Lancashire Lass will be performed. AT THE WALNUT, Mr. T. J. Hemphill, the Business Manager of the theatre, will have his annual benefit this evening. The nautical drama of The Pitol will be performed, and the comedy of London Assurance. Mr. E. L. Davenport will appear as "Long Tom Coffin" and as "Dazzie." This is a fine bill, and as Mr. Hemphill is indefatigable in his exertions to provide the public with entertainments of a high class, we hope that a crowded house will show that his efforts are appreciated.

AT THE AMERICAN there will be a variety entertainment this evening.

CARL SENTZ' and Mark Hassler's combined orchestras will give a mattnee at Musical Fund Hall on Saturday.

-There seems to be a remarkable full in the making, or at least in the bringing out, of new music in Germany at this moment, but, on the other hand, activity just as remarkable reigns in every theatre. In Leipsic a careful reproduction of Die Zauberflote has been immediately followed by Phætra, of which the book was written by Prince George of Prussia, and the music by Taubert. In Vienna Lohengrin has been brought out after a rest of sixteen months and the clamors of the Wagnerites have been stilled for the moment. Frau Dustmann's E'sa is spoken of as a grand creation, but Herr von Bignio, the "Telramund," and Frau Wilt, both proved too weak for the cruel music. Der Fitegende Hollander and Faust, with Mr. Charles Adams, and Figoro's Hochzeit, with Herr Schmid as the barber, have been among the most recent performances. Hans Heiling is to be one of the next revivals, and Mignon is in rehearsal. It cannot be expected that M. Thomas' thin dilution of Gothe will prove palatable to Gothe's countrymen, but it is right that they should have an opportunity of hearing how Withelm Meister is done into French. -Some weeks ago it was reported that there was to be a competition for a new national anthem for France. We fear that a statement made in the Gaulcis, to the effect that "La Marzeiltaise" is to be adopted by the Emperor, can only be a canard. It is beyond all comparison the noblest national song in being, but inspired by revolution, it breathes too earnest a sprit to be agreeable to any despotic government. In any case, the acceptance of that silly love-song of Queen Horten-e, "Partant pour la Syrie," is simply a disgrace to the intelligence

-A considerable portion of the first act of Mendelssohn's Lore'ei - more than enough to prove that the greatest composer of his time would have excelled, had he lived, in opera as much as in every other branch of musical composition-was presented at the Crystal Palace. in London, recently. In addition to the finate and the Ave Maria, was given a Vintagers' Chorus, which has only just been published. The selection from the undaished opera was introduced by the exquisite Melusine Overture, a happily appropriate prelude.

-At the Royal Italian Opera, London, Miss Minnie Hauck made her debut on the 26th of October as "Amina," in the opera of La Somnam Indiscreet puffery in advance rather tended to make the reception of Miss Hauck less favorable than it would have been if she had essayed to try the temper of the London public solely on her own merits. The critics, however, all speak well of her performance, and praise her as a young singer of much promise.

-Herr Jansa, the excellent violinist, has been permitted to return to Vienna. He was in the first instance dismissed from his position in the orchestra of the Viennese Opera because he had taken part in a concert given in London for the benefit of Hungarian refugees. It is difficult for us to realize the possibility of an imperial gov ernment taking so paltry a revenge upon a poor musician. But at the age of seventy-three even a fiddler is supposed to be barmless.

-M. Flotow is now in Paris, where he is completing his rew work, L'Ombre, to be brought out in December at the Opera Comique. M. de Saint-Georges is the author of the libretto, the story being carried on by four characters only without the aid of any chorus. It would seem as though the composer of Martha were ambitions to rival Cimarosa's Matrimonio Segrelo, a model or simplicity, science, and grace.

-A new opera by Signor Aspa, Don Matteo, is being prepared at the Teatro Nazionale of Florence, and Utema ia Schiava, just completed by Signor Pedrotti, is to be brought out in Venice. The last named macsiro has been appointed to the direction of the Liceo Musicale and of the Opera in Turin.

-Max Meretzek will give the New Yorkers the benefit of a short reason of Italian opera at the Academy of Music, commencing on Monday next. Several new operas will be brought out, including Auber's Un Jour as Bonheur and Flotow's Judea.

-The Ru sian novelist, M. Ivan Turgeniev, is at work at Baden Baden on a new libretto for M'me Viardot. It is founded on a northern legend, and is said to be not only poetical, but well laid out for music.

-A new musical newspaper, bearing the appropriate title of Der Freischutz, has just been started at Stuttgard, and at Bologua one is about to appear, called Gioncehmo Rossini.

-Dr. Ludwig Nobl, the well-known musical liographer, was announced to give six lectures on Richard Wagner, at Munich, to begin on the 19 h of October.

Dramatic Items. -A drama by MM. Bri-ebarre and Nus, entitled L'I e Saint Louis, now holds possession of the stage of the Theatre du Prince Imperial. This piece, though it has long been in print, has not until lately been acted, for the reason doubtless that the celebrity of the authors could not blind managers to the extravagance of the plot. It is a curious blending of what is most realistic in the Leonard (Ticket of-Leave Man) of the same authors and Dumas' "Monte Christo." A workman, whose wife has rejected the advances of a foreman under whom he is employed, finds him elf, through this manls agency, condemned for fifteen years to the galleys. He determines upon a complete revenze After his escape he finds a bat literally full of money, which a rich man before committing suicide bequeathed to the finder. With this he commences his task. His adversary, like himself, is now rich. A long and very tragic fight is fought. His daughter, seduced by the son of North Pennsylvania Depot.

his enemy, dies. He burles her near the sea. Upon her grave he slays first the man who had wronged her, and then his own old enemy, expiring himself upon the spot as soon as his vengeance is complete. Here is a piece in which all the characters, without exception, are slain.

-The Paris censorship has prohibited a drama on account of its title, Chiperic III, fearing, no doubt, that the public might confound that sovereign with Napoleon III. On turning to the history of the first-named monarch, a newspaper writer found his description in Auquetil:-"He had nothing against him but his incapacity, which was regarded as imbecility that would disappear as he grew older."

-Boucleault's drama of After Dark is an nonneed for Niblo's Garden next Monday; Mr. F. C. Bangs, McKee Rankin, O. Marlowe, C. Peters, E. Coleman, D. Varrey, Belvil Ryan-Andy Roome, Miss Louisa Moore (from the London Haymarket Theatre), Miss Edith Challis (from the Adelphi), and Sidney Vane (from the London Alhambra), are engaged

-A "sensation" drams, entitled Madge Wildfire, founded upon the "Heart of Midlothian," has been played recently at the Standard Theatre, London. Miss Sarah Thorne, an actress of some intelligence, and Mrs. Macready, an American actress, who formerly appeared at Astley's, played the principal parts.

-Mrs. Lander and Mrs. D. P. Bowers both commenced engagements in New York, Monday evening, the former at the Broadway and the latter at Nibio's. Mrs. Lander appeared as "Marie Antoinette," and Mrs. Bowers as "Queen Elizabeth."

-Ou t'On Va, a comedy in three acts, by Madame Charlotte Dupuis, has been brought out at the Vaudeville, Paris. It is a strictly moral piece. Like all French comedies of this nature, its plot is such as we can scarcely explain in English.

-Leotard, the French trapeze performer, is exhibiting in Boston at present. He did not make much of a hit in New York. -Une Parcenue, a four-act drama, by M. Henri

Riviere, has been received at the Comedie, in

IS FICKNESS AVOIDABLE? - Thousands toss on sick-beds to-day, who might have been well and hearty had they taken due precautions for the preservation of that most precious of earthly blessings, a sound mind in a sound body. Sickness, to a greater extent than most people suppose, is avoidable. When the body is languid, the spirits depressed, and the nervous system unnaturally sensitive, it should be taken f r granted that mischief is brewing. These hints and warnings, vouchsafed as such by a kind Providence, ought not to be disregarded. If they are may be a fever, a severe billious attack, or some other for n of acute olsease. They indicate as clearly as if the is timat on were given in articulate language, that the animal functions are disordered and the system debilitated. Under these circumstances, the only thing to be done is to regulate and restors, and the best regulating and restorative preparation ever used for the prevention of sickness is Hostetten's STOMACH BITTERS. In this way, b. lous remittent fever, chills and fever, spasms, ne. vous paroxyams, violent attacks of indiges ion, and all the ordinary epidemics, may almost certainly be averted. They are usually preceded by the symptoms described, and surely it is wisdom to forestall them by resorting to an antidote at once harmless, agreeable, and invigorating. Most assuredly, it will soon dissipate the uppleasant feelings referred to, which, of course, is desirable, even if they were not likely to lead to something worse. The close of the Fall Is usually secomparied by unhealthy fogs and violent atmospheric changes, and it is therefore a sesson when invigoration is particularly needed.

EFCONOMY should be practised by everybody in all things. One dollar expended now in purchasing a bottle of Jayne's Expectorant, by those troubled with a slight Cough or Hoarseness, or Sore Throat, may save the expense of a doctor's bill. A neglected Cough often ends in Consumption. A slight inflammation of the lining of the wind tubes, the usual symptoms of which are a Sore Throat and a Pala la the Breast, will soon lead, through want of attention, to Bronchitis. A day's delay may entail months of suffering. Let the afflicted try at once Jayne's Expectorant It is a standard remedy, and its curative properties have be a tested by thousands of persons who have recovered their health by his use. Sold by
