THE FIRST LIGHTNING TRAIN TO CHEYENNE.

A Private Buffale Hunting Party. From the Cheyenne (Dakotah Territory) Daily Argus, Nov. 17. Just started.

Argus, Nov. It. Just started.

A private party of ladies and gentlemen arrived yesterday from New York, by special train. A two thousand mile buffale hunting excursion. The party consists of Thomas C. Durant, Vice-President U. P. R. R.: George Francis Train, Mrs. Train, Miss Susie Train and maid, Pacific Raliroad Commissioner White and Mrs. White, Mrs. George W. Frost, Miss Carrie Frost, Miss Abbie T. Shaw, and Captain I. W. Davis. They stopped at Kearney for a buffale hunt, and accompanied by Major and Mrs. Dallas, Dr. and Mrs. Bradley, of the Fort, and under escort of Captain North and his Pawnee Indians, they had some rare sport on Saturday. The first buffale hunt with ladies. Train immortalizes it in an epigram. mortalizes it in an epigram.

George Prancis Train's epigrammatic sketch of the buffalo hunting party of New York gentle-men and ladies, with a special car on a special train to the Rocky Mountainsr-

In to the Rocky Mountains:—

Captain North with his Pawnee scouts
First gave the signal, then the Indian shouts
"Off saddles, bridles, for a bareback fight,"
Wild Buffalo and Indians, what a sight!
Durant, Davis, North, and Train,
Like wildfire sweep across the plain,
Down goes a pony in a gopher hole,
And on the Prairie see the Pawnee roll,
While neck to neck with glants of their race,
For many a mile we led the exciting chase,
"Mid shots and shrinks and Indian cries,
The ladies shout, "The Breon Dies."

GEORG & FRANCIS TRAIN,
Fork Kearney, Nov. 9, 1857.

ix buffalo hunting parties have individualize

Six buffalo hunting parties have individualized Six buffalo hunting parties have individualized the season. The Frost-Collins party killed seventeen. The Colonel Butter, English officer party, shot forty. The English House of Commons, Lord Morley Cooper party, killed six. The George P. Smith, one hundred and fifty editor party, killed twenty-three. [The Ossian F. Dodge party, shot four. And now the number four, New York Opera Box, Madison Avenue, Durant-Train party Saturday killed ping. This Durant-Train party, Saturday, killed nine. This will end the hunting of the season, as the buffalo are siready out of range. The party rode fifty miles, and struck a herd of thousands. Never before had ladies and school girls been surrounded by Pawnee Indians and wild buffalo. Sue Train astonished the Indians by her reckless riding. Mr. Trains and sear riding. less riding. Mr. Train's epigram on his little daughter's bold dash among the buffalo is a de-cided hit. Perhaps the first time the Pawnees ever acted as escort to a Siouz Train. Here

BUE TRAIN, THE BUFFALO STEEPLE CHASER. Went hunting buffato with Pawnees bold,
Went hunting buffato with Pawnees bold,
With hair and bridle flying loose,
The It dians cheer the white papoose,
So strange a sight who'll ever see again?
A Pawnee escort to a wild Sue Train.

Colonel George P. Smith, the editorial chief of the great excursion, joined the party at Jules-burg. The party breakfasted with General Casement, on board the famous track-laying hotel, and after writing the Pyramids, Pagodas, Leaning Tower of Pisa, and the Pompey's Pillar of our ancient city, started off for Train's New Saratoga of the Bocky Mountains, and to Fort Saunders and the Laramie hunting-fields. Train has come up to build his grand hotel for Cozzens, and the party, we understand, will visit Denver. The Vice-President is on the business of the Company arrangements. of the Company, arranging to push on the road over the mountains. Train says the country may thank him for stopping the Indian war, and in his usual caustic style has nailed the fact on the counter. Here is his epigrammatic settlement of the Indian question:—

The engine whistle of Pacific trains
Will drive the bison and the red man from the Plains,
My Indian speech with old Ben Wade
Checked a frontier war. The treaty made
Saves a hundred millions of the Jay Cooke flood,
The nation's honor and the people's blood.

George Francis may well be called the Light-George Francis may well be called the Light-ning Train. Five weeks ago he was with the Wall street gold brokers, four weeks ago pilot-ing the great Kditornal Excursion, three weeks ago he was in Cheyenne selecting the spot for his grand hotel and his Rocky Mountain water-ing grounds, two weeks ago he was revolution-izing Kausas, defeating Rebel disfranchisement and negro suffrage, and championing woman suffrage and greenbacks, where he was nomiand negro sulfrage, and championing woman suffrage and greenbacks, where he was nominated by ten mass meetings for the White House: Saturday he was smashing into the buffalo, and was here yesterday, hall tellow with the boys of Cheyenne. All the Argus has to say to the guests is, welcome to Cheyenne. Welcome Durant. Welcome the Commissioners. Welcome "The Irrepressible," and three cheers for the ladies, who are the first to visit the Rocky Mourtains by rall. Mountains by rail.
