AN AUTUMN SUGGESTION,-Now, as heavy fogs arise, and searching winds commence to blow; now, as the human body, exhausted like inanimate nature by the heats of summer, begins to wils and droops now, ere the inclement winter makes its trying onset: NOW is the time for a preparatory course of the best acclimating medicine in extatence, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

Paver and Ague is rampant in all parts of the country. Quinine, the physicians admit, will not quell the phase of the disease which at present pervades the entire West. It is well that it is so, for the remedy (so-called) is deadlier than the malady. But If quintne is inefficient in intermittent fevers, HOS-TETTER'S BITTERS is irresistible. It would be safe to make a contract, under heavy penalties, that any given "Fever-and-Ague District" should be exempted from the disorder for any particular time, provided every inhabitant would take the BITTERS according to directions, during the term of the contract. There has never been an instance in which this sterling invigorant and anti-febrile medicine has falled to ward off the complaint, when taken duly as a protection against malaria. Hundreds of physicians have abandoned all the officinal specifics, and now prescribe this harmless vegetable tonic, and nothing else, as a preventive and cure for all the forms of chills and fever. Vigor is the thing most needful in these cases, as well as in dyspepsia and nervous affections, and HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are the safest surest, and most wholesome strengthening preparation that human skill has yet concocted.

A DURABLE REPUTATION IS RABELY MADE IN A D.Y. DUR HUMPHREYS HOMODOPATHIC SPECIFICS. Analog been twelve years before the public, and tried by thousands in every part of the country, and in every form of disease, have won for themselves a name and reputation rarely acquired. They are used by the most intelligent and appreciative in every community, and praised by all for their simplicity ard efficiency in curing disease. Address, Humphreys' Specific Homodopathic Medicine Company, No. 562 Broadway, New York.

CITY INTELLIGENCE

(FOR ADDITIONAL LOCAL ITEMS SEE INSIDE PAGES.) A ROBBERY AND A MYSTERY. An Old Gentleman of Sixty Years is Found Dead in the Outskirts of Camden-He is Robbed, and Foul Play is Suspected. Our quiet neighbors across the river are in a state of excitement this morning, in consequence of a very mysterious occurrence in their midst, which bears on its face the appearance of foul play, and even of murder. The circumstances attending the affair were as follows:

Intell midds, which bears on its lace the appearance of foul play, and even of murder. The circumstances attending the affair were as follows:—

James Hall, an eccentric old gentleman, aged about sixty years, resided on Rush street, above Frankfred road, in the Twenty-fifth Ward of this city. He was married, and had quite a family of children about him. Some years ago he kept a tavern on Front steet, above Market, and subsequently presided over the Hart Tavern, on Frankford road, above Lehigh avenue, as host. In this occupation he acquired considerable wealth, which he had invested in a neatrow of homes in the usighborhood of his residence, and in two valuable farms in the southern part of New Jersey. For some time past he has not been engaged in any regular business, but has driven quite a large trade in watches, at times carrying as many as a score of them shous his person, for purposes of barter. It is also said that he seldom left home-without having as much as 100 in money about bis person.

Yesterday afternoon he left the house to make a visit to Camden. He was known to have five watches in his possession at the time, and is supposed to have been as well provided with money as usual. A little girl who saw him just before he entered the house from which he never came alive, states that sha noticed a prominent watch chain which he wore at the time. About four of cick in the afternoon a colored woman, whose mame we withhold for the present, as her whereabouts are still a mystery to the officers of the law, ran out of the large brick house at No. If Kaighra's Point avenue, Kaighnawille, a negro settleman on the outskrits of Camden, and informed her neighbors that there was a dead man in her room. The apartment in question is situated on the third floor of the house, nearly every reom of which is tenanted by a rather unhavory reputation, and it is said that the woman's these had any the set of the propose of the same referred to above, who passes under gywral aliases, is a very desperate and drunken charactor,

THE YELLOW FEVER IN THE SOUTH—How PRILADELPHIA RESPONDED TO THE CRY OF DISTRESS.—When the news reached this city that the Howard Associations of New Orleans and Galveston were in want of funds to enable them to relieve the suffering and distress which ensued upon the sevent of the yellow fever in those two cities. General William L. James, the Agent of the Philadelphia and Southern Mall Steamship Company, promptly responded to the cail by opening a subscription in this city, the proceeds of which were forwarded to their destination through the Company. The total amount of this subscription has now reached $651150 in cash, in addition to which a considerable amount of medicine and other supplies were contributed, as well as $300 in gratuitous advertising by the leading newspapers of the city, and $50 in a similar way by the American Telegraph Company. The total expenses, for printing circulars and advertising, amounted to only $47, and of the remainder of the subscriptions $1500 were forwarded to the Howard Association of Galveston. The Secretary of the latter Association, Mr. M. F. Mott, has appropriately acknowledged the timely aid thus given by the citizens of Philadelphia in a recent letter to General James, in which he says:—"Your city has responded nobit to the call upon its charity, and we will cherish the recollection of the kindness of her citizens long after all traces of the scourge have been onlike rated." THE YELLOW FEVER IN THE SOUTH-HOW

AN OUTRAGE.—On election day one George An OUTRAGE.—On election day one George Rehoe started on his way to the poils to vote. He was found drunk, lying on the grass bordering a road near Haddington, West Philadelphia. He was taken to the Station House, and committed to the County Prison by Alderman Maule, on the 9th instant. On the 11th his friends, having procured a discharge, proceeded to Moyamensing for the purpose of getting the liberated. They were astounded when informed ca-ded to Moyamensing for the purpose of getting him liberated. They were astounded when informed that he was dead. Inquiries were made in regard to what disposition had been made of the body, but they received evasive replies. Counsel was engaged, and he succeeded in learning that the body was at the University of Pensylvania. He repaired thither, and was shown through the dissecting and other rooms, but no trace of the remains of Kehoe could be found. Satisfied in his own mind that the body was there, he obtained the receipt for it. Armed with this, he presented himself to the janitor the second time, and was by him shown the remains in a room on the upper floor and as is alleged, having several bruises upon it. The Coroner was notified, and yesterday afternoon visited the University. Many impediments were thrown in his way, but a post-moriem examination was finally made by Dr. Shapleigh. The inquest will be held at 2 o'clock to-day, at the office of the Coroner.

Oroner.

Dr Shapleigh said he made a post-mortem examination of the body of George Kenoe, at the University of Pennsylvania. There were many abrasions over the whole front part of the body and limbs, the skin was knocked off in many places. There was a contusion on the back part of the head, left side. These injuries were external, not affecting the internal organs, and could not be the direct cause of death. Upon examin ng the brain I found the membranes contused. This was the only appearance of disease I could discover.

The verdict of the Coroner's Jury was that George Echoe came to his death from congestion of the brain.

Thieves Break Through and Steal.—
About 9 o'clock last evening, Christian Lange, a journeyman employed in the barber shop of Philip Hamprelman, at No. 1296 North Fourth street, went up stains to his sleeping apartment, the back secondatory room, and found the door locked on the inside. This excited his surprise somewhat, but as there was no noise in connection with the mystery, and no traces of intruders, nothing more was thought of the matter, until the door was broken open about an bour later. The room was then found to be in a state of confusion, the contents of his trunks being scattered about the floor, and things turned topsy-turvy generally. An examination showed that $20 in Five-twenty Government bonds, and $150 in Ten-forties, belonging to him, had been abstracted, together with about $30 in money belonging to another journeyman in the establishment. The burglars had effected an entrance through the back window, to which they had gained access by the roof of a shed in the rear of the house. They had evidently been alarmed while at their work, and had made good their escape with the money and bonds, without attempting to carry off the clothing. No cine to the thiever has been obtained, but this little incident should teach people not to deposit their valuables in trunks. THIEVES BREAK THROUGH AND STEAL .-

CHERNUT STREET IMPROVEMENT—J. M. HAPLEIGH'S NEW STORM.—Improvement, with business, is moving westward. Among the changes which mark Cheanns street, none are more apparent than the destruction of the old brick buildings on Chesnut sirest, above Teath, and the erection of an imposing marble edifice on their site. The popular dress good establishment of J. M. Hafleigh, at Ninth and Chesnut, is to be moved to the new building, which but a short time ago was commenced, and which now is receiving its finishing southes.

It is a fine edifice, with an imposing marble tront, built in a substantial manner, and exhibiting the highest order of skill.

Exceedingly large show windows add greatly to its appearance, while the heavy ornaments and cluster columns which mark the entrance fend additional attraction. Entering, the visitor sees a hall extending through to the rear. It is large and convanient. The count-ra, deaks, etc., are of solid wainut, highly pollahed, which contrast well with the freecoed celling and walls. Shelves, upon which enough fabrics to clothe the city might be stored, extend on either side the hall's tuil length. In lieu of a second floor there extends around the hall alarge gallery, which as the rear closes and forms a commodious wholesale room.

The celling of the second story is of imposing

The celling of the second story is of imposing height, and is lighted by many dome-like skylights. The whole building, which is not surpassed by beauty of appearance and convenience for mercantile use in the city, exhibits a high degree of architectural skill. A large corps of workmen have been sugaged since the foundation in its crection, and now that it nears completion, the number has been enlarged.

Mr. Hafleigh announces to his parrons that this new building will be occupied by his dress goods establishment on Monday next, the Zist inst.

Subsequently it was charged, in a deposition before Alderman Beitler, that defendant swore that they were the property of Mr. Broomail, and still remained so. The defendant was arrested at his office, on Fifth street, and taken before Recorder Ruen. The facts as above narrated were testified to by Moses A. The leading Republican officials and candidates think they can prove frauds enough and of sufficient calibre to justify the Court of Common Pleas in throwing out the entire returns in some divisions, by reason of elective officers refusing to qualify voters when challenged, and other fraudulent voting, etc.

It is said that in the Eighth Division of the Fourth Ward, two bundred and eighty-one persons voted whose names de not appear on the assessment lists, and were not qualified as to their right to vote when challenged in any in-stance. Card by Governor Brownlow-He Aunounces Himself a Candidate for the United States Senate.

The following card from Governor Brownlow, of Tennessee, is published in the Nashville Press and Times of the 16th instant:— To the Members of the Legislature:—Tocorrect mis-apprehension, and in response to numerous inquiries which are addressed to me, I take this method of approuncing that I am a candidate for United States Secator. If honored with an election at your hands, I shall expect to take my seat on the 4th of March, last, Providence permitting. Until that time I expect to administer the Executive Department of the State Government.

Government.

With regard to the state of my health I have this to say, that while not so robust as it has been in former years, it is much firmer than it was a year ago, and I indulge a hope that the new era upon which our State Government has entered, so different from the warring conflicts of the past two and a half years, which were an almost uninterrupted struggle for existence, will afford me an opportunity to recuperate, so that if e ected, when the time comes for me to repair to Washington. I shall have regained a good deal of vigor.

Washington. I shall have regained a good deal of viger.

You will each and all bear me witness that I have never, by longue or pen, hitherto asked your support for the position, nor said or done anything in opposition to other candidates. I ask your suffrage now because the United States Senatorship is the highest honor which the State can confer upon a citizen, and with the belief that if elected to that high position I can render efficient aid to the able Congressional delegation already elected. In securing the loyal men of our State that justice which the General G vernment seems so tardy in bestowing.

If you should think that any person aspiring to the office in question is better qualified, would be more acceptable to your constituents, or has stronger claims upon the party than myself, of course it is your duty to elect him, and I promise to bow as gracefully to defeat as any man in our ranks, as the integrity and harmony of the Union Republican party are censiderations of much higher importance than the mere personal success or defeat of any man.

(Signed)

W. G. BROWNLOW.

The End of a Long Tragic Story.

From the Arbany Argus, Oct. 16. It is nearly twenty years ago that a strange man was seen in the neighborhood of the Parks, on a Sunday in summer, brandishing a pistol, and threatening to shoot men and women in the streets. His name was Timothy Kelly, from Dubuque, Iowa, a runner who had just returned from New York, where he had sold a large quantity of lead. He was a madman, and thought he was pursued by enemies seeking to get his money. Some citizens endeavored to arrest him. He fled, and they pursued, running through Eagle, and down Beaver street. As the foremost pursuer, Mr. Mull, approached him, the insane man turned and fired a pistol at him, piercing his forehead above the eye. Though fatally wounded, as afterwards appeared, Mull was unconscious of the wound, and closed in with the fugitive, who drew his knife and plunged it through Mull's body. Immediately a young man, James Mahoney, seized a stone and threw it with such force as to strike then a constable—since the victim of another not less horrid tragedy-seized the prostrate murderer, and carried him off to jail. Here his madness grew worse; and, on application to the court, he was sent to a lunatic asylum. Orlando Meads, Esq., of this city, was ap-nointed his custodian, and took charge of the property, some $2000 in dwaffs, etc., which was found on his person. After a while the man escaped from the asylum and fled, no one knew where. His shattered intellect had received new blow from remorse at his crime; and he shunned his fellow men and lived, as has since been learned, like a hermit somewhere in the mines, where he had formerly labored. Meanwhile the family of Mull, who survived his twofold wounds nearly a fortnight, brought a suit for damages. Mr. Hadley, of this city, was the lawyer, and the case was a novel one. He re-covered a verdict of $2500, which was taken out of the funds found on the prisoner. It was not till a few mouths ago that the family of Kelly took steps to recover the balance of his property. He still lives a recluse, unfit for the proper care of property, and his family applied for a guardian, upon whose application the money and its accumulated interest was paid over. After deducting the $2500 verdict and the cost of his maintenance in the Asylum, the sum amounted to $11,500. But who shall compute the amount of misery and woe of which this sum was the seed? For in it lay the origin of the madness, the crime, and the remorse which, after twenty years, leave their dark traces still uneffaced, and still incomplete.

Your petitioners further show that it has been returned that at said election the said William A. Leech has been returned as elected thereto by a majority of 11% votes, which your petitioners charge to be a false return and undue election of William A. Leech. And they contest his right to the said office of Register of Wills for the city and county of Philadelphia.

That the said election and said return of the said will sam A. Leech aforesaid are false, frandulent, and undue in this.—That at the said general election two cancidates for the office of the Register of Wills aforesaid were voted for, to wit, the said William A. ontest:—
In the general return of votes there are taken and counted so votes for said William Y. Campbell, and is votes for the said William A. Leech for the said William A. Leech for the said office of Register of Wills, purporting to be a return of votes of soldiers from Fort Delaware, which your petitioners charge were not the votes of volunteers in actual military service, and should be entirely excluded from the said returns, and disregarded in making the computation of votes for the said office.

Then follow in the petition charges of fraudulent conduct of the election by the election officers, whose returns are as follows:—
