

NEW YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

New York, March 11, 1869. The resignation of Mr. Stewart is of course the chief topic of conversation alike in bank offices and breakfast parlors—at least it was yesterday morning. To day A. T. S. sinks into comparative insignificance. He becomes the same man instead of the coming man, and all eyes are turned in the direction of this latter mostrocity, ready to gloat upon him with affectionate triumph whenever he shall be affected to put in an appearance. By the way, what a capital editorial that is in the World to-day, entitled "Mr. Stewart's Grand Charity," and dwelling upon the piety and munificence of that shrewd seller. If charity is cold, I am sure he stands below zero, and perhaps that is precisely the man we ought to have had for the Secretary of the Treasury.

The landlords threaten to raise their rents with the 1st of May, in which case there will be a grand exit of between fifty and one hundred thousand people from New York. Rents are already higher than people of limited incomes can very well stand. However "stratened" the tenant's means may be, the landlord is always devising a "crooked" path for them to flow into. The New York "ist of May" system, by-the-by, is one of the most unbearable systems that was ever invented in the memory of man. Such a grand transformation scene as is witnessed then, in every other residence of suburb and city, was never equalled in the history of the spectacular stage, from the era of the Black Crook down to that of Bumpy Dumpty. And there is no reason why the system adopted in large cities abroad by which a tenant is at liberty to leave his house at any quarter of the year, should not be put into successful vogue here. More than anything else, it would have a tendency to demolish the first of May movement, which is more of an All Fool's Day, when looked at in that light, than the first of April ever was. The anticipated rise in rents is preparing many a family of moderate means to look out for homes for themselves in Westchester county, New Jersey, Long Island, and the score of suburbs whose focus is New York. Year after year thousands of our people, who hoped to live and die with the Gotham atmosphere of their nativity around them, have been compelled to radiate away from this fascinating focus, and lay their heads at night upon pillows very remote from the central metropolitan mansions where they were established in their palmy days. And matters have reached now such a crisis that any further rise in rents will distribute among the environs at least seventy-five thousand people whose utmost struggles at present just enable them to "live decently."

The scavenger murderer whom I mentioned in my last has been examined by the coroner and held to answer, and a mysterious woman has incontinently died from the effects of lager—not laudanum. The woman belongs to the class who are described, in the language of the Morgue, as "unknown." She is thirty years old, wears a red velvet cap, crape trimmings, white handkerchief around her neck, morocco boots, plaid bordered grey shawl, calico undershirt, and black over-skirt. Had a lunch in her pocket of sardines packed between brown bread and made into a precarious sandwich. Such a woman of a sudden enters a lager-bier saloon on Forsyth street, asks for "ein glass," swallows the contents without blowing off the froth, and drops down dead. Had she put laudanum into it? No one saw her do so, and the coroner not being notified of her death until nearly twelve hours after it happened, no facts have yet been got at, except the mysterious one of her being spirited away in a jiffy to a second-class under-taker's on the Bowery. It may be a case of hushed-up murder, or it may be a case of "determined" suicide "determined," of course, who ever heard of a suicide that wasn't "determined"? or it may be a case of death from natural causes. But in the present state of public apprehension, when the shadow of the elusive "Jim" is yet hanging over the maternal sweepers of area-steps, the prejudices are in favor of death by violence.

Yesterday evening was celebrated the first anniversary of Bumpy Dumpty's birth. After the evening's public entertainment was over, tables were arranged on the large stage of the Olympic Theatre, and all hands present "fell in," the plunder consisting of everything eatable and drinkable that usually figure upon pretentious bills of fare. Many of the actors and actresses of other theatres were present, and the theatrical critics of the various daily and weekly newspapers were largely represented. It was a novel idea this celebration of Bumpy Dumpty's birth, one worthy of the brain of the conceptor of the conceits which figure on pictorial placards over all the waste places of the city, representative of the more salient incidents in the career of that spoiled darling, who, like other darlings of the public, before this, has remained so long a time "on the fence."

Miss Kellogg has been playing "Violetta," and the newspapers have been declaring that she sings better than La Grange does, and acts better than Gazzaniga. To praise Miss Kellogg is the fashion. To hint that Patti Nilsson, or Telford may possibly be her superior proves you to be either suburban or cynical. The costumes at the opera, particularly during Clara Louise's appearances, have been very gorgeous. Fashionable young men have instituted a new custom, namely, that of parting their beards—such of them as have any—in the middle, which gives them a horny or task-like appearance, very prepossessing.

AT THE WALNUT The Emerald Ring will be performed this evening. AT THE ARCH Shakespeare's comedy of Much Ado About Nothing will be represented this evening. AT THE CHESTNUT The extravaganza of The Field of the Cloth of Gold will be produced on Tuesday evening next by C. D. Hiss & Co.'s burlesque company. AT THE THEATRE COMIQUE Haley's original Tennessee troupe will support the following: AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC Fanny Janacek will commence a series of six performances of German drama on Monday evening next, when she will appear in Schiller's tragedy of Mary Stuart. The sale of reserved seats commences to-day. THE ABRAXAS NIGHTS ENTERTAINMENT at Concert Hall introduces a great variety of amusing features, which are appreciated by the large audience in attendance every evening. The exhibition is one of the most attractive ever given in this city. One hundred girls are distributed to the audience at each performance. There will be no performance this evening, in consequence of the hall being engaged for another purpose, but the entertainment will be resumed to-morrow, and on Saturday there will be a girl matter. AT THE AMERICAN there will be a miscellaneous entertainment this evening. THE BENTZ HARBOR ORCHESTRA will perform at Musical Fund Hall on Saturday afternoon. THE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY'S third grand concert will be given at the Academy of Music on Saturday evening. THE FRANK WIDOWS' ASSISTANT.—Mr. S. Edwin Mudge will give a reading at Concert Hall this evening from the works of Charles Dickens. The proceeds will be devoted to the relief of the Frank Widows' Aid, and we hope that there will be a full house.

FIRE AND BURGLAR PROOF SAFE CHAMPION SAFES!

PHILADELPHIA, January 15, 1869. Messrs. FARREL, HERRING & CO., No. 629 Chestnut street. Gentlemen—On the night of the 13th inst., as is well known to the citizens of Philadelphia, our large and extensive store and valuable stock of merchandise, No. 602 Chestnut street was burned. The fire was one of the most extensive and destructive that has visited our city for many years, the heat being so intense that even the marble cornice was almost obliterated. We had, as you are aware, two of your valuable and well-known CHAMPION FIRE-PROOF SAFES, and nobly have they indicated your well-known reputation as manufacturers of FIRE-PROOF SAFES, if any further proof had been required. They were subjected to the most intense heat, and it affords us much pleasure to inform you that after recovering them from the ruins, we found upon examination that our books, papers, and other valuables, were all in perfect condition.

Yours, very respectfully, JAS. E. CALDWELL & CO.

THE ONLY SAFES EXPOSED TO THE FIRE IN CALDWELL'S STORE WERE FARREL, HERRING & CO.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18, 1869. Messrs. FARREL, HERRING & CO., No. 629 Chestnut street. Gentlemen—On the night of the 13th inst. our large store, S. W. corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets, was, together with our heavy stock of wall papers, entirely destroyed by fire. We had one of your PATENT CHAMPION FIRE-PROOF SAFES, which contained our principal books and papers, and although it was exposed to the most intense heat for over 80 hours, we are happy to say it proved itself worthy of our recomme. Our books and papers were all preserved. We cheerfully tender our testimonial to the many already published, in giving the HERRING SAFE the credit and confidence it justly merits. Yours, very respectfully, HOWELL & BROTHERS.

STILL ANOTHER. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19, 1869. Messrs. FARREL, HERRING & CO., No. 629 Chestnut street.

Gentlemen—I had one of your make of safe in the basement of J. E. Caldwell & Co.'s store at the time of the great fire on the night of the 13th inst. It was removed from the ruins to-day, and on opening it I found all my books, papers, greenbacks, watches, and water materials, etc., all preserved. I feel glad that I had one of your truly valuable safes, and shall want another of your make when I get located. Yours, very respectfully, F. L. KIRKPATRICK, with J. E. Caldwell & Co., No. 619 Chestnut street.

FOURTH EDITION FROM THE CAPITAL.

Curtin's Name not Sent in as Minister to Russia. The Senate Confirmations—Other Important Nominations—Customs Receipts.

FROM WASHINGTON.

An Erroneous Report. WASHINGTON, March 11—2:30 P. M.—Ex-Governor Curtin's name was not sent in to the Senate as Minister to Russia, as erroneously reported. Additional Nominations. Among the other nominations by the President were the following: James F. Casey, Collector of Customs at New Orleans. James King, Chief Engineer of the Navy, vice Isherwood. German A. Newcomb's name was also sent in as United States Marshal for Missouri. Customs Receipts. The following are the customs receipts from March 1st to 6th, inclusive: Boston, $396,155 New York, $313,849 Philadelphia, $132,021 Baltimore, $143,231 New Orleans, $68,054 Total, $1,053,330 U. S. Senate. Cont. med. from Third Edition.

He had therefore come to the conclusion that it was better to rely on that decision as authoritative than to submit the question to the Senate. Mr. Sherman opposed the amendment offered by Mr. Sumner. The two sections of the bill were harmonious. He had examined the decision of the Supreme Court. The point decided was simply that a contract payable in coin made before the passage of the Legal-Tender Act could not be enforced in favor of the section because it would act as a guard against injury in restricting it to a operation to contracts where coin or coin value is the consideration. Mr. Cole was in favor of striking out the section on account of its effect on business in California, and because he thought that the legal inference was to declare valid such contracts here, for made. Mr. Williams was in favor of retaining the section, although he did not attach very much importance to it. He did not agree with the legal proposition stated by the Senator from California. Mr. Howard was opposed to the section because he thought it an encroachment on the right of the States. The question of private contracts was within the executive control of the State Legislatures. If this section were to be retained, it would involve a amendment to it, providing that such contracts should be binding. During the discussion, one of the President's secretaries General Foster, appeared and delivered a message in relation to the routing of the bill to the Senate, and immediately afterwards, at 10, the Senate went into executive session.

The Senate resumed its legislative session at 2 o'clock, and continued the consideration of the bill to strengthen the public credit, and relating to contracts for the payment of coin. The question being in Mr. Sumner's motion, a strike out the second section, and on Mr. Howard's amendment providing that the contract shall be written, that amendment was modified by striking the second section read the following written contract hereafter made, specifically payable in coin, etc., and so modified it was agreed to. Mr. Bayard argued in favor of striking out the second section, saying that it was an attempt to amend the Constitution, and that it would lead to endless litigation. Mr. Sumner's amendment was rejected. Mr. Newcomb's amendment was agreed to, to strike out the 21 section. Year 27, days 11.

FROM HARRISBURG.

The Suffrage Amendment Passes the State Senate. Special Dispatch to The Evening Telegraph. HARRISBURG, March 11.—At three o'clock this afternoon the joint resolution ratifying the proposed universal suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution passed the Senate by a strict party vote—18 yeas to 15 nays. From Maine. AUGUSTA, Me., March 11.—Both houses of the Maine Legislature to-day passed a resolution adopting the 11th cent. amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

SHERIDAN.

How They will Receive Him in New Orleans. New Orleans had another sensation on Saturday last. A Copperhead despatch to the Louisville Courier Journal tells how the news of the resignation of Philip Sheridan to the department was received in the Crescent City. The order received here to-night which assigns Lieutenant General Philip H. Sheridan to the command of this department, has created a profound depression among the citizens. Nothing else talked of in the clubs, and the retorts of the St. Charles is filled with a crowd eager for further intelligence. The order surprised every one at headquarters, and those more than General Buchanan. Groups of men are congregated on Canal street, gloriously increasing the order. It is thought that Sheridan's coming here is a harsh and unnecessary measure, his unpopularity being known to President Grant. That it was said by moderate Republicans that it was his duty to send him here. The extreme radicals, carpet-baggers, and negroes are exultant, and cannot conceal their delight. Warmouth is said to be alarmed at the prospect, as he fears Sheridan may hamper him, and perhaps take the reins out of his hands. Proposals to receive Sheridan are freely discussed by the negroes, who expect a gala-day. The different Democratic clubs, it is said, will use every exertion to avoid any collision with the negroes. The "unpopularity" of General Sheridan with a certain class of people in New Orleans, who used to indulge in the pastime of murdering "scalawags, carpet-baggers, and "niggers," by wholesale, in the rainy days of A. J., will be remembered by the general reader, and it will also be remembered that the General was removed from the department because of his unpopularity with exactly this class. He is no doubt resigned to duty at New Orleans on account of the same unpopularity. But law-abiding citizens will rejoice at his return, in the faith, not likely to be disappointed, that he means business, and that he is just the man to make white Rebels and negroes alike behave themselves and obey the law.

FIFTH EDITION THE LATEST NEWS.

The President and the Diplomats—Fires in New York. FROM WASHINGTON.

The President and the Diplomats. Despatch to the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Diplomatic corps called upon the President at 2 P. M. to-day, and were received in the Blue Room. The ceremony was entirely private. Secretary Washburn presented the Ministers. The attendance of foreign representatives was general and the interview was a very agreeable one. Fires in New York. New York, March 11.—A frame building on West Fifty-ninth street, occupied by James Settus as a distillery, was burned to-day. Loss $6000. Two frame buildings in the vicinity were also destroyed; one owned by Patrick Moore, loss $2500; and the other by Henry Treman, loss $1500. Specie Shipment. New York, March 11.—The Australasian, for Liverpool, to-day took out $70,000 in specie. JOHNSON. His Reception in Baltimore. The Baltimore Sun of this morning gives the following: The visit of ex-President Johnson to this city, in acceptance of the hospitalities tendered him by the Mayor and City Council, takes place to-day, and should the weather prove favorable, will doubtless be quite a grand display. The ex-President is to leave Washington in a special car furnished by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. Colonel S. S. Bates, chief marshal of the various bodies waiting out to form the escort here, has appointed General W. H. Nelson, and General John S. Scott his aids, and Colonel R. C. Banks, Jr., Colonel Henry McDevitt, Samuel McDaniel, W. H. Roberts, E. M. Kirkland, and Samuel J. Smith, as assistant marshals. The line of procession will be formed on Lexington street, east side, the right resting on Lexington street. The marshals for special escort duty at 10 o'clock. The Governor of the State and the city authorities are to be escorted from the mayor's office to the Camden station by a detachment of cavalry. The guest of the city is expected to arrive at 11 1/2 when the procession will move along Broadway to Monument, to Charles, to Charles, to Esger, to Atsiquih, to Baltimore, to Gay, and to exchange place where it will be dismissed; and the ex-President will then receive the citizens in the rotunda of the Camden Hotel. The grand dinner is to take place at Barham's City Hotel, at 8 o'clock P. M., when doubtless there will be much of interest said and done.

Farragut.

A Washington despatch to the Bacon Journal says: Admiral Farragut was the first citizen to whom President Grant communicated his cabinet appointments. To Admiral called just after Mr. Rawlin's had left for the Capitol with the nominations, and the President asked him to guess who was the secretary of the Navy. Farragut guessed successfully A. H. Rice. Griswold, Secretary of the Navy, then reported to him after each one to guess again, until he gave it up. The President then informed him, and proceeded to give the names of the other cabinet officers. The report of the Secretary of Mr. Fish, Mr. Washburn was complimentary, and that he would soon retire from the State Department.

The New York Money Market.

"Money was fully active again to-day at 7 per cent, which was the rate on call loans even with the pledged gold of Government collateral. There were exceptions as usual, to old favored customers of prime standing. The effect of the change in the system of quarterly interest is duller, but rates are higher, the best money selling at from eight to ten per cent. There is more paper on the market and the inquiry less than usual. Hence the discount feature is inclined to improve. There is no feeling of apprehension concerning makers. The full supply is due to the large accumulation of goods in the hands of commission firms."

Government Bonds were dull but firm; there was no disposition to sell by holders at low rates. A steady demand from investors is noticed by the large dealers, and but few bonds are coming here to be sold by country holders. The foreign bankers continue steady buyers of 102 1/2, bid 95, and report a moderate tone to the markets abroad. The bearish feeling of the past few days has tested the strength of the market, but has not produced a fraction from the extreme prices made on the passage of the Schenck bill. A large short interest has been made in the active bonds, which were in demand for delivery to-day. Free of interest. The market closed strong at quotations.

Received too late for Classification.

BEDS, MATTRESSES, ETC. H. OVER'S PATENT Combination Sofa Bed

is decidedly the best Sofa Bed ever invented. It can be extended from a sofa into a handsome French Bedstead, with half spring mattress, in two seconds. It requires no unhooking or doorking, has no separation between bed and sofa, no cots to break and no sprung feet attached to the top of the back to support it when down, which is unsafe and liable to get out of order. The stretching is easily managed, and it is impossible for it to get out of order. Price about the same as an ordinary sofa.
