THE DAME TO THE TWO OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE DAME AND A VALUE OF THE

NEW YORKISMS.

From our own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 25, 1868. About an equal amount of vice seems to be perpetrated in very warm as in very cold weather, and perhaps the reason is that extremes meet here as in everything else, and the same proportion of liquor is swallowed in July as in December. At any rate, most of the assaults and batteries, homicides, and murders, that disfigure the anuals of New York have their erigin in that indiscoverable quaitty, in malt, and spirituous liquors, which disorders a man's brain and converts him into a temporary demon.

The Bowery is constantly being bloodled and blackened by such outrages as this. It swarms with lager-beer saloons at the back of which men and women, the lowest of their sex, exhibit themselves in songs and dances, and to which admission, in consideration of the quantity of beer drunk, is gratis. These places are perhaps one shade better than the brothel basements of Broadway, where night after night is to be witnessed the remorseless allurement, the worse than death, of boys and young men, fresh to New York, whose fathers and mothers are praying for them at home with all the patient ineffieacy of fond and pious hearts.

Among the lewest of these low places is the Atlantic Concert Saloon, a Bowery basement. At this place on Wednesday morning, at two o'clock, two men involved themselves in a quarrel with a youth there named William Kramer, pursued him to the sidewalk, and mauled and beat him to death. The cause of the quarrel was some venial but unconsidered criticism about one of the "pretty" waiter girls present-a delusive institution with which beauty is the very last attribute any one but a greenhorn would think of abscribing a connection. This muraer, which is politely termed a homicide, was followed up, on Thursday evening, with the murder of a policeman on First avenue, as early as halt-past ten o'clock. The murderer is a wretch named Real, who only a few weeks ago had been arrested for having made a similar attempt, but was set at liberty on giving the necessary bail.

That the Board of Health should exhibit a genteel disregard for sanitary measures has ceased to be an anomaly. Health officers amuse themselves with publishing cards for the prevention and cure of cases of sun-stroke, and the amelioration of the sufferings of horses and other animals exposed to the heat, but pay little attention to the preclusion of causes of public disease. Many of the streets of this city are at present in a filthy condition. The cholera is invited to make itself at home, and lavish induce Bents are given to every form of epidemic. If the city escapes, it will be in spite of, and not because of, the Board of Health, unless, indeed, that body speedily changes its tactics. It met on Thursday, when it transpired that more than two hundred deaths from diarrhea alone had occurred since the preceding Saturday noon. Of the two hundred miles of streets in the Metropolitan District many have their gutters choked up with refuseand their sidewalks strung with garbage boxes. As for the network of lanes and alleys which interlaces many a neighborhood shut in by brown-stone fronts that conceal the rottenness behind, many parts of Five Points are Paradiasical compared with them. Dr. Harris, the Registrar of Vital Statistics, believes that copperas and carbonic acid would make a good disinfectant, and that a quantity sufficient to disinfect the entire city might be obtained at an outlay of little more than three thousand dol' lars, or about one dollar for every ten gallons of the liquid. The only result of this "health" meeting, however, was the "ordering" that four of the Wards should be disinfected by next

So far from everything being lovely, and the "goose" hanging high, with the tailors, at present, that indispensable class of workers has just been proclaiming its equality with the rest of mankind by demanding an increase of wages to four dollars per day. They met on Thursday evening in one of the smaller balls of this city, and organized and unorganized shops alike sent their delegates. In this age of the world it seems as though hard-work was almost ready to compete with brain-work in the pay which it demands. Many a smart reporter in this city would be glad to get by the labor of his pen what the tailors are demanding for the labor of the needle; and the number of other strikes made with varying success during the spring and early part of summer seems to hint that hand-labor is magnitying its office, and that the hewers o wood and drawers of water aspire to place themselves on a par with the subtler workers of intellect. If these tailors' deman's are not acceded to, the strike is to take effect after next Monday. The journeymen bricklayers are also on a strike, but the weekly stipend the strikers receive from the Protective and Benevolent Union, has been cut down from $12 per week to nearly one-half that amount.

"Barbe Bleue" and ad'ile Irma are successes here, because they are the only amusement novelties in this city at present. While admit ting that Madame Tostee is not so young as she used to be, and that her voice is certainly not of the richest and rarest, it is beyond cavil that four artistes, total strangers to us, even by reputation before, have won such immediate and pronounced success. Consequently the public is looking longingly for her return in the fall. From the moment when, three-quarters of a year ago, she came upon the stage at the French Theatre and announced, a little nervously, perhaps, her love for the military, the large hearted public took her into its capacious bosom-which is as accommodating as Abraham's at the lowest calculation-lorgave her her many "severe indispositions," and forebore showing a vestige of ill-humor whenever it pleased her to re-enter on the scene. Accopos of other amusements. Brougham's Lottery of Life is to be withdrawn in another week, and Miss Lutta is to commence an engagement at Wallack's. Banvard's Opera House is being transfigured into Wood's Museum, which will be opened in the fall with Miss Lydia Thompson, the English burlesque actress, a name familiar to all who regularly read the trans-Atlantic papers. Mary Wells is to be a member of the stock company. She is one of the few actresses who have that exquisite sense of humor which aptly interprets burlesque.

In spite of the occasional homicides, murders, and deadly assaults which figure in the various police courts here, I think New York has been somewhat maligned in this respect. As a rule, peaceable and respectable citizens, who keep themselves to themselves, can go to their homes within or without the metropolitan district, without greater change of being knocked on the | My A good tot of Clerbymon's Long Sucks, bead than the nocturnal pedestrian of Philadelphia, Baltin, ore and Boston. The parks especially - Unio a Square, Madison Square, City Hall Park, Wa shington Parade Groundare said to be the resort of desperate and ruffishly characters. It has never been my misfortune to fine them so, and I have wandered through them on , my lonely way home at 2 and 3 o'clock in the morm. '1g. At that hour the circumspect watchman was the only walking animal I met. All around, on the benches, beneath the trees, beside the fountsi, '18, and on the grass, lay poor wretches who eithe, had no homes to go to, or preferred the long suco ession of fresh draughts of air to the sectusion of c. 'ose bed-rooms. I have repeatedly heard and read of scenes of brutality and indecency transacted m those places, particularly after 12 o'clock. But on my way up or down town, having walked through them repeatedly nearly every hour of the twenty-four, and having witnessed nothing nore than a number of the poorer class of people endeavoring to breathe freely, and without the aid of beer, I am inclined to believe that such reports are the exaggerations of those who think they can peer further than others beneath the surface of things, and discover a nauseous sediment where there is nothing but harmless ALT BABA. slop.

The Umon Pacific Railroad.

The telegraph announces 700 miles of this grand enterprise complete. Two hundred miles more will doubtless be in running order at the close of the year. The whole distance from Omaha, on the Missouri, to Sacramento, at the tidewater of the Pacific, is 1721 miles, of which the Union Pacific Company propose to build about eleven hundred miles to meet the Central Pacific from the West. It they shall meet near the point contemplated, the work of construction can hardly extend through another year. This grand conception, which at first was regarded as a wild fancy from the brain of an architect of air castles, is so near a reality that its full embodiment will excite no marvel.

Who can conceive the amount of business this road is destined to perform? All present estimates rest on present facts. But, if our experience of the past is our light for the future. what does our past history teach? Within the remembrance of those not now old, less was known of the Northwestern States than is now known of all the Territories. Yet these States have been converted from a wilderness to populous communities. But no railroad preceded these civilizations. What will this road not do towards settling these vast regions, which, when settled, must carry all their commerce over this road? Add to this the through trade from east and west-Asia, the Sandwich Islands, and California, and the cities of the United States on and east of the Mississippi-and who shall compute

The need of this road was so great that its local business already pays a handsome profit over all expenses-an amount more than equal to the interest on its bonds; and it is believed that its through traffic with the Pacific coast and Asia will be limited only by the capacity of the line.

A WISE PREFERENCE -A case has just come to our knowledge of a lady in this city declining to spend a few weeks out of town on the ground of preferring that her husband would appropriate the amount which her trip would cost to the purchase of a Grover & Baker Sewing Machine, alleging that the satter investment would not only be of more permanept value, but that as a promoter of health the machine far surpassed the springs, the mountains, or theses, because it preserved the health, and thus rendered remedies unnecessary. This is what we call Spartan herolam, and it really gives us a more exalted idea of the philosophic virtues of the sex. The lady showed her good judgment in a specia manner by preferring the Grover & Baker machine She has since called at the warerooms, No. 730 Ches nut street, and made her purchase.

THE DUTY OF LIFE INSURANCE.-We learn that many persons are availing themselves of the new method of Life Insurance as adopted by the Co-opera tive Company at the N. E. corner of Fifth and Wal

We have referred several times to and given ful particulars as to the working of this Company, and have shown that for the small sum of $125, paid on thirty days' notice, that the wife or children of the insured would, on his or her death, receive the handsome sum of $1000.

That this mode of Life Insurance will be generally adopted we cannot doubt.

It is clearly the duty of all to become insured. "ENCKE's comet is due, and the star-gazers are turning their telescopes to the skies in the hope of discovering the presence of the expected visitor. It is interesting chiefly for performing its revolution within the boundaries of the solar system for the comparatively short period within which its revolution takes place, and for the reason that we know more about it than we do of those vast etherial creations which visit our system and then rush off into space. When the interest in comets equals that which the public have in Charles Stokes & Co.'s Clothing House under the Continental, people will k now more about them.

THE WAREROOMS of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company are now at No. 914 Chesnut street This machine received the only Gold Medal for Sewing Machines at the Paris Exposition: since then it has received another improvement, f. c., a 'slient feed motion," which makes it the most quiet running machine in use,
