Messrs. Wood & Cary's Opening.

The October opening of fashionable Bonnets and Millinery goods at the establishment of Messrs. Wood & Cary, 725 Chesnut street, yesterday, was an overwhelming success in every respect. We had hoped to have presented to our readers a verbal decription of the prominent styles of Bonnets and Hats n the "Opening," but soon discovered that the columns of a daily newspaper were utterly insufficient for such a project. To afford some idea of the difficulty here encountered, we may mention that in passing through a single room we saw over one hundred beautiful new bonnets, all challenging our admiration, and all of them different, while in elegantlytrimmed Hats for ladies and misses the assortment was certainly no less varied and extensive. Under these circumstances, mere general observation is all that we can promise, and under this head we are glad to notice, first, that all the bonnet indications that we have seen favor the conviction that ladies have returned to their good taste and sense of former times, when things were called by their proper names, and a diamond-shaped or oblong patch of trimmed pasteboard was not recognized as a bonnet. Although still small, the prevailing sizes this season are more bonnet-shaped, and sufficiently extensive to admit of an inside face trimming which for several past seasons has been impossible. We therefore say to the execrable little fanchon, which is passing away farewell, with an unaffected desire that it may never be revived. The return of face frimmings we regard not only as a gratifying improvement in the Bonnet, but as a moral, not to say sanitary, reform. Instead of resorting to the complexion-ruining deices for beautifying effects, ladies of good taste and judgment will again avail themselves of the contrast afforded by becoming shades, in inside trimmings for such artistic results.

With this change in shape comes another blissful necessity. The ladies will have to bring down their O'ympus of hair on the crown. What an improve ment that will be! In times gone by a lady of taste could so arrange her side-face ornaments as to hide a multitude of facial shortcomings, and the new idea again opens to her the same field, with advantages in the crest-like, or diadem formed front at the top which no former style of bonnet has afforded,

In colors the prevailing shade will be Bismark-a beautiful golden brown, which we trust may wear its laurels long, as it is very beautiful, although many other bues will be in popular favor, as scarlet, orange purple, blue, in various shades, and greys and drabs In endless variety.

We observe that in Trimmings there is great latitude. The new lace strings in various colors are a pretty feature. Some of these are delicately sprinkled with white beads, giving a dew-drop effect, though jets and pearls are also used for this purpose. Feathers are used in great profusion-ostrich, maribeau willow, pheasant, the scarlet ibis, the delicate white heron, and other varieties. In some cases the feahere are tipped with beads, jets, glit, etc., which certainly add to their luxuriance as a trimming. For the face beautiful shades of orange and canary are much in vogue, and for general trimming sating satin ribbons, and satin ribbons figured with velvet will have great prominence. The ornamentation of some few of the Bonnets in the "Opening" struck us as rather overdone for Philadelphia taste, being bet. ter adapted, in our judgment, for a Sandwhich Island or Abyssinian queen than for the more cultivated and refined queens of America. Still, it requires all kinds of people to make a world, and we presume the same rule applies to the diversity of Bonnets required to make a first-class millinery "Opening."

The display in Hats was no less attractive or extensive than in Bonnets, the trimming of the former being also exhibited in great variety. A large line of imported Felt Hats, in various shades of brown and drab, richly trimmed, was universally admired.

In fact, in every department the effects of personal selection from the great centres of fashion in Europe by Mr. Wood himself were plainly visible, and found a degree of appreciation by the throng of visitors yesterday that amounted as nearly to a sensation as any thing that we have witnessed in Philadelphia,

A large number of frames were exhibited, entirely sew, and that will be found nowhere else, while the French bonnets shown were incomparably more stylish than any that have been in vogue for many years. The happy facility which this house possesses we may note when passing, for Paristanizing the productions of their own admirably organized manufacturing department, has probably contributed more than any other feature to render the house of Wood & Cary the leading millinery firm in the United States.

The stock of materials for cutting purposes displayed in the Opening, will command the largest attention of the trade, as it is complete in every par ticular; and from comments freely made in our hear, ing yesterday by purchasers, we can scarcely err in stating that the prices of this house are unusually

ANOTHER COMPLIMENT TO PRILADELPHIA. Mr. Samuel R. Phillips, the well-known manufacurer of harness and saddlery in this city, has now till another testimonial for the excellence of his workmanship, which increases the honors and ad, vantages of the city as well as his own. At the State Fair held at Norristown, Mr. Phillips was awarded a special gold medal for his superb display of harness, and his unsurpassed four-in-hand team. A special committee of the West Chester fair, which closed on the 28th uit, was appointed to consider the claims of the various contestants. The display of harness by Mr. Phillips excelled all others, and he was the recipient of another gold medal. Considering the fine taste, excellent judgment, ample means, and ripe and enlarged experience of Mr. Phillips, it is not at all wonderful that he should be so signally successful. Apereasing business required the erection of a store suitable to display his enormous stock, and it is with exceeding pleasure that we notice the rapid strides towards the completion of the new building on Chesnut street, above Twelfth. It is expected that it will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the next Fear. It will be opened with a display of harness, anddlery, and other goods belonging to this branch of business never before witnessed in this city which will, without donbt, tend to increase a trade and manufacture which is as excellent as any in the country, and which constantly grows.

A DANGEROUS SEASON,-An almost unparalleled quantity of rain has fallen during the summer. Vegetation has been wonderfully thick and rank, and, as it decays, an unusual amount of sickness may be expected unless proper means are taken to prevent it.

Fever and ague and billous remittents already prevali to an alarming extent, and as the Fall advances and the malarious night fogs become heavier, the sick list is likely to increase both in the city and the counkry. It is, therefore, only an act of common prudence to keep the vital forces in full vigor, so that they may resist the unbealthy influences of the season. Reinforced by the tonic operation of HOSTETTER'S STO MACH BITTERS, the system, however weak and susceptible, naturally will, in nine cases out of ten, successfully combat every species of atmospheric poison by which epidemics are produced.

During the months of September, October, and November the difference in temperature between day night is very great, and the chilling dews and mists of the season are the prolific causes of indigestion cholera-merbus, diarrhosa, and dysentery. Bearing this in mind, remember, also, that the BITTERS not only invigorate the stomach and brace the nerves, but et specifically upon the bowels and the liver, imparting to shose important organs regularity and tone. It is not sonable to expect immunity from prevalent com plaints if no precautions are taken to escape them.

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are at once pleasant to the taste, and the most certain of all safeguards against febrile allments.

New DINING ROOMS.—Brooke & Co. have established, at No. 15 S. Fourth street, a first-class Dining Room and Restaurant for ladies and gentlemen. Good meals, well cooked, served at short notice, throughout the day and evening, at moderate rates. PROTOGRAPHS IN OIL are far superior to painted portraits. They are natural and life-like. Go to B.F. Reimer's gallery, No. 624 Arch street, where they are made to perfection.

General Peter Lyle's Speech. The following is a true copy of General Lyle's speech to the Convention that nominated him. as reported by Mr. McAran, a well-known professional phonographic reporter, and sworn to by him as being correct in every particular:-"Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Convention: I have to ask one grace of you, and that is, not to ask me to make a speech. I can work, but I cannot talk; but I can say that I owe this Convention a debt of gratitude that I never can pay. This is, I think, the first time in the history of the party where they have given the nomination twice by acciamation as they have given me. The work, gentlemen, is just commenced. This is the commencement of it. Let us canvass our precincts and stop this colonization. Officern of election, where we are in the minority, should attend the meeting; and the Return Judge, where we have one, should attend the meeting next morning, for there is where the damage is done, particularly where we are in the minority. If we stop this cheating, the lowest man on our ticket will be elected by from 6000 to 8000 majority. I have travelled the county over for the last three months. I have met many people in the canvass. I have seen and conversed with many people, and I have failed yet to meet, the first man who does not know from one to twenty who have changed their opinions from last year. We were not beaten last year, WAS NOT BEATEN. I WAS ELECTED BY A HANDSOME MAJORITY; but I was counted out The right way is not to let those BASCALS do it again I can do no more than thank you from my heart for the position in which you have placed me. I will leave nothing undone for the success of the ticket." (Applause.)

League Island.

The following is a letter of Joseph N. Peirsol. Democratic candidate for City Treasurer, to a member of the U. S. Senate:—

WILLIAMS OGLE, Alderman,

PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1862
Sir:—I take the liberty of addressing you upon the subject of the proposed location of the United States Navy Yard at League Island. I have been informed, and I believe, League Island has been wholly reclaimed from the river Delaware, and is only prevented from overflow by large banks of stone and earth. It is surrounded, except upon one side, by a marsh, and for this cause, as well as from insalubrity, it has been unimproved and unoccupied, except as pasture land, at a moderate rent, since its reclamation. The fast land is from six to eight feet below high-water mark at all points, and would cost over a million dollars to level and fit for use as much as will be required for the large purposes projected. PHILADELPHIA, June 23, 1862.

If the object is to erect foundries, the spongy nature of the soil would make it impossible to get a proper foundation for the buildings except at a great cost, nor could a well of sufficient at a great cost, nor could a well of sufficient depth be dug for large castings. It could not cost less than two or three million dollars in ship-houses, dry-docks, and other structures now in the old yard, which would have to be abandoned. Thus the gift of the Island would be dear, and still dearer if $2,000,000 were added to the gift towards fitting it for use. Most of the ship carpenters employed in the yard now reside in Kensington, nearly eight miles distant from the Island, where they would continue, as Government work is not sufficiently tinue, as Government work is not sufficiently regular or renunerative to induce a permanent removal. The Island is at least five miles from the supply stores of the city. The approaches are as low as the Island itself, and unfit for building purposes, and far distant from hydrants, gas, improved streets, police and rail-

The place has only to be visited and seen to de monstrate its unitness, and I would humbly suggest a visit by a committee of Congress for the purpose, before so great an outlay is incurred or promised, where performance is impossible. There are minor objections, which will not urge. I am as earnest as any Phila delphian in the desire of the location of a first class yard, but it is my duty, impelled by the same feelings which you have, to state to you, as a public man, it will cost at least four million collars to fit League Island for the least effi-ciency as compared with the present yard. If you add foundries, etc., that will be an addi-tional expense, which I will not undertake to estimate.

estimate. The present yard may be extended for about two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and provide all the ground necessary now and hereafter with outdisturbance or delay. I am ready to give further information. Being personally unknown to you, I refer you to any of the Philadelphia delegation of the House to be assured who I am.

With high respect.

With high respect, JOSEPH N. PEIRSOL.

Janney, living at No. 625 Marshall street, and a limber broker by occupation, has bren held in $2500 bail by Alderman Holme, upon the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. It seems that Janney went to Frankford, and offered to sell Mr. William Erwin, a carpenter of that place, a lot of lomber. The latter said he had no money, but if he would take his note he would buy of him. The result was that Erwin accompanied Janney to this city, and on Broad street the latter showed the former a carload of lumber. Erwin purchased $250 worth, and gave his note for that amount. Janney requested of Erwin not to send for the lumber for a few days: this request the carpenter said he would comply with. A few days following Erwin came to the city, and ascertained that the lumber was the property of another person, other than Janney. A warrant was then got out for the broker upon the above charge, and he was arrested yesterday.

out for the broker upon the above charge, and he was arrested yesterday.

At the hearing it was discovered that Thomas Taylor, another carpenter of Frankferd, had given Janney $205 for a quantity of lumber, and the latter had placed in Taylor's hands the note of Mr. Erwin as accurity for the delivery of the lumber. It has not yet been delivered, however.

This afternoon the accused will have a hearing before Alderman Beitler, upon the charge of obtaining merchandise under false pretenses. It is said that he has swindled another party.

THE RICHMOND WHISKYITES held a meeting last night, in view of the two raids which have been made upon them during the past few days. Well knowing that the United States authorities would not be disposed to back out of the contest after the repeated defeats which they have sustained, it was thought advisable by the rum-ones of Richmond that there should be some concern on their part, in order that they might be fully prepared for the next encounter whenever it takes place. The meeting was quite largely attended, and much enthusiasm was manifested on the part of the whiskyites. We are not acquainted with the precise plac of campaign adopted, but presume it will be similar to that adopted several years ago by the derizens of the same locality, when they received a visit from the Sheriff, backed by a military force, the upshot of which visit was the utter discomfiture of the latter, who were fired upon from the shanties with which the place abounds. When the national authorities make their next raid upon the Richmond stills, they should go in overwhelming force, that the disgraceful scemes of yesterday may not be re-enacted.

The company of marines, consisting of eightysix men, fully armed, was commanded by Major L. L. Dawson, Captain Fagan, and Lientenant Ford. They proceeded first to the Exchange, and from that point were transferred to Richmond in three street cars, followed by four furniture wegons for the purpose of removing the captured stills.

Marshal Elimaker detailed the following to assist him in making the raid:—Chief Deputy De Witt C. Hanline, Special Deputy David Gordon, and Deputies Adam Trefts, Charles C.
Whippy, John F. Sharkey, and John Lafferty,
Mr. Dyman B. Cole, the Chief of the Philadelphila Revenue Board, and Inspectors James Ghegan and A. H. Brooke likewise proceeded to the ground. In addition to the above, Lieutenant Murray, of the Eighteenth Police District, with twenty men, were ordered to be on trict, with twenty men, were ordered to be on hand, and a number of others were disposed in the neighborhood within call, increasing the whole force to nearly two hundred men.

The Marines, accompanied by most of the Deputy Marshals, left the Exchange at five minutes after 12 o'clock. Shortly after this Marshal Elimaker, with Deputies Hanline and Gordon, and the reporter of THE EVENING TELEGRAPH, took a carriage, and arrived at the corner of Lebigh avenue and Richmond street, the appointed rendezvous, in advance of the Marines.

At lo'clock the force of marines arrived, and formed in line in front of the market house. Having loaded their weapons, they were divided into four squads, and then proceeded to the stations allotted them. One squad was placed in position on Salmon street, above Williams, another on Edgmont street, mediated. liams; another on Edgmont street, immediately opposite; a third on Williams street, a cross street, a few squares above. The chief locality in which the illegitimate manufacture of whisky is carried on was thus effectually sur-

While these preliminaries were being a ranged, a large crowd of all ages and sexes had been collecting, some of them remarking, "This looks like work," while the children ran joyfully about, shouting "No school to-day!" 'The crowd finally became so troublesome, although showing no force, that the officers ordered them indoors, some obeying sulkilly, while others.

indoors, some obeying sulkily, while others, especially the foul-fixed women, had to be hushed bodily into their houses.

The first place visited was in the rear of a row of houses facing Salmon street between Monmouth and Williams, near the two stills which were broken up yesterday. The first spoil of war was a tin-head, which was found secreted in a ceilar. An entrance was then effected into two low board shantles, but it was found that the stills had been removed since yesterday. A few hogsheads filled with fermenting molasses were found, and these were attacked with axes and picks, and their contents speedily sought the level of the ground. A number of fat hogs were on hand, and as soon as the reeking flith reached the ground, they commenced to drink

The officers then assailed the rear of the liquor store of Pat McGawey, at No. 1136 Wil-liams street, securing a large copper still and several heads, which had been hidden away in an outhouse.

The next attack was made upon the rear of No. 1126 Williams street, a woman only being found on the premises. In the rear was a small outhouse, in which distilling had been carried on. The woman stated that she lived at some distance, and the house being effectually closed an officer valited through the second story back window. The doors were then opened and the woman who "lived at some distance" claimed to be the proprietor. This place was cleaned out, and the raiders moved on. The liquor store of R. O'Conner, No. 1120 Wil liams street, at the corner of Edgmont, came next. A woman, as usual, was in charge, and denied the civil officers admittance, claiming that all was right within, and pledging he bonor that no contraband business was carried on upon the premises. Half a dozen Marines were ordered to effect an entrance, and then the Marshal and his assistants went in and searched the house. In the rear was found a small, low shed con-taining a still which had recently been in ope-ration and was yet warm. This was torn out and carried off, and ten hogsheads of mait in the shed and two in the yard broken up. In the house was also found a "worm," which led the nouse was also found a worm, which led to an investigation of the back yard.

While the last place was being cleaned out, Deputy Marshal Hanline walked across the street to the house [No. 1121 Williams street, in which lives John Mooney. The crowd, which numbered about two hundred by this time, but had been remarkably quiet hitherto, then made a rush for the new point of attack, and a serious disturbance was threatened. The weapons of the marines soon overawed them, however, and Deputy Hanline jumped over the fence to the rear yard, discovering several hogsheads of malt and a still in the cellar under full headway. The fence was torn down without any ceremony, and a force of officers entered, finding the cellar stocked ful of hogsheads of malt. These were soon routed ont, although their position rendered it some what difficult.

At this stage of the proceedings our reporter left the ground, but Mr. Cole had just reported to the Marshal that he had discovered at least twenty more stills in the neighborhood, and nme that the officers will continue their destructive work till nightfall

LATEST FROM WASHINGTON.

SPECIAL DESPATORES TO EVENING TELEGRAPS. I WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.

The National Republican Convention. The statement telegraphed from here that the next Republican National Convention would he held at Chicago is not true. The Republican National Executive Committee, which alone has the power of fixing the time and place for holding the Convention, will not meet in this city until February next, and no action has been taken upon the subject whatever. Cabinet Meeting.

The Cabinet met early to-day; all present except Mr. Browning, who is out of town. It is believed that Stanbery will present his opinion in regard to the conflict of jurisdiction in Philadelphia for discussion, and as it is a question which concerns the army as well as the navy. Grant was invited to be present, Another Bank Fallure. The failure of the National Bank at Whitestown, New York, is reported to-day. This bank has been in an embarrassed condition for some time. It was originally a State bank, and the embarrassment now experienced grows out of its mode of doing business, and transactions entered upon before its conversion to the National system. The enforcement of the regulations to which all national banks are subject, demonstrated the fact that it could not successfully continue business, and its stockholders will wind it up. The Removal of Colonel Messmore.

Colonel Messmore, Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue, having declined to comply with the written request of the Secretary of the Treasury to resign his connection with the Department, has been formally removed. The official letter to that effect was sent yesterday atternoon. It is not definitely known who will succeed Colonel Messmore. Third Revenue District of New York.

No appointment has yet been made to the vacant position of Collector of the Third District of New York. in place of Mr. Callicott, and the contest for that position is still progressing. The Post Office Department.

A contract was to-day closed by the Postmas ter-General with the Mobile Trade Company for steamboat mail service three times a week on the Alabama river, between Mobile and Selma, commencing October 10th. Offices will at once be established at all important landings. This is a new mail route.

RIOT IN LOUISIANA.

Election Riot in Jefferson City-Policemen and Negroes Wounded-The Chief Rioter Killed-The Disturbance Quelled.

by the Military. New Orleans papers of Sept. 29 give accounts of a serious not which occurred between 3 and 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the previous day, in front of the Court House in Jefferson City, La., in which a young man named Harry Roisnde, a member of Home Hook and Ladder Company, was mortally wounded. The account given is as follows:-

"Seven hundred and sixty-five registered men had voted, only thirty of whom were white, when the disturbance commenced, caused by a white ruffian named Henry Rolland—known as 'Harry Rolland'-a fireman and former soldier in the Confederate army. Rolland, after pre-senting himself as the polls and showing that he was registered, insultingly scratched a ticket bearing Republican names, rewrote and depo-sited it. Then, drawing a revolver, he commenced threatening the Inspector of Elections, Mr. Frederick Frye. The latter stepped to the door and ordered Policeman Joseph Fleury to arrest Rolland. Before this could be done Bolland shot Officer Fleury, the ball passing through his hand, fired two other shots promiscuously at the crowd, and flourished his revolver with the remaining three shots in it. By this time Rolland was arrested by another policeman (Richard Hetherton), assisted by citizens, and taken towards the prison. A policeman, Henry Davis, who had him in charge at the prison door, neglectful of his duty, said Rolland was his friend and he would not imprison him. To the credit of Major Frye be it said, he at once deprived Davis of his star and baton. In the meantime a rush of Rolland's friends was made for his rescue; a man named Henry C. Reese, with a Derringer in each hand, being conspicuous in this crime. These fiends commenced an indiscriminate firing upon the innocent zens, three of whom were immediately badly wounded. One of them, William Alexander (colored), an ex-Union soldier, the doctor reports wounded in the fleshy part of the upper right thigh, the ball entering liquely from unwards. Another, Gabriel Lawson (also colored), the doctor also reports shot in the back, the ball striking the vertebral column, following the latter track of the same; and another, Joseph Bisain, colored, was ported by the surgeon as shot through the left. forearm, the ball entering and imbedding itself in the muscle of the upper arm of the sam wound painful but not dangerous. Wounded also by ball entering and imbedding itself near the joint of the right shoulder. The colored citizens returned the fire, and Rolland was shot through the brain and soon died. His principal corioter, Henry C. Reese, was also shot in several places during the melee—once through the addomen. He was living at 9 o'clock last night. Major Fry sent a messenger with a note to the military post at Greenville for aid in saving bloodshed. He was seconded in this by Mr. D. C. Woodruff, Mayor of Jefferson, who also did his whole duty throughout the trying and disgraceful affair. Captain B. B. Keeler, of the 19th Infantry, brought out every available man at once—three companies thinned by the epidemic and guard duty. The west hand to merch a mile to the duty. Though they had to march a mile to cars, and then ride two miles further, they were on the ground and pieces loaded in minutes after receiving the word. How unlike the singular conduct of the military under Sheridan and Baird in the riot of July, 1866! Previous to the arrival of the troops the fire and other bells had been rung, and the populace, by hundreds, had collected, armed with guns, revolvers, and bludgeons, under the terrible excitement of the mon. But at the sight of the military a general skedaddling their homes was observed, with muskets rapidly hidden away. Captain Keeler, being informed that squads of these armed men had taken refuge at different points, sent officers in charge of men to each point, and dispersed them. The Captain also visited the headquarters of General Mower immediately after this, and received orders relative to further proceedings. Lieutenant Buckland, with a portion of the men, remained on the ground all night to secure order, while the residue returned to the post. We saw a statement of the case in writing by Mayor Woodruff, which accords all honor to the troops in quelling the disturbance, and thus probably preventing another July riot of great
