THE DAILY EVENING TELEGRAPH-PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1867.

THE DYING WIFE'S APPEAL. The tollowing beautiful lines were placed in a scrap book of a now deceased wile about weak before ner demine. How businerial row boorning they are under Re circomstance al Sne expected, when placing them in the book, to live bus abort time. -

Come near me, let me lay my hand Once more upon thy brow. And let me whisper in thine ear Love's last and fondest vow. The lips that breathe these trembling words, When they lie cold in death, And thy dear cheek can feel no more Their warm and loving breath.

1 go from thee; God only knows How I have longed to stay: How I have shuddered thus to tread The long and shadowed way. Faith tells me that I soon must know The joys the blessed find, And yet I falter, while I cast A lingering look behind.

I see thee bowed before me here, In bitterness and tears ; But I can leave thee something still, To light thy weary years ; Young tender forms will cling to thee, Perhaps will miss my tone, And though they may not share thy grief, Thon wilt not feel alone.

Fold them closer to thy breast, And soothe their childish woe, And cheer the many lenely hours The motherless must know.

The world, with all its hopes and joys, Will sometimes make thee glad ; But they must linger round the hearth

Still desolate and sad.

And oh ! when time shall calm thy grief, Ferchance the hour may come When thou wilt win another form

To share thy heart and home-When thon wilt welcome to thy board

A younger, fairer face, And bid thy children smile on her, Who takes their mother's place.

But think not, could I speak to thee, That I would frown or blame,

Though they should love the stranger one, And call her by my name,

For they will speak to thee of me, My memory is their trust;

A word, a smile, a look like mine

Will call me from the dust. Yet make my grave no place of tears, But let the dear ones bring, To cheer their mother's lonely home. The blossoms of the spring; And there thou too may'st kneel,

And softly press the earth That covers her, whose face once gave A brightness to thy hearth.

Then will the forms of early years Steal softly to thy side, And for an hour thou can'st forget Thon hast another bride. She may be all thy heart can ask,

So dear, so true to thee; But oh ! the spring-time of thy love, Its freshness was for me.

May she be blest, who comforts thee, And with a gentle hand Still guide our little trembling ones Who make our household band. She cannot know the tenderness That fills their mother's breast, But she can love them for thy sake, And make thee more than blest.

HORTICULTURE AND OUR HORTICULTURAL SO-CIETY .- The August meeting and exhibition of this interesting and flourishing society was held last evening, in the foyer of the new hall. The attendance was ample, and the exhibition, though not large, was very fine. President D. Rodney King presided at the business meeting.

An interesting matter occurred during the busi-ness inceting. Mr. Thomas Meehan presented the annexed extract from the London Gardener's Journa President King pronounced this a most handsome offer, and a vote of thanks, in advance, was passed for lt.

BAR MEETING.—A meeting of the members of the Bar was held yesterday, in the Supreme Court room, with reference to the death of William V. Hieskill, Esq. William M. Mere-dith, E-q., was called to the chair, and Robert H. McGrath appointed Secretary. James E. towen, Esq., offered the follow-ing resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:—

adopted :--

Resolved, That the members of the Philadelphia Bar here assembled have heard with deep sensibility of the death of their late associate,

Reso ved, That in the death of their late associate, William B. Hieskell, Esq. Reso ved, That in the death of Mr. Hies-kell we deplore the loss of one admired for his professional learning and ability, honored for his integrity, and beloved for his genial and amiable disposition.

That we tender our most respectful and profound sympathy to the family of our departed triend in their heavy bereavement. That a committee of five be appointed by the Chairman to communicate these resolutions to the family of Mr. Hieskell. Addresses were made by Mr. Gowen, and by George W. Biddle, James H. Horn, and Peter McCall, Esqs.

The Chairman appointed as the committee under the resolution the following gentlemen:---Messrs. James E. Gowen, George W. Biddle, James H. Horn, Peter McCall, and Samuel Hood, Esq., and, on motion, the officers of the meeting were added to the committee.

scier, and purpose in every inch of the mar-ble; and that it was committed to fortunate hands. The statue rests upon a sonare pedestal, upon the front of which are the mask and numerous emplems of the tragle muse. The history of the statue is this:-In 1863 ten gentlemen, the majority of whom are Bostonians, subscribed $1000 for a statue of Mr. Forrest, in the spring of 1863 Mr. Ball spent some time in Philadelphia, where every facility necessary in making the studies for his model was sflorded him by Mr. Forrest. A year or more since he sailed for Italy for the purpose of put-ting the statue in marble, and it reached this in a complete state a few days since, uture of the statue is not known further than that it will be exhibited in Boston, New York, and Philadelphia. Inasmuch as a majority of the subscribers reside in Boston, may we not hope that here will be its resting-place-here where the tragedian was first thoroughly recognized and his genius first prenounced upon)

-The operatic season at Covent Garnen was brought to a close on the 3d. Her Majesty's Theatre also closed on the 10th.

at which fitty seven candidates for membership were balloted for and elected. The President called attention to the grand autunnal exhibition of the society on the 24th, 25th, and 26th days of September. The objects of the exhibition are:--By competition to encourage those practically engaged in gardening to study and aim at perfection, and by the exhibition of the best specimens of gardening skill to en-tertain and instruct the members of the society. The committee are anxious to make this annua exhibition-the first in the new hall-sustain the already pre-eminent reputation of Pennsylvania as a horticultural State, and ask that all will ald the committee by encouraging their friends to send in specimens of their garden and orchard products. In addition to the regular premiums, the committee offer for the decoration of the hall :-- horticultural interest generally, may be loaned by their possessors. In the regular schedule of premiums $20 is offered for the best design of cut flowers, suited to the decoration of the hall. The best care will be taken of the plants and other articles on exhibition. It would help the committee to properly prepare for their recep-tion if exhibitors would send a list of their articles a few days prior to the meeting to J. E. Mitchell, Esq., Horticultural Hall, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements. The floral attractions last evening were especially beautiful: the fruit, however, save that grown in hot-houses, is wofully dedcient in its usual flavor. Exhibitors mourn the absence of sun, that adds vinous richness to the summer fruits, and deplore the rains that have diminished their size and diluted their piquant flavor. The pears exhibited are comparatively insipid wille grapes and nectarines are luscious and rich to a degree.

Douald McQuinn, gardener to Jeshua Long-streth, showed superb nectarines, while some spiendid specimens were also shown by George Huster, gardener to Hon. Alexander Cummings, late of Colorado. 1100

Grapes weighing several pounds to the bunch grown under glass, were exhibited by Miss Het-tle Trimble, of West Chester, who, we are told, has more than filteen hundred pounds of them in a single grapery. Beginning as an amateur, she now is raising them for sale with signal success.

Mr. Felton showed forty-two varieties of vegetables, including several new tomatoes and oelery of full size, grown in the unprecedented short period of six weeks, Charles Harmar, Esq., Gray's Ferry road, showed the Harrison potato, a "murphy" of such lecundity as to yield oftentimes twentyin a hill

President King introduced a variety of tomatees averaging twenty inches in circumference, the largest, if not the best, ever exhibited. Mr. Lorin Blodget showed tomatoes, grown ngainst the garden wall of his residence, in Fouth Broad street, that hung in clusters like currents, and attracted general attention. In flowers Mr. Henry A. Dreer exhibited thirty varieties of gladioit, the Japan lily, nine inches in diameter, and baskets of cut flowers of wonin diameter, and based of our howers of won-derful beauty. Some attention was attracted also by the largeness and beauty of the asters, from the garden of Governor Cummings. The usual display of hot-house plants was made—a feature of this city excelled by no other in the Union. Of outdoor ulants were shown in the Union. Of out-door plants were shown searcely any. Like fruits, they have suffered from super-saturation.

A NEW SWINDLING DODGE .- A new swindling dodge has come to light in West Philadelphia. whereby a gentleman was victimized yesterday out of four doltars. The facts are these:-The West Philadelphian was waited upon by au individual who represented that he had two tons of coal aboard of a vessel, and having no use for it, was apxious to dispose of it at four dollars a ton. The gentleman consented to the purchase, and in the afternoon a ton reached the restdence. The individual was on hand, and when the coal was put in demanded four dollars of the occupant, which amount was paid to him. Later in the day another ton arrived, and with it came a bill for two tons of coal purchased from a coal yard in the vicinity. The West Philadelphian set about making an investigation, and to his astonishment found that he had been victimized. The swindler had ordered the coal from a neighboring yard, and had given instructions to send it to such a residence.

EMIGRANT TRAVEL OVER THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILEOAD .- There has been a large increase in the number of emigrants passing over the Pennsylvania Railroad, as compared with the previ-

armers seeking homes in the far distant West,

SCARCITY OF MACKEREL .--- Last week the entire number of this general article of food which arrived from the bay amounted to two hundred and sixty barrels, and the flect are reported to be doing but little. In view of the scarcity of both bay and shore mackerel, prices are advancing, as the supply is less than the demand. The whole stock of bay thus far brought in does not exceed 500 barrels. Last year, at this time, about 8000 barrels had arrived.

HOUSE ROBBERY .- The residence of Mrs. Catharine Hickey, No. 304 Union street, was robbed on Monday night of forty dollars and cloth valued at one hundred dollars. There were circumstances which led to the beltef that a domestic in the house carried off the property.

CHAIN CABLE RECOVERED .- Members of the Harbor Police picked up on Monday night about five thousand pounds of chain cable, which it was supposed had been stolen.

-Ball's statue of Edwin Forrest, which has just arrived in Boston from Italy, was privately exhibited in that city on Saturday. The Boston Post says: -"The statue is six (set six inches in height, and represents 'Coriolanus' replying to 'Virgilia,' his wife, 'Volumnia,' his mother, and 'Valeria,' who beseech him to spare Bome, Perhaps no better attitude could have been selected. The moment is one of power, strength, dignity, and pride, and these qualities the artist has evolved with remarkable skill. The right loot is thrown forward. In the right hand is a scroll, and the left supports the drapery of the togs. A portion of the chest, the arms, and legs are superbly chiselled, and the marble seems alive with the muscular mightiness for which alive with the indication in additional of the great tragedian is so noted. In fact, the posture of the figure, its detail of development, the drapery, the form and inclination of the head, the expression of the features, even—for marble is capable of such when touched by the quickening hand of genius-the entire work inquickening hand of genius-the entire work in-dicates very clearly that Mr. Ball studied his subject well, and has labored with equal zeal and success. The impression made on the visitor as he gazes upon the statue is that it is justing with life; that there is grace, char-
