morrow night, and attend the meeting in the Second Congressional District.

CAUGHT AT LAST .--- For some time past, passengers on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad have been relieved of their satchels, carpet-bags, etc., at the Wilmington Station. The robberies were committed about the time the travellers would leave the cars for refreshments Odleer William Leggs, stationed at the depot in Wilmington, has been keeping a sharp lookout for the thieves. Yesterday, he caught an individual named Howard Lee in the act of carrying off a carpet-bag belonging to one of the passengers. The prisoner had a hearing before Mayor Valentine, and was committed for trial. In addition to a prisoner receiving sen-tence for an offense in this section of the country, he undergoes a severe lashing at the Newcastle Jail.

UNPROFITABLE AMUSEMENT .- William Cox amused himself at Wissahickon yesterday by throwing stones at the driver of an express wagon. He was under the influence of liquor, and not being able to strike the driver, he con cluded to pepper the horses, which he succeeded in doing, but was brought to his senses by the appearance of a blue coa', who took him into entody. Alderman Ramsdell held him to abswer.

FRIGHTENED OFF .- About half-past ten o'clock last night, an attempt was made to rob the dwelling of Mr. Meminger, on Twentieth street, below Hamilton. Mr. Meminger's family is out of town. An entrance was effected into the premises through the cellar door, and while autting at the door leading to the kitchen, the thieves were frightened off by Mr. Meminger, who was sleeping in the house at the time. The

nothing for herself. With the little cripple as his guide, he found his way to her home, " wretched cellar in the filthlest part of the Fourth Ward. Passing through the subterraneau apar-ment, crowded with abject creatures of both sexes, he groped his way into another, into which no light penetrated, and no air, except the noisome vapor from the cell in front. He struck a light, and to his gaze was revealed a most sickening sight in the middle of a room recking with filth, the walls oozing with damp, the fetid atmosphere almost too thick to breathe, lay a Woman of middle age, dying by inches, with a most loathsome divease. He left the piace, try-ling hard to induce the child to go with him, but she would not leave her mother. In a few days, after receiving every attention from kinddays, after receiving every attention from kind-hearted women, the poor wretch died. Her body was properly prepared for burial; but during the night thieves came in, cut the hair from the head of the corose, stripped it of the from the head of the corose, stripped it of the elothing in which it had been robed, and left it covered only with a ragged, dirty counterpane. A wake was held by the miserable inmates of the den, and in their orgies they rolled the body over the floor until it reached the feet of the crippled child, now almost paralyzed with fear. Her screams attracted the attention of people in the street, and a couleman who entered the street, and a gentleman who entered with the crowd carried her to the Howard Mission, from which institu-tion she was sent not long ago to a good home. Mr. Dyer gave a mass of statistics of destitution and crime in New York, and argued very justly that the miserable social condition of the very poor of the city is due in a great of the very poor of the city is due in a great measure to the shape of the island on which we live. His description of the modern tenement-house, with its 1200 inmates, and his statement that below Twenty-third street dwellings of this kind give shelter to more than 500,000 people, took his audience by surprise, and prepared them for the carnest remark which followed, that "There is no use in preaching the Gospel to people crowded together 1200 in one house; there is no cure for their moral and physical ills but to unpack and scatter them where they can breathe God's pure air, and live like human

LOW LIFE.

Lecture by the "Wickedest Man" Author.

The New York Tribune of this morning pub Wahes the following account of Oliver Dyer's lecture at Cooper Institute last night on "What I have Seen in New York."

The lecturer was introduced by S. S. Packard, in whose Monthly he first called attention to the existence of John Allen's dance-honse in Water street, and awakened an interest in the popular mind which seems to be daily increasing. He opened by remarking that it had taken him fourteen years to learn what he knew of the fourteen years to learn what he knew of the dark side of New York life, which would require at least three times as long to impart. One of his last experiences among the poor, naked wretches that bide the pelting of the pitiless storm—whose houseless heads, and unfed sides, and looped and windowed raggedness cannot defend them from the cold of winter-was with a poor sewing woman in Fish street. He found her plying her needle in the open air. It was a bitter day, yet her dress consisted of but one thin garment, and her head, and neck, and feet were bare. Down in her dark and coid room, under ground was her babe, a mere skeleton. A little boy of the child by jingling two tin cups, through the handles of which he had thrust his thin arms. The mother was obliged to sew outside, for there was no light within, and medicine and food for her suffering children had to be carned. She told her visitor that when times were good she could earn $4 a week, that she paid $1'25 for her room, and that when her little ones required much of her time, or when work was scarce, or when she fell ill with the cold, it was hard to keep alive. A woman in Teath street, with two children, one paralyzed from the hips down-ward, worked out by the day, and as no family, not even the best Christian family in our city, said the speaker, wishes to have the servingwoman's children in their house, she was forced to leave them at home. When she started out to work, she would place upon the floor a bowl of water and a plate of broken bread to supply her children's wants during the day, and, lock-ing them in, would leave them till evening came and her toil was ever. This poor creature earned and her toil was over. This poor creature earned just enough to pay her rest and to provide her little family with their needed food. One day in the dead of winter he noticed near the City Hall a little girl on crutches selling penny songs. He accosted the schild, and asked her why she was thus engaged: - 'To get bread for my mother," was the reply. On questioning the girl he learned that her mother was sick, and that for a long time she had been able to do to Mr. t-lipin's claim. The Judge replied that these two questions—the one involving the validity of Mr. O'N-ill's commission, and the other the incumbency de Jaco at the office-though distinct in decisien were yet blended in argu-ment. But he wished merely to have the views of coursel upon the law applicable to the case, in order to ald the Court in coming to such a conclusion as would put an end to the difficulty, and he would be plessed to hear them at any day convenient to them. Monday next was agreed upon. COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS—Allison, P. J.— William H. Ruddiman, Prosecuting Attorney.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Anthony Curran and Thomas McConnell, carged with the larceny of ship-topes, before reported, the jury aquitted Mc-Connell, and convicted Curran of receiving stolen goeds, the second count in the Indictment. The latter was sentenced to the County Prison for nine months. The morning session was taken up by the trial of William S. Skillmer and Frank Skillman for assaults and battery upon John C. Brown. On the part of the prosecution it was alleged that Brown called to see a friend at Mrs. Skillman's house, where he had for-merly boarded, and upon crossing the threshold a furious attack was made upon him by young Skill-man. assisted by Skinner; in which he was severely braten. The defense set up that Brown had been told never to enter the house. Upon this occasion he was put out, so more violence being used than his resist-ance rendered necessary.

POLITICAL.

-Not long since, General T. F. Bowie, a leader of the Democratic party in Maryland, made a speech at Baltimore, in which he said:-"If there be any set of men I would sooner tax, it would be those men who furnished the means to carry on the most unholy war in history. would not tax them as property, but I would because I can read upon the face of these bonds contribution to an unholy and wicked purpose.

-In a speech in favor of the election of General Grant at Wheeling, last Saturday evening, Senator Carlisle, of West Virginia, said that Grant "always was a Democrat, and voted for Buchanan in 1856; and Democrats may choose between him and Blair, who always was an abolitionist."

-Senator Wilson says that he worked hard and faithfully in Maine, but he believed the great victory there was due as much to Mr. Fendle-ton's efforts as his own. He hoped, for the good of the Republican cause, that Pendleton may be continued on the stump.
