THE RIVERSIDE INSTITUTE.-More than a decade of years ago some enterprising individuals erected a large hotel at Progress, N. J., which, however, was never completed. The Trustees of the Riverside Institute have secured this building for its use. They commenced some time since making the necessary improvements and revairs to render the edifice tenable, and by the lat of February, 1888, it is expected that the building will be ready for the purposes of the Institute. The building is large and commodious, situated pleasantly near the Delaware river and the Camden and Amboy Railroad.

Its dimensions are as follows:-Length, 125 feet; width, 40 feet; height, four stories; while the roof is crowned by a cupola measuring 64 feet from its base-The building will be entirely used for the school pur poses. The basement will be divided into the kitchenlaundry, and dining-rooms. The first floor will con lain three rooms, intended for school-room, receptionroom, and recitation-room. The higher stories will be divided into dormitories and study rooms, eighty of which will be immediately fitted up. Upon the exterior, the beauty of the building will be enhanced by an ornamental verandab. The Riverside Institute, to secupy this large building, which, though now rather dilapidated, soon will be a fine collegiate establishment, was incorporated by the State of New Jersey, April 8, 1867. This property, including some six acres, originally belonged to Samuel Bechtold. Esq., who years ago purchased about five hundred acres, intending to found a city thereon, and from whom the Institute obtained their portion at half of its original rates. The necessary documents of transfer have passed into the hands of the Trustees.

The grounds will be tastefully laid out. At present there is a fine grove at the northern end, where the pupils may have all manner of exercise and amuse ment, while the eastern portion will be used for farm purposes, where a knowledge of agriculture will be obtained. When everything is completed, and the building ready for its occupants, the managers intend to communicate with the Governors of the various States, requesting them to select three boys each, between the ages of six and twelve, who will be admitted into the Institute, where they will receive all the benefits of a common school education.

These lads must be the sons of soldiers or sallors who died in defense of the country. The number that will be at present accommedated will be about one bundred, though there is sufficient capacity for five times that amount. For the support of these worthy subjects the sum of $100,000 will be required. The Washington Library Company have taken the initiative in this matter, and through their influence about one-haif of the amount has already been subscribed. The subscriptions range from one to five dollars, in return for which a steel engraving is forwarded.

The Trustees are all gentlemen of worth, well known to this city and vicinity, and are as follows: -District Attorney Mann, L. R. Broomall, Esq., Hon, James M. Scovel. Hon. W. W. Ware, Henry Gemnan, Esq., and J. E. Coe, Esq. Messrs. George A. Cooke & Co., bankers, of this city, are the receivers for the Washington Library Company, and take charge of all the funds intended for the Institute.

A Disease Resembling the Asiatic Cholera Breaks Out at the Navy Yard -Thirteen Deaths Since Saturday.

We lived through the summer heats without the dreaded approach of the cholera, and now that the moderate temperature of the autumn has arrived, we were in hopes that we should entirely escape its ravages. But it seems that the contrary is to be the case, for we are called upon to-day to record the death of thirteen men in the naval service from a disease which has been pronounced by the physicians in attendance to be the Asiatic cholera.

The outbreak of the disease occurred on Saturday, the 19th inst., on board the receiving ship Potomac which is now lying off the Navy Yard in this city. The Potomac is a third-rate frigate of 24 guns, and 1726 tons, old measurement, which has been in service as a receivinghip at the port of Pensacola for several years past. About four months ago she was transpast. About four months ago she was trans-erred to this port, and although she may have become intected with the seeds of the disease by reason of remaining so long in Southern waters, it is singular that, if such has been the case, as is claimed by some, there should be no ymptoms of the pestilence until the present

The Potomac has been under the command of Captain John DeCamp, and at the outbreak of the epidemic on Saturday last was filled to its utmost capacity with men, there being from three hundred and fifty to four hundred on board. These men have been subject to great annoyance and inconvenience from the stifling and sickening odors which are sent forth by a large bone-boiling establishment located just to the south of the Navy Yard. So terrible has been the stench arising from this concern at times, especially when a south or southwest wind prevailed, that it has been found necessary to close all the ports of the ship when the men were at their meals, the sickening odor depriwere at their meals, the sickening odor depri-ving them of all desire for food. Huddled to-gether in these close quarters, with little chance for exercise, in consequence of the crowded state of the vessel, it is a matter of surprise that some fatal maiady has not been developed before the present time. The officers of the Navy Yard, and the large force of men employed in it, have likewise suffered from the proximity of this detestable nulsance. In the warmest weather during the past summer, it has often been necessary to close every window to the offices, quarters, and barracks, in consequence of the stenen. The laborers in the yard have repeatedly profested against the pest-breeding establishment, but all attempts hitherto to effect its removal have failed, through rto to effect its removal have failed, through the negligence or apathy of our health authorities. It will be remembered that the Chatta-nooga was the scene of an euthreak of cholera last year, when it was anchored in the same last year, when it was anchored in the same locality as the Potomac, and also that five men employed in the Navy Yard were suddenly taken sick, one death resulting. At that time surgeon Macgowan, of the Chattanooga, reported, without qualification, that the odors of this concern were extremely detrimental to health. We hope that our health authorities will at once take hold of this matter, and cause the nuisance to be abated without any further the nuisance to be abated without any further criminal delay.

The first death on board the Potomac occurred on Saturday, and the symptoms of the disease were at once pronounced by the physicians on were at once pronounced by the physicians on board the vessel and in the yard to be those of Asiatic cholera. Since then, about forty of the men on the Potomac have been affected more or less by the disease, and thirteen deaths have aiready occurred. Those who have fallen vic-tims to the scourge are as follows, as far as their names have been ascertained:—

Frank Wood, ward-room steward, 19th inst. William McClellan, seaman, 19th instant. Richard Toler, landsman (recruit), 20th inst. John Watmough, landsman (recruit), 20th inst. J. Vanzandt, serjeant of marines, 21st inst. Conrad Muller, landsman (recruit), 21st inst. Lewis Koehler, landsman (recruit), 21st inst. Moore Vernon, surgeon's steward, 21st inst. Joseph Thomas, landsman (recruit), 21st inst

Cha. H. Rossen, landsman (recrnit), 21st inst. John C. Fell, landsman (recruit), 22d inst. In addition to these, two men, whose name have not been ascertained, were removed to the Naval Asylum, where they succumbed to the disease. Late last night, and early this morning four more deaths resulted.

It is said that a lady wno visited the infected vessel on Saturday has since died. The two men who died at the Naval Asylum, it is thought, were suffering from some other disease, but the exact state of their cases cannot be ascertained as yet.

In the mojority of the fatal cases death ensued within a few hours after the first attack, the sufferers being taken with diarrhea, cramps, vomiting, and all the known symptoms of Asiatic cholers. The disease is described by the physicians as exhibiting a very bad type, which yields very slowly to the best known methods of treatment. As soon as the epidemic appeared, preparations were made to arrest its progress. ertained as yet.

On Sunday, all hands on board the infected ship who had not exhibited symptoms of the disease, were removed to the Constellation and Florida, which are anchored near by, and the l'otomac was at once placed under hospital regulations. But this did not avail, as several were soon attacked, and had to be transferred to their old quarters. No one except the physi-cians and nurses, and those whose presence is imperatively required, are permitted to visit the vessel, although a number of women whose relatives were on board have presented themelves to the officials at the Navy Yard, and sought admission. It is said that when the Potomac arrived at this port, in June last, it was deemed best to defer a thorough fumigation until the cold weather had set. Orders were therefore given not to disturb the lower hatches; but these orders were recently disregarded, and the disease at once made its appearance under the disease at once made its appearance under the combined influence, it is supposed, of the condition of the vessel and the stench arising from the neighboring bone-boiling establishment.

Commedore Selfridge has communicated the state of affairs to the Department at Washington and requested instructions as to what disposition to make of the infected vessel, which will probably be ordered down to the Delaware Breakwater, there to undergo the fumigation which she needs so greatly.

which she needs so greatly.

In the meantime, the Sassacus has been ordered up from League Island, to be placed on duty as a hospital ship. The latter is a third-rate paddle-wheel steamer of 974 tous, and is therefore amply large enough for the purpose. The sconer all the sick men are removed from the Potomac to the Sassacus, and the former sent beyond the limits of the city, the better. Three surgeons, in addition to those aiready on duty, have been ordered to attend the sick, and a board of experienced surgeons will at once investigate the whole affair, and report the most advisable course to be pursued. which she needs so greatly.

Whe Latest Particulars. REPORTS FROM THE NAVY YARD UP TO 1 O'CLOCK

THIRTEEN DEATHS ALTOGETHER—ONLY ONE FATAL CASE THIS MORNING. FATAL CASE THIS MOENING.
Since writing the above, we have received reports of the progress of the epidemic at the Navy Yard up to lo'clock this afternoon. The Sassacus has arrived from League Islaud, and an order has been issued for the transfer to it, from the Potomac, of all the sick, which will be complied with as soon as the vessel can be got in readiness to receive them. But one death is officially reported this morning, the victim being John C. Fell, landsman, whose name is given above. Thomas King, the ship's corporal, who was reported as having died from the cholers, had been for two weeks under treatment in the hospital for another disease, which resulted in his death.

Eighteen men are still under treatment for the disease, but hopes are entertained by the physicians that at least half of them will ultimately recover. The total mortality will, therefore, be limited to about twenty, or only five per cent. of the whole number which were brought into contact with the pestilence. The decessed have been interred in a lot in Mount Morlah Cemetery belonging to the United States Government.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT LETITIA AND CHESNUT STREETS.—About half-past 12 o'clock this morning a destructive fire occurred at the extensive wholesale cotton warehouse of Handolph & Jenks, situated at the northwest corner of Chesnut and Lettita streets, between Front and Second. The flames were first discovered issuing from the window of the third story of that part of the building situated on Lettita street.

Some time elapsed before the alarm was given, during which the flames gained great headway and shot southwards and upwards, and in ten minutes after the first discovery of the fire the flames had spread through the entire length of the building on the third and fourth floors, and burst forth from the windows of those floors on Chesnut street, making the surrounding neighborhood as light as day, and

The entire upper portion of the building, which was a substantial brick one, four stories in height, and extending back on Lettite street about 150 feet, was enveloped in flames by the time the fire companies got fairly under way, and it was then apparent that the building was a doomed one, and the neighboring property was in imminent danger. was in imminent danger.

Through the active exertions of the firemen however, the flames were confined to the three upper stories of the establishment. This por-tion was completely burned out. The lower floor was stored with cotton in bales, and it was thoroughly saturated with water. A few of the bales were rolled into the street by the firemen, Owing to there being a tin roof on the burning building, the flames were prevented from communicating to the adjoining stores on Chesnut and Letitia streets. Nos. 117 and 119 Chesnut street, occupied by CONCRALING A FUGITIVE .- James Ellenger, it CONCRALING A FUGITIVE.—James Ellenger, it is alleged, was one of the leaders of the riot at Fifth and Reed streets, on election day, when Richard Taylor was fatally wounded. Immediately after that occurrence he left, it is supposed for New York. On Saturday last he returned to this city. The police received word that he was stopping at what is termed the "skylight" parior, No. 113 South Third street. On Saturday night, Sergeant Krout and Reserve Officers Cooley and Craylon determined to ascertain the fact, and visited this place. The house was searched from top to bottom; no man was found, and all the famale inmates vehemently protested no knowledge of any such person being there. The officers were not such person being there. The officers were not satisfied with this for at their first visit ap-pearances were suspicious of Ellenger's presence. The house was again investigated, but without success. Towards dusk two women, so appearing, one enveloped in a huge shawl, and face obscured by a projecting Quaker bonaround into Carter's alley, through into another cross alley, and into a dark nook, where one speedily disrobed, being no other than this self-same man whom the police were hunting. He left quickly, and the second (bona fide) female packed the clother in a backed the clother in the second (bona fide) packed the clothes in a basket and returned. A inird investigation by the police took place when it was ascertained that Ellenger himsel by jumping over a high brick wall in the back yard, and when the coast was clear, returned to the house, donned the maidenly attire, walked unconcernedly off, and thus escaped.

The officers, learning these facts, and in payment of this conspiracy to free the fugitive. arrested the female inmates of the notorious "skylight," as follows:—Mrs. Hustin, Ellen Jones, and Lizzle Bodine. Recorder Encu held each in $2500 bail to answer at Court.

REYNARD MAKES A MISTAKE .- Last night a young man named Byron Fox rang the bell of No. 905 Wainut street, and inquired for a young lady named Kitty, with whom he was ac-quainted. He was shown into the parior, but the young lady, to whom the visitor was an utter stranger, denied ever having known the gentleman, although he protested an old ac qualntance, having been introduced some time since by a Mr. Marshall. Finding himself thus an intruder, he backed to the door as soon as lossible, and being shown out, used indecent language, when he made off. He had not gone far before he was in the grasp of Officer Lare, who escorted him to the Station House. Suspicion of something wrong rests upon this bad and adroit Fox, since the Mr. Marshall spoken of denies having introduced him. Some nights since this house was entered by burgiars, who were frightened off. It is thought that this was but another plan to gain access to the house. Alderman Swift held Mr. Fox, in de-fault of ball, to answer.

Assaulting Crizens .- Frank Bloomer was riested yesterday and taken before Recorder Eneu. He was charged with being drunk and assaulting citizens at Nineteenth and Callow-hill streets, on Sunday last. He was noisy, and his disorderly conduct attracted a crowd of about a thousand persons. An officer attempted to arrest him, but was beaten off by the crowd. Before assistance could be obtained Bloomer had made his escape. Complaint was made to the Mayor. A warrant was issued, and Bloomer was taken into custody. He was committed in default of $1500 ball to appear at Court.

The Mayor is determined to break up the corner lounging on the Sabbath, and has issued peremptory orders to arrest all persons who, by imbibling too ireely of dire concoctions, are unable to maintain an equilibrium, and by their howls and general bad conduct attract a crowd, and create a disturbance in the neighborhood in which the individual or individuals happen to east anchor.

SALE OF AN ELEGANT COUNTRY RESIDENCE. We notice in the catalogue of Thomas & Sons' Real Estate Sale, set down for Tuesday, the 29th inst., that a country residence, situated on Church lane, Germantown, and extending through to Armat street, with two fronts, is offered. This is a valuable property and elegant country seat. The land has upon it a fine stone messuage, well built, handsomely finished, with all modern conveniences. The grounds are testefully laid out, and beautified by an abundance of shade trees. Graveled avenues and walks extend around the building, while the carriage avenue is 195 feet long. The locathe carriage avenue is 195 feet long. The location of the building could not be better. Those desirous of purchasing a country seat should remember Thomas & Sons' sale for next BALTIMORE, Oct. 22.—Elisha Brady, a noted rowdy, was shot dead last night, it is said by a man named Waltemeyer.

Brady, it appears, had cut down the halyards of a Democratic flag-pole on the outskirts of the city. He afterwards got into an altercation with Waltemeyer, when the latter shot him. Henry Slicer, it, son of the Rev. Henry Slicer, died here yesterday.

CRIME IN NEW YORK.

Murder in Williamsburg-A Man Kills His Wife and Cuts His Throat,

A shocking murder and suicide took place about 8 o'clock yesterday morning in Willia as burg. At that time Officer Lee, of the forty-fifth precinct, was passing along North Eighth street, and as he came opposite the house No. 56, occupied by Thomas Mullane and his wife, he heard the terrified cry of a woman; where upon he was about to enter the house, to ascertain the cause of the trouble, it there should be any, when Mrs. Mullane rushed out, her throat cut wide open, and the blood flowing and spirt-ing out; with outsiretched arms she fell forward upon the sidewalk, just after leaving the door-way, and almost instantly expired from loss of It was but a few moments before a large and excited throng gathered about the dead woman, and the officer was about entering the basement and the olicer was about entering the basement to discover the cause of the murder when suddenly and unexpectedly Mullane started forth holding in his hand the razor that had killed his wife, and flourishing it with wild exclamations. He was in fact a maniac, and when the policeman attempted to secure him he dodged about, whether for the purpose of attack or not is not certain, but finally ran away, and in running cut his own throat and then fell down in the street. He was immediately taken up and surgical aid procured, but the self-inflicted wound was fatal and he died in about an hour. It was found, on examination, that Mullane had seized his wife by the hair unexpectedly, and drawing her head backward, had cut her throat in such a frightful manner that nothing but the back muscles and vertebræ were un-divided. The carotid arteries and jugular veins were cleanly divided, and the unfortunate woman bled to death in a very short time. No cause is assigned for the terrible act, Mullane was a native of Ireland, and was a very paswas a native of freance, and was a very pas-sionate and impetuous man. He was about thirty-eight years of age, but far from being settled down into steady life; had many times been in dangerous affrays and had otten broken the peace. For about a year he has been a junkman in the neighborhood of his crime and death, and has more than once appeared in the Police Court because of his inhuman treatment of his wife; and now his brutality has culmi-nated in a murder which he dare not survive. About a year since he assaulted a policeman

About a year since he assaulted a policeman, and was, in consequence, sentenced to the Penitentiary, where he served 1 is allotted time.

On the 15th of last June he shot a man and nearly killed him, and was brought up before Justice Dikeman about a week ago for the offense. He pleaded guilty of assault with intent to do bodfly harm, and got off with five days in the Penitentiary. The five days expired last Friday and he came back to Williamsburg, and on Saturday visited New York, in order to find a situation, but returned to his wife nearest and on Saturday visited New York, in order to find a situation, but returned to his wife unsuccessful. It was remarked that, after coming back, he treated his wife with more than usual attention; and none of the neighbors knew that any difficulty occurred between them.

Correspondence of the New York Express.

A public man sometimes becomes so public that his private taffairs command a publicity which it would be an affectation of the press not to notice. Hence I send you the following: not to notice. Hence I send you the following:
Not two years ago the long-known bachelor, Charles Sumner, became a Benedlet. A highly educated, and, in many respects, an accomplianed man, of good manners, and better appearance, naturally enough, stood high among the ladies of Boston. And he had no difficulty in winning the hand of a widow (from one of the F. F. V.'s of Boston), who sacrificed;no inconsiderable jointure in marrying him. The honeymoon had all the apparent charm that honeymoons jusually have when Mrs. Sumner went with her husband to Washington, and new scenes ensued. new scenes ensued.

Among the men composing the Diplomatic Gerps in Washington was Baron Holstein, of Prussia, whom the Prussian King had attached to the Prussian legation there, "to spy out the land." Naturally enough, he courted the acquaintance of Charles Sumner, the Chairman of the Committee of Foreign Affairs in the Senate, who, at a dinner party, introduced his wife to the Baron, and who was placed beside her at dinner. An acquaintance ensued, and friendship followed, such as naturally and honorably springs up between the sexes, with kindred tastes and aspirations. The Baron attended to the lady in matinees and soirces, and in other places, and and soirees, and in other places, and occasionally escorted her from the Senate, where both had been to hear the Senator speak. Mr. Summer becoming displeased with this ac-quaintanceship—it cannot be properly called intimacy—wrote a letter to Baron Holstein, in which, while complaining of it, report says he insinuated something not honorable to the wife. The Baron wrote back a letter, which, in whatever—he had been polite to Madame, as he was to other ladies of similar accomplishments, and nothing had ever happened which propriety, or good taste forbade, but if the Senator was notsatisfied with that, he was ready to give him any such satisfaction as a man of honor demanded.

This correspondence was the beginning and end of part first,—but Mr. Sumner, report says, then became cool to his wife,—and the lady and the Baron became more reserved in their intercourse. Then Mr. Sumner, as Chairman of our Committee of Foreign Affairs, wrote to the Prussian Minister of Foreign Affairs, the dis-tinguished Bismark, that If he (B.) would recall the Baron, he (S.) would be ebliged. The adroit Bismark yielded to the potential positions of the American Chairman of Foreign Affairs, and the Baron was recalled to Berlin. and the Baron was recalled to Berlin.

Mrs. Summer next became acquainted with this correspondence, and naturally enough was indignant beyond all lower of descriptin. Her indignation naturally rested upon that part of the correspondence which, it was alleged, touched her honor. The end of all this is that Mrs. Summer has gone her way to Europe—their common establishment in Washington being given up, and another is taken by the Senator for the winter.

There is some scandal affoat beyond all this, There is some scandal afloat beyond all this, relating both to the Senator and the lady, such as may be expected from early denouements in such a marriage affair, but thet basis of the report in Boston is such as I send you. What I have written is in everybody's mouth, and it may possibly be erroneous in some of the details, but in substance probably correct. I send it to you for publication, because what, if anything, is wrong here, had better at once be set right, to stop the tongues of the thousands that are making more out of a few facts.

The Explosion at Annapolis.

Full particulars were received this morning of the explosion on board the little steam launch Admiral, at Annapolis, on Saturday last, which resulted in the killing of four men and wounding of three messenger boys. She was the same launch with which Commander Cushing blew up the Rebel ram Albemarle.

She had been altered into a beautiful miniature steam brig, and Admiral Porter and Captain Lewis were going out in her on a pleasure trip, but changed their minds, and went on board the Constitution to witness the performance of the Admiral.
