Whe Mekiel-Coulter Race-A Fine Day and Smooth Course - Henry Coulter Wins the Race-Time, Forty-one Minntes Fifty Seconds-Mekiel Will Challenge Coulter for Another Trial.

The sculing contest between Henry Coulter, of Allegheny city, and John Mekiel, of Cold Springs, New York, for a purse of two thousand dollars, took place yesterday atternoon over the upper Monongahela course. The day was beautiful, and the water was as smooth and calm as could be wished. As early as one o'clock partness commenced leaving the city for Glonwood, and at these collages, the time approunced for the and at three o'clock, the time announced for the start, the banks on each side of the river were lined with spectators. Every conceivable vehicle to transport passengers to and from the grounds was pressed into service, and large crowds of persons walked the entire distance. The Brownsville packet Elector, with one barge in tow, left her wharf at two o'clock, with about one it ousand excursionists for the scene of the race, and was anchored during the race about two rundred yards below the starting point.
All manner of water craft dotted the river along the entire length of the course, and as much in terest was man tested in the result as there was in the Hamill Brown race last May.

There was a great amount of betting on the resul, but in small sums, Coulter generally being the favorite, although some sanguine men tacked Mckiel at five to three. Both men were in excellent contition, and the course was all that could be desired. There were many bets on time, which the knowing ones eagerly

About three o'clock Coulier appeared in his shell at the starting point, opposite Haberman & Co.'s coal tipple, accompanied by the Xanthe Club four pared boat New York. Couler was Club four oated boat New York. Coulter was dressed in red tights and light pink shirt, and weighed one hundred and seventy-one pounds. Coulter's boat was built by Elicot, of Greenpoint, New York, and was thirty-two feet inng. thirteen inches wide, and weighed forty-five pounds. Mekiel soon after put in his appearance, dressed in white tights and dark pink and hard randayed a la Brown. He shirt, with his head bandaged a la Brown. He we ghed one bundred and firty-two pounds.

and pulled in a boat manufactured of paper. But a few minutes were lost in getting into position, and at twenty minutes before four o'c'ock, Reieree While asked "Are you realy, and receiving an affirmative r-ply, gave the word "Go." Like an arrow from the bow, Mikiel started off, gaining about two lengths at the out-ot. Coulier piled his oars mechanically, and Mekiel kept up his best efforts for nearly a mile, outling a long, graceful stroke. Coulter, who pulls a long, vigorous, but scarce ly graceful stroke, put on steam when within a mile of the buoy, and rapidly closed the gap between him and Mekiel, the latter being somebetween him and Mekiel, the latter being some-what embarrassed in his course by a boy in a shiff getting in his way. Coulter obtained the lead when rearing the buoy, and while he was turning it, Mekiel, who had kept too close, was compelled to stop rowing until Coulter had made the turn. On straightening up, Coulter led about three lengths, which he increased to seven on the crossing score. The pulling on the home-stretch was admirable, both men, while not so vigorous as at the start, using their best endeavors to make time. Coulter won the race in firty-one minutes and fifty secwon the race in forty-ene minutes and tifty sec onds, being one minute and four seconds longer than the time made by Jimmy Hamill, in his race with Josh Ward. Mckeil's time was forty-two minutes and one second.

The officers of the race were:—Referee, W. J. White; Judges, for Coulter, William Nelson and Ira O'Harrington: for Mekiel, James Scott and John Hamil. Everything passed off pleasantly, and everybody was satisfied with the manner in which the race was conducted.

Upon the termination of the race Coulter's friends were very enthusiastic, and in the exuberance of their spirits demanded of their hero that he should row Hamill for the champion-ship. Coulter has proved himself a first-class oarsman, although his time yesterday was not so good as in the race with Jackson, and there are many who believe that he will give Hamil a tough pull for the championship next spring. as aquatic sports for this year are at a close The champion has announced that he will be prepared to row all comers next season, and Coulter will probably be his first competator.

While Mekiel is satisfied that Coulter was to much for him yesterday, he inclines to the opinion that he can defeat him in another race, and to that end he proposes to challenge Coulter for a trial on the Hudson in the spring, for a purse of two or three thousand dollars. He says he has accommodated Coulter by rowing on his waters, and he will ask for a similar courtesy, which, we doubt not, Coulter will grant.

A number of Coulter's friends and admirers of Mckiel met last night at Alexander Murray's Market street, when a general expression was had of the gentlemaniy behavior of Mekiel, and a proposition was made to present him with a substantial token of esteem. Referee White started a sub-cription with $25; Chief of Police cott put down $10; Alexander Murray, $25 Henry Coulter, the winner, $50; Coulter's father, $10; David Lewis, $10; C. M. Colvin, of the New York Clipper, $10; and a number of others dif-ferent sums, the whole amounting to near four hundred dollars. This sum, we learn, was still further increased, and we doubt not Mr. Mekiel will have no cause to feel any regret at his trip to Pittsburg.—Pittsburg Commercial, 31st ult.

Authorship of the National Banking System In December, 1864, Hon. S. P. Chase wrote the following letter to John Williams, Esq, Editor of the Iron Age, New York, in relation to the authorship of the National Banking System:-Washington, Dec. 26, 1864 .- Dear Sir:-I have read the article you were kind enough to send me, and found it very interesting. The subject of a national currency has long-indeed, from the organization of the Government-engaged the thoughts of reflecting men. I do not know that the suggestion of a national currency, founded on securities, and substituted for State bank currency, was ever broached before the date of your article. I never saw any such suggestion that I re-member; nor, indeed, did I ever know of your article until I received it a few days since from you. There are certainly some striking coincidences between some of the expressions and some provisions of the National Banking law. They are fresh instances of the common fact that two minds in personal agreement on the same subject will often use expressions almost identical.

I never claimed any originality in respect to the National Banking law for myself. It was discussed by many before me. Providence offered me an opportunity of securing a national currency for the whole country, and I seized it.

This I hought my duty, and claim no merit for having performed it. Yours truly,
S. E. Chass.

BOLD SMUGGLING OPFRATION

Strange Vessel off Wilmington, N.C.

Contest with a U. S. Revenue Officer. Three of the Smugglers Drowned

Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc., Etc.

SPECIAL DESPATUR TO THE EVENING TRLEGHARD, I WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 .- A letter received this merning from an Inspector of Customs at Wilmington, N. C., dated Oct. 30, states that on the day previous a vessel was observed standing out from shore at Masonborough, off Wilmington, from which a small boat was lowered. Upon this the Inspector took a boat to watch the strange craft; those in the ship's boat, finding they were discovered, went in another direction, followed by the Inspector in his boat; the smugglers, seeing they could not land without being discovered, stopped and fired upon the revenue officer's boat.

The fire was returned, but without injury to either party. The two boats then came together, when one of the smugglers struck at the Inspector with an oar and bruised him badly. Another attempted to get into his boat, but in doing so the ship's boat was capsized, and several boxes of goods and the three smugglers all went to the bottom and were drowned. The smugglers were foreigners, speaking broken English; but nothing transpired as to who they were or what was the name of the vessel, which set sail immediately afterwards, and disappeared.

The Civil Rights Bill Repudiated in Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 1 .- In the Court of General Sessions at Dover, on Tuesday last, in the case of the State vs. Moses Kash, it being proposed by the prosecuting officer to prevent the evidence of the complainant, Samuel Denny, a colored man, objection was made by Mr. Comegys, counsel for the defense, that the laws of Delaware do not permit colored testimony when there are competent white

Chief Justice Gilpin ruled that the testimony be admitted, because he said it had been customary in his Court to permit prosecuting witnesses to testify, even if they were colored; but he gave as his opinion, from the bench, upon a point which could as well be settled now as at any other time, that the Civil Rights bill of Congress, so far as it assumed to regulate and control the admission or rejection of testimony in this State, which was regulated by the laws of the State, was inoperative and void.

Judge Woolton concurred and Judge Wales dissented. In case of a decision to this effect by the Court, an appeal to the Court above would doubtless be sustained.
