A DIET FOR MENTAL DYSPEPTICS, AND A CURE FOR HY-POCHONDRIA, HY-POCKINY, OR ANY COMPLAINT OF A HY ORDER.

THE ESSENCE OF THE LONDON WAGS, EX-PRESSED BY OUR SERIES EDITOR.

From "Punch."

LA LANTERNE .- M. Henri Rochefort is obliged to fly from France to Prussia, Prussia to Amsterdam, Amsterdam to Geneva, and many other places before the number appears, dodging about like a Feu Follet, or, as we should call it in English, a Jack o'Lautern.

THE MINIMUM OF INDUSTRY .- Lollius is not the idle fellow his enemies and tradespeople assert. The other day his "features worked."

THE A. P. U. C .- The Rev. F. G. Lee, who was once a most energetic advocate for the celibacy of the Anglican clergy, but has some time since dropped the subject as one of minor importance (perhaps he will drop everything gradually for the same reason), gives a slap at the Haydock Ecclesiastics, and then gets up a ceremonial in his own Church on the anniversary of the A. P. U. C. Do these letters mean the Association for Promoting Useless Ceremonies?

Not this Time.-Trimingham, the great Army Reformer, seeing an article in the Pall Mall Gazette, with the heading "Military Messes," was greatly disappointed at finding it was not an exposure of more Horse Guards

WHERE TO GO FOR YOUR HOLIDAY .- Idleberg. A SLANG CATECHISM.

Q. What is an Aristocrat? A. A Swell, a Nob.

Q. Is there a distinction between a Swell and a Nob? A. Rayther so. All Nobs are Swells, but a Swell ain't necessarily a Nob.

Q. Give an example.

A. The Markis of Astings, he's a Nob and he's a Swell; Mr. Augustus Smith, in some Government hoffice or other, as goes about with Markisses and dresses no end-he's a Swell, but he ain't a Nob. Q. Whence do you derive the appellation Nob ! A. From a door-handle. As there's always a'mest a knob to a handle, so in society it's the handle to the name as makes the Nob. Q. Into what classes do you divide Society A. Into Nobs, which includes regular Nobs: Swells, which includes Tiptoppers, Regular Swells, Cheap Swells, Gents, Snobs, and Cockywaxes.

Q. What is a Regular Nob? A. As aforesaid. Handle to name, tin, togs, and all complete. Q. What is a Tip-top Swell?

A. Mostly Coves in four-in-'ands. From twenty to thirty-live. Q. A Regular Swell? A. He is a older cove-from thirty-five to fifty. He rayther runs to fat, but there ain't a speck on him anywhere, and his boots and tile are out-and-out. Q. The terms Cheap Swell, Gent, and Snob require no explanation. What, then, is a

A. It's a term of endearment, and may include any of the above, or may be a class by itself, without a swell or nob in it. Cockywaxes are any age. If addressing a Cockywax you qualify it by prefixing "old" or "young." Q. You mention Togs; whence is this word

A. Undoubtedly from the Latin Toga. "Togs" means dress.

Q. When was the word Cove first used? A. It was imported by the Romans, and was first used in an abbreviated form by the British whenever they saw Covinarius, i. e., a soldier in a war-chariot.

Q. Explain and give derivations of the words Trump, Brick, Chap, Guffin, and Bloke. Also in each case give your reference.

A. I will. Walker! [Exit Answerer. HEYDAY! HAYDOCK!-The Papists have long taunted us, quite unjustly, with a Nag's Head Consecration. But we fear we can't refute the taunt against a Pig's Head Ritualism. Was it a tithe-pig?

QUEER TASTE.-What strange ways foreigners have! A Congress (the latest variety) has just been held at Amsterdam, of "Low German authors!" Only one writer is mentioned by name as having had the Conscience to be present.

AD IMPERATOREM. - What the French Government ought to do with La Lanterne? Make light of it.

From "Fun."

DRAD SEA FRUIT .- From grog-blossoms. THE SERVIAN QUESTION .- If-as the papers are forever informing us—the Servian's (S)kup's china, of what is his saucer made?

UNACCOUNTABLE .- A contemporary, which appears to have been in the sun, says that "a marriage is to take place between the son of Count Walewski and the daughther of"—and here it breaks off and suddenly says "Count Sala." Versatile as Mr. Sala is, and ubiquitous as he appears at times to be, we never had any difficulty in counting him, and we fear that our centemporary's sudden effort to count Mr. Sala is a sign of Walewski-we beg pardon-of whisky in the hair.

BEAUTIFUL FOR EVER (?).

(Awful state of things consequent on late legal proceedings.) My Lady-"Good gracious! Hodson, do you mean to say that there's no more 'Arabian Enamel' to be obtained? Why I'm positively cracking all over !"1

Hodson (improving the occasion)-"So you are, my lady! And what's worse, my lady, it's beginning to chip off'!"

THE IRREPRESSIBLE HUMMING-BIRD HAWK MOTH.—A lady has written to the papers to say that she has seen recently in Staffordshire, Cheshire, and Warwickshire, "humming-birds' with plumage of reddish-brown speckled on the back with white. Either the good lady has mistaken a moth for a bird, or she is doing the "humming" herself.

Nor Saw !- A young lady writes to inform us of a curious phenomenon. She has a sewing machine which is an accomplished vocalist. I begins with a little "hemming" to clear its throat, and then "runs up" the seam or seale with "Should he up-braid." We presume it is a "Singer Sewing Machine."

BENEFIT (?) OF CLERGY.-What a name for one of the latest engines of war! "The Parsons' Converted Gun."

Don't "Down" with Your Dust! - For mining speculations are ticklish affairs to deal with. Do they fail?—you are figuratively speaking "put in the hole." Are they succesaful ?-you will ever have a lode on your

FROM EUROPE BY CABLE.

MADRID, Oct. 16 .- Admiral Mendez Nunez has been appointed by the Provisional Government, Captain General of the fleet. His former flag efficer, Captain Tabo, has been appointed to the command of the Spanish squadron in the Pacific. The scarcity and consequent high prices of food and wine are abating. Maprin, Oct. 16 .- The Central Junta have issued a decree declaring all children born of slaves after the 17th inst. free.

In the apportionment of deputies for the constituent Cortes the Spanish colonies are entitled to four representatives. LONDON, Oct. 16 .- It is understood that the basis agreed to by Mr. Johnson and Lord Stanley, for a settlement of the Alabama question, is that a mixed commission shall be formed, which will hold its seasions in London and pass upon all claims preferred by English and American citizens. LONDON, Oct. 16 .- The London Times to-day, in an article on the Chinese mission, thinks that the fact that Mr. Burlingame is not a native of China will be no obstacle to his success at the Courts to which he is accredited. They will forget it if he does. If he abstains from interference with political intrigues in which China can certainly have no healthy or natural interest; if he acts as though there would be ne separate national interests in Europe and America, as indeed there are not, so far as their relations with China are concerned; and if he accepts it as the primary function of his mission to discover and explain what are the best lines of trade both for China and the western countries, he will have accomplished much for China and something for the rest of the world. No State can have as personal an interest in a success of this sort as Great Britain, and none would be more willing concur therein. PARIS, Oct. 16 .- The Senate and Corps Legislatif meet on the 11th of November.

Paris, Oct .16 .- The Etendard asserts that Prim is ntriguing to gain supreme power, but Espartero, who is daily expected in Madrid, disapproves the influence of Prim in the government, and will do his utmost to thwart his designs. The Gaulois predicts that the European Powers will soon recognize the Provisional Junta as the de facto government of Spain.

It is officially announced that an encounter took place at Tunis between Spanish troops and a band of insurgents, in which the latter were defeated, and took to flight. Several were taken prisoners. The party was headed by Pedro Aquilera. All the other districts of the island are tranquil.

Advices from Hayti report bitter dissensions among the revolutionists. Generals Dominiques, Saget, and Rebecca have each been proclaimed President by their respective troops. The towns of Petif, Goane, Decaline and Geremie are in posses don of Salnave, who is daily gaining strength.

The latest authentic news from Tunis announces he successful progress of the campaign against the insurgents. They appeared in that district in three or four separate bands, all under the head of Aguilera. After the defeat of the largest body they all dispersed, and are trying to reach the seashore, with the probable intention of finding ships on which to escape from the country. Troops are pursuing them in various directions.

The bands were composed of bandits, whom Captain General Lersundi's vigorous measures had driven to the mountains. There were also among them a number of persons without regular occupation, and ready for anything which promised excitement. The entire number of insurgents was about 200. The Captain General will send a manof-war to prevent stragglers from leaving the coast.

Puerto Principe and other towns in the vicinity of the disturbance remain quiet, as the citizens are in favor of the present government. The expulsion of Santa Anna from Taboada has put an end to recruiting and other demonstrations against the Mexican government. Lersundi declared while in command that he would not permit any conspiracy in this island against a foreign government. The weather is hot, but rainy. The city and island are healthy. From New York.

New York, Oct. 16.—The Republicans of the first Congressional district have nominated Alfred i. Wood for Congress. New York, Oct. 16.—The Democrat says Gov.

Seymour has written a letter placing himself in the hands of the National Committee.

The Congressional Committee continued their investigation in the whisky frauds to-day. Several witnesses were examined. Mr. Binckiey is still contumacious, and neglects to produce any papers or give any information. The ball of McHenry, accused of perjury in the Rollins conspiracy case, has been raised to $5000 to secure his appearance. George Atwell, a mail messenger in the New York Post-office, was before the United States Commissioner charged with robbing the mails, and committed to answer.

Alfred Brodhead, of Hoboken, aged nineteen years, is under arrest charged with violating the person of his aunt in August last. She is said to be enciente.

enciente. The distillery of Leon A. Canler, in west Nineteenth street, was damaged to the amount of $5500 by fire to-day, caused by the bursting of a receiver.

An alleged counterfeiting establishment in Mulberry street was suppressed last night. Two arrests were made, and about $1500 in spurious fifty cent stampts and greenbacks secured. The family of the late Nathaniel Hawthorne are about to sail for Germany to reside.

New York, Oct. 16.—The match between the All England Eleven and a selected twenty-two cricketers of the United States terminated this afternoon, on the St. George's cricket grounds, in favor of the Eleven, in one innings, with eight runs to spare. The full score was: All England Eleven, first innings, 143; Twenty-two, first innings 70, second do. 45. This is the sixth and last match of the series, in all of which the English cricketers have won.

An international base ball match between nine English crickers, without an American base ball player, and the celebrated ex-champion Union nine, will be played on the St. George's ground on Tuesday, October 20th; after which the cricketers will leave for England.

New York, Oct. 16.—The Convention spent the greater part of this, its ninth day's session, in discussing the report of the Committee on Canons in reference to the support of the Episcopate. By a decisive vote of the Convention it was decided that, before the creation of a new diocese, provision for New York, Oct. 16 .- The match between the All decisive vote of the Convention it was decided that, before the creation of a new diocese, provision for the maintenance of the Episcopate satisfactory to the General Convention should be provided. A motion to strike out of the Prayer Book the words in the Bishop's commission to Presbyters, "whose sins Thou dost forgive," "they are forgiven, &c.," was tabled. A feature of the session to-day was the reference to a committee a proposal to amend Canon 9th, title 1st, forbidding clergymen of other denominations to officiate in Episcopal churches. A determined attempt was made by the low church members to table the resolution, but it failed.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 16.—The little steamer Hesper, which left here at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, with 400 stand of arms, which it is alleged are destined for the negroes of Arkansas, returned to this port to-day. Her officers state that while loading some twenty-five miles below here on the Mississippl side, the steam tug Nettie Jones bore in sight with a barge in tow, containing four men, disguised, who took possession of the Hesper, placing guards over the pilot and engineer, then cut the boat loose and steamed up the river.

The boxes containing the arms and ammunition were broken open, and the arms thrown into the river. After thus disposing of the arms, the party re-embarked and started back up the river. In attempting to go through the shute she grounded. The party then went ashore and took to the woods. It is said that the party seized the tug below Fort Pickering soon after the Hesper had left this port. The affair causes great endement here. MEMPHIS, Oct. 16 .- The little steamer Hesper.

WILMINGTON, Oct. 16.—The City Hall was packed with a spiendid audience to hear Stockett Mat-thews, who spoke for two hours and a quarter. His delineation of the character of Grant, and vindication of "carpet-baggers" and "scalawags" of the south were greeted with repeated rounds of ap-plause. Colonel Matthews goes to assist in the canvass of New Jersey.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Swapping Horses.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. There is no doubt that the proposition to put a new Democratic ticket in the field is received with favor both by the President and Chief Justice

Chase.

The Intelligencer's editorial favoring the movement was inspired from the White House, and enough is known of the character of the gentlemen gathered at the residence of the Chief Justice last night to make it certain that they would not entirely eschew a discussion of so congenial a subject. Hancock has had enough of Democratic blandishments, and says that their defeat is now certain whatever they may do.

Rosecrans says it is too late for a change of front; that the party has fallen irretrievably into the hands of the rebels, and must suffer the consequences.

Montgomery Blair says the mistake was in not putting Frank at the head of the ticket.

The Richmond Dispatch, of yesterday, has an editorial article hinting at a change of candidates, and intimating that if the New York Convention had nominated Chase he could have been elected.

From South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, Oct. 16 .- There was a large meet ing here this evening to hear Hon. John Quincy Adams speak. In the course of his speech Mr. Adams said, if Grant is elected it will not be as bad for the south as many here appear to think. That they should remember, however, above all things, that whether they like it or not, they could do nothing. They could not again go to war. Where would they get munitions, or even banners. The policy of the south is peace.

The north desires assurances that slavery will not be re-established, neither in its old form nor yet as a punishment for crime, and there must be perfect freedom of speech. Fortress Monroe, Oct. 16.—The steamers George Leary, Lady of the Lake and Eolus, having on board about two thousand delegates of the Commercial Convention, passed here for the Capes at noon, and returned. They were received on the wharf and welcomed by Gen. Barry, and passed inside the fort. A review of the troops was had, and various points of interest visited, especially Jeff. Davis' former quarters. The party returned to Norfolk at three o'clock this afternoon.

Art Items.

'Eight years ago the Committee on Arts and Sciences, under a report to the Common Council of this city, recommended the purchase, for the adorument of the City Hall, of a copy in bronze of the Houdon statue of George Washington. Before the report could be acted upon, the breaking out of the war diverted the attention of our people to other and more pressing matters than art, and, moreover, the wher and artificer of the copy (the late W. J. Hubard) was then hving in Virginia, with which State all communication had been broken off. The work itself-which had been brought to this city with the view of offering it to the municipal authorities-was never returned, but still remains here awaiting the disposal of Mr. Hubard's representatives. It is now proposed, default of the acquisition of so tine a work by the corporation, to purchase it for the Park by private subscription; and it is not doubted that when our citizens shall have made themselves acquainted with the surpassing merits of Houdon's statue and this bronze fac simile the money will be cheerfully supplied. With the desire of contributing to the accomplisbment of this end we have a few words to say of the sculptor, the original statue in marble, and the replica which the citizens of New York have now a most fortunate opportunity of securing. Nicholas Houdon was one of the most eminent sculptors of France, and was in the height of his fame at the time that he was chosen by Mr. Jeffer on to execute for the State of V.rginia a statue of her greatest son, the pater patrix. Houdon had shown in ideal works the highest constructive genius, but his supreme excellence was in the exactitude and fidelity of his delineations of form. He reproduced in marble with the most wonderful accuracy any Lying model that was submitted to him, and in the working out of details he had no equal in his day. From a shape block of marble, he carved day. From a single block of marble he carved a human skeleton, which is now to be seen in one of the museums of Paris, and which is not to be distinguished from the natural skeletons that surround it. In the vestibule of the Theatre Français, in the Palais Royal, the visitor sees his sitting statue of Voltaire, a work so instinct with life, so wonderfully verisimiar in the mocking smile that sat always on the lips of the philosopher of Ferney, that it looks as it the living subject had been suddenly turned into stone. Mr. Jefferson, who had been commis-sioned by the State of Virginia to select an artist to commemorate in sculpture the greatness of Washington, recognized at once in this one truit of Houdon-his marrellous truthfulness-what was, above all things, wan'ed in the important work to be done. Idealization of the commanding figure of Washington was not wanted. To reproduce his majestic presence, to represent him as he moved among men, to band him down in form and semblance as he was, not in Roman toga, not as a mythical hero, not as a demi-god but wesning the habiliments of his time, and as a republican c tizen of America, this was what the sculptor should do, and this Houdon, alone of all sculptors, could do most successfully. Accordingly his services were secured, and he came at once to Mount Vernon, and there, from careful study of his illustrious model he made the statute which now stands in the Capitol at Richmond, and which has commanded, for more than eighty years, the admiration of all who have visited that city. Thirteen years ago the late W. J. Hubard, himself eminent as an artist, obtained permission of the Legislature of Virginia to make copies of this statue in brouze. He creeted a foundry at Richmond, and from moulds carefully taken of the whole figure produced three copies. One of these was inaugurated with appropriate ceremonies at Lexington. Virginia, on the 4th of July, 1856, when Henry A. Wise delivered an oration before the eadets of the Virginia Military Institute. The second was purchased by the State of North Carolins. The third is that which it is now proposed to purchase for the Park. All these copies are exact and faith-

Washington ever made, and that none so good can possibly be made hereafter. Moreover, experience has shown that for the open air bronze statuary is preferable to marble. The equestian statue of Marcus Aurelius at Rome has come down to us in excellent preservation from the age of the Casars, while the marble nymphs that decorate the gardens of the Roman nobility have crumbled under an exposure of two centuries. The bronze copy of Houdon's statue of Washington, now offered for the Park, can be purchased for one half the cost of an original commission, and we trust that the disinterested proposal to have the Houdon Washington erected on some fine site of our magnificent pleasure on some one site of our magnitacent pleasure ground may meet with public favor."

—Victor Nehlig is working up a large and interesting scriptural subject entitled "Paul before Festus, and Agrippa and Wife." The principal figures, Festus, Agrippa and wife are upon a tribune formed by the portico of the palace; on either side of them are massive columns which support the overbanging roof. Paul stands before his judges in the attitude of speaking, with his right arm raised and giving utterance to his noble defense, to wit :-" think myself bappy, King Agrippa, because shall answer for myself this day before thee, touching all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews," etc. Paul is surrounded by figures the Jews." etc. Paul is surrounded by figures of centurions, and Loctors bearing the fasces, and Roman citizens. The group sitting in judgment is supported by members of the court, senators, and priests. Bernice, the wife of Agrippa, is a neure drawn in the voluptuous type of Oriental beauty, clothed in a gorgeous flowing robe which falls in graceful lines about her person. Of the figures, that of Paul expresses dignity and earnestness; and those of the judges are in the attitude of attention, and in the person of Agrippa is fully expressed the force of the memorable words which he utters force of the memorable words which he utters at the conclusion of Paul's defense: - "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." The dresses have been closely studied by the artist, and the figures are grandly grouped and full of action, and are drawn and modelled with knowledge of the human form in al its nobility of living and breathing life, Mr. Nehlig's cartoon of the "Bescue of Captain John Smith by Pocahonias" is now to be worked up by the artist in color. The design for the picture is a grand one, and tells the story in a spirited manner.

- H. C. Bispham has just finished a new pic ture entitled 'The Roman Wine Cart," The scene is on the Campagna, and the cart, drawn by sturdy oxen, has been haited by the driver at a wayside well. The laudscape is simply a reminiscence of the Campagna, its background a range of mountains known as Genaro. The cart is of the Roman fashion, a vehicle in use during the time when Rome governed the world, and has been handed down without improvement or modification to the present day. The patient cattle, with their wide-extended horns, are drawn with judgment, and broadly painted, and the old car with its driver clad in skins, who sits perched upon the seat with an ancient umbrella-like covering to protect him from the rays of the sun, is as true in its rendering of the cart of ages and as it is of its modern prototype. At the side of the fountain a woman is standing. and a dog in the roadway finishes the tableau. The mountains in the background are of a purplish hue, tender in color, and harmonizing with the sky, which is of that luminous texture in color, a pale orange near the mountain tops, and as it ascends assuming a mellow blue tone. Mr. Bispham paints broadly, and his rendering is strong and effective.

-A few evenings ago several critics and art connoisseurs met in the pariors of the Fifth avenue gallery, New York, to enjoy a "private view" of a new picture by Mr. Jerome Thompson, entitled "Home, Sweet Home," which is now on public exhibition at that place. The picture is intended as a companion for the "Old Ocker Backet," of which so many clavers have Oaken Bucket," of which so many chromos have been sold. The two pictures are similar in design, treatment, and effect. The latest picture represents a rural scene in which a small one-story house in the middle foreground is the most prominent object. The projecting old-fashioned bakeoven, the small windows, and the thatched roof give the bouse a homelike aspect, which is enhanced by the surroundings—bee-hives on the le t, common flowers and garden plants in front, a little orchard on the right, and a stable in the rear. In the distance, on the bank of the river which bends around into the right foreground, are seen the steeples and prominent buildings of a considerable town. An old lady and child are in front of the house. A chromo of the picture has been made. -Mr. S. R. Guy has on his casel a small figure-picture called "The Morning Glory," which represents a young golden-haired girl, who has got up at early dawn to pick the 'morning glories" on the trellises of a verandah. She stands in her white nightgown, which is partly held up in her left hand, while her right is reached out for one of the flowers. The large, finely-veined leaves which cover one side of the veraudah contrast with the cool grey morning light which pervades the picture. 'Looking for the Light' is another picture which is nearly completed. It gives an ideal head and bust of a child looking upward, with hands clasped together, at the beams of light which come in through an unseen opening and struggle with the dark shadows all around the back-ground of the picture. -Several statues are under way or projected in England and on the Continent:—One of Lord Clyde, in Glaspow, the work of J. Foley; one in Birmingham, of James Watt; one in Carlisle, of the late Earl of Carlisle; one of Napoleon I. in Grenoble; an equestrian statue of Charle magne, in Liege; one of Charles XII, of Sweden, n Stockholm, and one of Greuze, the painter, in Tourus, his native town.
