It is calculated that twice as many voters will make their appearance at the poils at the coming election than at any pre-ceding one. In the Fourth ward the estimate is twenty-five to each division, and these of the Democratic party alone. When we consider how closely this ward is built up, it seems impossible that there should be such an increase except it is accomplished by fraud. And, though exceptions were taken to certain in-formalities in the notices and returns made by the contables of the ward, the Judge said that he could not go be hind the fact that the clisson had the mserives taken this matter in hand and express d their wish, which should be respected; that when the clits as chose to t ke steps and designates place for bolding their election, the act of 1833, which was 'e enacted is oscially for this city, and which gave the people the right to make this selection, to this extent suspended the act of 1854 giving to City Councils the power of taking steps in the matter; and finally, that the Sheriff had acted as fairly and honorably as any officer could have done in placing the matter in the hands of learned counsel, with instructions to give everything its due weight, and acting in accordance with his views; and, ur der all the cling umstances, this was not a case calling for a mandamus, which was, therefore, refused.

Despatch to the Associated Press. WASHLAGTON, Sept. 26 .- The delegation of the Alabama Legislature having neglected to bring an authenticated copy of the resolution under which they are acting, will wait its arrival by mail before officially visiting the President. Governor Smith is with the party, by request of the Legislature, to advise and support the dele-gation. He has no official functions to perform here in connection with the application troops. He is of the opinion, however, that the action of the Legislature, though unusual in its form, meets the requirement of the Constitu-tion in the matter of securing Federal and for Alabama. He does not fully sympathize with the Legislature in its call for additional troops, and expresses considence in his own ability, by civil machinery, to maintain the peace of the State. The people desire peace, and he has the assurance from men of both parties of support in his efforts to that end. There is some diorder on the line of the Tennessee river and north of Mobile, but elsewhere throughout the State there are no indications of disturbances and no disposition to resist the law, and in no other portion of the State has any officer who has been regularly installed in offic been resisted in the periormance of his duties. The Governor is apprehensive that during the excitement of the coming election the opporing parties may commit acts which will lead to serious disturbances, unless restrained by some assurance from the President that they will be promptly put down by Federal authority. Be-yond this a surance Governor Smith is inclined to think no Federal interference is necessary at present.

A Murderer is taken from the Custody of Constables and Lynched. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 .- At Desmoines, Iowa, last

Sunday, two men named Kelly, alias Farley, and James Kern, while in a house of ill-tame got into an altercation, which ended by Kelly drawing a revolver and shooting Kern through the heart. The unfortunate man lived but an hour. Kelly made his escape; but on Tuesday afternoon was captured on the prairie, near Lewis, and brought to the city. The examination resulted in his being held for trial, and he was placed in the care of constables.

Soon after filt-en men in di-guise burst into the room, placed revolvers at the heads of the constables, and took the cowering wretch in charge, carried hum to a tree just outside the city limits, and hung him. It was the intention last night to burn the house in which the murder ook place, and treat the person in control to tar and feathers.

One hundred and seventy-four and a half million dollars is the assessed value of Chicago real estate, and nearly fity-three million dollars that of personal property.

Particulars of the Burning of the Steamship Melita-Rescue of the Crew.

The N. Y. Herald of this morning recounts the following:

following: A tew days since we published a brief account of the burning of the scamship Melita, Captain James Sumner, of Liverpool, on the 5th inst., while on the passage from Boston to that port. By the ship Jacob A. Scamler, Captain George Sampson, which arrived here yesterday, thirty-nine days from Havre, having on board the captain, second and third officers, surgeon, chief and second assistant engineers, steward, and fity-four of the passengers of the ill fated vessel, we have full particulars of the disaster and full assurance of the safety of all who were involved. The steamship Melita left the port of Boston, on August 27, under as fair auspices as ever on August 27, under as fair auspices as ever vessel went to sea. with an aggregate of 108 souls on board. Without forethought of disaster or prescience of ill tate in the minds of crew or passengers, she proceed d on her voyage, and at wo o'clock on the morning of the 5th instant had reached latitude 48 seg. 54 min. north, longitude 29 der. 20 min. west. At this time, and while bouting steadily along over the great weste of water stretching to the horizon on every side, a large part of the crew and most of the parsengers being wrapped in undis-turbed slumber, the cry of "Fire!" was raised. The fire gained headway, and daylight broke upon a doomed vessel and illuminated the spectacle of desperate men vainly struggling against a terrible fate menacing them beyond all hope of escape. Notwithstanding the apparent helplessness of battling against what seemed inevitable destruction, the fight was bravely maintained through the first hours of the new-born day; every glance being anxiously, ever and anon, turned towards the horizon on either side in the anxious hope of descrying some friendly sail, drawn to their relief by the column of smoke which bore testimony for miles of their desperate strait. As may naturally be supposed, the gratest alarm and consternation prevailed among the iemale passengers and children, and cries and shricks of agony mingled with the crackling of the fierce flames, increasing the general distress. At about half-past eight o'clock a sail hove in sight. At its first appearance the joy exhibited by the struggling unfortunates was beyond description, but was soon changed to a terrible dread, and faces blaccaed again at the thought that perhaps no notice would be taken of their situation. This fear, however, was dissipated, and a feeling of thankiulness and gratitude too strong for demonstrative utterance took possession of all when it became apparent that they had been perceived and that the sail was bearing down on them. The vessel proved to be the American ship Jacob A. Stam'er, Captain George Sampson, from Havre, bound to New York, and in response to a signal from Captain Summer lay to for their relief. All hope of saving the Melita had long since been given up; but to stay the progress of the fiames until such time as the passengers-mostly women and children-and crew could be got off called for every exertion. No time was had to save anything; indeed, the passengers, being with one exception in the steerage had before this lost their all; but boats being speedily got out from both vessels the work of thransferring the women and children commenced, the male passengers and crew folow ug the officers a banden a g the burning vessel in the last extremity. Twenty hours were oc-cupied in this work, and at 4 o'clock A. M. on September 6, both vessels drifted somewhat, in latitude 49 deg. 4 min. north, longitude 28 deg. 30 min. west, the Stamler got under way again, lighted on her course by the glare of the burn-ing steamer, now completely wrapped in flames, which folded her in a flerce embrace as though triumt hlug in a savage gire, having won undis-turbed possession of their prey. The next morning she had entirely disappeared.

Times this morning says:-"The Foreign Exchanges, owing | o the scarc'ty of gold for present delivery, fell off to 1083/@1083/ per cent, the very best 6-day bills on London oeing offered at or within this reduc-d quotation. One or more of the standard banking houses were anxious to draw at 1083/ per cent. It is understood that some Southern cotton bills on England are already soming forward for resule in this market, and the figures for this class of exchange open low. "The market for Money worked easy to-day to the brokets at 8@4 per cent. from private lenders, and 4 #5 per cent at bank. Most of the large Banks and Trust Companies are quoting, at 5 per cent as the lowest rate at which they are making new loans, on call, and this would certainly not be "steemed an extravagent rate under any circomstances, but the lower terms of 3@4 per cent, made br outside lenders.-chieffy the forean banking houses--and the general same of supply seem quire conclusive to des gainst any effort, as we I as against all ne-cessity for making a temporary pressure upon the market on the eve of the quarterly bank statement next week."

appointed Minister of the Interior, and M Passivi Minister of Public Works. This approach to a reconstitution of the Cabinet is preparatory o the issue of the loan based on the tobacco honds. It tends towards a combination between the members of the Right and those of the tiers parti.

M. Cadeina resigned the portfolio of the Interior, assigning ill-health as the cause; but he really quits office because his old political riends, MM. La Marmora, Lanza, Brignone, Sells, in fact all the Pledmontese, voted against him in the late discussion on the Tobacco bill. M. Cantelli, who replaces Calorna, b-longs to Central Italy. He is modest, active, and esteemed, and never had any other political bias than his constancy in agreeing with the M. Mordini is said to have accepted the Department of Agriculture and Commerce, which the retiring Minister held ad interim. The new member of the Cabinet was formerly the soul of the Left, the triend of Garibaldi and Pro-Dictator in Sicily. He had almost retired from politics. After having, in company with M. Despretis, constituted in the past seasion a sort of hybrid tiers-parts, he passed over to the Ministerial camp, saying, 'I have confidence in the Government." Those few words placed a portfolio at his feet. M. Mordini conspired in 1848, 1859, and 1862, and now has a seat in the Cabinet.

FROM NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Commencement of the Mechanics' Fair CONCORD, Sept. 26 .- The Mechanics' Fair comnences in this city on October 6, and promises to be a great success.

General Pierce is very feeble, and has recently been troubled with a cough. He receives the calls of but few friends. His nervous system is quite shattered, and it is very doubtful if he will be able to get out this fall or winter, if he ever does at all.

Excitement in Hudson City-Doings of the Ku-Klux.

HUDSON CITY, N. J., Sept. 26.—An excitement was caused in this city this morning by early risers finding what was believed to be the body of a negro, with a black carpet bag in his hand hanging from a tree. The police were on the alert and cut it down, when it was found to be a sham mask-clothing filled with saw dust, e.c.
