Fire Insurance. The following letter, taken from the editorial columns of the North American of yesterday, is of considerable interest to insurees: - OFFICE GRAND FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY,) N. F. corner Chesnut and seventh sts., PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6, 1867.

L. W. Cram, Esq., Agent,
No. 19 Kilby street, Bostos,
Dear Sir:—In reply to the usual inquiries made of you relating to our business connections with the Boston Agency, you are at liberty to arswer as we should endeavor to do at this office: -That this Company never deemed it necessary to join any combination of "Under-writers" whatever. Indeed, for the many years we have been in business, we have felt an un-willingness to enter into any pledges, except those made with the insuring public. These we have been able faithfully to keep and ablde by. We could print and issue to our Agents a schedule of rates and adopt rules of business, either arbitrary or liberal; but it is not so easy, however, to obtain such rates or enforce such rules upon the public. The field of insurance is too wide, the character of our risks so varied, that our Agents will find it vastly more important to discriminate property and carefully be-tween individuals and property. They must have and use some discretionary power in such

If, as we term it, the "moral hazard" could be made less, we might considerally look for a dimi-nution of fires, and a corresponding reduction in rates. Perhaps the multiplicity of Insurance Companies within the past few years has had something to do in encouraging "over Insurance," and their agents thus tempted to take great risks at nadequate rates of premium.

This is not the fault of the public, or justly thereable to particular the public of the public.

chargeable to parties insuring. We have in Philadelphia about seventy-five companies from abroad, all anxious to do a good paving business. Most of them are from New York and Connecticut; others from Europe.

This is, perhaps, a sufficient reason why we should desire to do business in your city and others, and we have established, long since, agencies at St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville, Cincinnati and the larger towns in our own State, and more recently in New York, Boston, Portiand, New Haven, Hartford, and Springfield. It is true that our agents are instructed to act independently in many things, but to co-operate with the responsible local companies, so far as possible, in maintaining a fair tariff of rates, and the dignity of the profession.
We deem this essential to all parties, and nothing should be done by either to undermine the indemnity promised by the Underwriter. For, after all, this is, in our estimation, the most important and vital matter to all con-

We have been able to successfully insure more than one hundred millions of dollars' worth of property within the past fourteen years, and to pay eight hundred and fifty losses by fire. There is not a dollar due or unpaid on this or any other

Why should we not desire still to insure the people! Our stockholders have also received very satis'actory dividends. The "Great Portland Fire" did not injure us in the least, hence we have no occasion to add to the calamities of e good people of that city, or any other, by an extraordinary increase of rates at this time. I am, very truly yours, ALPEND S. GILLETT, Vice-President and Treasurer.

Resolved. That statements made in an editorial of the North American of Nov. 16, 1867, are in every particular incorrect (in mistake, probably), that the widening of the footways does not diminish, but does, on the contrary, increase the original cost and expense to the property owners. Resolved, That our chief aim is to embellish and beautify our street. Resolved. That we never had, and have not now, any intention of encroaching on the extended footway. Resolved. That we do believe the opposition gotten up to defeat this improvement of our favorite drive and promenade is but a forernuner of an effort which will be made the coming winter to ruin it by a double track horse railroad,

Now, Mr. Editor, in passing and publishing these resolutions we make no charge against his Honor the Mayor, but in defense of the charge of selfishness brought against us by the writer of the aforesaid article, and to show the honesty of our purposes to our fellow-citizens. We do believe, from the absence of all targument in his Honor's veto sent to Common Council, there exists a power behind the throne which to us has proved irresistible; or why should he refuse the petition of every property-holder on Broad street ? why disregard the request of his fellow-citizens who crowd that thoroughfare, not only on Sunday, but on every pleasant afternoon? It is ridiculous to say that it will interfere with the future improvement of the street.

Stand on the corner of Broad and Poplar streets. and look north; at this point commences the narrowing, and you see nothing but one long stretch of palatial residences, a beautiful avenue of trees, and all the evidences of future magnificence. Now look south; here the street widens, and what see you, with few exceptions, but mills, factories, blacksmith shops, coal and lumber yards? Now, Mr. Editor, all We want, and we are supported by nine-tenths of our fellow-citizens, is permission to carry out and perfect our original design.

The immense wealth and respectability of this house are a sufficient guarantee of the entire reliability of their announcement, that they exclose a certain number of greenbacks in their packages of "Century" daily, and the public can rest assured that this is done, and that everybody has a chance to procure one. THE CRETAN SUFFERERS .- The history of The Cretan Supperents.—The history of the struggle which the inhabitants of the distant island of Crete are making for their independence, cannot be well known in its details to our people; but we have all had intimations, now and then, for more than a year, of the terrible sufferings which they have undergone. In New York and Boston committees were organized last year to do something for their relief, and the old well-known friend of Greece in its revolutionary days, forty years ago, Dr. Samuel G. Howe, of Boston, went out to that country to oversee the distribution of the relief that was sent. We understand that he has just returned, and now, at the moment when the struggle is recommending, he proposes a visit struggle is recommending, he proposes a visit to Philadelphia to tell the story of the Cretan sufferings. A number of gentlemen have been a-ked to meet him at the Board of Trade Rooms, No. 505 Chesnut street, on to-norrow (Friday) evening, at 8 o'clock, and all who feel an interest in the subject are invited to attend. It is surely fitting that Philadelphia should join her sister cities in this cause of religion and humanity.

Home for Little Wanderess. - The Home for Little Wanderers.—The approaching cold weather should remind our citizens that there are benevolent citizens' institutions in our city that require a more liberal support, in order to provide for the wants which a winter season so rapidly increases. The Home for Little Wanderers is such an institution as should have a large share of the public benevolence. The object of the Home is well understood—that of doing all the good possible to poor little children. The poor send their little ones there, who are washed, clothed, fed, and taught free of charge. Let our people remember that it is situated at Tenth and Shippen streets, and that it gives bread to the hungry, and clothes to the naked; that it is a home for the homeless, regularly incerporated, and not sectarian.

The Glories of the Sundam will be revealed to-morrow evening, at the new Horticultural Hall, by Professor Edward L. Youmans, of New York, the occasion being the second lecture of the course before the Teachers' Institute of this city. Professor Youmans is one of the most eloquent scientific men in this country, and has few equals in the art of elaborate word painting. Several years ago we heard him deliver a lecture on "The Masquerade of the Elements," in which he displayed the most thorough acquaintance with the great science of chemistry, and at the same time a wonderful command of brilliant language. We doubt not but that his lecture on "The Chemistry of the Sunbeam," to be delivered to-morrow evening, will fully sustain the reputation which he enjoys both at home and abroad. LARCENY OF CHINA WARE .- William Thomp son, aged fifty years, was occasionally employed to unpack ware at Brown's china store, Passynnk road and Shippen street. It is alleged that every time he left, some portion of goods mysteriously left with him. Yesterday he was employed again, and when he left he was arrested, and five cuina lamps were found under his coat. Alderman Tittermary committed him.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT .- About 7 o'clock years of age, and residing at No. 539 Cumber-land street, was run over by a locomotive on the Reading Railroad, above Richmond street, and was so badly injured that he died soon after being taken to the Episcopal Hospital.

ROBBING A LIQUOR STORK.-Arthur Henry was arrested yesterday for complicity with one James Tollmon—who was sent to prison some time ago—in robbing Murphy's liquor store, at Front and Callowhill streets. Alderman Beltler held him for a further hearing. THE STAMP TAX.

United States Loges $250,000-Discovery that Sardines and Preserved Fruits Are Not Stamped.

There is quite a commotion among the grocers and other dealers in preseryed fruits, sardines, etc., created by the operation of Deputy Collector Kneass, of the Second Collection District, during the past fow days. That official has been making a series of observations, among the dealers in these commodities, the result of which is the discovery that the internal raveaus stamp which, as is alleged, is required to be placed upon them, is very generally omitted.

Deputy Kneass has already attached articles for this evasion of the law on which the penalties amount to $250,000, one establishment alone, it is said, being full $20,000 in arrears to the Government. As soon as possible the necessary documents will be prepared, and, in a few days it is the intention of the officers to seize all the establishments which have thus been guilty of an allegad violation of the law. The matter is destined for a time to create a sensation almost rivalling that caused by the non-payment of taxes on whisky illicitly manufactured. The following is the law which applies to these articles:—

"Preserved meats, fruits, etc., for and upon every can, bottle, or other single package, containing meats, fish, shell-fish, fruits, vegetables, sauces, ayrups, prepared mustard, Jams or Jeiles contained therein, and packed or sealed, made, prepared, and and, or offered for sale, or removed for consumption in the United States, on and after the first day of October, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, when such can, bottle, or other single package with its contents, shall not exceed two pounds in weight, the sum of one cent.

"When such can, boitle, or other single package,
with its contents, shall exceed two pounds in weight,
for every additional pound or fractional part thereof, one cent."

From the high standing and unimpeachable business character of our leading wholesale and retail grocers, we do not doubt that this alleged omission of the stamps, as required by the law, has been the result of inadvertence or a misunderstanding of its requirements.

A DISHONEST BEDFELLOW .- Willis J. Robinson went to bed last last night at about 11 o'clock, with another gentleman, at a boarding house at Fifteenth and South streets. When ing house at Fifteenth and South streets. When everything was dark and quiet, and Robinson felt assured that his neighbor was sound asleep, he got up, and groped around till he found the pantaloons of the latter, and was about to "go through them" when the supposed sleeper and owner thereof got up softly too, and just as Robinson was about to accomplish his design, he felt himself suddenly flying towards one corner of the room. The intended victim then cried "police," and they being about, arrested Robinson, who was committed by Alderman Mink in default of $800 bail.

LABORNY OF FLANNEL .- John Cabe, lives at Fourth and Shippen streets, with two others, stole from the front of a store at Second and Callowhill streets two relis of flannel. Officer Houck, stationed near by, saw the mancuvre, and gave chase. At Coates street they took a car, and when at Eleventh and Coalest they work the street they took a car, and when at Eleventh and Coales they got out. But the officer came up in time to catch Cabe, who was escorted to the Seventh District Station House, where he was committed by Alderman Toland.

Rossery or $55.—Patrick Igoa was arrested for the larceny of $55. It seems that he and a Mr. Murphy had been staying at No. 2302 Market street; that one night both slept together, and that Murphy, on awaking next morning, missed his wallet, with the above amount. Igoa was arrested and searched, when money to the smount and corresponding to the other was found upon him. Alderman Warren committed him.

POPULAR LECTURES .- Henry Vincent, the POPULAR LECTURES.—Henry Vincent, the popular English orator, will deliver two lectures in our city, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The first will take place at Concert Hall, on November 28—Subject, "John Milton;" the second on Thursday, 28th—Subject, "Garibaidi." Mr. Vincent is an eloquent speaker, and these lectures will no doubt prove immensely attractive.

MUSICAL TESTIMONIAL .- On Friday evening, MUSICAL TESTIMONIAL.—On Friday evening, a musical and vocal entertainment will be given to Mr. Stephen McCaffrey, disabled from pulmonary disease and loss of sight, contracted while in the army, at Mechanics' Hall, Fourth and George streets. The friends of Mr. McCaffrey have resolved that the concert shall be unusually fine, and a delightful evening may be anticipated. Suspicious Case .- John Morgan was found by Lieutenant Connelly yesterday afternoon, in a semi-intoxicated condition, stowed away in one of Adams' large express wagons, at Six-teenth and Locust streets. He had got in there, as it is alleged, to purioin some of its contents. Alderman Swift committed him for a further heaving. hearing.

STRALING WEARING APPAREL .- Henry Pitts and Charles Scott (colored) were arrested by Officer Parker, of the Fifth District Police, for stealing some wearing apparel from Tucker's stable, at Twenty-first and Sansom streets. Alderman Beitler committed them for a further heaving hearing.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT .- James Denny, a celored man, was arrested by Officer Sankey, at Fifteenth and Fitzwater streets, yesterday afternoon, for cutting another colored man with a razor. Alderman Morrow committed him.

ARSON .- About 2 o'clock yesterday morning the shoe shop of George Thompson, en Richmond street, above Norris, was set on fire by some party or parties unknown. The damage was trifling.

A YAWL BOAT was found by Lieutenant Edgar, in the Delaware, opposite Poplar street, yesterday. It awaits an owner at the Front and Noble streets station.

CORNER-LOUNGERS .- The First District Police picked up fifteen corner-loungers, both male and female, last night.

with. Mesers. Woodward, of Fennsylvania, and Carey, of Ohio, members elect, came to the Speaker's desk and took the oath prescribed by law.

The eight members elect from Tennessee having been called by the Speaker to take the oath, and having approached the Speaker's chair for that purpose, Mr. Eldridge (Wis.) objected to the administration of the oath to Mr. Stokes, and moved that his credentials be referred to the Committee on Elections.

Mr. Brooks objected to the administering of the oath to any of the Tennessee delegation on the ground, lat, That two, if not more of them, had been guilty of treason to the Government, and bad taken the oath of allegiance to the Confederate Government, and to Jeff. Davis; and, 2d. That there does not now exist in the State of Tennessee a republican form of government. (Loughter on the Republican side.) He argued that the electoral laws of Tennessee disfranchise a large proportion of the majority of its white citizens. The whole vote of the State being 140,000, yet 100,000 voters had controlled the election, 55,000 of whom were negroes, controlling the 45,000 white voters who were not disfranchised. An oligarchy now existed and reigned in Tennessee and the Franchise law there was a disgrace to any free form of government—a dishonor to civilization, and a reprobation to all forms of republican self-government. Having disposed of this general objection, he proceeded to state his special objection to the swearing in of Mr. Butler, a member from Tennessee, because as a member of the Transsee Legislature, before and during the Rebellion, he had introduced, supported, and voted for resolutions and measures proving his disloyalty to the United States Government. Among those were resolutions to reject the confirmation of any man who endorsed the Helper book; condemning the appointment of Mr. Seward in Mr. Lincoln's cabinet, as an act of hostility to the South; and for the calling of a convention to take the State out of the United States Government of the Helper book; condemning the

Mr. Trimble, in his seat, assured Mr. Brooks (N. Y.) that he had not done so.

Mr. Brooks accepted the denial, and therefore withdrew all special objections to Mr. Trimble.

Mr. Eldridge stated to the House the grounds on which he objected to the swearing in of Mr. Stokes, of Tennessee. It was that Mr. Stokes had admitted in the House, on the 27th of July, 1856, his having written a letter to Mr. John Duncan on the 10th of May, 1861, stating that he understood some gross misrepresentations were going the rounds of his section in reference to his position, which he wished to correct. That he had been a zealous advocate of the Union up to the time President Lincoln had called for 75,000 troops, in violation of law and for the subjugation of the South. That he commended Governor Harris, of Tennessee, for his course, and for arming the State and resisting Mr. Lincoln at the point of the bayonet, and that he had enrolled his name as a volunteer to resist Lincoln's usurpation.

Mr. Logan (III.) expressed his gratification at seeing members on the Democratic side of the House coming up to the mark. He was willing to have the matter of Mr. Butler referred; but as to Mr. Stokes he thought that if any man could wipe out a wrong that noble man had wiped out the wrong of that letter, fighting for the Union while some of them were publishing treasenable articles.

Mr. Dawes (Mass.) moved, as a substitute for treasonable articles.

Mr. Dawes (Mass.) moved, as a substitute for the pending motion, that the credentials of Mr. Butier be referred to the Committee on Elections, and that pending the decision of the question he be not sworn in. He understood the gentleman from New York (Mr. Brooks) to make this motion in good faith, and he assumed that that gentleman had made wonderful progress since last session. When he put bimself on the ground that no charge of disloyalty, however flagrant and palpable, was sufficient ground for the exclusion of a member who held the certificate of his election. He congratulated the country on this wonderful conversion, for which there was no parallel since the celebrated journey to Damasous.

He trusted that Mr. Brooks would continue journeying on until he saw more clearly even than the members on the Republican side what did constitute loyalty and 'disloyalty,' The gentleman had also taken the ground to-day that it was proper for the House to look into the Constitution of a State and decide whether it is republican or not. He was happy for once to be able to stand with the gentleman from New York, and to vote with him. He welcomed him as a new convert, and expected him, like all converts, to take the lead, and to do works meet for repentance.

Mr. Kelly (Pa.) opposed all the motions looking to the exclusion of any of the Tennesse members, and eulogized the character and services of Mr. Stokes. He wished the men of the North to know that it was the Democratic party on this floor which did not recognize any place or time for repentance which could relieve disfranchisement, not for the Rebellion, but for the holding of opinions in 1861, which they held to-day, on the suoject of State rights, and the degradation of the colored people. treasenable articles.

Important Treasury Movements.

Gen. Steadman's New Position

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING THERGRAPA -1 WASHINGTON, NOV. 21.

General Steadman and the President. Very few visitors were at the White House this morning, the principal attraction being at the other end of the avenue. General Steadman was the only prominent visitor at the Executive mansion. The question is asked why Steadman don't go to New Orleans and attend to the duties. of his Collectorship? but it seems he is made more useful in travelling about from place toplace gaining information for the President, and keeping him posted upon political affairs.

Health of Secretary Welles. Secretary Welles is improving, but not able togo out yet.

Treasury and Internal Revenue Matters-Revenue Commissioner David A. Wells has returned from New York, and this morning he and Commissioner Rollins had a long interview with Secretary McCulloch on revenue affairs.

Hon. Edward Cooper, recently appointed Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, was on duty informally this morning at the Treasury, but will not assume his position officially till December 2. He is merely acting to become acquainted with the details of his office. Assistant Secretary Chandler remains on duty, and will continue till the 30th inst.

The latest slate proposed for the Internal Revenue Bureau is Messmore for Commissioner, Hillyer for First Deputy, and Wisewell for Second Deputy. The opponents of Rollins are rapidly becoming demoralized. A day or two ago Wisewell was the chief candidate for Commissioner Rollins' place, but now it seems he is willing to take whatever he can get, and he is not likely to get much.

The President and the Extra Session; Mr. Johnson was serene at the White House this morning, and it is understood he intends to treat the present "additional" session of Con. gress with supreme indifference, by letting it alone severely.

The Murder at Chambly. From the Montreal News, 14th.

The present week has been an exciting one at Chambly, on account of the discovery of a murder which had been committed there. The facts are mainly these:—On the evening of the lst instant, Gustave Franchere, a storekeeper in that village, aged about 30, and unmarried, left home, and was last seen at a public house in Richelieu, on the opposite side of the river, about 2 o'clock on the morning of the 2d instant. As his absence from home for several days at a time was not unusual, no suspicion was aroused till last week, and then by the finding of his hat and slippers on the bank near the mill-pond.

It was atonce said that he was drowned. The pond was drawn off, but no trace of his body had been found up to yesterday. On Sunday last, a girl in Chambly, named Margaret Lacoste, aged about eighteen, remarked casually, while visiting friends, that the body would not be found on the other side, for the man had been mardered, and she knew in whose house. The matter was at once brought to the attention of Justice Hackett. The girl was arrested, and she confessed that early on the morning of the matter was at once brought to the attention of Justice Hackett. The girl was arrested, and she confessed that early on the morning of the 2d instant deceased rapped at the door of the house in Chambly occupied by David Demers, his wife, two daughters, and the girl in quention, which house has borne a doubtful reputation, and when admitted some words passed between him and the old woman, when she struck him with a poker and felled him to the floor.

They supposed he was killed, and after taking $12.50 from his pockets, the four members of the Demers family carried the body out and threw it into the mill-pond, the girl Lacoste being left in the house to wipe up the blood. All the persons implicated have confessed more or less, and though they do not agree fully as to the place where the body went into the water, they admit that it did go in, and probably before the man was dead. Alt five were lodged in Montreal Jail yesterday.
