Annual Report of the Registrar-The Births, Marriages, and Deaths in the City During 1868.

The annual report of births, marriages, and deaths in Philadelphia, during the year 1868, made by Mr. George E. Cnambers, the Registrar, was sent to the Board of Health this afternoon by the Health Officer, General H. G. Sickel. The report complains of the great anneyance caused by the neglect of physicians to comply with the law requiring a return of births, and also of the great delinquency which prevails among the Aldermen in making their return of marriages. "The clergymen of the elity," says the report, "are invariably more prompt and courteous in making their returns, and have sided the department in this respect to that extent that we are now enabled to present an almost complete and unbrokes record of all marriages which have taken place in the city since the Registration law went into in the city since the Registration law went into DEATH FROM BURNING .- A most distressing accident occurred at the residence of S. Wilmer Cannell, Esq., near Torresdale, resulting in the death of one of his servants from burning. This woman (the cook), in endeavoring to light a lamp, in some way exposed her dress to the flames. No one being in the room at the time of the accident, the flames had made considerable headway before she could give the alarm. The lady of the house, rushing down stairs, instantly delaged her with water, but the assistance came too late. Falling over, the woman expired in a few moments. As the lamp was found upright on the table, with all its contents, the accident could not have occurred from any explosion. This is a direct warning to the many who expose themselves so heedlessly to accident from fire.

Long before banking bours a large number of persons were congregated in front of the bank, and the presence of the officers soon after 9 o'clock gave evidence that something was wrong. This created a furors among those assembled, and all sorts of rumors were affoat concerning the cashier, bank, directors, etc. An investigation on the part of our reporter disclosed the following:—

Some days since, Mr. MacMuilin, cashier of the institution, resigned, and a somer gentle-man was elected to supply the vacancy. The accounts were gone over, and deficiencies were found to exist.

At first the amount was put down at $10,000, but now the sum in default is estimated at $60,000. The old cashier has not left town, as reported some days since. He was in consultation with the directors last evening, and what transpired between them we are unable to lay before our readers. We only know that in consequence of that interview, and from further investigation of the books this morning, the bank suspended payment. Mr. Albert C. Roberts, President, desires the public to understand that in a few days everything will be right. He says the depositors will not lose a penny, and the only ones to suffer, if any great loss has been incurred, will be the stockholders. The amount of capital invested is ample to meet all demands, and no fear is entertained of a "smash-up." The President and directors are anxious to make a thorough investigation of the books, papers, etc., and until that is done the hank will be consequence. vestigation of the books, papers, etc., and until that is done the bank will be closed. New Currency Bill-Our Foreign Relations.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. The Carrency Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. - The action of the Senate, in refusing to concur in the House amendment to the supplementary Currency actis looked upon as insuring the failure of that measure for the present session. The House is so unanimous and so thoroughly in earnest over Coburn's amendment that any Committee of Conference will have to insist upon that, or else have their report defeated. Many members now prefer that the whole matter shall go over to the next session, when there will be more time to frame a measure likely to give general satisfaction. Representatives of national banks, more particularly large banks, who would suffer most by the passage of the bill, are now here trying to insure its defeat, and they are likely to succeed.

The Friends of General Grant are greatly disappointed at the refusal of the Senate to agree to the repeal of the Civil-Tenure act. Grant himself, it would seem, is less annoyed about it than any other person. He is said to have remarked to a member of the House who called upon him to-day, that he preferred to be free and unfettered in his action; but if the Senate rafused to repeal the act in question it should not trouble him. The only thing was that the Senate would have to shoulder the responsibility.

Diplomatic Relations. It is now apparent that the present Conference Committee on the diplomatic appropriation bill will fail to agree; they have had several meetings, always with the same result, Butier insisting upon his proposition to consolidate the Central and South American Missions, and Senator Sumper on the part of the Senate refusing to yield that point. It is thought a new

The Ways and Means Committee has had a bill to prohibit the warehousing of goods manufactored in the United States under consideration for the past two days. No conclusion has yet been reached, but indications are that the bill will be agreed upon by the Committee and reported to the House. It is the bill introduced in the Senate last year by Senator Morrill of Vermont, but it has been considerably modified by the Ways and Means Committee.

House of Representatives. Mr. Cook, of Illinois, from the Committee on Mr. Cook, of limbos, from the committee on Elections, made a report in the case of J. H. Casement, claiming to be elected a delegate from the Territory of Wyoming. The report concludes with the following resolution:—

Resolved, That J. H. Casement is not entitled to a seat in this House as a delegate from the Territory of Wyoming.

Territory of Wyoming.

Laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

The Speaker laid before the House the President's veto of the Copper Tariff bill. dent's veto of the Copper Tariff bill.

The veto message was read, and the question being, shall the bill pass, the President's objections to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. Schenek, of Onio, said he did not propose to take up the time of the House at this late day of the session in a fresh discussion of this bill. He would yield his hour to gentlemen on both sides of the House who were senecially both sides of the House who were especially interested in this messure and resume the floor in time to call the previous question He yielded ten minutes first to Mr. Blair, of Michigan, who spoke of the willingness of the President to oblige his friends in Baitimore by vetcing the bill. The Baltimereshs in town had invited him to stop at their city on his way to Tennessee. While he would be receiving hospitalities in the Monumental City, the hardy miners on the banks of Lake Superior would, if the bill should fall to pass over his veto, be suffering from his obstinate actions.

He then proceeded to review the message of the President, arguing that there was nothing in the provisions of the bill which make it a tax upon the industry of any part of the

Mr. Brooks (N. Y.) had fifteen minutes yielded him by Mr. Schenck, and said that when a person had a bad cause to defend he frequently went off to side issues. The gentleman from Michigan, Mr. Blair, had abused the author of Michigan, Mr. Biair, had abused the author of the veto instead of answering its arguments. He (Mr. Brooks) was as much interested in the copper business as the gentleman from Michi-gan, yet he could not inflict any injury upon the whole country for the siske of his own con-stituents. Copper stocks had gone up in New York from 5 to 10 per cent, since the bill had passed the House, and but for the prospect of a veto they would have gone up 10 per cent, more, It was to the interest of the moneyed men that the bill should pass over the veto. The bill the bill should pass over the veto. The bill itself was an iniquitous measure; it struck at some of the most important interests of the country, and he hoped it would not pass. Mr. Pike appealed to his side of the House, the Republican, to vote upon the merits of the measure itself, and not upon Andrew Johnson

The Copper Tariff Bill-The House Passes It Over the President's Veto.

An Important Declaration by General Grant.

Declaration by General Grant as to His Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.-In conversation at army headquarters this morning with Senator Thayer, General Grant remarked:-"I want to say to you that I shall send into the Senate the name of Major-General Schofield as Secretary of War, but it is likely that he will decline, and return to his old position in the army. I shall then nominate a civilian for that office, and I want the Senate to know this."

Turning to Representatives Dickey and Mor rell, of Pennsylvania, and Root, ot Arkansas, who were at a short distance from him, he said he had no objection to their hearing what he had to say on the question of the Cabinet. He then remarked, "I am opposed to appointing officers of the army and navy to civil offices, and therefore want a civilian at the head of each department."

The statement comes from members of Congress who were present, and they express their satisfaction at the utterances of the General, and believe from the conversation that he will have a "straight out" Republican Cabinet.
