THE DAILY EVENING TELEGRAPH-PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1868.

BLACK DEMOCRACY.

How the Freedman are going over to the Blair Revolutionists.

The Charleston News is a model Democratic organ. Just at present it is laboring to convince the world that the whole negro population of the South is going over to the Democratic ranks. On the 15th instant it gave the following summary of this sort :--

We are glad to see from our exchanges in the various Southern States that the freedmen are at last awake to the folly of trusting the pack of shiftless and unprincipled adventurers who have heretofore been their party leaders. Colored Democratic clubs are being formed in all por-tions of the country, addresses from leading colored Democrats are scattered abroad, and the negro is at last finding out that his best friend is the white man with whom he has been brought up, and with whose interests he must in the future be identified.

In Charleston, though little has been done publicly, the colored Democratic clubs are in a flourishing condition. At least one thousand colored Democrats may now be counted on. They are respectable men, and have joined the Democratic party from a conviction that radi-calism is only the road to run. Altogether, the movement shows encouraging elements of strength and prosperity.

Throughout the state the change of sentiment among the freedmen is even more decided, as the statements published from time to time in our columns will have shown. There is hardly a district in the State that does not boast one or more Democratic Clubs, and the disaffected members of the Union Leagues are daily coming Over.

VIRGINIA.

In the Old Dominion, where the white vultures from the North, who deceive and prey upon the blacks, are more numerous than in any other State, there is a great reaction of sentiment among the colored people in favor of their former masters. A Virginia freedman has issued to his colored brethren an address.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Burton McNeel, a highly respectable colored man of Salisbury, N. C., is out in a card, severing his connection with the radical party, declaring for Seymour and Blair, and advising his friends to "do likewise." The negroes of Hopewell, Mecklenburg county, N. C., have formed a Democratic club. A large number have joined it, and they have officers of their own.

The Tarboro' (N. C.) Southerner states that Sandy Long, of Halifax, and Eaton Robinson, both colored men, and recently appointed magistrates in their respective counties by the man "who writes himself Governor," have tbrown the sppointment back in his face with disgust.

A radical having lectured a Wilmington negro on account of his baying alled himself to the Democratic party, the African returned answer:-

"Under your teaching we have alienated from us the mass of the white people North as well as South: you have got the offices and emolu-ments, while we have done the work, and stand out in the cold. For one, I am done with you." GEORGIA.

At a large Democratic meeting at Harlan, Ga. on the 8th, which was addressed by several noted Southern speakers, a large number of colored Democrats were present, proudly dis-playing on their apparel Seymour and Blair badges.

ALABAMA.

On the 6th inst., a meeting of colored people was held in Mobile for the purpose of organizing a Democratic club. The Register says:---

"The meeting was called to order by Colonel C. A. R. Dimon, who in brief and patriotic ad-dress explained the object of the assemblage, and expressed to them his views in regard to their social and political status. An interchange of sentiment led to the conclusion that the colored people have at last found out who their true friends are." There was held recently at Demopolis, Ala-bams, a Seymour and Blair ratification meeting attended almost exclusively by negroes, and ad-dressed by four white men and the following black speakers:-Jim Westbrook, Jack Lee, Rea-ben Ryan, Sandy Cameron, William Roberts, aud Jule Armstrong. Joseph E. Williams, a Tennessee colored ora

the State can be converted to the Democratic faith.

A colored Democratic club has been formed at Houston, which holds regular weekly meetings. The speakers are unablinously in favor of Sey-mour and Blair, and state generally that they are proud of the opportunity to units with the only party that had any claims upon the blacks, and could and would benefit the race.

GRANT AND BUTLER.

How They Were Reconciled - George Wilkes, the Negotiator of Peace. Mr. George Wilkes, in the last number of his Spirit of the Times, tells how he was instrumental in bringing about a reconciliation between Generals Grant and Butler. We quote:-

"The political readers of the Spirit have been made aware through articles in other journals, but never in our own, that the editor of this paper, several months ago, undertook the deli-cate and what seemed the difficult task of re-moving the misunderstanding which had for omejtime existed between General Grant and General Butler, and of placing these two dis-tinguished public servants once more in good accord. We made no public allusion to our own efforts in this matter, because we had no personal objects to promote. Our sole desire was to clear up what we felt must be a misapprehension ou both sides; in order not only that these leavers might co-operate cordially in the fall campaign, but that a depressing uneasiness, because of their antagonism, might be removed from the loyal portion of the public mind. We knew, in undertaking this task, that many others had embarked in it and failed; but feeling that we had an advantage over them in not being a politician—that is to say, not a politician in any mere party sense of that term—we went at it with a guaranty against suspleion, and without risk at the same time to the good will which existed for us on both sides. "This undertaking was commenced in March last by an interview with General Grant, in which all matters that had been currently re-ported as causing points of difference between him and General Butler were fully and freely discussed. As we had supposed, General Grant traukly disavowed any intention to reflect upon the military conduct or position of General Butler at Bermuda Hundreds, by the famous phrase in his report about the Army of the James being 'bottled up;' and when the matter of General Butler's subequent rejection of General Grant's invitation to meet him at his house came up, it fell from consequence, with equal rapidity, on due explanation. There was then, in fact, nothing left but the puny matter of decorum in relation to the note of invitation; and as General Butler had clearly acted under mi-apprehension in regard to that, and was therefore plainly in the wrong, we felt that all real obstacles to a cordial reconcliation had entirely vanished. The only difficulty from the first had been to hid ice General Grant to talk upon the subject a' all; and, indeed, we must admit, he evinced great reluctance to be led nto it on this occasion; but being in, he was as frank as his great nature always is, and left but httle for us to do at the end beyond the rocess of the report.

"Our calculation as to General Butler's action was correct. On being informed of the substance of our interview with General Grant, he immediately saw that there was but one material point of issue between them (as governing the problem of personal antagonism), and that upon that point he had acted under a direct misappreheasion. General Butler has a maxim which may be commended to the observation of all stupid, stubborn men. It is that 'no man who respects himself can afford to remain in the wrong after he once knows it;' so that all that there was left to be done in the premises by us was to place the facts in proper shape for the joint comprehension of General Grant and him-selt, so that the final disposal of the case might be satisfactory and complete. We therefore ad-dressed a letter to General Butler, detailing the conversation had with General Grant. A copy of this letter was shown to General Grant, and in due time it was answered by General Butler. This answer recognized the fact that General Grant had not intended to reflect upon him by his allusion to the army at Bermuda Hundreds, as being within his own (the writer's) knowledge; and as to his note about the evening party, General Butler frankly asked permission to withdraw it. Upon this correspondence being turned over to General Grant, he 'cordially' consented to General Butler's wish, and,

THE BODY REMEWED.-According to Phyla Soglats the human body is renewed once in seven years; every day, every hour, every moment, the fiesh, the cartilage, bone, and muscle of the frame are wasting away, and being imperceptibly replaced by new material. Health depends upon the nature of that material, and whether it shall be pure or diseased, full of vitally and elasticity, or feeble and flacoid, depends mainly upon the action of the stomach. In warm weather the waste of the system is very rapid, and if it is not as rapidly repaired by the great sustaining organ, the consequence is debility, emaciation, and decay. It is, therefore, of paramount importance that the stomach be kept in a vigorous condition at this trying season, and the safest, surest, and best tonic that can be employed for that purpose is HOSTETER's BIT. TERS. This incomparable vegetable stomachic gives unwonted energy to the digestive power, promotes the conversion of the food into healthful blood (which is, so to speak, the raw material of all the solid por. tions of the body), and thereby puts the system in the best possible state of detense against epidemic and other diseases. The strong require it to keep up their strength; the weak, to re invigorate them. It consists of the purest of all diffusive stimulants, charged with the juices and extracts of the most genial roots and herbs, and is a permanent restorative-not a mere temporary excitant. It acts simultaneously upon the stomach, the nowels and the liver, and is the best known remedy for dyspepsis, billousnesscostiveness, and general de llity. LOSS OF A PRETITE AND DEBILITY .- Of all the tonic preparations now in market, we know of none equal to Speer's "Standard Wine Bitters" for those who suffer either from over mental or physical exertion. resulting in loss of appetite and physical debiil y. Sold by all druggists.

LOUISIANA.

Louisiana papers state that the colored Democracy is alive and at work throughout the State.

The Alexandria (Rapides) Democrat says: -"It is no use any longer disguising the fact patent to all, that the colored Democracy of Rapides is now a fixed institution, alive, wide awake, in real dead carnest, and with a local habitation and a name. Not content with the Lamothe barbecue, they got up a ball, a rousing ball, on last Saturday night. We must candidly admit that this element of the Democratic party of Rapides is far ahead of any new organization we ever witnessed before in our parish.

A meeting of the Democratic colored men of Algiers was held on the 5th inst. Thomas P. Sherburne, chairman of the Committee on Freedmen Clubs, called the meeting to order. He stated the object of the meeting was to organize a Democratic colored club, and he was happy to see so many of the colored citizens present. It proved that if the colored man was allowed to act in accordance with the dictates of his mind he would do what was right. The willingness of the colored men to join the Democratic party, proved that Democratic doctrines were more generous than those of the radical plunderers. After a few brief remarks Mr. Sher-burne took his scatamid cheers from the colored men. The meeting organized by appointing the following colored men as their officers:-Riley Allen, President; William Sherburne, first Vice-President; Joe Griffin, second Vice President.

The New Orleans Crescent says:men of the place, and will in a short time bring in a host of their friends to the support of Seymour and Blair. This club bids fair to be one of the largest in the State."

MISSISSIPPI.

At a Democratic meeting held at Yazoo City last week, among other resolutions adopted were it is our purpose to confer impartial suffrage on all men, irrespective of color, and to place all men on terms of equality before the law, so that life, liberty, and property may be equally as-sured to all.

2. That our thanks are due to our colored friends who, actuated by a sense of justice and patriotic duty, co-operated with us in the late election in defeating the oppressive and iniqui-tous constitution framed by strangers and com-mon enemies to them and ourselves. They deserve well of the country, and their services will ever be gratefully appreciated by all men who have a due regard for equal rights and constitutional government.

3. That as an evidence and testimonial of our esteem and good will for them and the value of their noble aid in a just cause and patriotic principles, and as a further token of friendship and union in support of Democratic principles, we render to them a public barbecue at this place on the fourth Saturday of August, 1868. Mississippi journals state that the colored Mississippians, since the late elections, are going over en masse to the Democrats. In a single county one thousand of them have pro duced certificates of membership in Democratic clubs, and teel far freer and prouder than they ever did as the slaves of scalawag 'poor white trash." A millenium of good feeling between the races in Mississippi is dawning as the result of this state of things.

TEXAS.

A number of Democratic negro clubs have been formed in Eastern Texas, and colored orators, it is stated, are doing efficient work among the freedmen. At a barbecue at Independence, Washington county, the Brenham Banner says there were at least 300 negroes present, who listened with great interest to the speeches, and many of them, before leaving the ground, "de-clared their determination to adhere to their white Southern friends and vote the Democratic ticket." The Bonner is convinced that with EVENING TLLEGRAPH. at H very little effort nine-tenths of all the negroes in North Pennsylvania Depot.

"It is true that this process, which has been erroneously digained with the name of a negohation, covered quite a stretch of time, and therefore it has been assumed that there were great difficulties in bringing these gentlemen together; but the truth is that it was the joint lesire of both General Grant and General Butler, as soon as it was seen by each how little there was to be adjusted that the adjustment should be delayed till after the close of the im-peachment trial. The reason of this was that it was constantly expected that the defense would put General Grant upon the stand with the view of betcheling him with a fierce cross-examination: and as, in that case, General Butler would be required to defend him while there from any improper assault, it was not thought advisable that any change of their personal relations should be effected at that time. This is all there is about the delay which caused so many rumors except what there is about the delay of General Butler's final answer to Gen. Grant's acceptance of his request. This last delay was caused by our own personal absence from Washington from the latter part of June until General Grant had set out for the West; and as we had made ourself the intermediary and pivot of the correspondence, General Butler had no authoritative meduance, or munication with General Grant till we called on him again. Subsequent to Gea. Grant's departure from Washington, however, we addressed General Butler a note, with the view of closing the matter up before General Grant's return, and to this we received an answer from General Butler that he intended soon to make a speech to his constituents at Glouceater. Mass., which he thought would prove a satisfactory termination of the whole correspondence."
