ITADELPHIA. PRIDAY, AUGUST 28. THE DAILY EVENING TELEGRAPH-PH

For the Evening Telegraph

A SUMMER REVERIE. EV FTOURTON DATION.

Gently the scented breath of blooming glades Steals o'er the sense, and calms the troubled breast.

Tern with emotions wild. The cooling shades, With drowsy influence, lull the soul to rest.

Each nodding flower waves its slender arms, And bends above the stream as if to view,

With harmless vanity, its mirrored charms, Or bless the soil from which its beauties grew.

The soft repose of nature'soothes the fears, The slumberous songs of insects drown the sighs. The sparkling dewdrops mock at fruitless tears,

And all serenely smile the cloudless skies.

The twitt'ring birds hop joyously about, And take what God bestows for every need;

While laughing children ring the merry shout, And sport with careless hearts upon the mead.

Thus fulled by scenes so tranquil and serene, The spirit broods no more on earthly wrongs, Ent swells the hymns of praise through arches green. That join the symphonies of angel throngs.

On Estimates.-James J. Boswell, Chairman; Messrs. Heaton, Foust, Honman, Gill, Jones, and Roberts. On Hospital.—Albert C. Roberts, Chairman: Messrs, Coleman; Gill, Foust, Hoffman, and Truman.

THE NICHOLSON PAVEMENT .- Notwithstanding the rain, the Nicholson pavement on North Broad street makes fair progress. It is now finished and ready for use as far south as Jeffer-son street. In all the pouring rain yesterday afternoon the men engaged upon the pavement were at work, and the movable fornaces employed in heating the gravel and melting the pitch were sending up their clouds of smoke in the face of the descending torrents. Drenched to the skin, the men yet worked on right cheerily. The street is unpaved and pre-pared for the flooring as far as Master street. while the timbers and blocks are lying along the sidewalks south of Thompson street. The water runs from the finished portion of the pavement as from the surface of a polished table; no mudholes or gullies can be found. The street affords as clean and clear a surface for travel as it did in the most dry and favorable weather. As a highway for vehicles it cannot be surpassed. What will be its condition when the frosts of winter enter the gro und and beein their upheaving process in the spring, remains yet to be seen.

A CAMP MEETING ROBBERY .- Rev. A. Manship, Pastor of Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, has returned home from the Concord Camp Meeting, held in Caroline county, Maryland, minus his watch, a quantity of cloth-ing, and some fifty dollars in cash, stolen from his tent by some advoit thief. He was engaged last Sunday the entire day and evening, and retired with another minister shortly b eleven o'clock. The watch was a present to Mr. Manship, from a congregation of which he was pastor nineteen years ago, and the guard was very highly valued as a memento of the deceased wife of Mr. Manship. Several other tents were entered and pilfered, and, as it was in the days of old, so it appears to be now :- "There was a day when the sons of God came to present them-serves before the Lord, and Satan came also among them."

Letter from John Bright.

The following letter is a reply to one sent to John Bright, the great English radical. accompanying an aighan which was presented by Mrs. Lincoln to the National Fair for Orphans, the proceeds to be divided between the Soldiers' and Sailors' and Colored Orphan Homes of New York.

Donations were solicited by the lady managers of the colored home, with the assurance that when a certain amount was raised the afghan should be sent to John Bright, as a memorial of the great interest he had taken in the cause of freedom:-

"ROCHDALE, July S. 1867.-Dear Madam:-I wills to "ROCHDALE, July S. 1867.-Dear Madam:-I wills to managers of the National Association for the Relief of Destinate Colored Women and Children, for the very handsome and valuable present you have for-waided to me. The afginan is much admired here, but its value as immensely increased because it once belonged to your great and good President. I feal much indepted to the ladies who had me in their kind remembrance, and who have sont me this beauti-tu gift.

much indepted to the ladies who have been been the indepted to the ladies who have sent me this beaution in give. "I have great satisfaction in reviewing the course 1 took in reference to your great struggle, and often if an entitle in the information of this country had tooked with a generous syn upon your late contes." I believe the two matches would have been united, in a noild riendship which nothing hereafter would have been able to disturb. "I have group means and women is both countries will do all they can to wipe out the remembrance of all that is evil in the past. This is needful for the good of the two countries, and for the good of the two countries. And for the good of the two count is both countries who are united in the purchase of the gilt you have forwarded to me, and which my family will always as greatly value. I am, with the highest respect, very truey your. "JOHN ERIGHT."

A Woman One Hundred and Seven Years Old.

The London City Press says: -"Springhead, resting in a lovely valley of flowers, and blushi ng fruit, sinuous with acres of water-creas, has long been a popular resort of Londoners; for apart from its natural attractions, there was an aged female, Mrs. Clayton, mother of the proaced female, Mrs. Clayton, mother of the pro-prietiess on the north side of the stream, that every visitor desired to see. She was born in January, 1760, and until lately assisted her daughter, Mrs. Arthur. Her health was uni-formly good, she generally rose at 6 A. M., and retired at 9 P. M., and walked often to Graves-end, a distance of three miles, without apparent intigue—this she did within two months of her decease. On the 3d ult while engaged in the decease. On the 3d ult., while engaged in the cress-house, she was seized with a trembling fit -the precursor of dissolution-from which time she gradually sank, until Sunday, the 14th, when, after taking an affectionate leave of her family, she closed her eyes as if for sleep, and gently passed away, aged one hundred and seven years and seven months."

Prussian Losses in the War.

The Journal of the Royal Statistical Office at Berlin gives the first official report that has been published of the losses of the Prussian army in the last war. According to this report the effective strength of the army brought into the field by Prussia and her allies was 437,262 men (including 129 generals and 8964 officers) and 110,192 horses. The total number of the wounded was 669 officers and 15,508 men; of those who remained on the field, 178 officers and 2753 men; of those who died of their wounds, 64 officers and 1435 men; and of those who died of illnesses contracted during the campaign, 53 officers and 6734 men. The total loss amounts to 315 officers, 10,562 men, and 6490 horses. The number of officers wounded was relatively twice as great as that of the private soluters.

-When Mrs. Siddons retired from the stage, the public dramatic taste declined a good deal. Blue Beard, and Timour the Tartar. with real horses, were indispensable adjuncts to Coriolanus and King Lear. "Nothing will draw but horses," said Henry Davis. "Naturally," said Sheridan.

-A quartet of soldiers, who had lost limbs in battle, recently gave a serenade, and sang, "Tis sweet to be remembered."

SUSPECTED THEFT .- Last evening a crowd was collected at Sixth and Pine streets, owing to the arrest of a colored man who attempted to dispose of a valuable gold watch and chain to a jeweller, whose place of business is on Sixth street, above Pine. The chain had been ap-pended to the watch by means of a ring, which was bent in a manner indicating that force had been used in taking it from the watch. The storekeeper suspecting that the watch and chain had been stolen, called in a policeman who was passing, who took the alleged thief to the Fifth Ward Station, where he gave the name of John H. Kelly. He was locked up for a hearing.

THE FRAUDULENT BOND TROUBLE IN THE THIRD DISTRICT .- Arrests continue to be made of persons alleged to have been concerned execution of fraudulent bonds in the Third Collection District of Pennsylvania. Two of the parties to one of the bonds were arrested in New York on Wednesday, and one of them was brought to this city by Revenue Inspector Wood, The other will be brought on to-day. An arrest was made in this city yesterday of a resident, and a reported man of means, on the charge of having aided and abetted in the execution of the bonds. The accused will have a hearing in a few days. The United States District Attorney has been working energetically for some months to get at the parties concerned in these frauds.

The Jewelry Manufacture in France.

A Parisietter to a London paper says :- "The jewellers and goldsmiths of France are a most important body, and are continually increasing important body, and are continuity inclusing in numbers, as a stroll among the jewellers and trinket-makers will soon prove to the visitor who remembers the French jewelry and gold-smith's work of 1855. Paris is the centre of the trade; but there are great branches of it at Lyons, and Marseilles, and Besucon. A great inpidary trade has arisen, moreover, in the Jura. The quantity of gold annually used by French jewellers and goldsmiths is estimated at seventeen tons, while the manufactured silver amounts to eighty-nine tons. The total annual value of the gold and silver work of France is set down , at £3,825,600, exclusive of precious stones. There are 20,500 persons in the trade, of whom 12,500 are strictly workmen. The number of manufacturers is 1250.

"This great trade is carried on, as a rule, in small workshops, and it offers to the inquirer exceedingly favorable views of the French small workshop system. There are not many masters who employ more than eight or ten workmen. A great many of the skilled men work apart, and employ one journeyman and apprentices. The female labor used in this trade is confined to the polishing process. Since the exhibition of 1655 machinery has been largely introduced into the trade without, the Committee of Sclec-tion maintain, harming the character or finish of the work. The French Committee asser that 'plated gold jewelry is without a rival abroad, and enables French commerce to com-pete with the low standard gold work of England and Germany.' The social conditions under which this trade is now carried on appear to be extremely happy, and favorable to its prosperous development. Since 1855 the masters and workmen have formed themselves into a common association for the amicable adjustment of their respective interests"
