A Novelist on Novels.

DWGSTEDLEGGS MISS

In his new magazine—St. Pau's—Anthony Trollope discourses of the present domination the novel in periodical literature. He mays: 'As there are many critics of the literature of the day who declare that magazines are almost worthiess because they are filled with adding, so are there others who are equally posed to them, because none of them—we neve not one—is now to be found unpolluted the silly cuthusiasm of the romancer. The for the public, whatever may be his own taste and judgment in such matters, must provide that for his readers which his readers demand and will certainly obtain, whether he provide it, or whether others do so. It may be boldly asserted that no magazine could live at present that refused to regale its friends from month to month with at east one serial tale, and that the magazine which rusts to two such works will fare better than its neighbor which trusts only to one. The preaching of the day is done by the novelist, and the lessons which he teaches are those to which men and women will listen. Such was not the case fifty years ago, when Scott, though still unknown, was in his prime—it was not the case thirty years ago, when Bulwer and Disraelt and James and Ward had already become popular as masters of fiction, and when Dickens was commencing his career. Novels were indeed read, but were not a necessity in every house-hold as they are now. Nor can any one say that the novelist will still be the preacher of the day when thirty years more shall have passed over us. The poet may then be in the ascenscientific essay; or it may be that the booksel-ler of the day will find a volume of sermons from pen of some eloquent divine to be the stock that moves itself most quickly on his shelves. Such has been the care, and may be the case In the meantime the editor of the magazine of to-day must provide for the readers of the day that class of literary food which they

It is not probable that this present editor should feel himself called upon to quarrel with the public taste in this respect. It has been his humble, but not unpleasant task, as a man of letters, to sing, in prose, long love-ditties for his readers, and he has sung them till the singing of them has become a second nature to him. He has now put together another, which he will warble forth from month to month—a ditty not indeed composed wholly of love strains; a slight story, in which he has attempted to describe how love and ambition between them may cause the heart of a man to vacillate and make his conduct unsteady. His hero is not very heroic, and his readers, should be be happy enough to find them, will be lifted into no heaven of admira-tion or of wrath, by the virtues or by the vices of their new acquaintances."

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

HIXTS FOR PEDESTRIANS .- A Paris physician, Dr. Phobus, has been studying afresh the causes of sore feet on the march, and the best means of preventing them. In addition to advice as to the shape of the boots, he recommends the repeated employment, during the march, of cold ablutions of the feet. Walkers, he says, should stop when they pass running streams or stagnant water long enough to take off their boots and to put their feet in the water for a minute or a minute and a half. In inhabited places vessels of water may be procured for this purpose, and the feet kept in till the sensation of heat or burning has disappeared. If any blister form, a thread of wool or cotton should be passed through it, and loosely tied. Thus the fluid escapes, but the epidermis is preserved-a precaution by which severe subsequent pain is avoided. Excoriations are best treated by a soft oxide of zinc cintment (made with benzoated lard and a little glycerine). The shoes should be soft and supple, although sufficiently thick. A dezen or two small nails in the sole, where t wears most, suffice to preserve it. The leather may be seftened by rubbing a mixture of linseed oil and oxide of lead or of lard. tockings should always be worn.

SHERWD WAY OF CATCHING THIEVES,-The Paris papers reveal a new style of theft by which jewellers are losers. The thief enters the shop of a dealer in diamonds and pearls, and asks to see some small unset stones. He is well dressed, and wears colored spectacles. The stones are laid before him, spread on paper. Being very near-sighted, as his glasses prove, he is obliged to bring his eyes so near to the gems that he can pick them up with the tip of his tongue, and he keeps them in his mouth until out of the shop. If he fears detection, which seldom occurs, he swallows his treasure - whence the slang name of "Swallow it raw," given to this class by the thieves' fraternity. One of them was caught the other day. The diamond merchant, put upon his guard, said he had no small stones, out would have a large supply the next day. A policeman was in waiting; the diamonds were laid out upon paper previously impregnated with an extremely bitter drug, which, when the thief put his tongue to them, acted se violently on his sense of taste that he instantly rejected what he had just taken. The policeman appeared, and the thief was taken in the act.

OPIUM RATING IN ENGLAND .- Dr. Hawkins, of King's Lynn, has published an alarming report respecting the prevalence of opium eating in the fen country, in England. One Lynn chemist sells an average of one hundred and seventy pounds of solid opium in the year, besides corresponding quantities of laudanum. Indeed, it is said that half the quantity imported into England is consumed in Lincolnshire, Norfolk, and Leicestershire. The result is a great mortality of children, and a marked degeneration of the human race in those districts.

AN OLD MIRACLE REPLATED,-"A PUIDOF WAS current yesterday," says the Italia, of Naples, of September 19, hthat St. Januarius would not this year perform his accustomed miracle, in consequence of the heretics and excommunicated persons who are at the present moment forming impious plots against the Holy Father. The Saint would not, however, inflict such an affront on his native city for the few hairbrained men who are now committing Heaven knows what sacrilege. This morning, indeed. St. Januarius rose earlier than usual, and a half-past 9 the blessed blood was in a state of liquefaction in the miraculous vials. A cannon shot announced to the twelve quarters of Naples that St. Januarius had performed the miracle promptly, which means that all the graces of the Lord will be poured down on

THE PARK COMMISSION .- The following em-THE FARK COMMISSION.—The following embraces the principal points in Mr. Graef's report, submitted to the Park Commissioners on Saturday:—"The superior quality of the water of the Schuylkill at Philadelphia, chemically considered, when free from impurities introduced by human agency, cannot be doubted. All analyses yet made place it in the first rank as a water proper and desirable for the ordinary domestic uses; perfectly soft, pleasant to the domestic uses; perfectly soft, pleasant to the taste, and remarkably free from organic matter, it compares favorably with the water supplied it compares favorably with the water supplied to other places.

"A gailon of Schuylkill water contains 7-04 grains of solid matter, while the Croton river supplied to New York 10-93. The average of four analyses of the Schuylkill shows 5-76 grains per gallon." The report, in referring to the presence of supplied acid, states "that it is undoubtedly present in large quantities in the upper waters of the river, and at Schuylkill Haven as much as ten grains to the gallon have been detected; but fortunately the whole of this acid is neutralized, or rather converted into sulphates of lime and magnesia, by the waters of several streams, which, flowing through limestone formations, discharge their waters into the river at and above Reading, and even at that place the water has been found to test alkaline. In reference to impure drainage in the river, it is stated "that much the largest proportion of objectionable matter is now thrown into the river at Manayunk, both as town drainage and refuse from mills, of various characters, and as and imporities in large quantities flowing into the pool, the first question to decide is as to the practicability of preventing this sewage polluting the water in the river." The committee state that this matter could be carried of by a sewer along the eastern shore of the river.

As to the supply of water, this report states "that is found that the increased demands for water do not obey the same laws as that of the population easy."

population, each year showing that a larger supply is required than the accession to the number of inhabitants would appear to indicate. The increase in the population for the last ten years preceding 1850 was about 7070, at which rate the population now would be 788,871, and, taking the same rate of increase for the next twenty years, we should have in 1887 a population of 2,278,680. The increase in the quantity of water supplied in the last ten years has been about 88 per cent., at which rate the average supply in 1887 would be 92,725,759 gallons per day, and the maximum required during the summer months would probably be 145,622,-

367 gallons per day." The flow of the Schuylkill has been set down at about 400,000,000 gallons per day, but during at about 400,000,000 gallons per day, but during ten months of the year would probably be at least five times greater. The report estimates the available waters of the whole valley of the river to be fifty per cent, of the annual rain fall, making the whole flow equal to minety billion cubic feet a year, or an average of eighteen mil-lions per day. It is suggested that this waste water could be made available by establishing polls or lakes of storage at several points on the river, in which the superfluous waters could be kept for gradual use. be kept for gradual use.

The committee, in conclusion, offer the follow-First. By the construction of a sewer from Manayunk to a point below Fairmount dam. Second. By the improvement of the waterpower to its fullest extent. Third. By the erection of large auxiliary engines, to be used during the dry weather of summer, which might to some extent be so arranged as to be able to raise the water from below the dam, in case any accident should occur to that important structure.

GRANT FOR THE PRESIDENCY .- Last evening a large meeting of the citizens of the Twelfth Ward was held in Fifth street, above Green, for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of urging the nomination of General Grant as the Republican candidate for President. Mr. Charles M. Wagner was called to the chair. The following resolutions were unanimously

Whereas, We owe a deep debt of gratitude to Seneral Ulysses S. Grant, Commander-in-Chief of the Armies of the United States, for the successful termination of the war of the Rebellion, by his crowning success in the capture of Richond and of Robert E. Lee and the Rebel army ander his command; and
