CIGAR MAKERS' UNION .- Last evening the cigar makers now on a strike held a meeting at Mechanics' Hall. There was a thorough inter-change of sentiment, after which the following

whereas, It has been the policy of some of the manufacturers of this city to employ eigar onkers at very mengre wages, thereby enab them, at the sacrifice of the comfort of the poor employe and his family, to offer for sale his goods at a lower price than the generous and bonorable employer can who is willing to pay a fair price for the labor he receives, thereby forcing him either to abandon his business or to resort to the mean and unjust practice of cutting down his employes' wages to the lowest possible figure; therefore we, the "Union Cigar Makers" of the city, deeming it our privilege as citizens, and our duty as men and breth-ren, for our protection as well as the benefit offthe trade generally, have drawn up a fair and moderate "bill of prices," whereby we will receive a fiving price for our work, and give no employer by our action any advantage over

Whereas, Our treasury was never in a better condition than at the present, knowing that we have the sympathetic as well as financial support of over twelve thousand cigar makers in the United States and Canadas, and believing that we have the sympathy and good wishes of all generous and right-min led persons outside of the trade; therefore be it

Resolved, That, as we firmly believe we are doing what is right for ourselves and just to our employers, that we most sincerely pledge our honor as men that we will comply with the requirements of the "bill of prices," and under no consideration whatever to violate it, preferring rather to seek employment elsewhere.

Resolved. That we tender our sincere thanks to those employers of generous impulses who have complied to the "bill of prices," and have expressed an appreciation of our motives in raising and sustaining the present strike. Extract of the minutes of the regular meeting held Kovember 18, 1867. The above preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted.

It is believed that the action taken by the employers at their late meeting will do much towards healing difficulties and ending the MEETING OF THE NATIONAL UNION STATE COM-MITTEE.—This body met yesterday at the Girard House, and was well attended by members from the interior. The meeting was called by the Chairman with a view to the organization of the State, and the following preamble and resolu-tions, offered by James P. Sawyer, Esq., of Pitts-burg, were adopted as the basis of future opera-

Whereas, We believe it to be the duty of every and any party which approves of the messages, vetoes, and other acts of the Administration of the Chief Magistrate, to sustain and encourage his course by a man'y and dignified expression of opinion; therefore be it

Resolved, That the National Union party re-tains an abiding and unshaken faith in the irmness, wisdom, and integrity of Andrew Johnson, the President of the United States, and we hereby tender him, in behalf of those whom we represent, our approval and our thanks, not less for his expressions of confidence in the judgment of the people, than for the deference to their will, and his exertions in their behalf, in the policy of his administration.

Whereos, The result of the late elections has proven that the confidence expressed by our Chief Magis rate in the will and ability of the people to rebuke or approve of the deeds of legis'ators or rulers has not been misplaced; and union of all the elements opposed to radical domination and oppression, upon a basis which will embrace Republican and Democrat, Na-tional Union and Conservative, has likewise been demonstrated; and radicals: therefore Resolved, That the Chairman is hereby directed to fill up such vacancies as exist in Com-mittees for districts not now represented, and to proceed immediately to make such arrangements as are necessary to accomplish a thorough ties holding similar views in other States, with a view to effect an organization of the conservative men of the country.

The Committee then transacted business of a private character and adjourned.

FRANKLIN INSTITUTE .- A meeting of the Franklin Institute was held last evening. After the usual business, the regular report of the Secretary, Professor Morton, was read, in which, among other things, mention was made of the improved fire-proof roofing of Joseph Gilbert, of the new steam trap of J. H. Bartol, improved shaft coupling of J. H. Cooper, and a new form of steam boiler, by Isaac R. Oak-ford, in which economy of fuel and immunity from dangerous explosions are secured. Ma Robert Briggs also described an improved hyor instrument for measuring th amount of dampness present in the air, and a modified globe valve. These various inventions were illustrated by drawings projected on the screen with admirable effect, and, after the conclusion of other matters, the illuminated fountain was exhibited.

Mr. Vanderburgh also gave a very interesting account of a new building material or artificial stone, of time and sand mingled under pressure steam, and this subject was discussed at some length. MEETING OF FIREMEN.-A meeting of representatives from different fire companies favorable to an increase of appropriations to the steam fire companies of the city, was held last evening at the ball of the Hibernia Fire Engine Company, Samuel Stone in the chair. A discus sion took place among the representatives, some stating that there was a desire in Councils to reduce the Fire Department, and that the idea of an increase was, therefore, hopeless. They claimed it as a right due the Fire Department that the appropriation should be made. It was suggested also that the expenses of the different companies in keeping up their organizations should be placed in circular form before Councilmen, but personal effort was deemed surest method of arriving at the desired end. On motion, the committee appointed at a previous meeting was then directed to prepare and have placed before Councils the circular alluded On motion, an assessment of two dollars on each company was made, in order to defray the expenses of carrying out the wishes of th firemen. A motion was made and carried that when the convention adjourn it be to meet on the 29th last. Adjourned.

MIETING OF MANUFACTURERS.—Last evening a meeting of leading menufacturers of this city was held at the Board of Trade rooms, for the purpose of forming an Industrial League, similar to one recently established in New York, for the purpose of bringing together the various industries of the country, including the agricultural and wool interests. Mayor McMichael presided. Mr. Morril made an address, in which he referred to the existence of industrial leagues in New York and other exies of the Union. They are organized for the purpose of bringing together the various industries of the country luding the agricultural and wool interests. The object has heretofore been thwarted, simply because of the fact that all of the various interests were tugging in opposite directions. The meeting then adjourned.

THE LONDON MAGARINES. - We have received from Mr. A. CAMDEN AFFAIRS.

Serious Conflagration—The Third Methodist Episcopal Church in Ruins—Eight Houses Completely Destroyed—Loss over $25,000.—About quarter before 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the roof of the Methodist Episcopal Church, on Third street, between Federal and Bridge avenue, was discovered to be on fire. The starm was quickly sounded, but half an hour elapsed before any water could be obtained. In the meantime the flames had crept along the shingle roof, and were making rapid progress downwards towards the basement. The steam engines succeeded, at length, in securing a small quantity, not sufficient, however, to stay the progress of the flames. The plugs were pumped dry in three-quarters of an hour.

By this time the large structure was entirely uncer the control of the flery element, which threatened destruction to the surrounding property, which consisted of frame dwellings. At this juncture it became evident the church was doomed, and the firemen turned their at SERIOUS CONPLAGRATION-The Third Metho At this juncture it became evident the church was doomed, and the firemen turned their attention to saving from destruction the surrounding buildings.

On the north side of the church there is an alley dignified by the name of Taylor's avenue. Situated upon it, and about ten feet from the church, were four two-and-a-half story frame dwellings, occupied by laboring men. As soon dwellings, occupied by laboring men. As soon as it became apparent that they were in danger, the greatest consternation prevailed. Husbands running in one direction, wives in another, and children running both ways, all seemed horror-stricken at the idea of being rendered houseless.

Their household goods were thrown into the street, and carried off to a place of safety. Ere long it became too warm in that vicinity, and they were compelled to abandon the attempt to save their worldly goods, many leaving behind more than half they possessed.

A strong southwest wind prevailing, carried the sparas, which ascended in myriads, high into the air on to the roofs of other houses. First a small jet of fire would be seen, then another, and another, until in an amazing another, and another, until in an amazing short space of time the roof was on fire. There being no water to counteract the fire, it soon spread along the roofs of the four houses, and before long not a vestige of them remained but the number of blackened boards. The flames communicated to the house at the corner of communicated to the house at the corner of Third and Taylor avenue and the upper portion of it was burned off. The roofs of the houses adjoining that, as well as the next one, fell a prey to the flames. Several fire companies from Philadelphia arrived at this time, but were unable to render much assistance on account of the scarcity of water.

There are two theories as to the origin of the fire. One is that it was caused by the spark of a locomotive alighting on the roof of the church, and the other that it was produced through a defective flue. As the fire was first discovered on the roof at the southwest angle of the building, and about twenty feet from the course of the flue, the former theory is the most plausible one.

The church was erected in 1834. In 1863 it was

The church was erected in 1834. In 1863 it was rebuilt and an addition made to it, at the cost of $6000. Its dimensions were 90 feet long by 45 in width. The rear portion of the structure was used as a class and infant Sunday School room. The basement, a large room, 60 by 45, was occupied as a Sunday School. The main room of the church was on the ground floor, and was of the same size as the Sunday School room. It was surrounded on three sides by a gallery.

The church could seat comfortably about nine hundred people. It was the first religious organization in Camden, and is the mother church of all the others of the Methodist denomination that exist in that city. The editice was handsomely furnished, a Brussels carpet covering the alsies. The gallery was ornamented with matting.

The organ, which had been but recently constructed, was valued at $1500. This, as well as everything the church contained, was destroyed. The total loss will be about $16,000, upon which there is an insurance of but $4000, in the Franklin, of Philadelphia. The pastor of the church was Rev. Charles H. Whitecar. Nothing now remains of the former substantial and imposing structure but the biographs. and imposing structure but the biackened and charred walls. No. 227 Taylor's avenue was occupied by Mrs.
