THE NORTH MISSOURI RAILROAD.

Change of Gauge-Quick Work-Other Matters.

From the Missouri Republican, August 12, 1867. We learn that on Friday, the 2d of August, the North Missouri Railroad Company began the change of its gauge from this city to Macon City, the junction of its road with the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad, the distance being one hundred and seventy miles. On Friday and Saturday the gauge was changed from St. Charles to Macon, a distance of one hundred and fifty miles, and on Monday of this week the gauge was changed from St. Charles to St. Louis, so that the running of trains was resumed on Tuesday, making only three days that trains were suspended to effect a change of gauge for one hundred and seventy miles of road.

This change of gauge gives the North Missouri road the tour feet eight and a half gauge which is the same as that of the Hannibal and St. Joseph road, the Iowa and Minnesota roads, the Union Pacific roads, and the same as nearly all roads east of us, and will enable the North Missouri to carry both freights and passengers to St. Joseph, Atchison, and Leavenworth without change of cars, and to all points in Iowa and Minnesota, and points reached by the Union Pacific roads when their connections are formed, and also East when the railroad bridge at St. Louis is built.

We have heard it suggested that, in anticipation of the bridge, the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis, the Terre Haute, Alton, and St. Louis, and other Eastern roads, together with the North Missouri road, are considering whether it will not be advisable to make a similar improve ment to that at St. Charles, near the North Mu souri depot on this side of the river, whereby freight and passengers can be transferred, so that passengers can take the cars on the St Louis side of the river and freights be loaded from this side.

We learn that the total cost of the improve ment for this purpose would not exceed afty thousand dollars. It is the next best thing to a bridge, and would answer admirably. It would winter be subject to interruptioon when ferry boats could not run in the ice. It seems to us that it would be a most desirable thing land and take passengers and treights from this side of the river. It is a great delay and annoyance, it seems to us, to have to unload and ferry in wagons freights from and to St. Louis, from the Illinois shore, and we know from our personal experience that families and persons arriving and going East dread the omnibus ride and crossing of the river at St. Louis more than the whole trip, and any improvement that will overcome this will meet with favor from the travelling and business public. We are glad to learn that track-laying is pro-pressing towards lowa, north of Macon. By miles of road will be in operation north of Macon, leaving only fifty-two miles more to complete to reach Iowa, upon which the grading is about half done. It is intended to have the North Missouri Road done to Iowa as soon as the St. Louis and Cedar Rapids or the Iowa Central can meet it there, which it is thought will not be later than June of next year.

Track-laying will commence on the West Branch of the North Missouri Road by the first of September, and will be completed to Brunswick some time in October, a distance of forty The branch extending from Centralia to Columbia, in Boone county, a distance of twenty-two miles, will be completed about the first of September. Six miles of the track is laid, and the contractors are pushing the work By the first of November, or before, the North Missouri management expect to have some seventy-five miles of new road to operate, making a total length of road of two hundred and forty-four miles.

It is believed that the completion of the road to Brunswick will nearly double the present business of the road, and that when a connec-tion can be formed with the Iowa roads that it will greatly change its financial condition.

In looking over the whole field of St. Louis railway connections, the effects upon this city and the effects upon the proposed connection of the North Missouri Railroad on its own interests, to us that it is second in importance to no road that connects with St. Louis, and that a few years will show it to be a splendid paying road. It will take a little time for this. It has to complete its connections, and get business flowing over it which will at once follow its completion, when we predict that it will become one of the most prosperous roads in the country. It has our best wishes for its most abundant success.

AMUSEMENTS.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE.-This evening Shakespeare's beautiful fairy spectacle, A Midsummer Night's Dream, will be repeated. The play passed off smoothly last evening, and none of the great beauties of the piece were in the slightest manner marred. The house was uncomfortably full, being packed with people in every part. Every seat in the lower portion of the house is engaged regularly before the curtain is raised, and the audiences are quite fashionable. There is no doubt that the spectacle is destined to have a long and very successful run, and we have every reason to believe that the management will recover a good portion of the capital expended in the production of the piece in this country. Philadelphia will pay her full share at least. We have received the following note from a gentleman of respectability:-

"To the Editor of The Evening Telegraph — Sir—Cannot the law which directs that managers of theatres must provide seats for their patrons be enforced by the police? I have tried to get a view of the spectacle at the Walnut twice, and failed each time. The ushers down stairs would not let me pass into the 'orchestra' or 'orchestra circle,' and the 'dress circle' I find crowded so as to prevent me from seeing but a very small portion of the stage, even by standing on tip-toe.

Our correspondent purchased an admission

Our correspondent purchased an admission ticket, which only calls for a seat if one be vacant and not secured. The manager, in this case, does not contract to furnish a seat. He cannot provide persons with what he has not. We think it would be well, however, for managers to set apart some portion of the lower circles for those who purchase admission tickets thereto, even at a loss of the extra money paid in to secure seats, as a privilege of this kind will always be appreciated by the masses,

A GIRL ATTACKED BY A RACCOON .- A few days since a girl about ten years of age, named Crusen, residing in Grosbeckville, N.Y., while out berrying, about ten miles from the city, was attacked by a raccoon and pretty seriously injured. The girl was engaged picking berries under a tree which the raccoon ascended. While she was thus engaged the animal descended the tree and made an attack upon her, seizing her by the leg, and biting a large piece of flesh from the limb. He would doubtless have killed the girl but for the fact that her screams attracted the attention of some women who accompanied her, one of whom seized a stick, with which she succeeded in driving the raccoon away, after striking it several blows. Strange as it may appear, the raccoon followed the girl about three miles, and then returned to the woods.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

[FOR ADDITIONAL LOCAL ITHMS SEE INSIDE PAGES.]

A SCAFFOLD BREAKS DOWN, AND FOUR MEN ARE INJURED —At Twenty-second and Shippen streets a new church, called the "Bethany Mission," is now in process of erection. Workmen were yesterday morning engaged in putting on the slate roof, when an accident happened, by which four persons were more or less injured. A load of slate was being drawn up to the top scaffold, by means of a rope passing over a pulley and attached to a horse on the ground below, when it struck against some of the timbelow, when it struck against some of bers, and down came the whole affair. quantity of state was upon the scaffold at the time of the accident, and this was thrown upon a portion of the roof of the building, through which it made its way very uncerem Four persons were also on the scaffold, and were precipitated to a lower one, but fortu-nately, although they fell several feet, no serious injuries were sustained.

Alexander Wilson, aged nineteen years, and residing at Twenty-second and Market streets, suffered the most, being quite badly bruised about the head. He was removed to the Pennsylvania Hospital, but his injuries are by no neans dangerous. Samuel Johnson, another workman, was slightly hurt, but was able to walk home.

John Kelly was struck just over the left temple, and otherwise injured; and his son John, aged eleven years only, was likewise cut about

The accident happened about II o'clock in the morning. A few minutes before it occurred the attention of the men upon the scaffold was called to the fact that it was already overloaded; but one of the slaters, not heeding this warning, it is said, loudly demanded that more of the material should be holsted at once, whether it was ready tripmed or not. The slaters in it was ready trimmed or not. The slaters, in turn, assert that the scaffolding was too weak for an ordinary load, and that the mishap was entirely owing to that defect. There is probably a grain of truth in both accounts, and, although nobody was killed, the affair deserves an in-vestigation by the proper authorities.

AN UNPLRASANT CATASTROPHE. - Shortly after 10 o'clock last evening, one of our places of amusement had closed its doors, and those who had been delighted within were wending their way homeward with that gloomy un-pleasantness which is ever the precursor of a rain storm. Just as a party of young adies, with a few gallant escorts, were nearing the corner of Eleventh and Market streets, they were startled by a deafening roar of thunder, followed by pelling drops, which came down in quick succession. With that sudden exclamation of affright known so well to some of our lady friends, they gathered up their skirts, and dashed for the first shelter at hand—a canvas awning. The rain beat down violently, and the water congregated gradually in the centre of the awning, forming it into a large funnel right over the heads and bodies of our evening party, who, unconscious of the impending loom, were laughing and talking in a jocular manner. With another crackling roar of the empyrean artillery, the rain came down with such an intensity that soon enlarged the funnel to a capacious size, and, with a crack funnel to a capacious size, and, with a crack of breaking shreds and a resounding splash, the gathered waters launched upon the giggling party beneath. What screams and cries of "My bonnet, and jockey, and cloak" were heard mingling with the gruffer ebullitions of saturic origin, as the young gents surveyed their dilapidated plugs, limp bosoms, flabby collars, and saturated dress-coats! It is needless to say that some of our friends—as soon as a more substantial shelter was found—instituted a substantial shelter was found—instituted a wrivging process, which lasted long into the midnight hour. This over, carriages took the deluged parties to their respective homes.

THE PURLIEUS OF VICE AND FILTH .- Last night Lieutenant Frank, Sergeant Murray, and a squad of the Seventh District police, made a descent upon a disorderly tenement house, No. 423 St. John's street. This shabby old structure, which in former years was considered a spacious "dance house," presented a battered exterior, with fifth abundant on all sides. Without was paradise to the Babel within, since eight families, with a superabundance of dirty, half-clothed, squalld-looking children, resided there. Internally the house was strictly virtuous of cleanliness, as the black doors, unswept stairs, dirty floors, strongly to the vision, and yet more strongly to the susceptible olfactories of the observer, testified. Add to this decidedly un-clean looking house a jabbering of voices, the shouting commands of the old, and the squalling responses of the young, mingled with curses—a common language—and you have somewhat of an earthly pandemonium. To this place of ill-repute, and a habitat for many vicious and disreputable people, the police pro-ceeded to try and effect, if need be, a forcible re-form. This was necessary, and fifteen inmates, among which number were many young girls, were arrested and sent to the lock-up. Alderman Toland sent many of them for a summer sojourn in the prison wards.

BREVITIES .- John O'Black and David Daily, general sneak thieves, who purioin from entries, door steps, and halls, were caught last night at Fifth and Carpenter streets, and held by Alderman Mink in $1000 bail.—A mad dog, large and feroclous, after creating great fear in the neighborhood of Eighth and South streets, was shot last night.—A slight fire, of which no alarm was given, was discovered on the roof of a house located near Green and Third streets. alarm was given, was discovered on the roof of a house located near Green and Third streets. It was soon extinguished.—Henry Frissie, a Gallic individual, was arrested while attempt-ing to tap a till at Fourth and Worth streets. Alderman Mink committed him in default of $1000 bail.—A little colored fellow, named Stuart, came into the station house this morning, with a long face, saying "As he were lost on a skool discursion, which were moer fun than staying home." Detective Reeder put the little "wayward discursionist" on the right track.—A disorderly house, known as the "Sherman," near Sixth and Race streets, was broken up last night, and the proprietor and wife arrested. Alderman Godbou committed a young girl, an inmate, to the House of Refuge.

In the evening the Citizens' Band serenaded the delegates. Addresses were delivered by J. C. Becker, D. Orr Alexander, D. C. Eveland, and H. H. Hill, on the Order and its objects.

A Cool Way of stealing a man's horse was A Cool Way of stealing 2 man's horse was demonstrated last night. Four men, only known by their dusky forms moving through the darkness, entered the yard of a German carter named Curran, and, taking his horse from the stable, harnessed him to the wagon, and were driving out of the gate, when Curran opened the window, and, peering out, said, "I believe there goes my horse and wagon," whereat the whip cracked and the thieving whereat the whip cracked and the thieving party drove off, and have not since been heard from. It is sufficient to say that Mr. Curran learned soon that it was his horse and wagon which had been stolen.

DEPARTURE OF THE HON. EDWIN M. STANTON. During the latter part of yesterday afternoon Hon. Edwin M. Stanton ex-Secretary of War. arrived in this city, stopping at the Continental. This morning, at an early bour, he left for Bos-ton, from thence to join his family at the White Mountains. During his briefstay he was yisited by many of our prominent citizens and mem-bers of the Union Lesgue. His stay would have been prolonged had it not been for the unpro-pitious weather, as he intended to visit some of our public institutions.

A Testimonial.—This morning an elegant cane was presented to Francis W. Headman, Esq., Representative from Bucks county, by the surviving soldiers of the War of 1812, Mr. Headman was a member of the last session of the Legislature, and exerted himself vigorously in behalf of the interests of these old patriots, who, in turn, take this method of testifying their appreciation of his services.

AN UNNEIGHBORLY APPAIR.-Mary was held by Alderman Sinex in $600 bail for beating a female "nabor" with a club, and, as the latter alleges, intending to kill her. The occurrence took place at Eleventh and Catha-

An Insensible Man, whose name is supposed to be Gideon L. Webb, was picked up last night by a Fifth District officer. He is at the station, corner of Locust and Fifteenth streets. His friends and relatives are requested to call for him.

THE RAIN-STORM.—"We are having the lion's share" is a quaint saying, which has more than ordinary import to the denizens of this city. The fourteenth day of the predicted deluge—by old weather-wise individuals—is deluge—by old weather-wise individuals—is upon us, and one would think, from the manner in which the rain came down this morning, that the flood gates of heaven had been opened for a second time to bring destruction upon this earth, contrary to the covenant made centuries of the full series of spasmodic storms since the advent of August that which commenced lost night and raged all this morning was the heaviest. All the low places in the city were made the reservoirs to be filled by the "almost rivers" which flowed down the streets. At the intersection of Fifth street with the German-town road the water congregated, overflowing street and walks, and insinuating itself into the street and walks, and insiduating itself into the cellars of the inhabitants, filling many, much against the feelings of the owners thereof. On South street, from Eleventh to Thirteenth, the water reached the platform of the cars during the violent rain at 10 o'clock, and the people were bustly engaged during the pelting storm in closing the cellar windows of their homes with old clothes, rags, and dirt, which, being totally unsubstantial, let the water in with the rush of a cascade.

rush of a cascade,

The culvert now building at Nineteenth and Walnut streets was effectually closed by debris of all kinds being washed into it.

We will undoubtedly soon learn of great damage being done, as soon as the water from the highlands around the city begins to pour

THE RAIN ELSEWHERE-DAMAGE ON THE CAPE MAY ROAD,-The heavy rain had its effect upon the railroad in this section of the country. The morning train on the Cape May Road reported that the water was damaging the track. after a telegram received, stated that the rail-road bridge this side of Strasboro had been washed away, thereby putting a stop to the progress of the trains. The damage is quite heavy, and will require some time for its re-pair. Beyond Strasboro, no Irain is reported as having fallen.

HEARINGS AT THE CENTRAL STATION .- Before Alderman Beitler at 2 o'clock to-day, George Wilson was charged with forging the name of John Gilfillen to a check for $114 on the First National Bank. He was held in $2000 bail for a further hearing. Michael Bird, a bootblack, was charged with slapping an apple-woman in the face. It appears that the woman slapped him first, having become incensed because he put too much sugar on a cheese-cake which he bought. He

A NICE YOUNG MAN .- About the 1st of January a young man, named Charles A. Rowand, by some means or other insinuated himself into the good graces of a lady residing in the neigh-borhood of Twelfth and Arch streets, and succeeded by his pleasant talk since that in getting her to loan him $3700, a gold watch, and two diamond rings. He was held in $200 bail for a hearing. Officer Hodge arrested him.

LARCENY .- Charles Raw was arrested last night for stealing a ladies' circular from Mrs. Griffiths, at Eighth and Callowhill streets. He was arrested at Seventh and Willow streets. Alderman Massey held him in $800 bail to VIOLATING THE LIQUOR LAW .- F. U. Rams

THE RIVERSIDE INSTITUTE, for the gratuitous education of the orphans of soldiers and sailors (located at Riverside, New Jersey), is energetically being brought to a successful completion by the Washington Library Company. This worthy affair is not only intended for a home for friendless orphans of this immediate locality, but for all in every part of the Union whose protectors fell in defense of the old flag, The steel-plate engravings given gratuitously to each and every holder of a share (price one dollar,) are really chef d'auvres in their way, and worth more at retail than the cost of a share of stock. The Trustees, desiring to finish their work expeditiously, are offering, in connection with the above inducement, presents to the value of $300,000, which will be distributed next month, guaranteeing each and every stockholder one or more presents, according to the number of shares held. The distribution will be fairly, honorably, and equitably conducted.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

Court of Quarter Sessions-Judge Brew ster.—Christian Kneass, Prosecuting Attorney.

Henry C. Brown pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery upon James Pliginton. On the 30th of July, Mr. Pliginton, connected with the Market Street Railway, sent to the depot for drivers. The defendant came to him, and when he was asked if he had been sent down to drive, he accused Mr. Pliginton of having reported. he accused Mr. Pliginton of having reported him to the President of the Company; Mr. Pil-ginton denied it, and the defendant then struck him. Fined $25 and the costs.

John Malone was charged with the larceny of a sliver watch, valued at $50. The evidence was that the defendant was one of twenty or thirty boarders at a house, and had been staying there about four months. On the night of July 10, after all the other boarders had gone to bed, the defendant was seen to go up stairs; no one else could have gone up without having been seen; and about an hour after he had gone up a boarder missed his watch. The defendant remained in the house some ten days after this. and the watch was not seen upon him. circumstances could only raise a slight suspi-cion of the defendant's guilt, and hence the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty. Patrick O'Neil was charged with the larceny of a set of harness and an overcoat, together valued at $150, belonging to William Dovel. He hired himself to Mr. Dovel on the 4th of July, and a few days afterwards went away. The narness and coat were missed at that time. He was arrested on a Baltimore packet, and acknowledged that he stole the harness dict guilty.

William Gilder pleaded guilty to a charge of blgamy. Eva Howder testified that she married the defendant January 15, 1866, under his representation of being a single man; about three weeks afterwards she discovered that he had a wife living, whose name was Mary had a wife living, whose name was Mary Thompson.

Bernard Gorman, Isadore Quain, William Land, and Daniel Dowling were charged with assault and battery upon John R. Suplee, and with robbing the same. Mr. Suplee testified that on last Sunday night, about 12/40 clook, as he was waiking in Mervine street, below Jefferson, some men came up behind nim, knocked him down, and robbed him of his watca, chain, and pocket-book. He recognized Quinn, Lane. and pocket-book. He recognized Quinn, Lane, whom he said struck him, and Dowling, but not Gorman. He had seen the three former in not Gorman. He had seen the three former in a tavern but a short time previous. Policeman Mervine testified that, from infor-mation received from Mr. Surlee, he arrested Gorman in a brickyard at Tenth and Jefferson streets, and found Mr. Suplee's watch chain upon him; he asked where was the pawn ticket for the watch, and he said he free nothing for the watch, and he said he knew nothin about it; he was then asked who was with him, and he replied that when he went out with friends he would "stand by them." Afterwards he would "stand by them." After-wards he took the officer into the brickyard at Tentu and Jefferson streets, and found the pawn-ticket for the watch, by which it was re-covered; he then said he had done the job, aided by Dowling only, and no one else had anything to do with it.

Policeman Wadsworth testified that on the Policeman Wadsworth testified that on the night of the robbery he went to the Humane Engine house to look for the three other defendants, and was refused admittance; after talking with those inside of the engine house, ne was admitted, and Quinn, Lane, and Dowling ran up to the bunk-room; they refused to let the officer go into this room, and he had to procure the aid of another officer and several citizens in order to gain admittance; that night citizens, in order to gain admittance; that night ctizens, in order to gain admittance; that night he arrested Quinn there.

Other officers testified to the subsequent arrest of Lane and Dowling.

Mr. Suplee, on being recalled, testified that he was in a tavern drinking with the three de-fendants, Quinn, Lane, and Dowling, and that when he started down Mervine street he left them standing at the corner of Twelfth and Mervine streets: before he got to Eleventh Mervine streets; before he got to Eleventh street he was attacked; but he was not sure as to Quinn; he thought he had not seen him for some ten minutes before he left the tavern The defense argued no evidence ag Quinn, and mistaken identity as to Lane.

The District Attorney, who prosecuted the case, argued that if all these defendants had not been connected with the robbery, they would have aided Mr. Suplee when he cried for help, for it was committed but a short distance from where they had been left standing, and but a few minutes after Mr. Suplee started down the street.

Gorman stated to the jury that he had no-thing to do with the robbery. He had received the watch from a man named George Rice, at whose request he had pawned it in his own name, Jury out.

SPECIAL DESPANCE TO EVERENG THE SCHAPE A

WASHINGTON, August 15. This morning a warrant, issued by Justice Walter upon the complaint of Major Richards, Superintendent of Police, was served upon Joseph H. Bradley, counsel for Surratt, charging him with having handed a letter to Judge Fisher, intended as a challenge to fight a duel within the meaning of the act of Congress. Mr. Bradley appeared with his counsel, W. IV. Davidge, to answer to the warrant, and, waiving an examination, gave bail. The information upon which the warrant is issued is furnished by a card of Mr. Beadley's in the Intelligencer of yesterday, in which he publishes his note to Judge Fisher, and virtually admits that it was a challenge. The names of the following witnesses were endorsed on the back of the warrant: -- George R. Fisher, L. G. Hine, R. R. Montgomery, Thomas J. Johnson, Dacey Ramsey, Dr. Swart, and Policeman

McHenry. The witnesses above named are Judge Fisher and the persons who were with him in the street car when the challenge was handed to him by Mr. Bradley. The act of Congress prescribes a penalty of imprisonment in the Penitentiary of five years for sending or accepting a challenge. General Steedman's Visit to the Capital, The arrival of General Steedman in town, from New Orleans, has caused a revival of the reports that he has been called here to take charge of the War Office. He denies this, and says his visit here is solely on official business in connection with the Internal Revenue

Bradley, Sr., had challenged Judge Fisher, contrary to and in violation of the anti-duelling law, passed by Congress February 20, 1839. This affidavit was based on Mr. Bradley's note to Judge Fisher, published yesterday, in which the latter was invited to meet the former out of the District, in order that they might arrange, to their mutual satisfaction, the point of difference be-tween them, without the risk and odium which might accompany any controversy here or in Detective Bigley, of the Metropolitan Police, armed with a warrant, arrested Mr. Bradley this morning, and took him before Justice Walter. Mr. Davidge appeared as Mr. Bradley's counsel, the latter walking an examination response. and the latter waiving an examination, gave ball in $2000 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court to answer the charge against him.

FROM BALTIMORE TO-DAY.

Another Political Difficulty-The Rain -A Grand Wedding To-day, Etc.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE EVENING TELEGRAPH.] BALTIMORE, August 15,-It is now understood, and pretty well determined upon, that Mayor Chapman and all the other city officials, together with Judges, State Attorneys, and other officers in Baltimore and elsewhere throughout Maryland, holding their positions under the present Constitution, will retuse to give up their offices until the expiration of the terms for which they were elected.

This they will do upon the grounds of the unconstitutionality and illegality of the present Constitutional Convention and its acts. Large sums are to be appropriated to fee counsel and control the question in the courts. The Union men seem determined on this course if the new Constitution is adopted, and Democrats and Secessionists are selected under it to fill their places. So there is trouble ahead.

A vast amount of rain fell all last night and this morning.
