FROM EUROPE.

By Atlantic Cable. LONDON, Sept. 5 .- Yesterday Reverdy Johnson, the American Minister, delivered another speech in Sheffield. This address was in reply to an address presented by the corporation authorities of the city. Mr. Johnson said in the discharge of the duties of his position he anticipated no trouble so far as the preservation of peaceful relations between the United States and England were concerned, but the high and deserved reputation achieved by his illustrious predecessor, Mr. Adams, had made difficult the task of succeeding with equal acceptability. The highest aim of his mission would be to do as well. He repeated what he had said to the cutlers yesterday, that the rupture of the friendly relations now existing between the United States and Great Britain would be impossible, on account of the identity of race, language, institutions and aspirations.

The character of Queen Victoria forbade the possibility of such a rupture. Re repeated the assertion of Mr. Roebuck, one of the representatives in the House of Commons from Sheffield, that the people of the United States were heterogeneous, and maintained that foreign emigrants who landed on the American shores all merged in one great nation. and that nation was English, and they didn't vitiate the community by importing vices with them.

The London Times of to-day has a lengthy editorial on the subject of Mr. Johnson's recent speeches at Sheffield. The Times comments favorably on his declarations regarding the heterogeneousness of the American people, and thinks that the people of the United States are as much an English unit as the people of England, where Irish, Scotch, French and Germans make so large a share of the popula-

Referring incidentally to the general elections soon to occur in England, the Times says: Whatever may be the result of these elections, the same reciprocity of feelings between the United States and Great Britain are certain to ensue.

LONDON, Sept. 5 .- The Standard of last evening contained an editorial article on the non-settlement of the Alabama claims. The writer considers it no fault of England, as she is always ready to settle disputes, and is always ready to return the friendship. The United States could not complain if the international relations were not as friendly and agreeable as could be desired, for England has always been more disposed to real alliance than the United States have.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 5 .- A fire broke out last night amongst the shipping in the Southampton docks, and much valuable property was destroyed. It is impossible to estimate the loss, but it will be very heavy.

Paris, Sept. 5 .- Lord Lyons, the British Minister, gave a banquet to Lord Stanley, the ex-English Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who is at present in this city. M. Moustier was present, and speeches of a complimentary and pacific character were made and much good feeling prevailed.

The Presse, the Austro-Catholic opposition journal of this city, has another editorial to-day on the matter of the American squadron in Turkish waters. The writer says the demand that the United States war vessels should pass the Dardanelles was prompted by Russia, and that the Sublime Porte, encouraged by the English and French Ministers, will refuse to comply.

The Forthcoming Debt Statement. The public debt statement for August will be published on Monday. It will show an Increase during last month of over $10,000,000. The reason in part for this is accounted for by a Treasury De-partment official as follows: The payment of the Alaska purchase, $7,200,600; the large army ex-penses, which are nearly as much as those of all the other departments of the government together, and the decided falling off in internal revenue col-lections. Although the customs receipts have been greater than for any month during the year, the working force of the various departments has been

Memphis, Sept. 3, 1868.—I have just read your letter in the Commercial giving a report of our conversation of Friday last. I do not think you would intentionally misrepresent me, but you have done so, and I suppose because you misunderstood my meaning. The portions of your letter to which I object are corrected in the following paragraphs: I promised the Legislature my personal influence and aid in maintaining order and enforcing the laws. I have never advised the people to resist any law, but to submit to the laws until they can be corrected by lawful legislation. I said the militia bill would by lawful legislation. I said the militia bill would cause no trouble, unless they violated the law by carrying out the Governor's proclamation, which I believed to be unconstitutional and in violation of believed to be unconstitutional and in violation of the law, in shooting men down without a trial, as recommended by that proclamation. I said it was re-ported, and I believed the report, that there are 40,000 Kuklux in Tennessee, sand I believed the organization was stronger in the other States. THE TWELPTH WARD AWAKE.-There was an immense Republican meeting on Saturday night at the corner of old York road and Crown street, in the Twelfth ward, on the occasion of raising a Grant and Colfax banner, probably the largest in the city. It has a representation of the Goddess of Liberty in the centre—on either side of which are Liberty in the centre—on either side of which are features of Grant and Colfax. Beneath these are the names of the various Republican candidates. At 8 o'clock the vast assemblage was called to order by Conard S. Grove, who nominated for President Moses A. Dropsie, Esq. This being agreed to, Mr. Dropsie read the names of the following gentlemen as the other officers:

Vice Presidents—E. A. Talmage, M. Hall Stanton, Dr. Jos. Delavau, John H. Siner, T. Chalkly Wood, Rudolph Swartz, Price L. Patton. Sccretaries-Wm. Erety, Frederick Breitinger, Albert Potts, Jacob Raiguel, Wm. N. Neill, Julius

Stein, James Swover.
Mr. Dropsie then said it was a pleasing duty with him to mingle with the residents of the Northern Liberties. There were no resolutions to be offered to-night, as those who were the originators of the meeting believed that all those present would go home resolving to support Gen. U. S. Grant and Hon. Schuyler Celfax, as well as though it was read from paper. It was unnecessary to say that we were on the eve of an important election. He had not come here to heap abuse upon the candidates of the opposition party, but had concluded to spend a opposition party, but had concluded to spend a short time in convincing any doubting one of the necessity of supporting the entire Republican ticket. He then spent a long time in discussing the ques-tion of slavery, showing that the Republicans, in overthrowing that institution, had elevated the dignity of labor. He then invoked his listeners to enter the canyass with a lively spirit, and let the to enter the canvass with a lively spirit, and let the world see that the party who had so wisely and dis-creetly held the reigns of government since 1856 could as well manage the affairs of the nation in the

The Hon. Charles Gibbons then addressed the meeting, and said the ticket presented by the Republican party for the support of the people was one which challenged the respect and should receive the suffrages of all who desired good rulers, good officers and a good government. Upon it were the names of men who would be faithful to the in-terests of the country and to those of the tax-payers. He would not refer to himself in any manner what-

The speaker then, in a powerful and argumenta-tive speech, commended the acts of the late Republican Congress, the wisdom of the acts of reconstruction for the southern States. He commented upon their regard for the manufacturing interests, in the reduction of taxes, and in their reducing the tax upon incomes. He showed how they had reduced the public debt, and the rate of interest upon

They had legislated for the poor as well as the rich, and they deserve the thanks of our people. He then referred to the acts of General Rosecrans, and his attempt to make capital for the Democracy by conferring with those who had been our coun try's worst enemies. This act was deserving of the condemnation of all Union-loving men. His speech was truly a masterly effort. It was clothed in chaste and elegant language, betokening the well-read lawyer and brilliant orator. He was frequently interrupted by the cheers of his hearers. The President then introduced William B. Mann,

Esq., who was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. He said it had been his fortune to address his felow-citizens in different sections of the State dur ing the past month upon the issues of the day, and that he had found the people were alive with enthat he had found the people were alive with en-thusiasm, and would rally to the support of the candidates of the Republican party. The import-ance of the coming election was felt upon every hand, and the same spirit of energy prevailed as when in 1860 and 1864 the martyred Lincoln was elected to the Presidential chair. From every por-tion of the State we hear glad tidings, that the great Republican party—the party of freedom— will be sustained; that its success in October is be-yond doubt. That success will prove a sure foreyond doubt. That success will prove a sure fore-runner of the ignominious defeat of the so-called Democracy and its rebel supporters in November.

It has been given out and circulated throughout the Keystone State that this city will be carried in October by the rebel ticket. This, my friends, is October by the rebel ticket. This, my friends, is but a game of brag, and intended for the purpose of covering up frauds, to encourage ballot box stuffers and repeaters, and to fix up things. Freemen be on your guard. Look out for fraudulent naturalization papers. Be of good cheer. The true-hearted patriots who fought for the preservation of this Union will watch the ballot box as they never watched it before, (cheers,) and I think that many of those who attempt to defraud the people of Pennsylvania will be furnished with quarters at the public expense, where even the sun of Democracy cannot shed a ray of light upon them. It is an insult to the fair fame and patriotism of the citizens of Philadelphia to say that a rebel ticket can be carried here. Rest assured rebel calculations will fail. The Republican ticket will be carried in this city next October by 5000 majority. (Great cheering.) next October by 5000 majority. (Great cheering.) Mr. Mann then referred to the candidate for Dis trict Attorney, Charles Gibbons, Esq., who had just addressed the meeting, and said that this office was of the highest importance. It should be filled by a clitzen of unsullied integrity, and one of the highest legal attainments. Such a candidate you have in Mr. Gibbons. He is known to you all. He never such the office. His remination was a tri never sought the office. His nomination was a tri-bute to his merit. He has ever been the defender of human rights, of the psor and down-trodden of every nation and clime, the champion of liberty and freedom. The speaker made a powerful ap-peal upon his behalf, and also for the election of the Hon. Leonard Myers; and in response to the question whether they would elect these candidates, Mr. Mann was greeted with shouts of "We will, we will." He then closed amidst hearty cheers, when the meeting adjourned. the meeting adjourned.

The building is superior to any Sabbath School room in Philadelphia; the partments, adults, the Bible and other classes are convenient and admirably adapted to the various purposes, and, indeed, there is no feature of Bethany but what designates matured judgment and skill in the preparation of the entire structure for an active school. A pleasing incident of yesterday's session was the usual collection for missionary objects, which is taken upon the first Sabbath of each The different classes make their own month. collections and send them to the Superintendent's desk, where the number of class, teacher, and name of class is read aloud, with the amount contributed for the month. The offerings for August were fifty dollars, a large amount for a Mission School to contribute during a single month of summer, but smaller than the genera average of Bethany. It is a noble work, and exhibits what the energy and determination of a single person can do in the cause of Christ and in gathering the little children for instruction in those great Bible truths which, when adopted and followed, prepare us for eternity and insure us a home in heaven. John Wans-maker, Esq., projected this enterprise, and to him alone is due the credit of its success and usefulness. He has gathered around him a band of faithful teachers, who are amply rewarded for their labor in the continued extension and strengthening of Bethany. Mr. Wanamaker is fortunate in having such efficient aid as our friend Charles B. Mount, Esq., can and does reader the mission in his office of librarian. The only drawback to Bethany is the music They have a good organ, and many very fine voices among the children, but no apparent interest is manifested to have them sing in time or with expression or effect. A little care will remedy this serious defect, and when accom-plished this mission school will become the most interesting Sabbath afternoon resort in Philadelphia.

A PROBABLE IMPOSTOR.—Every once in a while some adventurer singles out Bishop Wood, of the Catholic Church in this diocese, as a victim. On this charge, on Saturday noon, before Alderman this charge, on Saturday noon, before Alderman Beitler, was arraigned a young man named Joseph Bartram, claiming to be from New York. He seems to have meditated getting the sum of $150. On Friday, a young man called at the residence of the Bishop, and left what purported to be a dispatch from St. Louis, Mo. It read as follows:

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 4, 1888.—To his Excellency Right Rev. Bishop Wood, Philadelphia, Pa.—I will remit you one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for young Mr. Chauncey, on Monday next. Have telegraphed him to call and introduce himself. He is a very worthy young man, and his father is one of office it was found that no such dispatch had passed over the wires. Arrangements were then made to capture the swindler, in case he should call again at the residence. Bartram called on Saturday and presented the following letter: SEPTEMBER 5, 1868. Dear Father: I am in receipt of a telegram from our family paster and parish priest, the Rev. Fa ther Garesche, of St. Louis, expressive of his de sire that I should call and introduce myself to you and also his intention to remit one hundred and fifty dollars next week, to the care of your lord ship for me. I cannot, dear father, convey to you through the medium of this letter my heartfelt regret and sorrow at my inability to comply with our good pastor's wishes, as my health and strength unfortutunately will not permit my doing so. But no doubt your lordship will kindly accept the will for the deed, which I have no doubt will be as acceptable. My object, dear father, in addressing you this letter is to solicit a kindness, as my physician has deemed it advisable that I should leave for home to-day in my present condition of health. I have made a resolve to solicit from your lordship one hundred and twenty-five dollars of the amount; the balance, twenty-five dollars, I should be happy, with your kind permission, to contribute to the church. If your lordship will kindly advance the amount by the bearer, who is a worthy gentleman, you will confer an exceeding obligation on your obedient servant,

CHARLES CHAUNCEY.

Bartram was asked if he would give a receipt for obedient servant, Charles Chauncey.

Bartram was asked if he would give a receipt for the money in the name of Chauncey, to which he replied he would. A policeman was in waiting and Bartram was taken into custody. He was com mitted for a further hearing.

DEATH OF JOSEPH B MCTCHELL, Bsq.-It is with regret that we announce the death of Mr. Joseph B. Mitchell, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, and for halt a century President of the Mechanics' National Bank.
