allon:--OF ILLINOIS, SANGAMON COUNTY.--David elng duiy sworn, deposes and says that Abra-nco.n. late of the county of Sangamon and lilinois, is dead, and that he died on or about day of April, A. D. 1865, intestate, as it is said his estate will probably amount to the sum k, that the said Abraham Lincoln left at the his decease Mary Lincoln, his widow, and F. Lincoln and Thomas Lincoln, his widow, and padd and sworn to before me this 14th day of D. 1865.

June A. D. 1885. (Signed) S. W. MATHESIY, Clerk. The above figures speak for themselves. To be added to then, however, is the $25,000 which was appropriated by the last Congress on oc-count of Mr. Lincolu's salary, making al-together the total value of the personal estate to be about one hundred and ten thousand dolto be about one hundred and ten thousand dol-lars, to say nothing of the real estate described in the schedule above. So that the statement made in the World that Mr. Lincoln saved nothing and leit nothing from his salary, and that Mrs. Lincoln has no resources but what remain from the appropriations of Congress, $22,000, and the sents of the homested returning altoand the rents of the homestead, returning altogether but $1700 per year, cannot possibly be true. That Mr. Lincoln did not leave his family wealthy is very evident, but no one, in view of the above inventory, will say that they are in the deplorable condition of "want" and "desti-tution," in regard to which the public has with so much astonishment just been informed. We say this much, not for the purpose of preventing "personal contributions" from being made to Mrs. Lincoln, if she desires them, much less to deter Congress from making a further appropriation for her support, which we should be glad to have it do; but simply in order that the people of the nation may not suppose Mrs. Lincoln is in anything like destitute circum-stances. Her income may not be sufficient to meet all her wants and necessities, but it is certainly large enough to maintain her at least as comfortably as she lived before going to Washington.

desirous of giving this matter any more pub-l'city, on account of her son, who is very sensi-tive on the subject, and wishes to get the affair over as soon as poseible." This was too much of piling a mountain on a mountain for the refined feelings of this benevo-lent lady, and she marched off indignantly in a volley of anathemas against the crime of being poor to give mass to another to make who was volley of anathemas against the crime of being poor, to give place to another female who was equally troublesome and objectionable, and who gave plenty of pity, but no purse. Shortly after this episode a gentleman entered and thus addressed the proprietor:--"Mr. Brady, I thought you said Surveyor Wakeman was coming up to see the goods, and make some purchases; has he been here? Pshaw ! he's nothing but a radical politician. He told Mr.s. Lincoln's agent that he would come up and make a purchase the first day he called upon him. 'Oh, yes, he said, 'certainly, certainly,' I shall come by all means, I should never think of permitting Mrs Lincoln to be refused such a small favor; I will be sure to come up this afternoon." But he didn't come. The agent saw him the next day. ''Oh, how are you?' he said; ''I am sorry I couldn't get up yesterday; you may expect me this afternoon," But he didn't come. A few days ago the agent met him didn't come. A few days ago the agent met him again. He was equally affable and equally pro-fuse of promises, and declared that he would be up that very afternoon. But he didn't come. Then followed the publication of Mrs. Lincoln's lotters

"Well, didn't he come up then " "No, he has gone to Chicago." (This was said insinuatingly, as if to infer that the letter and Mr. Wakeman's trip to Chicago had some mysterious connectrip to Chicago had some mysterious connec-tion.) Then followed a confab from the dis-jointed words heard here, and then it was evi-dent that Mr. Wakeman is not desirious of having any more letters published, and would seem to be desirous of creeping out of the "un-pleasant affair" by having an interview with Mrs. Lincoln. Several artists from illustrated papers called yesterday and made sketches, and Mrs. Lincoln's wardrobe and its story will in-evitably be rendered as public as the new and evitably be rendered as public as the pen and press can make it.-N. The Barnum Election Case.

A Washington despatch to the Boston Adver-tiser says that the sub-Committee of the House Committee on Elections, composed of Messrs, Dawes, Poland, and Chauler, charged with in-vestigation of alleged trauds in the election of William H. Barnum, of Connecticut, met at Bridgeport, in that State, on the 1st instant. The witnesses examined by the committee swore positively to having been offered money, in sums of fifty and one hundred dollars, by Mr. Barnum personally, for their votes. The most important witnesses in the case were either out of town or refued to any or the case were either out of town or refused to answer the summons sent them, and it is the opinion of a majority of the committee that these witnesses were hired to absent themselves. The Convention meet again in Falls Village, Barnum's town, on the 15th instant, when they propose to compel attendance of refractory witnesses.

Ex-President Pierce on the Elections.

Ex-President Franklin Pierce was serenaded in Concord, N. H., on Wednesday night, by the Democrats who were rejoicing over the election returns. Halting in front of his residence, the crowd gave three cheers for Pennsylvana, three for Ohlo, and three for General Pierce. The ex-President appeared at the door and was en-nustrastically "Gueered, the door and ying the "Star Spangled Banner." As soon as the music stopped ex-President Pierce spoke as follows:-

"It has been so long your part and mine, my friends and neighbors, to breast and smile back defiance at what we have believed to be the torrent of evil, that one hardly knows how to receive uotes of friumph. I am free to confess, however, that the results which you have come to announce are not a surprise to me. There have been multiplications and come divided have been mutterings, and some distinct enun ciations, which proclaimed them pretty significantly to my mind.

MRS. LINCOLN'S WARDROBE.

A Showman Offers $13,000 for the Lot-He Wants to Exhibit the Dresses and Jewelry in Europe-Mr. Wakeman Gone to Chicago.

Although the weather yesterday was very unfavorable for what is technically known in dry goods circles as the "fancy trade," yet quite a number of people visited Mr. Brady's show-room, on Broadway, where Mrs. Lincoln's ward-robe is exhibited for sale. Few purchases, however, were made, the majority of the visitors having come rather to gratify a troublesome curiosity than to buy, and a great many of the gems and jewels, and all the womankind attire, yet remain.

One lady drove up in a magnificent carriage, with richly caparisoned horses, and coachman in livery, and asked to see Mr. Brady. On being pninted out that gentleman, she rushes up to him impetuously, and said to him in haughty tones;-"Sir, I am a friend of Mrs. Lincoln, and desire to see her immediately."

'I am sorry, madam. I am unable to gratify your wishes, as Mrs. Lincoln is not to be seen immediately.

"But, sir, I am her friend, and I desire you to give me a pass to see her; the sale of these goods, sir, is an indelible disgrace to the

"I agree with you, madam; the only pass I can give is to buy you a ticket to Chicago, where Mrs, Lincoln is at present; but you must excuse me if I decline to do so, and, as you say you are a friend of Mrs. Lincoln, you cannot show your friendship m a more substantial way than by making a purchase." This suggestion was not acted upon, from the fact that this lady merchy wished to see Mrs. Lincoln for the purpose of giving her some "good advice." Of course this fashionable lady, so full of lip benevolence, and who was so destrous of seeing and giving her dear friend Mrs. Lincoln some "good advice," declined making purchases, but was loud in expressing "how shocked she was that such an exposure should be made," to all of which Mr. Brady assented, but was careful to conclude his remarks with the refrain-"Yes, and as you say you are a friend of Mrs. Lincoln, you can prove your friendship by making pur-chases." But, mirabile dictu, this benevolent dame did not heed the drift of these remarks, and kept regretting in a sort of serio-comic strain of mental agony, "Oh, I'm so distressed to think that Mrs. Lincoln should do this; why the whole of Europe will be talking about it, and I have some relatives moving in the highest circles of London and Paris, and I know how mortified they will feel."

mortified they will feel." "Yes, madam," replied Mr. Brady; "and if I were not actuated by more than pecuniary motives, I could have sold the whole of this wardrobe for $13,000 to a showman who desires to exhibit them in Europe; in fact, I have had two offers of this kind, but Mrs. Lincoln is not

Not the least of these was the encouragemen and hope which came down to us from our neighboring State—Montagne Verte—a noble State, represented by high men for years— Judge Collamer, Governor Foot, Hiland Hall, and others of like stamp. Then came the 18,000 fresh votes from Maine, speaking encourage-ment and hope. Then Montana-far off Montana-came over the mountains with her tram-pet-tone, saying:-Rally to the roscue of your country.

"Wave Munich, all thy banners wave, And charge with all thy chivalry, for we are striking hands with you in this great battle for union and independence. Then came California booming over cape and ocean to assure us that the Pacific has recovered its feet, and is ready for the great condict; and now I learn that we may hope for victory in Ohio, which scemed like hoping against all hope. And, finally, old sturdy Pennsylvania, which holds Independence Hall, speaks words of terror to the wrong and encouragement to the right.

I warn you, my iriends, to note the fact that these triumphs, whatever they may be, are no party triumphs. The people have risen in their majesty, with a consciousness of their power, and, disregarding party lines and party aspirations, have been silently considering what belongs to them, their children, and their coun-try. I think the great battle has been fought and won. If the results are significant in nothing else they are in this—that the white race-our race-the German, Italian, French, Irish, Scotch, and Anglo-Saxon people-are still to be the controlling power on this continent.

It is for you, now, to remember your duties— your fidelity to principles; what you owe to your neighbors—whether they agree with you or not —and to take care that the public weal suffer no detriment at your hands. I thank you for your very kind greeting; and not having strength in my present state of health to say more, I bid you all good night.

General Canby's Jury Order - Letter from Governor Orr to the President.

Governor Orr, in a letter to President John-on, urges that General Canby's order in relation to juries be revoked, or, at least, suspended. He says that in twenty-three districts of South Carolina there will be, under the order, a imajority of colored jurits for the trial of all classes of cases, civil and criminal, and only five per cent, of their number will be able to read and write. He adds...."Under the present jury organiza-tion in South Carolina, I have no reason to be-lieve that since colored persons have been admitted to give evidence in our Courts any injustice has been done to the coloree people by white jurors. On the contrary, I think it will be established by the concurrent testimony of the various prosecuting officers in the State. that in criminal proceedings juries have dealt more mercifully with the colored than with the white persons tried before them.

Mr. First asked that the court make an order that the isjunction shoud a stand until a hearing was heard, and offered the following evidence in support of his request:— Thomas O. Webb, Dcputy Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas sworn—These papers inwan-ing the returns which had been handed to the Judge) were brought to the officer of the Court of Common Pleas about noon, October 11, by two;persons, one re-presenting himself to be a commissioner appointed for the purpose; I do not know them, never having seen them before that I remember; the president of the return judges filed a return in the office to-day; it was seled, and I cannot say what they contained; I did not receive the return brought in by the two men. Thomas B. Reeves, Clerk in the office to-day; it was seled, and I cannot know the man who brought them; I have seen them in the office several times before the election; the returns were open; they were in the condition they now are, with the exception of the file marks on the back, which I made: I made a certified copy of their contents; all that was said was that they were the returns of the votes from For Delaware; I would know the man who gave them to me if I were to see him; I do not recognize the and-writing on the returns. The ansker to which Edward J. Worrell, of the supreme Court, upon being award, setting: — The im-sume to whom the file award J. Worrell, of the supreme Court, upon being award, testified;—The in-purcing was the aback down and the return in dages were them in the office of Sammel P. Hancock, President, Samuel Echlede, H. S. Wright, and others whom I understood to be clerks of the Return Judges; I afterwards read it aloud to Luke Y. Suton, one of the Judgets in the prosence of Sammel P. Hancock, President, Samuel Echlede, H. S. Wright, and others whom I understood to be clerks of the Return Judges; I afterwards read is aloud to Luke Y. "Business in financial circles was irregularly reported to-day. At some houses it was brisk, with an active demand for discounts on grain paper, but elsewhere it was quiet. The ship-ments of currency were moderate, mostly to towns on the Upper Mississippi. Several of the banks reported the receipt of remittances from the interior, which indicate that the return flow has partially commenced. Paper is scrutinized has partially commenced. Paper is scrutinized with considerable severity, and favors are gene-rally restricted to depositors in good standing. In the open market there is a good demand for discounts at 1@2 per cent per month, according to the standing of the signatures. Exchange was scarce and firmer, with sales between banks at 15c. discount, with no sellers at the close below $\frac{1}{2}$ off. The counter rates were an-changed."
