CHOCOLATE. Where It Comes From and How It is Made-Its History and Early Manufacture-The Process of Manufacture in This Country-Interesting Particulara.

The first account we have of the use of the fruit of the Cocoa tree is in the early part of the sixteenth century, when it was introduced into Europe, in the shape of Chocolate, from Mexico. The ancient Aztecs were probably the first discoverers of its nutritious and pleasant qualities. They prepared it with great skill; the froth of it, even, is described as being of such solidity that it could be taken off and eaten cold. The Spanish conquerors of Mexico were especially delighted with its nutritious qualities, and they declare, in their records of the time, that "one cup of it is enough to sustain a man through the longest day's march."

The Spaniards robbed the Aztecs of the secret of manufacture, and kept it so successfully that for many years they were the sole makers of the article. The name "chocolate" is derived from the Aztec word chocolat. These early manufacturers, also, were the first to introduce flavors into the article-vanilla then, as now, being the most popular. Linnaus, the celebrated naturalist, gave the substance the name of the broma, signifying "food fit for the gods." and signifying also his high appreciation o what the whole world now admits to be a most delicious, and indeed indispensable, article

Chocolate, as it comes to market, is the result of extensive and delicate manipulation. The cocoa trees produce seeds about the size and color of the kernel of a sweet almond, inclosed in a pulp. They grow in all parts of South and Central America, but the quality differs very materially in various places. The most highly esteemed varieties are obtained from Central America. The seeds are disengaged from the pulp, dried, prepared by a peculiar process, and then shipped in large quantities to the place of manufacture.

Some years ago the best chocolate was made in France, but now America outrivals her in the quality of the production, and Philadelphia fairly stands at the head of the manufacture in the United States, and consequently in the world. Mr. Stephen F. Whitman, the well-known confectioner, has in operation "Steam Chocolate and Cocoa Works" in this city which, in their extent, the costliness of their machinery, the quality and quantity of the productions, have no rival elsewhere. Nothing more inte-resting than a visit to his Chocolate Works can be imagined. Here in the first room are bags of seeds piled one on the other in huge stacks, and representing large sums of money (for cocoa seeds are costly). These seeds are first roasted, and then the bags are emptied, one after the other, into a "cracker," which breaks the kernels up into bits about the size of coffee grains. These tiny grains are then run through a ian, which cleans out the husks and shells and throws the pure cocos out upon trays, where it hand-picked to remove even the slightest particle of foreign substance.

The mass is then placed in a huge mill to be ground. There are two of these, both of French manufacture, and of the most costly description. They are the largest, most delicately finished, and most effective in this country. The rollers are of fine French granue, and re-volve upon a granue bed, and this keeps the bocos of its original light brown color, without giving it that dark appearance which it acquires when ground by iron rollers. The kernels are placed in the first of these mills, and as the tones revolve they express the oil, pulverize the seed, and in a few moments present a rich, pily mass of a most delicious and tempting ap-From this machine the substance removed to the other mill, where it is ground even iner, and, it it is desired to make sweet chocolate, is mixed with the requisite quantity As the substance revolves upon th ollers, steel scrapers remove it, and it falls nto a receptacle, from which it is removed into noulds, settled by a curious and beautiful proess, and put away to cool.

From the cooling-chamber it comes out fra-rant, pure, and delicious chocolate, fit indeed r tood for the gods, and more palatable, in all obability, than all the ambrosia that was ever erved up on Olympus. Mr. Whitman makes ast quantities of chocolate of all kinds every ay, and ships it to all parts of the continent. even monopolizes a large portion of the rade in New York city, merchants there pre-irring an article that Mr. Whitman guarantees be of the purest character, to the adultera-ons that abound. The specialty of this unique stablishment is the manufacture of chocolate or table use. Some ien or twelve different finds are made, for all of which there is a contant and increasing demand from hotels, pri rate families, invalids, and confectioners; and t is not too much to assert that in a few years demand for this pure article will have inreased to such an extent (and in a greater ratio s its qualities become known) that it will beome one of the most important branches of our nanufactures.

Mr. Whitman is the pioneer of the movemen n this city, and deserves the credit that he will eccive, and the profits he already enjoys, or the skill, labor, enterprise, and investment of capital in this undertaking. His fine machipery is simply wonderful in the delicacy of its povements and the elegance of its finish, and o one who has ever tasted the chocolate pro uced by it will deny that it performs its work n the most superb manner.

A man who creates a new and profitable branch manufacture is a public benefactor; but he who, in addition to this, furnishes the people with an article of food and drink which has innitely greater nutritive qualities than tea or office, without any of their stimulative effects— n article which is health-giving in all its properes, and the general use of which cannot fail to evate the health average of the people-a man who does this absolutely deserves the gratitude of his tellow-mee. This is what Mr. Whitman bes to some extent now, and intends to do to a center extent in the future. And in the meanme, without wishing to award him greater raise than is his due, we commend our readers a single trial of any of his brands of family accolate, with the confident assurance that key will endorse our views as just and proper, and not exaggerated in the smallest particular.

A PHARISHE-A PRIESTLY SWINDLER EXPOSED. A PHARIERE—A PRIESTLY SWINDLER EXPOSED.

—Another swindling operator of considerable notoriety has come to light. A man of guile, named Greene, desirous of a romantic career, chose the covering and deportment of a minister under which to carry out his criminal transactions; and his name appears upon the police records of this city during the year 1852. He has lately been preaching at Middlefield, Conn., under the name of Cullison, as a local Methodist preacher; at Berlin, as a Congregationalist; and at other sities under various patronymics. A summary of his history is as follows:—Twenty years ago he left a wife and five children in New York, and went to Cincinnati. Entering again into the matrimonial net, he became entangled in its uncomfortable meshes, Entering again into the matrimonial net, he became entangled in its uncomfortable meshes, and, narrowly escaping the custodians of the law for stealing, left wife No. 2 and three youthful Greenes, and fled from Cincinnati. In 1852 he arrived in Philadelphia, commenced a boid swindling career, obtained great sums of money upon his false representations was caught, convicted, and sentenced to fifteen months' penal servitude in the City Penitentiary, which was faithfully carried out. Meanwhile, wife No. 2, hearing of the character of her husband whom she so speedily espoused. of her husband whom she so speedily espoused obtained a divorce. Greene, after his quiet life of fifteen months, infatuated with married life, seemingly took to his bosom his lately divorced wife. He's left for Gotham, and was caught in several swindling operations upon business men, and was sent to Sing Sing for five years, but after serving six months. but after serving six months was pardoned out. In 1862 he went to Cincinnati for a second time, married wife No. 3, but properly No. 4, escorted her to Baltimore, was appointed an army chaplain, occupied the position as regimental postmaster, stole the soldiers' money coming into his hands leading prayer meetings at the same time, was arrested, sent to the Washington City Ponitarities. ton City Penitentiary, escaped, obtained furs on false pretenses, and $100 of President Lincoln false pretenses, and $100 of President Lincoln on a proposed negotiation with Jeff. Davis for a treaty. He then decamped for Chicago, made known his authority as the proper person to carry on the treaty, was arrested, made his escape, and was not heard of until his last operation in Counceticut. About two weeks ago the parsonage in Middlefield, where he lived, was mysteriously burned. He claimed to have lost everything, but susplicion was aroused; certain trunks were found in the basement of the church; then they were missing; he ran away; was followed; the trunks found and opened, and contained property he claimed had been burned. He has also been proved a forger, and has four wives living, from only one of whom he has a divorce.

CORONER'S INVESTIGATION .- The Coroner held an inquest to-day in the case of John Logan, who was found drowned at Filbert street wharf, Schuylkill, yesterday. It is suspected by his friends that there has been foul play.

wharf, Schuylkilli, yesterday. It is suspected by his friends that there has been foul play.

Joshua Franklin sworn—I went down to the river about 6 o'clock in the morning: aw something in the river; it was a drowned man covered with tar; called Mr. Cunningham, and we got him out; he was lying on his face; saw no scratches on him at the time; after he was washed we; found scratches on his forehead and on his cheek, and a piece out of his lip.

John Beckenbock sworn—The pockets of the deceased were searched in my presence; found a pocketbook containing a check for $400, payable to the order of John Logan and signed M. J. Coleman; one $2 bill, two $1 bills, a twenty-five cent note, two ten cent notes, fourteen pennies, and one two cent piece; several memoranda. a pair of brass spectacles, pearlhanded knife, a gold pen and silver pencil-case, a lend pencil and a watch key (these articles were delivered to the Coroner); as soon as deceased was washed he was recognized by his friends.

Ale rander McClain sworn—Keep tavern at Twenty-second and Chesnut streets; saw deceased on the evening of Thursday in my place; he told me he had $100 in one pocket-book by itself; his watch was on; he said he got the money to oblige another man; he also had a check for $400; the watch was gold, and was suspended to his beck by a leather guard; he got into a Race and Vine streets car; that is the last I saw of him.

John Sharp sworn—Saw the deceased have two pocket-books; one was a long black one; saw him take out a five-dollar bill about 10 o'clock; he took a roll of noies out of the black book, and took out the five-dollar bill to make a bet with a man; he put the book in an inside pocket.

Dr. Shapleigh sworn—Made a post-mortem on the body of the deceased yesterday; found some scratches all running the same way, showing that they were unfolled by falling against or rebbing over something; he came to his death by drowning; they were mere scratches of the skin; there were no marks on him that would cause death. The investigation was

AN OUTRAGROUS PROCEEDING .- James Kelley was before Recorder Ensu this morning, charged with committing an assault and battery on Joseph Mulholland. The parties were both engaged in working on the Chesnut street bridge. Returning from dinner on the 19th instant, Kelley wanted to bet the other he could beat him running. Mulholland said he would not bet, but he would run for fun. They started, and Mulholland proved himself to be the better runner. He was leaving Kelley fast in the rear. The latter seeing this, by a sudden lunge forward put his foot in front of the other, and tripped him up. He fell to the ground with violence, and burt bimself so much that he was confined to the hospital for a week. As ne was commed to the hospital for a week. As soon as he recovered sufficiently to be able to get about, he had a warrant issued for the ap-prehension of Kelley. He was committed in default of $1000 bail. Mutholland's wrist was badly sprained, and he will not be able to use it for a month.

THE DROWNING OF JOHN LOGAN .- Several errors have occurred in the notices which have been published of this unfortunate occurrence. Mr. Logan did not, as stated, keep a tavern at Twenty-third and Wainut streets, nor was be ever engaged in the business. Nor had he been in the tavern at Twenty-third and Walnut streets, as stated, on the evening of Thursday. He had gone to Fairmount to collect some bills. and was last seen about eight o'clock, as he was about entering a car to return home. The place where his body was found was near Filbert street wharf, near his residence. As his watch and $110 in money were missing from his per-son, there is every reason to fear that he met with foul play. He was a man of considerable wealth, and accustomed to carry money with him, a fact which was well known among his acquaintances. No clue has as yet been obtained to the guilty parties in the matter.

Hop. George W. Woodward, Chief Justice of the supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:— PHILADELPHIA, March le, 1867.
I find "Hoefland's German Bitters" is not an intoxicating beverage, but is a good Tonic useful of the cating beverage, but is a good route, useful to uncounts of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours traly,

[From the Rev. E. D. Fendell, Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.]

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic to all who are suffering from general debility, or from diseases arising from decrangement of the liver. arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly, E. D. FENDALL

[From Rev. D. Merrige, Pastor of the Passyunk Bap tist Church, Philadelphia.] From the many respectable recommendations given to br. ricofland's German Bitters, I was induced to give them a trial. After using several bottles I found them to be a good remedy for debility, and a most excellent tonic for the stomach. D. MERRIGE.

Having used in n.y family a number of sottles of your Houfland's German Bitters, I have to say that I regard them as an excellent medicine, especially adapted to remove the diseases they are recombinated for. They strengthen and invisorate the ayalm when debulinted, and are useful in disorders of the liver, loss of appetite, etc. I have also recombined them it, several of my friends, who have tried them and found them greatly beneficial in the recoration of health.

North Sirth Street, PHILADELPHIA, July 15, 1865.

Some eighteen months since, I was a severe sufferer from dyspensia. I was not only unable to take plain fo d without suffering great distress, but had become ness of any kind.

After trying a variety of so-called remedies, all of which proved worthless, I was induced, at the suggestion of a medical irlend, to give Hoofland's German Bitters a trial. I accordingly purchased air bottles, which were taken in accordance with your directions. obties, which were taken in accordance with your directions.

The result was a complete removal of all distressing symptoms after eating or drinking, and a full restoration of strength, so that I now eat all ordinary kinds of food with impunity, and am able to attend to all the active duties of a large and arduous business as well as at any period of my life; the good effects of the Bitters were manifested before I had taken the first bottle.

I have also used it in my family with the happing results, and take great pleasure in adding my tests many to that of the many others who have been recoils, and take great pleasure in adding my tests many to that of the many others who have been benefited by it. I find great benefit from the use of a notile in the spring and fail. They not only create a vigorous aprellie, but give a healthy tone to the stomach by atrengthening its digestive powers.

If the above testimony will be the means of inducing any who suffer from Dyspepsia to give your Bitters a trial (when it. I feel confident, will give them relief) it is at your service.

THIRD EDITION THE GREAT STRENGTHENING TONIS FOURTH EDITION

Trial of John H. Surratt.

WASHINGTON, July 27,-The trial of John H. Sur; ratt was resumed this morning in the Criminal Courts Judge Fisher presiding.

ratt was resumed this morning in the Criminal Courts Judge Fisher presiding.

The crowd of spectators within the bar has of late been so great as to seriously inconvenience the movements of the officers of the Court in the performance of their duties.

The presence of so large a crowd, too, has prevented to some extent a free flow of air through the room, and this has been a source of great inconvenience. Judge Fisher accordingly this morning decided to limit the number of spectators within the bar, and has directed most of the old tickets to be withdrawn, and will on Monday issue a different style of ticket.

After the opening of the Caurt, Judge Fisher made an announced that during the arguments he wanted no signs of approbation at anything that might be sald. The Marshal would have his force properly placed, and would remove from the court-room any one giving signs of approbation or disapprobation.

Mr. Rradley said he was sorry to inform the court that some withcesses as to Dr. Bissell's character were on the way, but had not yet arrived here. He did not know what sort of an application to make for a further indulgence, but he hoped the court would exercise such discretionary power as to enable the defense to have the benefit of this testimony. It was essential not only to the case itself, but also to the character was not one that could be so easily impeached. There was also a witness on the way who would testify to Dr. Bissell's presence in Elmira on April 14th.

Mr. Carrington said he understood that the case was to be held open only until this morning, and he hoped that the agreement would be enforced.

Mr. Bradley said nine witnesses were on the way from New York, and others from Owego and other places, and some of these gentlemen were of the highest respectability.

Mr. Pierrepont said it was understood yesterday that the case was to be kept open only to allow witnesses to be examined as to character. He doubted whither this was a matter of much himportance, as the whole question at last was whether t nesses now in attendance against Dr. Bissell's character, but they could not ask to have the case reopened.

Judge Flaher said he had been disposed to be indulgent the case would have been overbefore this. The other day it was proposed to close the case, and there was then only a misunderstanding as to speeches; and he could not, therefore, see that there would be any prejudice to the case if it was now closed, and if there were no further witnesses in attendance he would close the case so far as the evidence was concerned.

Judge Flisher then proceeded to deliver his opinion upon the motion argued yesterday, to strike out certain testimony.

The items of evidence relative to the attack upon the Vice-President and Secretary Seward he would leave stand, because they were all parts of the same scheme and the same transaction.

As to the evidence about facob Thompson he would strike it out, because he could not see that it was connected with the prisoner.

As to the item of evidence relative to the shooting of Union soldiers escaping from Rebel prisons, he would permit it to stand, because it was evidence showing a concerted plan of action not only te kill Fresident Lincoln, but it was a plot against the United States Government, and it would show the malice of the accused to the Government.

The evidence is relation to telegraphic communication between Washington and Emira, and the evidence in relation to the trains between Washington and New York, was ruled out, because it was not properly connected, and because it was not evidence in relation to the trains between Washington and New York, was ruled out, because it was not evidence in relation to the trains between Washington and the relative to the speches in relation to the prosecution that it had not been connected with the prisoner.

Mr. Bradley noted an exception to the ruling of the court, admitting certain items of testimony.

After some conversation in relation to the signing of the exceptions by the Cyurt, Judge Fisher said the courts of the prisoner.

the jury.

Mr. Merrick asked the Court to rule upon the ques-

Mr. Merrick asked the Court to rule upon the question submitted by him relative to the speeches, and whether, if the defense declined to speak, one speech by the prosecution would not close the case?

Mr. Pierrepont said this was no ordinary case, and intimated that no restriction should be placed upon counsel in addressing the jury.

Judge Fisher said this was one of the most voluminous cases, as deven if the defense did not wish to address the jury, he thought he could not restrict the prosecution to all one speech.

Mr. Carrington contended that this case was one of too much magnitude to be nermitted to be thrown upon the Court and jury without argument.

Mr. Bradley submitted that, if the prosecution proposed to divide the labor, the defense should be advised of that division, for justice to the prisoner: he would suggest, therefore, that the prosecution officers make their speeches first, and let the defense reply, and then one or both of the counsel for the prosecution could reply. He did not know what strangement had been made, but he believed the Prosecuting Attorney had always closed the case, except in one instance, in the Gardner case.
