MALABIA EVERYWHERE.-Rarely has there been a season as fruitful as this of malarious diseases. Not only on the prairies and in the walleys of the West; not merely in all the old haunts of Fever and Ague and Billous Remittent Fever have these prostrating diseases been unusually virulent; but they have exfended to towns and cities never before infested with them, and have even ascended the mountains and attacked thousands of people supposed to have been placed, by the laws of Nature, above their reach, Hence we are compelled to admit that a fatal element pervades the Universal Air this season, and should at once resort to the only approved preventive of its consequences, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a tonic so potent, an antiseptic so perfect, an alterative so irresistible, and a stimulant so pure, that it enables the human system to resist and baffle all the predisposing causes of disease. With the confidence that one clothed in incombustible garments might move among blazing buildings, the man who arms himself against malaria with this powerful defensive medicine may walk a fever-accurred district fearless. of its insalubrious asmosphere. The intermittents and remittents at present so general in all parts of the country may be but the forerunners of a deadlier scourge now on its way westward from the far East. Prepare the system with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS for a successful battle with the mephilic causes of all epidemics. Be wise in time.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

FOR ADDITIONAL LOCAL ITEMS SEE INSIDE PAGES.

The Unveiling of the Statue at the Union League Hosse on Broad street was the scene of a very interesting ceremonial, the occasion which called together the large company of ladies and gentlemen present being the unveiling or Major J. H. Haseltine's statue of "America Honoring her Failen Brave." We gave yesterday a description and history of this beautiful piece of statuary, and it is only necessary to notice the ceremonles attending its unveiling. About 8 o'clock, J. Gillingham Fell, Esq., the President of the League, called the assemblage to order, the main hall and the grand stairway facing the statue being filled with a brilliant and eager throng. Just as Mr. Fell pronounced his words, the white veil which had concealed the marble was removed, and for some moments the utmost silence prevailed, the attention of every one being absorbed by the graceful lines and curves of the attlat's grand ideal. Then a sound of hearity applause broke forth, and on all sides were heard exclamations of sincere gratification, which the artist's work well merited.

Shortly afterwards the Hou, Henry D, Moore arose and addressed the audience as follows:—

"I was notified, a few moments since, that I was expected to make a few remarks on this occasion, but I red that any words 'that I can utter will add but little to the interest which all of us feel on this happy occasion. The cold, inanimate marole before us speaks to us in a language more; beautiful and more touching than any words which I can command. It speaks to us of the heroic dead of the war, and in gazing upon it, I am reminded of a few words which were recently spoken by a living hero of the war (General Sickles), while addressing his fellow soldiers from yonder balcony. He said:—'Comrades! let us not forget our brave companions who fell in the war of the Union Their shroudless forms lie buried in many a forest and field, like autumn leaves. Their nameless graves are numbered only by the recording angel. Let us an unified drums, and heard even through the yielding sod. THE UNVEILING OF THE STATUS AT THE UNION

eip you do."
"This marble, made beautiful by the sculptor's "This marble, made beautiful by the sculptor's hand, speaks to us in mute and eloquent larguage, saving, 'Let us not forget the duty we owe to those who saved our country to us forever.'

But while contemplating, let us not forget the living here who is with us to night. A brave young man, who had been laboring in his studio, thousands of miles away, heard that his former home—that his country and our country was in darger, and its best interests at stake. At once he left his studio, and has ening home, enlisted in the Army of the Union, doing faithful service throughout the war. (Applause) He then returned to his far-off studio in Rome, and there embodied in this beautiful model the patriotic thoughts of a patriotic heart. I allude to Major J. H. Haseltine, the artist of this beautiful model, representing 'America Honoring Her Faiten Braves.'"

Major Haseltine was then presented to the assem-lege, by whom he was received with hearty cheers, ie simply bowed his acknowledgments, declining o answer repeated cells for a speech. This interesting ceremonay completed, fequiry was used for Commodore worden, the hero of the originai Monitor, and he was brought forward and introduced in a few appropriate words by Mr. Fell. The gallant tar responded by expressing his inability to flud fitting words to express the gratification which he felt at such a gracious and kindly reception. A number of those present then embraced the opportunity to take Commodore Worden by the hand, after which neveral hours were passed by the company in viewing the statue and the other line works of art which adorn the League House. which adorn the League House.

THE WHISEY WAR-THE LAST CAMPAIGN.

The Whisky War.—The Last Campaign.—
Yesterday morning Revenue Inspectors James Ghegen and John Donnelly, accompanied by a vehicle for transporting their sholls, repaired to a small court known as Gaffney's avenue, running south from No. 612 Fitzwater street, where they knew that an illicit as it was in operation. The front door was found to be inceed. Inspector Ghegan then repaired to the rear of the establishment and vaulted the fence. As he was making this undignified entrance he expled an individual who came from the house in great haste, incked the door after him, and then made off as fast as his legs could carry him. The building was then entered by the Inspectors. A still was found under full headway, and full of molasses mash at the time. The still was rooted out, twelve hogsheads of mash were demolished, and the trophes were transported to a bonded warehouse.

In the afternoon the same Inspectors repaired to a locality in the neighborhood of Mount Moriah Cemebry, Twenty-seventh Ward, known as Hay lane and dibson's Point. An extensive lileg tmate manufactory of whisky, with all the modern improvements, was discovered here. The still was a very fine one, having a capacity of about eight hundred gallons. Twenty-eight hogsheads of mash were also found, as well as several barrels of excellent molasses. To enable them to extricate the allil it was first necessary to tear out one side of the house; but, after great labor, the cumbroda machinery was removed, and to prevent it from beling again put to filegitianate use, the bottom was riddied with holes by means of a pickaxe. A number of men presented themselves ouring the opperation, mildly beseeching the officers to apare the establishment. But none of them saw fit to claim it as his property, nor did they attempt to interfere with the officers. The mash was destroyed, and the still was carted off, but the wagon was so overbundened that it was impossible to do anything with

The Presidency of Girard College. OURT OF COMMON PLEAS—This moraing Jonge Allison sat in the Supreme Court room to hear are unent upon the application made some time since for an injunction to restrain the Directors of Girard College from creating a vacancy in the office of the Free Henri of Girard College, by the removat of Anjor Richard Somers Smith, the present focusionent, and supplying the vacancy by the instalment of William H. Allen Eso.

P. Allen Esq.
David W. Sellers, who, with Gustavus Remak, Euq., ampeared for the plaint if, opened the case by reading
the following affidavit:—
1. Richard Somers Smith, being duly sworn accord-I. Richard Somers Smith, being duly sworn according to law, do say:

best formy knowledge and belief, but I more specially set forth that,
II. I graduated on the 15th day of June, 1834, from West Foint. I acted as instructor of drawing at that institution from the year 1839 to 1855. I afterwards followed the profession of an instructor in the city of Brooklyn and afterwards became the Director of the Cooper Union for the promotion of science and art, and I so continued at the head of this latter institution until the commencement of the late civil war. I was commissioned by President Lincoln, on May 14, 1861, as a Major in the 18th U. S. Infantry.

III. I was elected President of Girard College on the 16th of May, 1838. That place had become vacant by the resignation of W. H. Allen, in the prior December. I in no wise intrigued for said position, but believe I was chosen wholly on account of my morit, and because of my experience, for the headship of such an institution.

IV. I accepted the position after much reflection. I had entered the army from a sense of duty, and I was to his to resign my commission. I submitted the matter to the secretary of War, and I resigned by special consent. VIII. At this heaty action of a simple majority of the delendants, the Councils of Philadelphia, in their conracter of trustess under the said will, ordered an immediate investigation of this matter, and appointed a Committee with full powers. This Committee is now diligently at work, and is engaged in the examination of the defrequents, and has desired that I should attend all its sessions as well as one on behalf of the majority and one on behalf of the minority of the Directors I would have been content to await the action of Councils in the premises, as I supposed a majority of the defendants would have been; but fearing that their action will not meet the approval of their principals, or from some motives of hostility to me, or of favor to W. H. Alien, they have resolved to act as though no investigation had been ordered; and if not restrained will introduce Mr. Alien as President, according to their original resolution. I should not have applied to the Court for relief if the defendants had suspended their sciton; but I am obliged to do ac by their indecorous conduct, as I humbly submit is is.

IX. The office of the President of Girard College is it is.

IX. The office of the President of Girard College is that of the chief learroctor in said iestitution. Upon him is the dury castof instituting into the minds of the orphans the purest principles of morality, and of teaching them to have a pure attacament to the sacred rights of conscience, and of fostering in them
a love for our republican institution—all of which things Mr. Girard selemnly eujoins. He is to be, while there, the father of the fatheriess and any were holding at the will and r leasure of Directors, is wholly inconsistent with the character of said effice.

At the conclusion of this reading, James Lynd Esq., on the part of the directors, said he was very much surprised at the manner in which the matter had been opened by the other side, for he had hoped and expected that the only matter before the Court would be the question whether or not it had jurisd'otion in the case. But the course pursues by the other

The affidavits of the Directors, who are defendants in the case, the substance of which has been heretofore made public and which deny certain specifications in the complainant's bill, we eithen read to the court.

Then the following affidavit of Mr. Allen was read;
William H. Allen, President elect of Girard College for Orphans, one of the defendants in the abova case, being duly affirmed according to law, doth depose and say, that in the year 1849 the Board of Directors of said College elected him President of said institution, which office he accepted, and which office
he held for thirteen successive years.
That sometime in the year 1841 the Board of Directors of said College, without deponents knowledge or consent, reduced his malary as President of said institution, to so low a point that after about a year's trial, he found that the reduced salary was insufficient to meet the current expenses of his family. cient to meet the current expenses of his family.

This affirmant further says, that during the thirteen years that he was President of said institution, he neither attended the regular or special meetings of the Board of Directors of said college, unless specially invited so to do, for the purpose of giving information received.

formation upon some question under consideration by said Board.

The affirmant further says that the statements contained in the eleventh clause of complainant's bill, to wit, "that the said William H. Ailou, prior to said action (that is, prior to the 11th day of September, A. D., 1067) had called upon a number of the Directors, urging them thereto (that is, urging them to create a vacasicy by the removal of complainant), and seekhis election (that is, seeking the election of your affirmant) to the Presidency of said Institution, is wholly untrue.

The affirmant further says that, on or about the lath day of Feptember. 1267, he received by due course of mail from H. W. Arey, Esq., Seerctary of Girard College, a communication, of which the following is a conv.

Ginard College, Sept. 12, 1857.—W. H. Allen, Esq.—Dear Sir.—I have the honor to inform you that at a meeting of the Board of Directors of Girard College, held yesterday, you were duly elected President of that institution, to take effect on the lot of November.

the Board of his acceptance, and that he had perfected the necessary arrangements for the removal of his family to this city, and he is now prepared to enter upon the duties of the office to which he is instructed he was duly and iawfully elected.

Mr. Sellers then began the argument, dwelling principally upon the point that a removal from the office of Fresident of Girard College by the Directors, without giving the incumbent opportunity to be heard in his own behalf, wishout making any charges of misconduct or incompetency against him, or without showing any just cause whatever for their action, was illegal, and could not be sustained, and he held that this case was such. legal, and could not be sastance, and case was such, his case was such.
