THE LIVER A PROPERTY OF THE PR

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The Worrell Sisters at the Chesnut. The English version of Offenbach's opera of The Grand Duchess of Gerolstein, now being performed at the Cuesnut Street Theatre by the Worrell Sisters and their New York Company, has been announced as a burlesque on the original work. This is true in one sense of the word and not in another. A burlesque may be either an amusing piece of extravaganza and exaggeration, in which things not in themselves laughable are carreatured and shown up in a humorous manner, or it may be a silly attempt to imitate something of recognized ment, without succeeding in doing so. In one case we laugh with the actors and in the other we laugh at them, and the quality of our mirth in the two cases is by no means the same. The company now at the Chesaut give a very feeble imitation of the super-excellent performance of Bateman's troupe of French artists, and the most amusing portion of the entertainment is to see the style in which the airs and graces and gestures of the French actors are minicked by the Misses Worrell and their coadjutors. It is the play of Hamlet with the part of "Hamlet" omitted, for all the nicety and perfection of detail, all the vivacity and artistic finish, are wanting. The English version presented by the Misses Worrell is sufficiently good for their purpose-it gives all that is essential in th original work, most of the music is retained and with good acting and singing the piece would be not at all an indiderent entertainment We have before expressed the opinion in these columns that one great reason for the decided success of Offenbach's operas, independently o the merits of the works themselves, was the very complete style in which they were pu upon the stage, and the remarkably fine comic acting of the principal performers. That any American troupe following in the footsteps of these French people should be able to equal them in all things is not to be expected, and while we are disposed to make all due allowances, we think at least we have a right to look for an approximation to excellence. The Misses Worrell have all of them had ample experience in burlesque acting, and with their present company they have appeared in The Grand Duchess of Gerolslein and other of Offenbach's operas often enough to attain a reasonable amount of ease and style in their performance. And yet we only find that they give a feeble imitation of the French actors, without attempting anything in the slightest degree original, apparently oblivious of the fact that they have neither the education nor experience of those that they copy after, and that as mere imitators they must of course appear at a disadvantage. Miss Sophie Worrell, as "The Grand Duchess."

gives some of Tostee's shrugs and shakes, but she has nothing of the dash and spirit which were the most meritorious points in Tostee's personation. The best portions of the performance last evening at the Chesnut were the Dites Lui, which Miss Sophic sung quite nicely-much better than she did anything else-the trio between the conspirators, and the "Can-can" dance at the end of the third act. Of the rest of the performance we cannot speak in very high terms of praise. Miss Jennie, as "Prince Paul," gesticulated somewhat in the style of M. Leduc, but there comparison is at an end, for the real c mic e'ements of the character as developed by that carital comedian escaped her altogether. Miss Irene, as "Wanda," was even less successful than her sisters. Mr. S. B. Villa, in the part of "Fritz," copies after nobody; his style is his own, and he is a law unto himself. If he ever saw the part performed, which we are inclined to doubt, he has set out with a determination to scorn all precedents and to be original or nothing. He had better be nothing. To do justice to this gentleman, he is more vivacious than any other member of the company, but his vivacity often comes in the wrong place. He gesticulates, bends his body, and postures in a most unsoldierly manner, and he cannot even touch his bat in a salute without giving a flourish which is suggestive of the free and-easy style of the amateur stage.

We think that the company at the Chesaut could act better if they would make the effort but their present style of performance will have to be improved considerably before they will be entitled to marked commendation. There is now an English burlesque company in New York who, we understand, are winning their way to public favor on their own merits, and in a style of performance in which they are at home, This fact is worthy of attention, and the Misse Worrelt would appear to better advantage in a fairly-written burlesque, by an American o English author, than they do in borrowed plumes, which they are anable to wear grace fully. The City Entertainments. AT THE WALNUT Mr. E. L. Davenport will appear this evening in the new drama of F; or, Branded. AT THE CHESNUT the Worrell Sisters will appear in their English version of The Grand Duchess.

AT THE ARCH Lotts will per onate "Fire-fly" this evening.

AT THE AMERICAN there will be an attractive miscellaneous entertainment. THE GERMANIA ORCHESTRA will give a public rehearsal at Horticultural Ha I this afternoon. AT CABL SENTZ' and Mark Hassler's Orchestral Matinee, on Saturday, at Musical Fund Hall, Mendelssohn's "Reformation Symphony" will be performed. A delegation of the New York Philharmonic Society will assist.

MR BATEMAN announces that he will give twelve nights of opera bouge at the Academy of Music, commencing on Monday, November 9 when he will produce offenbach's opera of Barbe Bleue. This work will be put upon the stage in the best style as regards scenery, costumes, appointments, etc., and the original troupe, which has already appeared in this city and established a reputation, will be augmented by an entirely new company. Mile Irms will personate "Boulotte," and M. Aujac "Batbe Fleue." During this season La Grands Duchesse de Gero'rtein and La Be e He'ene will also be performed, with Mile. Tostee as the Leroine in both pieces.

AVERT DANGER .- 'Out of | the nettle Danger we pluck the flower Safety," says Shakspeare. Feeble lava id, do you wish to pluck this flower? If so, in vigorate your system with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, Strength is your safety, Weakness is neversafe. Acute disease makes short work of the feeble. Reinforce, half-defeated nature with the finest vegetable invigorant in the world. Not merely an invigorant, however, but a gentle laxative, a more potent blood depurant than any prescribed in the Pharmacopoela, and the best ant billous medicine extant. It is because it combines so many imperiant medicinal properties that this remarkable vegetable specific produces such extraordinary effects. As a preventive, it forestalls disease by endowing the human physique with extra res ist ant power; as a curative, it sustains the strength while removing the complaint. Its use as a remedy for Indigestion is now so general in all parts of the United States that it may be consistently entitled the NATIONAL SPECIFIC FOR DYSPEPSIA. Its celebrity is not confined to this country, however, or even to this continent. There is not a port in the Western Hemisphere to which it is not consigned; not a State between Patagonia and the Arctic San in which "HOSTETTER'S BITTERS" is not a household

In this month of fogs, when chil's and fever and other malarious disorders are rife, a medicated stimulant is an article of the first necessity for all who travel by land or water, or are in any way exposed to the morbific influences abroad in the atmosphere. Of all alcoholic tonics, the BITTERS are the purest and mest efficacious-a fact attested by leading analytical chemists and confirmed by some of the mest eminent medical practitioners in the United States.

MOUNT MORIAH-A TRIBUTE OF GENIUS .- The highly-gifted writer, M'me de Marguerittes, who visited the great rural cemetery in its infancy, and whose grave is upon one of its grassy slopes, in the columns of the Transcript thus wrote of that city of

"Some one has written that the feelings inspired by visiting the burial places of the dead are grateful rather than melancholy. And it is true. One may mourn over the loss of near and dear coes of earth, and moisten their graves with hallowed tears, but the memories of the long ago will soothe the aching heart to repose, and dry the fountains of the grieving soul. The requiem chanted forever in the leafy shades; the grateful sunshine resting on the gravsy mound-; the tablets reared by those who love and weer—these speak to the heart with welcome tongues, and heal its sorrow as with holy baims. In nc place, perhaps, will their power, their eloquence, and their silent whisperings be heard and headed more than in that beautiful city of the dead—Mount Moriah Its bills and vales, its groves and streams, its isolation from the noisy and heartiess world—all it vite the weary pligrim's steps, and speak, as nature only speaks, to the heart of hearts. A more inviting place cannot be found in the vicinity of Philadelphis. Let all go and see it."

WE CALL the attention of our City Passenger Rallroad Companies, Livery Stable Keepers, and owners of horses cenerally, to an advertisement of CLARKE's PATENT ADJUSTIBLE HORSE-SHOR CALKS, to prevent elipping on the ice and BALLING, to be found in another column. It is the most complete invention of the age, and can be adjusted to any horse's feet to five minutes, always ready, obviating the drawing and sharpening snoes, laming of horses, all delays and accidents. No person owning a horse should be without a set. Mr. Irwin the agent for the manufacturers, is also introducing the celebrated Elastic JOINT JEON ROOF, OUTCALT'S PATENT, FIRE PROOF, WEATHER PROOF, and INDESTRUCTIBLE. Our build ers and architects will find it the BEST and cheapest roof in use. Both articles are manufactured at the celebrated JUNIATA Works of the Messre. SHOEN-

There are several species of Gadus. Only the Gadus Morrhus, caught at Newfoundland, yields Oil rich in medicinal viruss. After careful analysis and extensive trial by the medical profession, SIME, PURS COD LIVER OIL is now pronounced inc superably superior to all other preparations of the same article in the market. Free from smell, delicious to the taste, and leaded with all the nutrient and carative propecties which render Cod Liver Oil famous as a therapeutic.
