SPANISH ARMY HAS PLAYED AN IMPORTANT PART IN THE REVOLUTIONS WHICH HAVE BEEN SO COMMON IN SPAIN OF LATE YEARS, AND HAS AGAIN TAKEN SIDES WITH THE LEADERS OF THE LIBERAL CAUSE.

As it may now be regarded as certain that Queen Isabella and her children will be excluded from the throne of Spain, we have in her exclusion another example of that retributive justice which has followed the race to which she belongs for the last eighty years.

ORIGIN OF THE BOURBONS.

The House of Bourbon, which has given so many sovereigns to France, Spain, Italy, Portugal, &c., deriving its name from the old lords of Bourbon, a noble family which centuries ago held very large landed possessions in the former province of Bourbons, situated in the centre of France.

THE HOUSE OF BOURBON.

And what a history! Extending from 1589, when Henry IV ascended the French throne, to 1830, when Charles X was driven out of his kingdom by the revolution of July, it embraces a period filled with events of the deepest interest and of the highest possible importance to the human family.

THE BOURBONS IN SPAIN.

The establishment of the Spanish Bourbon dynasty originated with Louis XIV of France, who, in the year 1700, succeeded in placing his grandson Philip, Duke of Anjou, on the throne of Spain as Philip V.

NAVAL AND MILITARY STRENGTH OF SPAIN.

The naval strength of Spain is far below that of either England, France, Russia, or the United States. According to the latest official returns published last year, the Spanish navy, at the end of the year 1866, consisted of 107 gun vessels, having an armament of 1071 guns.

SAD MISTAKE.

A Citizen Supposed to be a Burglar is Shot.

From the New Haven Journal, Sept. 28. In the operations of burglars in Fair Haven, lately, Mr. Leonard Russell and two companions undertook the task of watching for the rogues, and on Friday night last they took a position in front of the house of Mr. Zadoc R. Morse.

Spanish army has played an important part in the revolutions which have been so common in Spain of late years, and has again taken sides with the leaders of the Liberal cause.

GENERAL EUROPEAN NEWS.

The Irish Church Difficulty.

We are enabled, says the London Globe of September 19, to state that the report of the Royal Commission on the Irish Church, which has been awaited with such intense anxiety, has been issued to day, and we are happy to add that it appears to be such as, if adopted, will remove all ground of grievance which has formed the pretext of Mr. Gladstone's assault upon the Church Establishment in Ireland.

John Stuart Mill on the Relations Between Masters and Workmen.

Mr. John Stuart Mill, M. P., has addressed the following letter to the Illustrated Weekly News, in whose columns the system of small percentages has been advocated as a means of adjusting the differences at present existing between labor and capital.

I am quite of opinion that the various forms of cooperation among which one may find applicable to production as distinguished from distribution, is what you term the system of small percentages.

Rebeck's Folly.

Says a correspondent.—Of Mr. Rebeck's foolish speech I thought we had heard the last, but this morning the Day Telegraph revises it in an article which is well meant, I dare say, but which is just as absurd as the original.

General Dix.

A Paris correspondent, on the 19th ult., speaks thus:—Some of the papers in Paris have it that General Dix has requested to be recalled.

Gambling at the German Spas.

M. de Moltke, brother of the Danish Ambassador, lost 48,000 francs at Wiesbaden on Sunday last. The better the day the better the deed, I suppose.

Artistic News.

Antonin Veitch, surnamed the French Benvenuto, is dead. He fought his way up from the humblest beginnings, and has left the reputation of a great genius.

Braxton Bragg and the Flag.

At a Democratic meeting in New Orleans on Thursday night last, Colonel Hatch was among the speakers, and the course of his remarks was singularly easy and graceful.

canal and lodging in the thick boxes just in the rear of the car. As soon as the shot was fired Mr. Morse, supposing he was assaulted by burglars, ran to the house and called his father. The mistake was at once painfully apparent.

DISASTER.

Destructive Fire in New York—Loss, Half a Million.

The New York Tribune of this morning reports the following particulars: Yesterday afternoon, at about 4 o'clock, a fire was discovered in the extensive United States bonded warehouse situated on the East river, a short distance north of the Fulton ferry-house.
