Resolved, That we think the time has come Resolved, That we think the time has come whea the laymen of the M. E. Church should assert that they have other rights than that of contributing to the various institutions of the church, and among those rights is that of being consulted as to who shall minister among them.

With this rebuke the trouble will cease, and Rev. Mr. McCallough will go on and discharge his pastoral duties.

Rev. Mr. McConlogic whiles on and discharge his pastoral duties. To-morrow will be devoted to the celebration of the missionary jublice by the churches of this denomination, it being fifty years since the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church came into being as a body corporate. Rev. W. H. Durrel is making an appeal for the new Calvary Church, Twentleth and Jeffer-son streets, of which he is pastor. The new Methodist Mission House in New York, in which the members of the Philadel-phia Conference have so great an interest, will cost at least $1,000,000, phia Conference have so great an interest, will cost at least $1,000,000. The Philadelphia statistics of the M. E. Church for the year 1869 show 55 churches, 17,160 mem-bers, 2525 probationers, 2327 baptisms during the year, contributions $196,002, and church property pained at $1,950,500

Schools, 635; officers and teachers, 5518; scholars, 29,000; volumes in library, 71,629; two colleges; two orphan asylums, and an emigrant house, which will shelter one hundred emigrants, in New York city. All this result has been reached in thirty-four years, through the conversion of the learned Dr. Nast, who was a fellow-student with Strauss, and, before his conversion, of the same infidel school.

BAPTIST.

The baptisms in the several churches named were as follows on last Sunday:-Memorial Church, 10; Fenth, 3; German, 6; Tabernacie, 2; Passyunk, 7; Central (W. P.), 14; and Roxbo-

Mr. Culliss is both an eloquent and

THE PAST AND THE PRESENT .- LONG, long ago, when a Philadelphia gentleman wanted a coat, the course of proceeding involved in becoming possessor thereof was attended with much vexation of mind and expenditure of precious time and hard-earned money. The steps to be taken were as follows: - First, it was necessary to go to a cloth store, or a general dry goods store, where cloth was kept for sale, and select from whatever might be on hand such as might suit him. Many and many a time did a man have to take his wife, his wife's sister, his aunt, his mother-in-law, and wife's sister, his aunt, his mother-in-law, and other relations, either singly or collectively, to help him pass judgment on the color, the durability, or the general style of the fabrics offered for sale. Often did the candidate for a new coat have to visit twenty-seven or more establishments to get such cloth as would suit him; and often did he come home at eventide, bringing to the sharer of his joys and his sor-rows a pocket full of three-cornered scraps kindly furnished him by the people who wanted to sell him the cloth. Sometimes the names and prices attached to these pattern scraps would get loose, or become mixed, and then the whols work of seeking samples and scent.

again. The work of selection of a suitable material having been laboriously accomplished, the next step was to take thegoods to the tailor's to be made into a cost. But here was new trouble, and more of it. Who should make the coat? Only about one tailor in fifty knew how to cut and fit a cost so as to make the wearer look otherwise than like a scarcerow. It sel-dom happened that a man would go a second time to the same tailor, and the botheration was whom to go to next time. All of the man's was whom to go to next time. All of the man's relations and acquaintances had to be asked. When at last a competent artist in cloth was When at last a competent artist in cloth was found, the victim of the coat had to go and be measured for the garment. The tailor would take down the figures of the measure, and promise to have the coat finished by a certain day, which generally turned out to he avery uncertain one. You were never cer-tain when you were going to get your coat, nor was there any certain by about it at all, but, there was a large probability that it wouldn't fit. The tailor told you to call next Wednesday week after he had got it cut out and hasted week, after he had got it cut out and basted tegether, that he might try it on you. When you called, he would tell you to come next Sa-turday. When at last he finished it, he seemed to have made it after the measure either of your corputent grandfather, or else after that of your lean next-door neighbor, who is astthin as a pair of tongs. Tailors were very clever, though, about these little accidents, and never refused to make another coat if you would

It is funny to think how long people endured this tronblesome, tedious, and expensive style of getting their clothes. A demand arose for a different way of furnishing masculine gar-ments. The idea dawned on the minds of some folks that they might as well how their costs folks that they might as well buy their coats ready-made, just as they bought their hats. Some cheap establishments gradually arose for the manufacture and sale of a coarse and inferior style of clothes. But gentlemen who wanted good raiment found no relief from them.

Rockhill & Wilson were among the first to relieve suffering mankind from their difficul-ties in this respect. At the very commencement of their business, in 1841, they aimed at furor their business, in 1831, they aimed at fur-nishing their patrens with a superior style of raiment, at the most moderate prices. Gentle-men found that it was beiter to so to Rockhill & Wilson's and buy an elegant suit of clothes ready-made, than to go through the experience we have narrated only to find it tedious, un-satisfactory and costly.

ready-made, than to go through the experience we have marrated only to find it tedious, un-satisfactory, and costly. Rockhill & Wilson soon took the lead in supplying the wants of the best men in the city and its vicinity, and by close attention to busi-ness, and a constant carrying out of their de-termination to give each customer the worth of his money, scon reached the position they have ever since held as the first clothiers of Philadelphia. Their elegant pile of brown stone in Chesnut street, show e Sixth, has stood since 1856, a monument of their ability and success in giving the people exactly what they want. Elegance of siyle, faultlessness of fit, and a perfect adaptation of the kind of goods and character of material to the person of the wearer, so as to ensure a low ensemble of the utmost gentility and beauty, are among the characteristics of the garments which have made Rockhill & Wilson so justly popular. We need only add that a visit to the elegant salesrooms of this firm will repay all gentle-men who desire to enjoy a view of some of the most elegant things in clothing that have ever been offered to the public. About the same time some gentle-men on the street discovered flames issuing from the rear second-story window, and imme-diately gave the alarm. Lieutenant Torbert, with a squad of policemen, was soon on the ground, and saw a number of the family at the third-story window. A ladder was soon ob-tained and the inmates taken from their perilous position. The fire was soon extin-guished, when it was discovered that a hole cost had fallen from the stove and burned a hole had fallen from the stove and burned a hole through the floor, the stove and its contents falling through to the room beneath. Appointments. WASHINGTON, April 3.—The batch of nomi-nations sent to the Senate yesterday has had the effect of settling the faite of several hundred office seekers, and this morning there is a visible failing failing off in the crowds which have swarmed around the departments and at the Capitol even the White House is less thronged, as nearly all the other important places for the eastern part of Pennsylvania have been filled. The fight is now centred on United States Marshals for the Eastern District. In addition to John Hiestand and George Lawman, a new candidate has appeared upon the field in the person of General Ely of Bucks county. It is stated this morning that he will probably be agreed upon as a compromise between the different fac-tions. Mr. Linderman, the Director of the Mint, it is understood will not be disturbed for the present. Adjournment of Congress.

Despatch to the Associated Press. Naval Affairs.

WASHINGTON, April 3 — The movements of the vessels of the South Pacific Squadron, as reported by Rear Admiral Turner in a despatch dated March I. at Valparaiso, are as follows:— The Powhatan (flag-ship) sailed from Valpa-raiso on January 12 for the Island of Chiloe, but raiso on January 12 for the Island of Chiloe, but the heavy head sea and winds prevented her going further south than Lala, which port she visited; also Talcuano, and returned to Valpa-raiso on the 12th of February. Owing to the prevalence of yellow fever along the coast, the vessels have remained south-ward, away from the infected districts. One vessel only is kept in the vicinity of Callao, where the fever is epidemic. The Dacotah is now there. The Kearsage has visited San Carlos, Island of Chiloe, and Talcuano. The Tuscarora returned to Callao 7th February, from Panams, to which point she had been Panama, to which point she had been sent for a draft of men. She has been despatched been to Buonaventura to investigate the reported outrage upon the United States Consul there, The Onward is under orders for Valparaiso. She is to be kept cruising as much as possible, and the young officers of the squadron are to be placed on board, changing them from time to time, that they may have practice in handling a ship under sail. The Nyack is at Valparaiso repairing.

Not Yet Signed.

The amended Tenure-of Office bill had not been signed up to noon to day. An apprehen-sion exists that some mistake has been made in the enrolling, as prominent members of both houses differ as to its construction. If so, the bill may be returned to Compress for correction. It appears from the official record that J. F. Cleveland was yesterday nominated as assessor for the Thirty-second, and L L. Doty assessor for the Sixth, district of New York.

If it were only a new Clothing House, its opening would be nothing nuusual or unusually interesting, and would never have attracted the attention which has been drawn from all classes of our citizens to this new enterprize. But, besides being new, it is an immerse enterprize and provises to it is an immense enterprise, and promises to eclipse all former attempts to establish in Phi-ladelphia a first-class house, where the business of ready-made clothing of the finest kind and of ready-made clothing of the finest kind and fashionable tailoring are combined. To this end Mr. Wanamaker, the proprietor, has ran-sacked every market and manufactory for the choicest and newest spring goods; he has had prepared with the nimost skill and care, both here and in New York, a stock of rare ready-made clothing, such as our pesple have seldom seen; he has employed a corps of cutters among whom are found men of large repute in Paris and the larger clics of our own country; and he has made every possible arrangement to secure such an organization of his forces, such a disposition of his immense stock, and such improvement in the system of business, as shall insure his establishm ent becoming im-mediately and immensely popular.

shall insure his establishment becoming im-mediately and immensely popular. This it is that makes all interested in this extension of business, and resolves so many to lend a helping hand; and, doubtless, the dis-play of spring goods on Monday will attract so many, both ladies and gentlemen, to the large brown stone building he has opened, as tomake the occasion a perfect ovation to the proprietor.

ROBBERY.-Between 8 and 9 o'clock last svening the residence of Bernard MacDonald. # FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS -First Session.

Senate.

Continued from Third Edition. On motion of Mr. Howe, the bill to extend the time for the construction of a railroad from the St. Groix Lake to Bayfield, on Lake Superior, was taken up. The peuding motion was that of Mr. Morrill to re-commit the bill to the Committee on Fablic Lands. Mears, Conkling and Scott supported the motion, on the ground that there were objections to the bill, which could not be fully or fairly considered at this seaton. Mears, Hows and Carpenter opposed it, and the motion was lost. The bill was passed. House of Representatives.

House of Representatives. Continued from Third Edition.

Continued from Third Edition. Mr Beck, a member of the Committee on Appro-priations, explained the liem of $500 000 for the ex-penses of the Internal Revenue Department, by stating that the committee of the last House had been led into a mistake in reporting $5,000,000. Mr. Kelley, another member of the committee, also entered only a brief explanation of the bill, and a vindication of the committee of the last House. Mr. Kelley, another member of the committee, also entered only a brief explanation of the bill, and a vindication of the committee of the last House. Mr. Dawes, in reply to a question asked by Mr. Maynard, said that the bydrostatio press printing which had been carried on is the Treasury Depart-ment, and which had cost the Government millions of dollars, was to be abandoned, and that the work was to be done on roller presses under control of the Treasury Department, but not in the Treasury build-ing, which was to be exclusively devoted to its logiti-mate uses. male uses,
