A Collector in Hot Water-How to Distribute Custom House Patronage-The Pacific Mail Carrying Awards.

The Troubles of the Chicago Clergy.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

Post-Office Contracts. WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.- The contract for printing postage stamps, the award of which was postponed by Postmaster-General Randall till October 1, has not yet been awarded. The contract for transporting the overland mail to California expired on the 30th September. Sometime last summer it was awarded to a party who has since thrown it up, finding he had taken it at too low a figure. The Postmaster-General has the matter under consideration. and will probably give the contract to the nex; highest bidder. This is a most important service, and capnot be delayed on account of the failure of contractors to fulfil their bargains, and justi fies the department in making other arrangements forthwith to keep up communication with the Pacific States.

Custom House Patronage. Collector Smythe, of New York, with a bevy of politicians of that city, arrived this morning-to make some terms with the President and Secretary McColloch in regard to the distribution of patronage in the New York Castom House, which just now keeps Smythe in hot

FROM CHICAGO

The Clerical Troubles-Destructive Fire - Grain Panic.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. CHICAGO, Oct. 2 .- A meeting was called at St. Paul's Catholic Church last night, to express sympathy with Dr. McMullen in his controversy with Bishop Duggan, but the new pastor forbade the church being opened. Considerable excitement was caused by this, and arrangements were made for a meeting of the congregation elsewhere next Saturday.

The loss by last night's fire, estimated at $60,000, is fully covered by insurance.
In the Board of Trade yesterday the resignation of E. V. Robbins, as President, was considered, and a request made that he withdraw it. The resolution to prevent corners was postponed ten days. Several additional failures in the grain trade are announced to-day. The corner in corn did not give way to-day, because the ring has an immense amount of contracts. is as much demand to-day as there was vesterday, causing prices still further to advance on closing quotations of yesterday.

A visit to Oak Hall yesterday put to rest forever any doubts we might have had of the literal truthful, ness of the advertisements of Wanamaker & Brown's Fall and Winter stock. It was their "Opening Day," and the great throng of people continually pressing in and out of their immense establishment showed how widespread was the interest they have excited; and the verdict of the multi'nde was, with one consent, "The half had not been told us."

To tell the story of all that we saw would fill a column. In fact, their Fall Trade Circular, which is but a bare enumeration of articles of men's and boys' wear, would do that. Their house fairly groans from cellar to garret with the weight of goods it con' tains. Standing at a point which commands a view of the first and second floors, one seems to be in the midst of a vast Alpine-like scene, with the mountains made of cloths, cassimeres, and doeskins-Goods in the piece, and goods made up tower on every side, giving an idea of preparations for the present sesson which could be conveyed by no amount of advertising. It is surely the place "to see the elephant" now.

And in point of style and careful work in ready made clothing, we were equally surprised. We speak advisedly, and without sear of contradict on, when we echo one of their own advertisements and say that such clothing has never before been offered in Philadelphia; and all this at prices which any man

We congratulate them on the success of their 'Opening,' and taking it as an index of the trade they are sure to do this season, their preparations are by no means too extensive.

The "Opening" is to be continued, for the benefit of the convention's sand the great number of citizens who were unable to visit Oak Hall yesterday, until the end of the week

NOTE THESE FACTS.-The object of this article is to call the attention of the feeble and alling to themselves. Ordinarily, business, pleasure, in short almost every. thing in this sublunary world obtains more consideration than the preservation of that blessing with which nothing earthly should be put in comparison, viz .:health. This is a dangerous season, and it does not find the human system in the best condition to dety its perils. To use a homely phrase, the torrid summer weather "takes the starch out of people," and leaves them limp and languid. The fires of vitality burn low. The naturally feeble are unusually depressedthe naturally strong are not as vigorous as they might be. Feven-eighths of the community feel more or less the influence of the atmospheric changes which produce the malarious diseases common in October and November. It is as a protective against the effects of these changes that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BIT-TERS have obtained no small portion of their cele brity. The GREAT VEGETABLE TONIC OF THE AGE IS not only a specific for Chronic Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and Nervous Complaints, but also a preventive of malarious epidemics. Whoever wishes to be insured agains: an attack of intermittent or re mittent fever (both of which prevail to a melaucholy extent all over the country), will do well to resort. without delay, to this famous invigorating and antipillous specific. Quintue has had its day. It leaves a sting belond, and physicians are beginning to discard it. But Postetten's Bittens become more popular and command a vaster sale with each successive season, simply because they produce a better medicinal effect than any of the powerful poisons used as tonics, and are at once a safe and palatable preparation.

Affairs in Spain-The ex-Queen's Arrival in France-Death of Novalichez-A Reactionary War Probable.

By Atlantic Cable.

London, Oct. 2 .- Telegrams have been received in this city, by way of Paris, dated at Bayonne, France, Thursday evening, which report the entry of the exiled Queen of Spain into the territory of the empire and her reception and shelter by Napoleon.

Finding that the revolution was a "fact accomplished," Isabella broke up the semblance of the court held at San Sebastiana during the morning of Wednesday, September 30, and set out at an early hour for France. She was accompanied to the frontier by a detachment of Spanish halberdiers, whom she dismissed when about to step from the soil of Spain to that of France.

The ex-Queen breakfasted at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, at Hendaye, and arrived at Napoleon's summer retreat at Blarritz at half-past 2 o'clock in the atternoon. The Emperor Napoleon, the Empress Eugenie, with the Prince Imperial of France, were assembled at the chateau, where they received the fallen Bourbon. An interview they received the fallen Bourbon. An interview extending fifteen minutes in duration took place between the distinguished party.

The ex-Queen took her departure immediately after the termination of the conference, entered a carriage of a special train set apart for her use by the officers of the railroad, and was taken to Bayonne, where she arrived at a quarter to three o'clock. Senor Marfori.

At Bayonne they met the other members of the late Ministry, when Senor Gonzales Bravo held conversation with the ex-Queen for about five minutes, took leave and retired.

During her residence in France Isabella will inhabit the castle now belonging to the Emperor Napoleon, as Pau: the last of the Bourbons sheltered in the cradle of the race, Isabella of Spain the guest of a Bonaparte in the house where Henri IV was born. Madrid remained quiet at the latest moment of date of the telegrams to-day.

Madrie, Oct. 2 .- The official gazette of this city, issued by direction of the previsional junta ot government, publishes an official proclamation pronouncing the deposition of the Queen, Isabella the Second, and proclaiming the sovereignty of the people. The document concludes with the words-instead of "God save the Queen"-"Down with the Bourbons,"

The principal mercantile and banking firms of Andalusia have already tendered to the provisional government the offer of a loan of 160,000,000 of reals for present uses of the service. General Novaliches died in this city this morning from the effects of wounds received in the battle between the royalist troops under his command and the revolutionary forces under General Serrano, near Cordova.

General Calonge, of the royal army, when about to fly from Spain with the view of joining the other monarchical exiles in France, was arrested and handed over by the soldiers of the revolutionary provisional junta at Burgos. Don Sebastian advised the ex-Queen to resist the action of the people, and thus inaugurate a civil war, but the inhabitants of the Basque proo had remained loval, refused pish either men or money for such purpose, and so the idea was abandoned.

The Basque provinces have since pronounced in favor of the revolution.

The Marquis de Novaliches. General Novalichez, of whom our Spanish despatches have spoken so frequently of late, died in Madrid yesterday morning, of wounds received in the recent battle with the revolutionary Genera! He has figured prominently in the civil as well as political affairs of his country, having been President of the Council of Ministers, and acted a conspicuous part in the O'Donnell movement of 1856. He has joyed the most complete confidence of the Queen, in whose behalf he has lately fought

THE RECEPTION OF JUDGE BREWSTER LAST EVENING .- The following is a fuller report of the ceremonies at the reception of Judge Brewster, last evening, which is noticed on our inside pages:—After a general shaking of hands the members of the Bar formed in a semicircle in the drawing-room, and Mr. Remak welcomed the Judge home in the most felicitous expressions of good-will and esteem. He said that this was a spontaneous, cordial, and most sincere manifestation on the part of the Bar, whose senior and junior members, all in one heart, unite in their high regard and affection for the Judge. None more so, however, than his con temporaries at the Bar, who had rejoiced at his great success as a practitioner, and had learned to love him for his many excellent qualities as a gentleman and professional brother. His eleva-tion to the bench had been hailed by them with joy; and there was no one holding a public trust certainly none of the judiciary-who to a greater degree enjoyed the esteem and good-will the whole Bar, as well as of the community, of which be was an honored member. Pre-eminently qualified for judicial position, may be long be spared to hold it, or any higher one his countrymen may call upon him to till. The Judge, who had evidently been completely taken by surprise by this demonstration, was much affected, and thanked the gentlemen present in his usually happy mode. Very excellent speeches were made by William L. Hurst, William L. Denuis, Hon, James H. Campbell, J. Gordon Brinckle, James R. Rhoads, George Bull, Richard Ludlow and others. A GRAND GRANT AND COLFAX AND TAYLOR meeting was held at Holmesburg last night.
The Frankford Club turned out 500 strong, and The Frankford Club turned out 500 strong, and the procession, like an army with banners, was two miles long. The house of Samuel Stokes, Esq., was splendidly illuminated, and after the speeches Mr. Stokes handsomely entertained Mr. Caleb N. Taylor, the member of Congress, Mr. Scovel, and others. The audience numbered several thousands, and was addressed by Alisha W. Davis, Speaker of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, Hon. James M. Scovel, Hon. Mr. Taylor, Christian Kneass, Esq., and others. It was a great demonstration, and struck the common enemy with dismay. The meeting adjourned at midnight. Colonel Clark, the candidate for the Legislature, was chief marshal, and the torn battle-dag of his regiment was carried in the procession.

BORN ON THE SIDEWALK .- This morning, between 1 and 2 o'clock, a woman entered the Second District Station House, having in her arms a child but ten minutes old, to which she had just given birth upon the steps of a dwelling at Front and Christian streets. The mother and child were well cared for.

Judge Sharswood. In the form in which this application now stands, I have no power to act. The act of June, 1836, expressive numerates the cases in which a Judge of the Supreme Court has an nority to issue the warrant for contempt. (Here his Honor cited from the statute.) But the present case is not included in these. True, I am a Judge of the Peace, and can issue a warrant, upon the satisfactory oaths being made, for the arrest of a party. But I understand this party has already been arrested, and I am prevented by this act from issuing the attachment prayed for.

Mr. Smith asked whether the inct that this man had in his possession the pages and seal of this Court, which would not likely have been taken from the effice of their legal custod an, the Prothonotary, was not such contempt of Court as would render him liable to be brought in by this warrant?

Judge Sharswood—No. I do not see how I could grant this werrant. I will ask the Chief Justice here at my side about it.

Chief Justice Thompson—You can't do it; I am positive you cannot.

Mr Michichael—Could he not be brought in upon your Ho, of suggest or, the Court acting as a Justice of the Peace. For additional Legal News see First Page.

Judge Sharswood—If he were brought up in that way, I could not compel him to answer.

Ar. Smith—But if the sear of the Court has been by him appended to papers without authority, would not that be enflicient contempt to justify the issuing of this warrant?

inis warrant?

Judge Sharswood—The only legal way that I see by which you might reach him would be to take a rule against the Prothonolary and b log this man in upon against the Prothonolary and b ing this man in upon subpons.

Mr. McMichael—This proceeding is so unusual and of so great importance that I think we should reach it if such a thir g were possible.

Mr. Theodore Cuyler here said:—May it please your honor. I appear here at the invitation of Colonel Stowden, not professionally, but as his personal friend. While I agree with my friend Colonel McMichael as to the importance of the case, yet as a lawyer I cannot see the rules of law departed from. The purest integrity of the Prothonolary, Colonel Snowden, has prompted him to request your Honors to bring in this person and discover how he has been able to commit this fraud. But, ser, I do not see how it can be done in accordance with the known rules of law. You sit as a justice of the peace, but how are you going se exercise your au horty when the concurrent jurisdiction of another officer has already attached? You sit as a judge of the Supreme Court, but now you are sitting at Nist Prius only. Such a process as a here asked for should come from the Court in Eanc.

Jugge Sharswood—Why not let a yole be entered

Judge sharswood—Why not let a rule be entered again tibe Protionniary to show cause why the attachment should not issue, and then subpound this party. If he be brought in under that, we can have his statement. I do not think the fact of his having the impression of the seal would qualify me in allowing the stacoment; but let the rule be entered. This is a very novel case, and I will be glad to have it ferreted out. If the condition of the office is such that its papers can be smuggled out in this menner, it is a great imputation of Irregularity in its management. Co one! Showlen has said that he have a signed black papers and my instruction to him has been, never to sign any cartificate without first having compared it with the petition accompanying it, in order to see that they correspond. However, it would be as well to let the Prothomatry ask for florry to examite into the matter and obtain any light he can.

Colonel Showden made this request, which was granted, and the Chief Justice was sworn as a witness. After inspecting each of the twelve frau hillent papers, he said:—"I have been familiar with Colonel showden's signature for thirty-five or forcy years, and say positively that in ne of these are it."

Cross-examined by Mr. McMichelent I cannot say whether or not these are genuine impressions of the seal. I am not sufficiently acquainted with it, dever having examined it minutely with a view to identify it."

Thomas B Worrall sworn—I have been an officer n Eanc.
Judge sharswood-Why not let a rule be entered

Thomas B Worrall sworn—I have been an officer of this court seventeen years, and am familier with Colonel Snowden's signature; none of these are his. Cross examined—I am not sufficient y familiar with the scal to cetect a counterfelt, unless a very bad one; I have been an officer of this court seventeen years, but not employed in the office; the papers of the office seidom come into my hands, and consequently I very rarely have occasion to examine the seal.

Officers Shell and Johnson, of the Court, testified to the same effect.

Charles B. Ross sworn—I am Search Clerk in the office of this Court, and have been since December, 1855: I know Colonel Snowden's signature; none of these are h: I am familiar with the seal; have to make an impression of it upon every search certificate that goes out of my hand; I would not like to say whether these impressions are genuine or counterfelts; but it they are genuine, I do not see why they would not be sharper.

In answer to a question by the Judge:—I never knew a blank certificate to be kept in the office with the seal upon it.

In answer to a question by the Judge:—I never knew a blank certificate to be kept in the office with the seal upon it.

At the close of this examination Judge Sharswood said:—'I see no ground now for a rule or attachment against the officer of the Court. These affidavits read to me raised a mere implication of irregalarity on his part, which might justify a rule. But now, in the face of this testimony, I do not see how I can issue the attachment. If the man was brought here as a witness I could not compel him to answer If he declined upon the ground of self-orimination.

Mr. McMichael—Before your Honor decides the question I would ask leave to confer with my calleague. The matter has assumed an attitude we what is best to Be done.

Of course, time was given him, and after consultation he continued:—We are auxious to take no steps or urge no measure upon the court that would seem to be prempted by maics or partisan zeal, or that would raise an imoutation of wrong against any public officer; and more especially one standing as high as colonel Snowden. But we have a duty to perform, and though unpleasant, yet we feel bound to do it. We had not introduced these alguatures as evidance of anything improper in the conduct of Colonel Snowden. We had offered ne testimony to prove them genuine or spurious. But since Colonel Snowden has seen it blusselt to bring their character in question, we must now adopt another course. While he proves the signatures forgethe conduct of Colonel Snowden. We had offered ne testimony to prove them genuine or spurious. But since Colonel Snowden has seen fit himself to bring their character in question, we must now adopt another course. While he proves the signatures torgeries your Honor will observe that no testimony has been offered as to the seal; there is nothing to prove that it is not the seal of the Court. But it is found upon these frantialient papers. Therefore, we consider it to the interest of the Prothonotary, as well as the privilege of the persons whom we represent, that this rule should be granted, and testimony taken in regard to the seals. If this is the result of regiserce, it should at least receive the scrutiny of the court. If the fault lies at the door of his subordinates, we will be giad to know it. We should bring it home to the perpetrator. If Mr. Cuyler can suggest any method or proceeding by which we could avoid the unpleasant receive his subgestion, But as the matter row stands, sir, we ask the Court to grant the role as before mentioned.

Mr. Cuyler—I should have hoped your bonor, that, after hearing the testimony adduced by Colone! Snowden in the investigation, we wil giandly receive his suggestion. But as the matter row stands, sir, we ask the Court to grant the role as before mentioned.

Mr. Cuyler—I should have hoped your bonor, that, after hearing the testimony adduced by Colone! Snowden, my friend, as a member of the bar, as a gentleman, would have conceded that the officer was thoroughly vindicated. But I must regret that he has not seen his way clear to deso. What ground is there, sir, for this role? None, sir. The testimony of the Chief Justice and the other witnesses has established the fact that the papers are not genuine. This precludes your honor from granting a role against the Prothonotary. It is not my place to point out a remedy to the other side, but I will merely remind them that the criminal Court is open to them for the paul-hument of any offence. But I will merely remind them that th
