A DANGEBOUS SEASON.-An almost unparalleled quantity of rain has fallen during the summer. Vegetation has been wonderfully thick and rank, and, as it decays, an unusual amount of sickness may be expected unless proper means are taken to prevent it.

Fever and ague and billous remittents already prevall to an alarming extent, and as the Fall advances and the malarious night fogs become heavier, the sick list is likely to increase both in the city and the country. It is, therefore, only an act of common prudence to keep the vital forces in full vigor, so that they may resist the unhealthy influences of the sesson. Reinforced by the tonic operation of HOSTETTER'S STO-MACH BITTERS, the system, however weak and susceptible, naturally will, in nine cases out of ten, successfully combat every species of atmospheric poison by which epidemics are produced,

During the mouths of September, October, and November the difference in temperature between day night is very great, and the chilling dews and mists of the season are the prolific causes of indigestion cholera-morbus, diarrhosa, and dysentery. Bearing this in mind, remember, also, that the BITTERS not paly invigorate the stomach and brace the nerves, but met specifically upon the bowels and the liver, imparting to those important organs regularity and tone. It is not reasonable to expect immunity from prevalent com plaints if no precaution; are taken to escape them.

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are at once pleasant to the taste, and the most certain of all safeguards against febrile allmests.

Joy for Houseksereas—One of the most disagrecable tasks imposed upon those who dwell in houses is that of putting down carpets. But this has now been transformed into mere pastime by "Brown's Combined Carpet-stretcher and Tack-driver," a most ingenious contrivance, by the aid of which a lady can alone stretch and tack down her carpets at one and the same time. The machine is very light and simple. It is provided with a handle which can be held without bending forward. The tack, from the two to the twenty-cunce size, and with or without leather head, is placed in an aperture near the hand: a string is then drawn tight; and when it is released, whiz goes a spring, and down goes the tack into the floor, without any more ado. The force of the blow which it receives can be regulated by the distance to which the string is drawn back, so that it can be driven even with the floor or pot, as is desired. Mr. William F. Scheible, of No. 48 South Third street, is the agent for Philadel his.

A SHOOTING AFFAIR.

Eccentric Exploits of "Chalky" Deans -He Becomes Rampant, and Gets a Bullet in His Whroat.

Charles Deane, better known among the bumming order of the city as "Unalky" Deane, is a very troublesome customer, and is regarded by the police with but little layor, owing to by the police with but little lavor, owing to the frequency with which he comes under their attention. He is about thirty years old, and quite large for his age. The quiet berough of Norristown has the honor of having fostered and educated him. For some time past he has made his home in this city, having no particular place of residence, but sojourning particular place of residence, but sojourning here and there where most convenient. It would puzzle the police to give the piecise number of times that they have taken this "chalky" individual into custody on all sorts of disreputable and disorderly charges. It has been a common pastime with him to break the jaws and crack the heads of his companions; and some time since he was one of a party who made a furious assault upon Officer Hari, in the course of which the officer lost a portion of his nose, the dissevered frag-ment, it is said, adhering to the teeth of 'Chalky." On one occasion, his rictous pro-ceedings brought him before the Criminal ceedings brought him before the Criminal Court, where he was sentenced to four years' imprisonment. But before he had served out the full period of his sentence, he was again let loose upon society by an ill-judged act of Executive elemency.

Some men would have endeavored to mend their ways after such as a verseriors but their ways after such an experience, but "Chalky" Deane is too old in the ways of the world to learn wisdom, and has of late had a standing quarrel with Mr. George W. Atkins, the proprietor of the Red Lion hotel, on Beach street, below Coates. About two months ago, it is said that he walked into that establishment, is said that he walked into that establishment, and fired the contents of a weapon at the head of the proprietor, the latter being struck in the forehead by a buckshot. On this occasion "Chalky" was also armed with a billy, which was wrenched from his grasp by Mr. Atkins, and is now sacredly preserved by the latter as a trophy of his victory. For this violent demonstration, "Chalky" was placed under arrest, and a true bill has been found by the grand fury, although he has not yet been placed on jury, although he has not yet been placed on

As Mr. Atkins had worsted "Chalky" in the As Mr. Atkins had worsted "Chalky" in the recent encounter, the latter, on Saturday evening, resolved upon having his revenge. He therefore armed himself with a large knife, and went about among certain of his friends, asserting that it was his intention to go down to the Red Lion and cut out the — of the proprietor. He accordingly appeared at the Red Lion in the course of the evening, knife in hand, but left without doing any damage, Mr. Atkins, fearing his return, and a general destruction of mirrors and glassware, closed his place and went to the office of Aiderman Toland, who issued a warrant for the arrest of "Chalky." The doors of the Red Lion were again thrown open, and about half-past 11 Toland, who issued a warrant for the arrest of "Chalky." The doors of the Red Lion were again thrown open, and about half-past 11 "Chalky" again made his appearance. He walked up to the bar, when he was requested by the proprietor to leave the place. It is alleged that "Chalky" then drew his knife, and made preparations for a desperate assault upon Mr. Atkins. Upon this the latter drew a pistol, which he discharged full in "Chalky's" face, the ball entering his mouth and coming out through his cheek. The wound was quite serious, although by no means dangerous, and "Chalky" was removed to the hospital for treat-ment, in the ambulance of the Northern Liber-ties Fire Company. Hels now doing quite well, Yesterday Mr. Atkins was arrested by Scrgeant Murray, and given a hearing by Alder-man Toland, who held him in $2000 ball for a

Wood—The Besiediction of Pio Nono.—Yesterday
morphig, the Festival of St. Michael the Archangel was commemorated in St. Michael's Church, on Second street, above Master, with much solemnity and grandeur, being participated in by a large number of persons. The church liself is a handsome building, of spacious dimensions; but long before the hour fixed for the commencement of the services, it was crowded to suffication, and the sacristics, the sisies, the stairways, and the front stels were completely jammed with people. Good nature and good order, however, prevailed, and there was no murmuring or loudly expressed dissatisfaction by the throng of people who were obliged to stand during the services. The main alter was beautifully illuminated, and florally and otherwise decorated. The side alters also presented a handsome appearance, and there was a marked and religious solemnity in the entire preparations.

Shortly after 10% o'clock the Bishop and clergy entered the sanctary, and while the former was being vested in his episcopal robes, the orchestra performed the andante movement from the symphony of Hayde, No, 6, the adapt; and alterretto having been pra-ST. MICHAEL'S DAY-IMPOSING CHURCH CERE-

Shortly atter bis, o'clock the Bis app and clergy entered the sanctuary, and while the former was being vested in his episcopal robes, the orchestra performed the andante movement from the symphony of Haydn, No. 6, the adapi and allegretto having been previously given. The Bishop being seated upon a temporary throne, allegam High Mass was immedia-ely commenced by Rev. Augustin J. McConomy, Ohancelior and Secretary of the Diocese of Philadelphia. He was assisted by the Very Rev. William O'Hara, D. D., Vicar General of the Diocese, as assistant priest; Rev. Maurice A. Waish, pastor of St. Michael's, as Deacon of the Mass; Rev. P. A. Tracy, as sub-Deacon; Very Rev. P. A. Stauton, O. S. A., of St. Augustine's, and Rev. T. A. Stauton, O. S. A., of St. Augustine's, and Rev. T. A. Stauton, O. S. A., of St. Augustine's, and Rev. T. A. Stauton, O. S. A. as Deacons of Honor to the Bishop; and Rev. E. V. Rowan, as Master of Ceremoni-S.

The cheir thundered forth the fine music of Haydn's Mass in C-a majes's and noble composition. The "Kyric Elelicon," was given with moth expression and nicety, followed by the "Gloria is Eccelia," with its respective gems, entitled "yut tollis peccatomund," "unoriam," and the finale, "Cum Sancte Spiritis."

The parts were principally sustained by the Misses E. and T. Keenan, soprano and contraito; Mr. Philip Moore, tenor; and Messrs. Gustav Anton and Jean Louis, bass; the musical department being under the direction of Mr. T. E. Harkins. The chorus was ably sontained by many voices of good quality, and the service was sung with much regularity and expression.

The Gospel of the Mass having been sung by the Deacon, the Very Rev. Dr. O'Hara, V. G., Knelt as the altar step, and the choirsang "Venl Sancte, Spiritus," from the works of the Abbe Voiger-an ecclesiastical musician of corsiderable eminence. The Vicar-General then delivered a lengthy and eloquent sermon frem the following text of the Pashmist—"Bless the Lord, e-His angels, mighty in powe

The congregation then kneit down, and the Bishop aving aloud the following Verside;—"Sit Nomen Domini Benedictum;" to which the choir responded, "Ex hoc sume et us in seculum." The Bishop then bleesed the people in the usual manner, saving—"Benedict vos Omnipotens Deux, Puter et Filit, et Spiritui Sancit, Amen."

The services were then concluded, and as the congregation left the Church, the orchestra performed another grand symphony.

Plantation Darkies with the Ballot-Supineness of all Parties Over the Result. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28.—The election is scarcely noticed by the constitutional journals. The newly-enfranchised freedmen have the election all to themselves, and enjoy the change hugely, parading the streets in holiday cos-tumes, and armed with knives, revolvers, and heavy bludgeons.

The result of to-day's proceedings promises not to differ materially from that of yesterday.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT-Judge Cadwalader.—Romberger et al. vs. Brown. In this cas-the delendant, a merchant of Carlisle, at the petition of the plaintiffs, was declared an involuntary bank rupt. He then confessed judgment in regard to con-tain claims of over $10,000 to his relatives, which reis trives soon began proceedings upon this judgment.

The plaintiffs them applied to this Court for an interlocutory injunction to restrain the Sheriff from selling the defendant's property upon the judgment, and the Court granted the injunction. This, then, was a motion to dissolve the injunction. The matter having been fully argued by B. C. Brewster for defendant, and H. C. Ulman for plaintiff, the Judge decided it as follows: it as follows:—
In this case the motion to dissolve the interiocutory

In this case the motion to dissolve the interlocutory injunction is refused, without prejudice to the parties esjoined to contest the right of the assignes to bank-ruptcy either in the Court of Bankruptcy or in this Court at the final hearing. To dissolve the injunction at the present stage of the case would be premature and useless to the defendants. It would be premature and useless to the defendants. It would be premature, because, though the law were in their lavor (a question which I do not decide), yet the facts are not so separable from points of law that the answer should be conclusive in their lavor. To dissolve the isjunction preliminarily would, moreover, be useless, because they could not obtain the fruits of their executions, except under a future decision either at the final hearing or in the Court of Bankruptcy.

DISTRICT COURT — Judge Stroud.—Jury trials began in this Court to-day.

George Piewman, terre tenant. An action on mortgane. The allegation on the part of the plaintiff was:

—On the lat of January, 1864, Mr. West made a contract with Thomas M. Plowman, in which the latter agreed to build for the former a house on Moyamensing avenue, for a consideration of $800, in the written agreement, though really $700 was the contract money.

On the evening of June 1, Mr. Plowman asked Mr.

sling avenue, for a consideration of $3000, in the written agreement, though really $7000 was the contract money.

On the evening of June 1, Mr. Plowman asked Mr. West to advance him some money on the contract, saying that he had business in Washington city and other places, and was called first from one place to another; but that he would give ample security that in case of his death he (Mr. West) should not lose his money, and should bave the house compisted. Mr. West at this time declined to advance the money. Shortly afterwards Mr. Plowman repeated the request, and offered to give a mortgage upon property that was perfectly free; again assuring Mr. West that his house should be completed according to contract, and that in case anything went wrong he could recover the mortgaged property without putting more money into them. Mr. West agreed to this, and the building was commenced on the 12th of March About fifteen days afterwards he advanced $3500 to Mr. Plowman, and received a mortgage on property in Sigel sireet. Before the building in Jefferson avenue was completed Mr. Plowman lailed, and the building and the land on which it was to be erected, for which Mr. West had paid $2105, were sold on mechanics liens by the "heriff. Mr. West then began proceedings upon his collateral security, the mortgage, but here he was met by George Plowman, and unable to obtain possession.

The defense alleged that the contract was not ful-filled on account of the failure of Mr. Thomas M. Plowman and the subsequent sheriff's sale; and George Plowman came into the case and set up that the property on Siegle street had also been cleared of the mortgage held by Mr. West, by sheriff's sale. On trial trisl,
