way, punish you and all their enemies, and the enemies of the Republic, and in the meantime the negroes will be quiet, orderly, and industrious citizens. Yours, truly, JAMES S. BRISBIN, U. S. Army.

A Remarkable Clipper-Race, The San Francisco Times says:-"This city is the terminus of one of the most remarkable nautical events on record. Two first-class ships-the Governor Morton and the Prima Donna-sailed together from the port of New York on the 14th of February. They were towed outside Sandy Hook side by side, so near to each other that conversation was maintained by the two commanders. Large sums were wagered by the friends of these ships, on their respective favorite reaching this port first. The racing vessels crossed the equator in the Atlantic on the same day, although not in the same longitude. They entered the Straits of Le Maire the same day, and came out of them on the same day. They crossed the equator in the Pacific on the same day and in the same longitude. Both ships arrived at this port on the same day, within three hours of each other, after a race of sixteen thousand miles. These facts demonstrate the accuracy that has been attained in the science of mavigation, and also prove the reliance which may be placed upon the wind and current charts prepared under the direction of Mr. GENERAL GRANT.

Lone Branch, N. J., July 23.—After spending Sunday on Governor's Island, as the guests of General Wallen, commanding Fort Columbus, General Grant and ismily lett on Monday for this famous summer resort, where it is expected they will spend about two weeks. From the time of his arrival in New York on Sunday morning, as announced yesterday, the General has kept himself studiously sectuded from popular gaze, and his ardent desire now is to avoid, so far as possible, all publicity. From the first, General Grant has been habited in a plain civilian suit, and appears in it, with his aver-present cigar, much as one would suppose to be the case with a well-to-do merchant, or an habitue of the 'Change.

It was intended by General Wallen to give his Commander in chief a grand reception at his The General's Pleasures at the Seaside,

Commander in chief a grand reception at his residence on Governor's Island previous to his departure, but owing to the desire of avoid ing any public display which the General at an early period after his arrival very plainly an-nounced, and which no entreaty could cause him to alter, this proposed reception had to be

After spending the Sunday in quiet with his family, the Commander in Chief, at half-past two o'clock P. M. on Monday, left Governor's Island, there being on board, besides the General and family, his father-in-law, Mr. Dent, General and Mrs. Wallen and daughter, General Butterfield, General H. Porter, and Lieutenant Wallen. The military band of Fort Columbus, numbering twenty-two pieces, also came on board, and having struck up "Hail to the Chief," the boat, with its renowned passengers, put off from the pier. The time en voyage was enlivered by national and operatic airs from the band; but nothing of special moment occurred

When the steamer reached Port Monmouth the party disembarked, and were received by Mr. Kimball, the Superintendent, and Mr. Kin-ney, one of the lessess of the Delaware and Raritan Rastroad, by whom they were conducted te a special car in waiting to convey them to Long Branch. The General and friends were comfortably scated in the car, and Superinten-dent Kimball, who, with Mr. Kinney, accom-panied them, having given the signal, were soon being whirled behind the iron horse through the classic regions of Jersey. So quietly had the movement been made that no one along the route knew of the advent of the General, and consequently no curiosity was manifested at the various stations past which the train swept without halting until the final stop was made at Long Branch. Here the distinguished visitor and his friends entered two carriages, and a ride of but few minutes brought them to the well-known Stetson House, where they imme-diately took possession of the rooms that had been set apart for them, and where, at this writing, the captor of General Lee is enjoying all the quiet that he seeks. Mr. Stetson, Jr. accompanied the party in person from New York, and was most assiduous in providing them with every comfort. On Thursday evening a grand hop is to be given by the Stetsons in honor of the General's It will be a superb affair, and will be officers in the vicinity of New York.

This morning, long before the fashionables that distinguish the Stetson House had completed their breaklasts, he had ordered a barouche and was driving a team of splendid bays down the sea-shore road, having Mrs. Grant only as his companion. As he pas-ed along, the morning pedestrians, who consist for the most part of our "solid men of Manhattan," doffed their chapeaux, and congratulated themselves on having thus early seen "the General." He holds the ribbons with a professional grasp, and speeds his team along the seashore road in a manner that indexes the goaheaditiveness for which he has always been remarkab e.

Mr. Michael Phelan, the celebrated billiardist. now stopping here, an old California friend of the Commander-in-Chief, invited him to witness a match that had been arranged between himself (Phelan) and Mr. McDevitt, no less re-nowned in the billiard world. This match was played during the afternoon on a private tabl in the Stelson House, and was witnessed by the General and a few invited guests, the former enjoying to the utmost the scientific points of

A grand serenade was given in the General's honor at midnight yesterday. The hop on Thursday is expected to be the grandest thing or the reason. A regatta race of a fleet of pleasure surf-boats, by amateur boatmen — Messrs. Morris, Silva, Bertram, Chickering, and Stokes - will take place to-morrow evening, opposite the Continental Hotel. General Grant and suite will be present and present the prizes, and Gilmore's full band will furnish the music. The distance to be rowed is one thousand yards. A salute of cannon will constitute the starting signal .- N.

General Sherman on the Alleged Indick Massacres.

HEADQUARTERS MILITARY DIVISION OF THE MISSOURI, St. LOUIS, P. M., July 19, 1867.— Editor Republican—Dear Sir:—The Evening Dispatch announces the capture, by Indians, of a train Lear Fort Larned, on Sunday last, who are said to have killed all the males, embracing Bishop Lamay and some priests en route to New Mexico, and carried off the females.
I left Fort Harker last Monday morning, a which time nothing of this sort was reported. General A. J. Smith is at Fort Harker, and would have reported such an event by telegraph had it occurred six days ago.

Fort Larned is about fity-five miles south west of Fort Harker, and has a good garrisou, be-sides posts at Zara and Plum Creek between. The tri-weekly stage to and from New Mexico passed regularly during my stay of ten days at Fort Harker, prior to the date when this cap-ture is reported to have occurred, and many loaded with private and Government freight had passed out during the same time, and all trains were inspected by an officer, to see if they were properly equipped and guarded. I lived with the commanding officer, Coionel Hart, and did not hear him refer to any train going out with priests and nuns. Nor is Lamay the name of the Bishop of Sauta Fe. Besides this telegram comes from New York, and i quoted from a Leavenworth paper, and I have letters and telegrams from Leavenworth up to to-day, without mention of any such occurrence. The country has been shocked by so many terrible accounts, fabricated for a purpose-such as the Fort Buford affair, the steamer Miner, and the killing of General Custer, all of which you know to have been pure inventions that I think journalists should endeavor to ascertain the truth before shocking the public with such terrible announcements. Of course, I cannot absolutely deny this report; but it has no semblance of truth when tested by the facts I have stated. Yours, W. T. Sherman, Lacut.-General. P. S. The word Laramie is also used in the despatch; but Fort Laramie is 300 miles to the W. T. Sherman, Lieut.-General. north of any road leading to Santa Fe. So that Larned must be the post meant. Death of a Man who Weighed Three Hundred and Sixty Pounds,

The coffin which enclosed the mortal remains of the late John Allen, who died on Sunday, and was buried yesterday, was the largest, we believe, that was ever made in Mr. Allen was a man of immense breadth and girth-not so large as Daniel Lambert-but turning the scale at three hundred and sixty pounds only a short time before he died. In stature he was quite small, and, consequently, there was little if any room upon his person to pile any more of that mountain of fat with which he "larded the lean earth." The dimensions of his coffin were as follows:—Length, five feet ten inches; across shoulders, two feet eight inches; depth, twenty-one inches. The hearse admitted this immense coffin by just an eighth of an inch on each side, but previous to removing the body from the house the doors had to be removed to enable the bearers—twelve in number-to pass the remains out. It was first intended to deposit the remains in the vault at St. Mary's Cemetery, but upon arriving there it was found the coffin could not be got within the door. The grave-which some one irreverently remarked looked like a cellar was then dug, and the mortal remains of John Allen, a genial, generous man in life, were deposited in their last resting place.— Troy Times.
