Taking into account his mental inferiority in other respects, the display of so much uncommon talent on a difficult subject can only be accounted for on the ground of a degree of musical inspiration granted but to few. **

CITY POLITICS-A MYSTERIOUS CONCLAVE-CITY POLITICS—A MYSTERIOUS CONCLAVE—
REPUBLICAN MEETINGS THIS EVENING.—The meeting of the Democratic citizens of the Third Legislative District who were outraged by the Hon, Samuel Joseph's advocacy and supposed authorship of "the notorious Cattle bill," which was advertised to take place last evening at "Literary Hall," on Fifth street above South, was, according to all the accounts we have of it, a very mysterious and not less interesting affair, our Democratic morning contemporary ignores the conclave altogether, as does also our ignores the conclave altogether, as does also our nondescript morning contemporary. Another morning journal states that at 8 o'clock nemondescript morning contemporary. Another morning journal states that at 8 o'clock nebody was present who could impart any information as to who called the meeting. We are toid that a delay of a few minutes then ensued, whereupon, there being about two score and a half of the Democracy present, a gentleman took the chair, and said:—"I believe this meeting was called for the purpose of ratifying the nominstion of Mr. Samuel Josephs." The gentleman who delivered himself in this fashion was evidently a little joker, or else had not read the advertisement. However, the crowd appeared to relish his attempt atwit, and when he continued by requesting all who favored that version to signify the same by saying aye, we are assured that there was a unanimous response and a hasty scrambling for the lower floor of the establishment.

Another morning journal gives the key to the haste manifested in the adjournment, by informing us that on the lower floor lager, and divers other liquids are dispensed to the thirsty ones of the locality. But this same journal likewise informs us that, previous to the liquidating process, a string o resolutions denouncing Mr. Josephs for his advocacy of "the obnoxious cattle bill" was passed, thus leaving the unhappy public in great doubt as to what transpired in the upper room, and rendering it more than probable that the attendants of the meeting paused on their way thereto, to sharpen their wits by a generous draught.

But this is not all, for still another morning journal makes no mention of the resolutions, while it gravely assures us that sundry citizens journal makes no mention of the resolutions, while it gravely assures us that sundry citizens there present, whose interests were affected by "the notorious Cattle bill," indulged in strong denunciations of Mr. Josephs and his fresh beef measure. Now all this is clearly mysterious, and we Now all this is clearly mysterious, and we confess our inability to reconcile the different versions of the affair. But we were not present ourselves, and therefore have not the power of unravelling the mystery. As one of our contemporaries informs us that other meetings in relation to the subject are to follow, we will endeavor to be on hand when next the dissatisfied Democracy of the Third Representative District meet to ventilate their views.

The Republican meeting in Spring Garden

District meet to ventilate their views.

The Republican meeting in Spring Garden Hall, in the Fourteenth Ward, last evening, was a large and enthusiastic gathering, and will doubtless have an appreciable effect upon the approaching contest in that Ward.

Last evening, Mechanics' Hall was filled to its utmost capacity, the occasion being a meeting of our German fellow-citizens, in support of the Union cause. Mr. Prochey presided, and Mr. Van Trouk read an earnest and alle ad-

They discountenance the party which sided with the Rebels in the the party which sided with the Rebeis in the hour of the country's peril, and which invoked the aid of the enemies of republican institutions in the Old World; dropping all side issues, they endorse the principles of the Republican party, and the platform adopted for the present campaign; they pledge support of Judge Henry W. Williams for the Supreme Court; they demand the impeachment of President Johnson at the next session of Congress, and denounce the leniency of the conservative element of that body, by reason of ment of President Johnson at the next session of Congress, and denounce the leniency of the conservative element of that body, by reason of which such action has not already been taken; they tender thanks to Congress for its just and liberal legislation on the subject of emigration; they request the State Legislature to grant to the citizens of Philadelphia the same rights and privileges as are enjoyed in other cities of the State; they favor the passage of a law which, if necessary, will force people to send their children to school, and which will prohibit children of the ages in which they should attend school from toiling in factories, and thus imperiling their health; and finally, they ratify the nomination of F. W. Thomas, Jr., as their candidate for the Legislature from the Ninth Representative District, inviting all Germans, without regard to politics, to vote for him as a man of sound principles, and upright, honest character. The meeting also organized itself into a campaign club, and having appointed an executive committee, and listened to an eloquent address by Mr. Schneiser, adjourned with hearty cheers for the whole ticket.

This evening meetings will be held at the following places, under Republican anspices:—

Am For the Supperess.—By an advertisement elsewhere given, it will be seen that the Agents of the Philadelphia and Southern Mail Steamship Company have generously offered to transport, free of all charges, such contributions of money or material as our citizens may feel disposed to give towards the relief of the sufferers from the yellow lever in Ualf cities. Food and medicines of all kinds, biankets, and other articles which will be of service, will be thankfully received and promptly forwarded. There is also a great demand for nurses for the sick, their hopes of recovery depending chiefly upon proper care and attention. The ravages of the fever in some sections of Louisiana and Texas are, indeed, fearful, and call loudly upon us for sympathy and assistance. Contributions of all kinds may be sent to William L. James, the general agent of the steamship company in this city, or to Messrs. William C. Harris & Co., at No. 125 South Third street.

He Received No Invitation to Antietam. Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.] WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. Official Business.

The absence of the President and his Secretaries at Antietam makes everything here exceedingly dull. At the White House there were no visitors, and the messengers have had one day's rest. Liftle business is being done at any of the Departments except the Treasury, where Assistant Secretary Hartley is officiating, in the absence of Mr. McCulloch.

General Grant. General Grant did not go with the President's party, but was at his office during the morning, attending to business. He received very few calls, as it was generally supposed he had gone to Antietam. It is said no invitation was extended to him by the Committee of Arrangements to participate in the celebration, at least none was received. This creates much comment to-day, in all circles.

General Mulford. General James Multord, appointed Collector of Internal Revenue for the Third District of Virginia, in place of William James, suspended for misconduct, was formerly the Federal Commissioner for the Exchange of Prisioners, and was highlyrecommended by the civil andmilitary officers and bankers of Richmond for this position.

The Weather. The weather is close, sultry, and oppressive.

The Port of Mobile. In anticipation that the yellow fever may each the city of Mobile, and the place be abanloned by the Government officials, General Spinner, U. S. Treasurer, has, from prudential motives, thought proper to withdraw all Government funds deposited there, and place them in some city further North.

Regulations for Drawback on Exported Goods.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Revised regulations for the allowance of drawback on internal revenue taxes on exported merchandise nave been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury, to take effect on the list of October next.

One of the main points in them is that the exporter, instead of first filing an entry at the Custom House, is permitted to file a notice of shipment, describing the goods and stating where they are to be deposited, upon which they are examined by a proper inspector, who will are examined by a proper inspector, who will report in detail. Several potices may be filed or different lots of goods shipped on the same vessel, and within ten days after the clearing of the vessel the entry will be filed at the Custom House covering all the goods shipped.

In cases of exportation to the dominion of Canada, or any of the British North American Provinces, to the West Indies and the Gulf, Atlantic, and frontier ports in Mexico, to Atlantic ports in Central America, and to Atlantic ports north of the Equator, in South America, and in all cases where an American Consul is not known to reside at the port of destination, drawback will not be allowed until after the landing certificate has been received and filed with the Superintendent of Exports. But when the merchandise is exported to any port other than those named, the exporter may obtain a drawback before the receipt of the landing certificate, provided the merchandise named in the entry is in all respects identical with that specified in the Inspector's return of lading, by filing a sufficient and satisfactory bond, with two good and sufficient sureties, with the Collector of Customs at the port of exportation, in a penal sum equal to double the amount of the internal revenue taxes claimed thereon. The landing certificate will embrace evidence of the following description:-First. The certificate of the consignee of the exporter at the foreign port, describing the arti-cles exported, and declaring that the same have been received by him from ---, on board the vessel (specifying the name and nation of the vessel from which they were received, together with the date of landing and other particulars, as given in the form of certificate prescribed). Second. The certificate of the chief revenue officer or collector of the foreign port, under the hand and seal of that officer, certifying that the merchandise described has been landed, duly entered at the Custom House at the said port, and that the duties imposed thereon by the laws of the country in which the port is situated, have been fully paid or secured to be

Third. The certificate of the consul or agent of the United States, residing at such port, cer-tifying to the truth of the statements set forth in the certificate of the consignee, and also that the person signing the foregoing certificate is the chief revenue officer of the port, and that his signature is genuine.

No proof whatever will be received as a substitute for the above prescribed landing certificate, except in cases of exportation to the Dominion of Canada, or any of the British North American Provinces, where the consular certificate will be required in cases where the amount of drawback claimed exceeds $50. Another change from the old regulations is that the weight of cotton fabrics will hereafter be ascertained by a Custom House officer instead of a Collector of Internal Revenue.

The house of Mr. Jairus Keene, turniture dealer, formerly Sampson & Keene, was burned to the ground last night; and, sad to record. Mr. Keene's two daughters and only children, Abby, nineteeu, and Lucy, twenty-one years of age, were burned to death. Mr. Keene is in New Orleans, and his wife and daughters were alone in the house. The mother slept in the lower part of the house—a story and a half cottage—and the young ladies allowed to the company and a half cottage part of the house—a story and a half cottage—and the young ladies directly over her, front. About 11 o'clock Mrs. Keene was awakened by the noise of her daughters running around their chamber and screaming. She rushed immediately to the stairs, but the passage-way was so filled with smoke, and the stairs themselves so entirely on fire, that she could not get to her children. She then an to the nearest neighbor's for help. Define can to the nearest neighbor's for help. Dr. Underwood was the first to reach the burning house. Fludine it impossible to gain access to the chamber in any other way, he procured a ladder, and at great personal hazard got into the window. The room was so filled with smoke that he could live mit only by crawling along the floor. the floor. Freling his way be found the bed, but it was empty; he then felt around for the bodies of the young ladies, but could not find them, and was compelled to make his way out as soon as possible, his hair and face scorched by the flames. No efforts of the neighbors, who had rallied at the cry of fire, could discover or rescue the ladies, or save the house from entire destruction.

This morning the charred remains of the two accomplished and esteemed young ladies were found among the ruins of the burnt house. It is not certainly known how the fire oc-curred; but it is surmised that it must have been communicated to the clothing in the closet of the back chamber, when the ladies hung up their Sunday dresses. They had both attended evening service, and returned home and retired between 9 and 10 o'clock. The fire probably had been smouldering and burning in the closet and in the back chamber until it had filled the chambers with so dense a smoke as to be wilder and suffocate the poor girls on being awakened to their terrible danger. - Boston Traveler of last
