

FIFTH EDITION

Sir Frederick Bruce. Boston, Sept. 12-3 P. M.—Sir Frederick Bruce arrived in this city last night at nine o'clock, from Narragansett, R. I., where he had been stopping a few days. He was accompanied by Governor Gilpin, of Colorado. He was quite ill from throat disease, and much prostrated. Dr. J. H. Bridgeman and Dr. Hodges were at once present; also Senator Drexler, who remained with him until 7 o'clock, when he died. Mayor Norcross, on learning of the sad occurrence, issued the following orders:—

Reported Death of A. T. Stewart. New York, Sept. 19.—The rumored death of A. T. Stewart, in Paris, is untrue. He is in England, and well, according to accounts of A. T. Stewart & Co., of this city.

Wendell Phillips and the United States Supreme Court. From the Anti-Slavery Standard of this week.

Of all the instruments used by the South in old times, the Supreme Court was the most evil-intentioned and the most efficient. The people have been bred in such servile reverence for its decisions, that whichever party got possession of that weapon was almost sure to conquer. Its Judges, appointed for life, and lingering on the bench to extreme old age—as Sidney Smith said of bishops, "with Episcopal pertinacity"—have always represented the opinion of a former generation. This department of the Government has always been the last to come into line with the nation as new eras have opened. The South never appeared to arm itself with a weapon usually found in the hands of the weaker power. The nation swung away from treason like Taney's, and the ship of state moved on "with upright keel." Stung to madness, the South appealed to the bullet—unsuccessfully.

The signs at Washington indicate that Mr. Johnson means to try to find refuge under the old shelter. He plans evidently to strengthen himself by putting the army into the hands of his friends as far as possible; but only as a reserve force. The Congress is to be, it would seem, some action of the Judiciary declaring all the reconstruction legislation unconstitutional, how dangerous and embarrassing a check that would be to the national progress, every one familiar with the history of the anti-slavery movement will fully appreciate. Whether Mr. Johnson will succeed in obtaining such a decision no one knows. His counselors evidently count upon it, we fear with too much ground for their trust.

Every thoughtful man has anxiously watched that tribunal ever since 1861. Mr. Stevens early saw the danger in that quarter, and was only deterred from a vigorous attempt to avert the danger by the fact that the appointing power rested with Mr. Lincoln. It seemed impossible to secure any sufficient change in the character of the bench. The action of most of the judges who owe their appointment to Mr. Lincoln is evidence enough how unwise and dangerous it would have been to put it into his power to saddle us with any more enemies, empowered to talk us as long as their lives lasted.

Mr. Johnson's main object is to confuse public opinion and divide the ranks of the Republican party. No more effectual means could be devised than a decision of the Supreme Court adverse to Congress. Round such a decision would rally all the timid, tired, weak-kneed, half-way, compromiser, and dishonest elements which victory has lured into the Republican ranks. Locked and hampered by such opposition, the reconstruction movement would move very slowly and fitfully forward—the youngest of us, in such circumstances, may reach old age before it will be ended—in any true sense of the word.

What measures the radical element in Congress will adopt to meet such a contingency time will show. We entreat them to remember how much hangs on their action. The nation will support them in going, as Franklin said, "to the extreme verge of their constitutional power" for means to meet such an emergency. Salus populi suprema lex.

TOBACCO CONVENTION.

Close of the Session.—A Tax of Ten Cents on Tobacco.—Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 18.—The National Convention of Tobaccoists closed this afternoon, after a harmonious session of two days, most of the time at the Weddell House parlors. Resolutions were passed favoring the imposition of a tax of ten cents on all manufactured tobacco and snuff, cigars excepted; favoring Government stamps to be paid for before using, provided the tobacco tax is reduced to the specified rate—ten cents—and to be placed on each package, so as to include a second use, and that any legislation reducing the tax on tobacco should be prospective, and not go into effect in less than sixty days from the passage of the act.

The delegates present have mostly represented the Western and Southern States, though there were several sympathetic letters from prominent New York firms.

Mr. W. H. Pierce, of Utica, delivered a long address at the close of the Convention in favor of the proposed reduction of the tobacco tax. An Executive Committee was appointed to draft a memorial at the close of the session, to be presented to Congress, setting forth the reasons why a reduction of the tax on tobacco was asked by the Convention, and those who they represented. The committee is composed of the following:—A. H. Buckner, St. Louis; F. A. Prague, Cincinnati; John W. Stone, Lynchburg; J. P. Spence, Cincinnati; E. C. Murray, Chicago; and W. B. Pierce, Utica.

Hon. George H. Pendleton and George E. Fugh were announced at the Central House this evening, and responded in speeches of considerable length, giving a most hopeful view of the Democratic prospects in Ohio in the approaching elections, etc. Mr. Pendleton went into the substance of the payment of the Government debt in greenbacks.

An immense crowd listened to the speeches. THE EXAMPLE OF AMERICA.—At a meeting of the British Association, on the 6th of September, in the section of "Economic Science," Mr. E. Grant Duff, the chairman, used the following language:—"Would that the people of this quarter of the globe would awake to the danger of being surpassed by the great nation on the other side of the Atlantic! An American politician came back last autumn from Prussia declaring that it was impossible to walk ten yards in a Prussian town without meeting a soldier. An English politician came back at the same time from the United States, declaring that he had never seen a single soldier. When will our matches and cabinets and popular assemblies learn that old wisdom of William III., that that nation will hold the balance of power which, in proportion to its strength, has monopolized material resources to the highest point, and acquired the highest degree of moral ascendancy by an honest and consistent allegiance to the laws of morality in its domestic policy and in its foreign relations?"

Gen. Sheridan en route for Washington. CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.—General Sheridan for Washington this morning, he left for Washington at noon, where he was enthusiastically received. The evening he was serenaded at the Burnett House. He responded in a few words of thanks

FACEIOUS BISMARCK.—A German paper tells a story of Bismarck which illustrates the fondness for a practical joke. The anecdote is as follows:—"One day while he was dining at Frankfurt at the table d'hôte, he observed two young ladies sitting opposite to him who were talking and laughing in a very loud tone. He soon perceived that they were making fun of his company, and that their remarks were especially directed against himself, but he could not understand a word of what they were saying, as they spoke in the Latin language, evidently making sure that no one at the table was acquainted with it. Although the Count was ignorant of the language, he had learnt two or three Latin words during a recent tour in Courland, and he determined to use his knowledge so as to disconcert his fair assailants. Turning to a friend who sat near him, he whispered, 'When you hear me speak in a foreign language, give me your watch-key.' Meanwhile the ladies went on talking more loudly than ever, and by the time the dinner was put on the table their hilarity reached its climax. At length, during a pause after a somewhat heartier burst of laughter than usual, Count Bismarck said quietly to his friend, 'Dohd man to azleek' (give me the key). The effect was instantaneous; the ladies started as if they were shocked, and their faces covered with blushes rushed out of the room."
