STATE REVENUE.

Another Glance at the Auditor-General's Report-Curiosities in Income and Expenditure.

The Auditor-General's annual report on the The Auditor-General's annual report on the finances of the State is a document which cought to be in the hards of every tax-payer. It is certainly one of the most curious and entertaining documents that has ever failed under our notice. Having already given the more solid and important portions, we will to-day glance at the curious items which it contains.

Among the first which we encounter is the receipt of $24 from the Adjutant-General of the State, which astonishing amount was realized by the sale of certain "old guns" for which the Comment salth had no particular use. The original craste these same "old guns," the precise amount of service which they have done the State, and their actual value at the time of sale, are them which are not made public, but which, revertheless, would possess considerable ir derest. The subject of tavern licenses is one of vital importance, and we give in this con acction the amount realized in certain covantes, in connection with the population of these counties in 1860, and the value of school property, as published by us yesterday:—

The total emount of State revenue from tavern licenses was $279,583, from which it will be seen that of the total revenue from this source the city of Philadelpeta is credited with full fifty-eight per cent. Pittsburg must be the great headquarters of the pedding fraternity, since of the whole amount realized from Pedders' licenses, $4370, Allegheny country contributed $1269, while Phi-ladelphia paid in but $381.

Strange as it may appear, Allegheny county takes the lead in Brokers' licenses, yielding $2145 out of a total of $4903, white Philadelphia contributes only $1215.

When it comes to Patent Medicine licenses, however, Philadelphia leads with $1188 out of a total of $2296, Allegheny being deprived of the benefit of this sort of physic entirely.

Allegheny has more than its equivalent for this deprivation by contributing $1514 far Distillery and Brewery licenses, out of a total of $6889, the amount received from Philadelphia being but $1018.

One of the exceedingly minute sources of State revenue is that of fines and forfeitures; the total amount being only $46.90, for which the total amount being only $40.00, for which Irwin Rutledge, who ever he may be, is credited with $25; certain justices of the peace in turee counties contribating the following amounts:

The sources of State revenue are wound up by the magnificent bequest of the late Benjamin Wetherby, of Chester county, which yielded to the Commonwealth the aggregate amount of $28.50.

Turning now to the subject of the expenditures of the Commonwealth for the year ending November 30, 1868, we find, at the start, that the nembers of the State Senate received $36,547 for their pay, including m leage and stationery, but not including the postage bill, which ran up to $18.126. Then comes a stationery and "etc." bill, still on Senate account, of Mr. George Bergner, for $3905. Mr. George Bergner, who, we believe, is not the publisher of "Purdon's Digest," was enabled to furnish the members of the Senate with thirty-five copies of that invaluable treatise for the amount of $350; also of the Senate with thirty-live copies of that invaluable treatise for the amount of $559; also with forty copies of "Ziegler's Manual" for $80. As the Senate has resolved to have another set of Purdon and Ziegler, Mr. Bergner will doubtless figure to the same extent in the next annual report, Mr. John K. Robinson, who thought he was entitled to sit in the Senate for the people of the Twenty-first district, and who therefore contested the right of Mr. S. T. Shugert to that privilege, received $5488 for witness fees; while Mr. Shugert received $5488 for witness fees; while Mr. Shugert received $5488 for witness fees; while Mr. Shugert received $5585 for the ontest, and each of the other six members, received $300; and Mr. W. A. Rupert, Sergeantat-arms, $6256 for serving subpense and attachments, "cta" In the same case; the total cost of the contest being thus run up to $17,934. This showed what a "neat little thing" was missed by the Democratic candidates who were defeated last October, in not entering into a wholesale "contest," as they at first proposed to do.

The members of the State House of Repre-The members of the State House of Representatives made a hole in the State Treasury as large as $107,309 for pay, including mileage and stationery; consumed postage stamps valued at $19,350; and distributed among themvalued at $19,350; and distributed among themselves—as they are about doing again—one hundred and five copies of "Purdon." for which Mr. George Bergner received $1050, and one hundred and ten copies of "Ziegler." for which the same Mr. George Bergner received $220. It also appears that the Representatives, as well as the Senators, ran out of stationery, and Mr. George Bergner supplied their wants in this line, without any "ctc." involved, to the extent of $7265. The aggregate expense of the Legislature in this somewhat fanciful way was run up to $353,224—$119,770 for the Senate and $233,454 for the House of Representatives.

The public printing account for the year foots up $134,968. Among the more noticeable items is one of $7825 paid to Mr. George Bergner for publishing the Daily Legislative Record for the session of 1867, and another of $24,920 paid to the same Mr. George Bergner for publishing the Daily Legislative Record for the season of 1898, The aggregate expenses of the State government are set down as follows:—

A CORRECTION .- THE TRLEGRAPH Vesterday afternoon contained a report of the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Namismatic and Antiquarian Society of Philadelphia, in which it was stated that Rev. Charles H. Hart, Historiographer of the Society, had presented a certain memorial. This morning we received a communication from Mr. Hart, desiring us to remove the title of Reverend from his name, as, instead of being a clerayman, he is an attorney. instead of being a clergyman, he is an attorney-at-law. Referring to the prefix Rev., he says:— 'Considering this a title too sacred to be carelessly bestowed upon a common layman and worn unno-ticed by him. WASHINGTON.

The Danish Islands—Investigation of Seward's Real Estate Bargain. The New York Tribune of this morning, in its

Washington despatches, says:-"The question of the Danish Islands purchase has become one of the main topics of discussion here. The view of this matter taken by some of the prominent Senators is that the main question is to know whether the action of Congress has not been so completely anticipated by the Executive branch of the Government that Congress is placed in a very embarrassing condition. The questions thus involved in this treaty are at this time the subject of the most thorough investigation by the members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, who keep secret some of the most important documents of the secret terms of the secret some of the most important documents. of the case. It has been ascertained that one of the most serious difficulties which arise out of this Danish affair relates to the vote of the people of St. Thomas and St. Johns. Mr. Seward, as it is well known, sent Dr. Hawley to the Danish Islands to influence the people there, and the Navy Department at the same time sent Admiral Palmer with several vessels to support Dr. Hawley. The object of the latter's mission was to make a thorough canvass of those people. to show them the advantages they had in trans-ferring their allegiance to the United States, and by explanations and promises to influence them to make the transfer. As it is well known, the St. Thomas people, understanding through him and Admiral Palmer the advantages they would derive from the transfer, and supported by the population of free negrees, who were very desirous to become citizens of the United States, the vote was carried by an overwhelming majority. After the vote was taken, the Danish Government, acting in accordance with the understanding previously arrived at between the United States and Denmark, declared in the most selemn manner that those people were set free and by their own will crased to be a part of the Danish territory.
The question now asked by Congressmen is,
What is now the status of those islands, and shall the United States oblige Penmark to take back populations whom she assented to let free from their allegiance after a pegotiation with the United States which lasted three years? This is one of the many serious questions involved in the Danish purchase."

CRETE.

American Sympathy With Its Aspiring People—An Acknowledgment, At the meeting in Cooper Institute, New York, last night, which was very largely attended by the sympathizers with the brave Cretans, the following despatch was read:-

"It is with great satisfaction that we hear that public opinion in the United States still expresses itself strongly in favor of the struggling Cretans, and that there is some hope of a speedy recognition of Crete as an independent State. The generous measures on the part of such a nation will have a great influence in the political organization of the island. The winter season has brought about a certain lukewarm-ness in the operations of the war, but not withstanding their immense difficulties, the Cretans bave not and will not cease fighting for their liberty. One of the greatest drawbacks is the want of provisions and munitions of war, although Greece, the whole Helienic race, and the friends of civilization and humanity throughout the whole world, have never ceased supporting the Cretan cause. The obstacles with which we have to contend are very great, and we appeal to the generous sentiment of those who have always shown themselves the friends of Cretan liberty.
"By authority of the Cretan Provisional Govrnment. Zafoulakis, Secretary."

The telegram was received with applause. The meeting was addressed by Henry Ward Beecher, Dr. Bellows, Horace Greeley, ex-Lieutenant-Governor Woodford, and William Cullen Bryant,
