THESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1867.

A Last Word. By the time this article shall meet the eye of the reader, we hope that he will have already voted. But should he not yet have exercised that dearest privilege of an American citizen. we beseech him to hasten to the polls, and neither rest nor eat until he discharges his duty to his country. It is but a small matter to give one hour to our native land out of all the year, and we call upon all to deposit their ballots as soon as they possibly can. We ask them, in the name of that great Republican party which they have so often helped to make victorious, not to scratch any candidate on our ticket, and above all not to scratch the Hon. M. Russell Thayer. We do not put it on grounds of party or of personal merit. We have already considered his claims on both these heads. But we say to those Republicans who scratch, think of the ingratitude and the gross discourtesy you are meting out to a most worthy gentleman. Mr. Thayer did not seek the nomination. He persistently declined to be a candidate. He honestly did not wish it. We know that he was unwilling to accept it even when it was tendered. The party, however, in Convention assembled, rose above all rings and cliques, and compelled him to accept the momination. And now to defeat and insult him in the house of his friends, and to elect his enemy after we have compelled him to receive the nomination, is infamous. It is as though by our hands we lifted him up only that we might drag him down. We cannot believe that such treatment will be meted out to him. It will be an encouragement to the "rings," for they will justly say:-"If this is the fate of an honorable gentleman, nominated fairly and in good faith, why not resort to corruption?" Republicans of Philadelphia! we have victory in our reach. Will not each do his duty, and vote the whole ticket, thus rewarding our friends, and rebuking Andrew Johnson and his satellites in our midst? Let each of our readers who has not voted vote at once.

The Conduct of the Democracy in the Campaign.

WE should think that the Democratic party, in looking back over the manner in which it filled with sincere shame. It has grovelled in low personality, and sought by abuse to achieve what it could not gain by quiet argument. They have dragged into the contest the personal character of our candidates for Judge, and sought to injure them by virulent attacks. Thus, Judge Williams was a "genteel pettifogger," and Mr. Thayer"a "mere politician," when it is known by all that against the personal character of these gentlemen not a word can be truthfully breathed. By such low tricks have they sought for victory. We had hoped that in a contest for a judicial position, in which all the candidates were men of acknowledged purity, we could see the opposition rise above such Billingsgate logic and act like gentlemen. So far as our opponents are concerned, we can only express regret, and have another argument furnished in favor of the Tribune's theory, that "the only reason the Democratic party continues to live is because of the inherent depravity of human nature."

SEE THAT YOUR Republican neighbor votes; not only do your own duty, but urge him to do his. Remember that every Republican vote not polled is a Democratic gain. Bring up the negligent by any means, if necessary. Counsel him to do his duty, and aid our great

IF YOU KNOW of any frauds attempted to be perpetrated, do not hesitate to make them known to our officers at the polls. The Democracy are desperate, and will not hesitate to defeat the will of the people by forging papers and every other means.

IF THE city of Philadelphia goes for the Democracy, Andrew Johnson will be endorsed in the very place which refused to receive him, when he passed through six months ago. Shall we do honor to him to-day !

EXAMINE YOUR TICKETS.—The Democracy have got up some with all the Republican nominees except Hon. M. Russell Thayer. Beware of this insidious attempt to defeat one of our tried friends and best selections.

REMEMBER the polls close at 6 o'clock. This law was passed by the Legislature to prevent the frauds which were perpetrated under cover of the night. Therefore vote early, and get your vote in !

TRADES UNIONS will remember that Judge Ludlow denounced them as "oppressive tyrannies," and they will vote according as their self-respect dictates.

Is you have not voted, vote at once. The contest may be close, and your vote may decide it for or against our loyal cause.

AN ADVENTUROUS TRAVELLERS. - A Melbourne paper announces the arrival in that city of Mr. Christian Friedrich Schafer, a German traveller, who came overland from Sydney, the greater part of the way on foot. Mr. Schafer is of a dwarfish stature, from the effects of an injury to the spine received in youth, but in spite of this physical drawback he has, during the last fifteen years, travelled over a great part of the surface of the world, mostly as a pedestrian. He has passed through every country in Europe, through Asia Minor, Syria, Egypt, North Africa, and across the width of North America, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, on foot and alone, He has in the course of his wanderings compiled a large mass of observations on the customs and character of the various populations through which he has passed; carries a book of credentials, in which his passports are attached, and in which he has autographs of potentates, ambassadors, generals, governors, consuls, mayors, and mandarins, which, when his tour completed, will be an interesting collection, He proposes to make a complete tour of these colonies, and to pass through Eastern Asia (India and China), finishing his long ramblings by a bold journey on foot through Russian Tartary back to his home.

A FROG STORY .- A Writer in Science Gossip ays:-"A near neighbor, upon whose veracity I can rely, recently opened a drain in Kent, when ne made the following discovery:-At the mouth of the drain were placed two large stones, in measurement nearly two feet square and three inches thick; the one at the top rested closely upon the one beneath. Upon lifting it from the lower stone, the skeletons of five frogs were discovered; they were in a circle in the centre of the stones, quite flat. Upon taking one of them up and holding it to the light, there was only a threadlike appearance of bones between the dry, flattened, and fleshless skins; these skins were clear and beautifully marked. In this state they were seen by several persons, and by each of them the frogs were considered to be dead; but when the water commenced to flow over them there was a slight gasping perceived in the throats of each; by degrees the bodies swelled, and life and motion returned, Then, to the surprise of the beholders, the frogs sprang up, and ran away into the drain. How did these frogs get beneath the stone that covered the lower one so closely? There was no space for them to enter or depart, and upon the surfaces there was not the slightest indentation made by the frogs. It was supposed to be thirty years ago that the stones were placed over the BLOOD - CORPUSCIES.-The London Review says:-"A paper, having appeared in the last number of the Microscopical Journal, which to a certain extent evidenced an exception to Professor Gulliver's views on the subject of bloodcorpuscles, the Professor has written an article, which will appear in the forthcoming number (November) of the Journal of Analomy. Having been favored with a copy of the paper, we can state that the author has brought forward ample evidence to prove the correctness of his opinions. There can, we think, be little doubt that his classification of animals, based on the form and structure of the blood-globules, still holds true. Professor Gulliver divides all vertebrate animals into two groups-first, those whose blood-corpuscles present a well-defined nucleus, Pyrenæmata, a section including the birds, reptiles, and fishes; and second, those in which no real nucleus exists in the blood disks; to this section he gives the name of Apyrenomata; it embraces only one order, that has conducted the past campaign, would be of Mammalia. Professor Gulliver says that the form of the blood-corpuscies in some mammals is so remarkable that by them alone the species may be distinguished. This is especially true of the great ant-cater, Myrmecophaga jubata,"

> DESTRUCTION OF AN OLD CHURCH. - The Pall-Mall Gazette says:- "It has been found necessary to pull down one of the few ancient churches now remaining in North Yorkshirethe Church of All-Saints, Slingsby-in consequence of its decayed condition. The church is an ancient rectory, and formerly belonged to the patrousge of the abbot and convent of Whitby. The old church contained a crosslegged effigy of one of the Wyvills, who, tradition and Dedsworth manuscripts say, slew the famous snake of Slingsby, which is reputed to have been so terrible that the highway to Maiton was diverted one mile to the south to miss the snake's lair. In the tomb below the effigy a skeleton was found, the bony hand of which wore a splendid and massive gold ring, having the death's head and cross-bones picked out in colored enamel. The tomb, the skeleton, and the effigy have been preserved, and will be restored to the chancel of a beautiful Norman church which is to be reared on the old site, of which the Hon. Mrs. Howard will lay the foundation stone. From below the foundations of the old church coins of the Hanse Town Confederation (twelfth century) were dug up."

A PHILADELPHIA ARTIST AT WASHINGTON .-The Washington Chronicle remarks as follows in reference to Gulager's celebrated picture representing Fort Sumter after its capture: -

"We have witnessed a magniticent historical painting representing Fort Sumter after its cap-ture, the work of Charles Gulager, of the Adjutant-General's office, whose ability as a marine artist is unquestioned, and whose works are universally admired. The grim mass of ruins surrounded by the glorious stars and stripes, the monitors tossing upon the billows in the offing, the whole scene lighted by the sun just breaking through the clouds to the eastward, are represented with consummate skill. The picture is enclosed in a beautiful black walnut frame, and is well worthy of a place in one of our public buildings."

No RAILWAY SLEEPERS, -In Germany, some of the railways are now constructed without wood. The rail is made about nine inches high, with a broad flat base, which rests on a well-prepared bed of ballast, and when properly placed is fur. ther supported by a layer of gravel. Thus constructed, the jerky motion of a train, occasioned by numerous sleepers, is done away with; the hammering sound becomes a steady, continuous roar, the longitudinal bearing is distributed over a greater distance, and the need for repairs occurs but rarely,

THE PARIS EXHIBITION MEDALS .- The Imperial Commissioners of the Paris Exhibition announce that they are actively engaged in preparing the medals and diplomas. Owing to the great number of these rewards, a longer time will be required to get them ready than was at first calculated upon. A notice will be published stating the time and place of their

ARTIFICIAL ICE.-The London Mechanics Magazine describes a new and very effective ice machine. It is simply an air-pump fitted to a bottle. The bottle is half filled with wa'er, and the pump is set to work. Air is first pumped out, and then the water rapidly evaporales. To complete the vacuum and increase the evaporation, the air and aqueous value comped out are made to traverse a hollow cylinder containing sulpburin soid, which of course instantly ab orbs the moisture. The evaporation is so rapid that the remaining water is quickly converted into a mass of ice. Four minutes pumping suffices to produce two pints of ice, with an apparatus which only costs about twelve dollars

LONGEVITY IN ENGLAND. - Among the deaths registered in England in the year 1865 there were 21 men and 68 women above 100 years old, viz., 5 men and 25 women, aged 100; 4 men and 15 women, aged 101; 5 men and 11 women, aged 102; 3 men and 4 women, aged 103; I man and 7 women, aged 104; 2 men and 4 women, aged 105; 1 woman, aged 106; 1 man and I woman, aged 110.
