We Have Not Yet Began to Fight. THAT intrepid mariner Paul Jones, when summoned to surrender on a certain occasion, responded:-"I have not yet begun to fight." The Republican party occupies at the present crisis a position which demands a similar declaration, to be followed up by such hard blows as will banish from the minds of the enemy all hope or dream of victory. Andrew Johnson had not fairly settled himself in the seat made vacant by the hand of the assassin ere the unrepentant leaders of the Rebellion, encouraged by his undisguised sympathy, raised the clamor for our submission; and from that day to the present the uproar has been spreading, until at last the voice of the ex-Confederacy is practically a united one. If the demand which they make upon the loyal North were confined to the mere bluster of words, we could well afford to pay no attention to it. But from almost every section of the South come reports of outrages upon Union men, white and black, of such a character as to leave us no alternative save that of accepting, as the settled purpose of the participants in the Rebellion, a determination to enforce their demand in the most effectual way. It finds a ready and earnest echo in the North. The sum and zubstance of the Tammany platform is an invitation to lay down our arms and yield up, without further parley, all the fruits of our triumph on the field of battle." Like the Chicago platform of 1864, it practically pronounces the struggle for the Union a failure, and demands that it shall be brought to a summary close. The loyal blood that has been shed, the loyal treasure that has been squandered, the prostration of commerce, the interruption of friendly relations between the two sections of the country, the imperilling of our relations with the great powers of the Old World, the long-protracted doubts of success. the despair which followed our many reverses, the flush of triumph which lifted up the heart of the nation when final victory was assuredall these are to go for naught, and we are deliberately commanded to regard ourselves as worsted in the contest, and the cause for which we toiled and suffered and fought as a hopeless one. The Tammany summons to surrender, preceded as it was by the revolutionary letter of Frank Blair, has been followed up by a series of characteristic pronunciamentos, all breathing the same spirit, all inspired by the same deadly batred to a Union founded upon justice to all men, and equality for all men before the law. Andrew Johnson has reiterated his oftrepeated declaration that the reconstruction theory of Congress is revolutionary, unconstitutional, and void; and therefore demands that the loyal men of the rehabilitated States shall be turned over to the tender mercies of the Rebels, who shall have leave to punish, plunder, and proscribe them under the guise of law. Ould, the Rebel Commissioner of Exchange, has revived the old exploded slanders about the tardiness of the Government in relieving the loyal soldiers who were enduring all the agonies of death in Rebel prisons, and its refusal to consent to a fair and honorable cartel; and therefore demands that the reins of power shall be entrusted to a party whose standard bearer signalized his official career by a studied attempt to embarrass the Government in its warfare against the Rebellion, who had no word of sympathy for the brave men enlisted in the Union cause, who clasped to his heart as "friends" the murderers of helpless children and the destroyers of orphan asylums. The chiefs of the Rebellion, gathered in consultation at a Southern watering-place, proclaim through Rosecrans the peace and good-will and thorough devotion to the Union, which actuate the hearts of the whole Southern people; and therefore demand that the party which rescued the nation from the hands of treason shall no longer be entrusted with the settlement of the country, and the adjustment of all our difficulties on a basis which shall be a satisfaction for the past, a security for the present, and a guarantee for the fature. "Surrender !" is the cry, and "Revolution !" is the sole alternative presented. With this demand still ringing in our ears, there is but one response that can rise to our lips, We have not yet begun to fight ! On Tuesday last these words were proclaimed throughout the length and breadth of the land in no uncertain, tremulous tone. Vermont, inspired by the feeling which is coextensive with our borders, gave them utterance; the echo is lingering in the forests of Maine, only to gather redoubled strength. We want no more bloodshed, no more measuring of swords upon the field. Blair cries, "Surrender, or fight !" We respond, "Let us have peace !" And peace can be secured only through victory at the polls. When we have made good our challenge, we need not fear that the reactionists, North and South, will not call to mind the past and profit by the lessons of Vicksburg, Gettysburg, and Appomattox Court House. We have not yet begun to fight ! Vermont proclaims it, Maine will re-echo it, and November will stamp the words with such an earnest emphasis that peace will be conquered without another resort to arms.

our forefathers suffered and died;" but has not a word of reproof for the instigators of the war by which hundreds of thousands of brave men endured suffering and death without a murmur. Not content with depicting the shameful demoralization of Congress, he proceeds to detail the "horrible" effect of their example, and in doing so rakes up poor "Othello"-forgetting that the man was a fullblooded Meor-by citing the malediction hurled by him at the man who had slandered his wife-a white woman:-

"Never pray more; abandon all remorse; On horror's head horrors accumulate; For nothing canst thou to damnation add Deeper than that."

But Jerry belongs to a Black family, and perhaps this fact may account for the gloomy view of things in which he revels.

Now for California.

CALIFORNIA holds her State election for Mem. bers of Congress to morrow. The respective candidates of the two parties are as follows:-

First District.....F. M. Pixley......S. B. Axteil. Second District.....F. M. Sargent...J. W. Coffroth Third District.....C. Hartson......J. A. Johnson The First District is at present represented by Axtell, Democrat; the Second by Higby, Republican; and the Third by Johnson, Democrat.

The vote of the State for the past ten years has been as follows has been as follows:-

Rep.	Dem.	Mai.
1858	44,599	8.452 D.
1859	62,255	30,957 D.
1860	79,867	657 R.
1861	63 694	23.286 R.
1862	47,831	29.724 R
186864.447	44,715	19,732 R
1864	43 841	18 293 R
1865	26,245	6,976 R.
1866 No general election.		1.2426.000000
1867	47,969	3,385 D.

For the years marked thus (†), when there was dissension in the Democratic ranks, the total opposition vote is included under the head of Democratic, and the lowest Republican plurality is given. The vote for 1867 is that cast for Lieutenant-Governor. For Governor the vote then stood 40,359 Republican and total opposition 51,993-Governor Haight's vote being 49,905, and his majority 9546. This was caused by the strong opposition of all the leading Republican journals to the nomination and election of George C. Gorham, now Secretary of the Senate, the nominal Republican candidate, against whom there was manifested an unconquerable prejudice in the ranks of his party. If a satisfactory candidate had been presented to the people by the Republican Convention, the full strength of the party in 1865 would undoubtedly have been maintained. Gorham is no longer an element of dissension in the party, being comfortably disposed of at Washington, and although the State is doubtful, the result of the election tomorrow can be looked forward to with hope.

The Cloven Foot.

ABKANSAS, the mother of the bowie-knife, the paradise of lawless crime, the circuit of Judge Lynch, is determined to outdo all the other Southern States in the way in which she will convert the negroes to the Democratic faith. Seeing that there would naturally be some distrust on the part of the black men towards the Pikes and other ruffians who have lorded it over them in times past, with no mild measure of lashes, the Democratic leaders determined on a grand coup. They gave an entertainment to the colored people of the State assembled in convention, and sat down to table sandwiched, an alternate black and white brother surrounding the festive board. A correspondent present at this impressive ceremony describes it as resembling "the keys on a piano board." By this eating and drinking together a fraternal feeling was engendered, which was eminently calculated to strengthen the Democratic party.

United States desire time to recuperate their exhausted industries and to replenish the treasury depleted by long years of internal dissension, yet they are not so exhausted as to submit to insults or injustice. They could and will, if necessary to preserve their national honor, rise and renew another battle just as great as that concluded in 1865. This fact should not be lost sight of in the speeches of Mr. Johnson in England. If through diplomacy our just debts can be satisfied, with all our hearts we wish it; but at all events these debts must be satisfied in full, dollar for dollar.

BY WAY OF CONTRAST .- Rosecrans writes to

Lee, the "trusted and beloved leader" of rebellion:-

"Now I think, the Union army thinks, and peo-ple of the North and West, I dare say, believe, there must be, or there ought to be, a shorter or a surer way to get good government for all the South.

General George H. Thomas writes to the managers of the monster gathering of Republican soldiers and sailors at Indianapolis, on Wednesday last :--

"Although Itake no part in politics, permit me to express the great pleasure I have derived from observing the firm and almost universal support afforded by the soldiers and sailors throughout allorded by the soldiers and sallors throughout the country to all measures calculated to restore it to a condition of peace and quiet, thereby showing that those most willing to support the Government in time of peril can be relied upon to inaugurate and maintain measures best cal-culated to secure the peace and prosperity of the nation."

We greatly fear that this latter epistle will fill the troubled heart of Rosecrans with fresh "solicitude," and cause him to carry "his heart in his hand" all the way to Mexico.

STRAWS. - The straws which "extensive travellers" collect on sundry railroad trains, as being indicative of the direction in which the wind will blow on the third day of November next, are very frail and unsatisfactory weather-cocks compared with the foll-wing laconic epistle which George H. Pendleton tele, graphed to General John A. McClernand, Chairman of the Illinois Democratic State Central Committee, at Springfield, a few days ago:--

"Just got home. The condition of the canvass in Ohio is such that I must withdraw ail iny appointments in Illinois, George H. PENDLETON.

The condition of the canvass throughout the Union, since Vermont has been heard from, is such that Mr. Pendleton may as well withdraw all his appointments in Ohio into the bargain.

"We do pray for mercy,

And that same prayer doth teach us all to render The decds of mercy."

IT was gratifying to those interested in the fate of Alexander when they learned the Governor had granted a reprieve, and that all the efforts made in his behalf had not been without effect. Indeed, public sympathy has been aroused, and everywhere we hear of something being done-not a stone left unturned. A letter will be sent to the Governor from the Pennsylvania Hospital, that time-honored institution, signed by the members of the surgical staff, petitioning for mercy. They being most familiar with the facts, and one and all of the same opinion, no doubt will influence the final decision. A meeting of the jury who sat on the trial will be held to consider the propriety of taking action in reference to the case, and it is to be hoped that much benefit will arise. It must not be forgotten that the man has been severely punished already. Consider the trial the condemnation, and the awful preparation for death. It would be cruel, indeed, to make one, though criminal he be, submit to such mental torture again. We hope, therefore, that the Governor can, with justice, avail himself of the pardoning power.

HORRIBLE .- Jerry Black, one of the shining lights of James Buchanan's cabinet, has been making a speech to the unterrified up at York. He duly arraigns Congress for the orime of "betraying the liberties for which

But alas ! all men are not Solons, and the redoubtable Albert Pike, the poet, statesman, warrior, and editor is not one of them. He cannot conceal the cloven foot. So that within a few days after the delightful dinner party referred to, the Appeal contained the following:-

"No sophistry can disguise the fact that for one to swear that he will never attempt to de-prive any negro of the right to vote, with the settled intention to change the constitution of the State as soon as possible, so that this oath shall be no longer required, and to elect legis-lators who will deprive the negro of the right of suffrage. Is to swear with the purpose of perjury suffrage, is to swear with the purpose of perjury determined on."

In vain was it that the Hon. Mr. A, and Judge B, and Mayor C, hobnobbed with Cuffee and Sambo ! In vain was it that the aristocratic authority of these elegant Democrats were sacrificed and they tipped champagne glasses with their former slaves. The fatal paragraph cancelled it all. Had Borgia at one of her dinners let fall a bottle of prussic acid she could not have created more distrust than did the article of Albert Pike. The colored men recognize deception attempted upon them and all the Rebel blandishments are lost. They see that with deadly hatred, had they the power, the Democracy would strip them of every right, and even if invited to dinner they do not intend an opportunity shall be given their host to carry their pet scheme of affection into execution.

Our English Relations.

MR. REVERDY JOHNSON, even at the risk of repetition, is bound to assure the English mind that America is desirous of peace. He has made but two speeches since his arrival in England, and both of them abound in the continual refrain that we must and will have peace. We know that diplomacy and deception are sometimes interchangeable terms, and may therefore account for the earnestness with which this assurance is made. But if it is meant in good faith, and to the extent which Mr. Johnson insists, we can only say that he misrepresents the American people. They do, indeed, desire peace. They are willing to do much to secure it, and accept of many conditions which would not be preferable, but there are some things far more unbearable than war. There are conditions into which a nation can sink which are far, far worse than a state of strife. To submit to injustice, oppression, in-

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC. The City Theatres.

-On Saturday evening next the Arch Street Theatre will be opened for the regular season. Mr. Barton Hill is added to the old company as stage manager, as is also Miss Fanny Davenport, stage manager, as is also miss ranny bavenport, as yet a stranger to Philadelphia. On the open-ing night Goldsmith's grand old comedy of She Stoops to Conquer will be presented, with Mrs. John Drew, Barton Hill, and Robert Cratg in the cast. On Monday evening, September 14, Miss Richings' English Opera Troupe will com-mence a two weeks' engagement at this theatre mence a two weeks' engagement at this theatre appearing in Flotow's ever popular opera of Martha.

Martha. -Foul Play enters upon the second week of its successful run at the Walnut Street Thearre, with fair prospects of continued success. The machinery having once gotten into good work-ing order, the mechanical effects, on which its principal attractions depend, are now managed in an artistic and edifying manner. The sinking of the ship Proscrpine, in the second act, and the scene on Godsend Island, in the tourth act, are quite equal to anything of the kind which has ever been attempted in this city, and far more successful than is usually the case. — The White Faum, with all the glories of the ballet and the most dazzling of spectacles, continues to draw large audiences, and it is safe to say that every man, woman and child that cares to go to an exhibition of the muscular depart-ment of theatrical art is well pleased with the entertainment. Like a great many other things, The Faun has undergone the process of recon-struction, and at this evening's performance several novelties will be witnessed. Amorg them may be noticed an imperial guard of little children on horseback, a military ballet and march of forty young ladies, a grand tableau of genuine water displayed in dazzling variegated lights, and several new songs. The White Faum will gambol about the stage on its multitudinous legs throughout the week. —Hooley's Minstrels open the season, at the Seventh Street Opera House this evening, with a carefully selected company that can compare favorably with any ever brought together in this country. Included in the company are four comedians of high repute, Archy Hughes, S. S. Purdy, Charley Reynolds, and Billy West. The programme for this evening is select, varied, and laughable.

-At the American Theatre a large and delighted audience is present every evening to witness the diversified programme presented. Foreign Musical Items,
