Hear that noisy lot of swells-Silly swells!

What a deal of trashy talk their company fore-

How they chatter, chatter, chatter, In the ball-room of a night! Making such a fearful clatter, As if something were the matter,

And had put them in a fright. Killing time, time, time, (Never thinking it a crime). With the foolish conversation to the little laughing belles,

Of the swells, swells, swells, swells, Swells, swells, swells-While a-walking and a-talking with the belies,

See those dissipated swells-Drunken swells!

What a tale to temperance that tipsy tumble tells!

In the startled air of night Ringing bells with great delight, And singing songs with all their might, Although the words they do not quite Distinctly utter.

Reeling, reeling, reeling. Standing, sitting, kneeling, Rolling, rolling, rolling, On their homeward journey strolling, With a resolute endeavor

Now, now to sit, or never Side by side with their companions in the gutter,

In the gutter-

See those horrid dandy swells-Scented swells!

What a world of vapid talk their company com-

How disgusting their flirtation And affected adoration Of every exclamation Of the belles.

Oh, maidens, young and single! Lest your ears with pain should tingle, Never listen to the jingle

Of the swells-Of the swells, swells, swells,

Swells, swells, swells-To the jingling and the dingling of the swells. TAILORS DEPENDED .- A tailor possesses the qualities of nine men combined in one, as will be seen by the following observations:-

1. As an economist, he cuts his coat according to his cloth.

2. As a gardener, he is careful of his cabbage. 3. As a sailor, he sheers off whenever it is proper. 4. As a play-actor, he often brandishes a bare

5. As a lawyer, he attends many suits. 6. As an executioner, he provides suspenders or gallowses for many persons. 7. As a cook, he is generally furnished with a warm goose.

8. As a sheriff's officer, he does much at sponging. 9. As a rational and scriptural divine, his great aim is to form good habits, for the benefit of himself and others.

During the examination of a witness as to the locality of the stairs in a house, the learned counsel asked him, "Which way did the stairs run ?" The witness, who was a noted wag, replied, "One way they ran up and the other way they ran down." The learned counsel wiped both eyes, and took a look at the ceiling.

A little five-year-old recently repeated his usual evening prayer, "Now I lay me down to sleep," to which he added, much to the surprise of his mother, "Please, God, bless papa and mamma, grandpa and grandma, and grandpa's turkeys, and make 'em fat, and make papa and mamma take me down to grandpa's Thanksgiving." A lady having the misfortune to have her husband hang himself on an apple-tree, the wife of a neighbor immediately came to beg a branch of that tree to have it grafted into one in her orchard, "for who knows," says she, "but it may bear the same kind of

In Chicago huswands are said to be so fearful of divorce that they add to their announcements of future movements the letters "W. P.," which mean "wife permitting."

She stood beside the counter,
The day he'll ne'er forget;
She thought the muslin dearer
Than any she'd seen yet;
He watched her playful fingers
The silks and sailus toss—
The clerks looked quite uneasy,
And nodded to the boss.

"Show me some yelvet ribbon, Barege, and satin Turk." She said; "I want to purchase;" Then gave the goods a jerk. The clerk was all obedience; The clerk was all obedience; He travelled "on his shape; At length, with hesitation, She bought a yard of tape!

SHERIDAN KNOWLES was one day walking with friend-a well-known London actor-in the Strand. Knowles suddenly detaches himself from his friend's arm, and pours forth a volume of hearty salutations on a gentleman passing by, whom he button-holes on the spot. The gentleman, instead of reciprocating, looks somewhat stiff and aggrieved. "No doubt you are glad to see me, Mr. Knowles," says he; "but I hardly think you have treated me with very great courtesy. When I met you last I asked you to dinner. You fixed your own day and your own hour. We waited for hours. You never put in an appearance, and sent no apology whatever."

"Why, bless my soul!" answers the Irish dramatist, "ye don't say so! But I've such a memory! A thousand pardons! a thousand pardons! Come now. my friend, when do you dine at home again?"

"Wednesday, and we shall be delighted to see

"At what hour?" "Six o'clock,"

"Six o'clock-done! I'll be with you, my boy, God bless von!"

The gentleman wafked off, Sheridan Knowles joined his friend. Says Sheridan Knowles to his friend. a minute afterwards, "I'd give ye a thousand pounds, me boy, if ye'd tell me who that man in!"

We've arranged SUCH a scena for you in the Third Act! aboard the Pirate Screw, after the keelhauling scenes, you know! Heavy rolling sea, oh! Yes, and we can have some real spray pumped on to you from a Fire Engine! Volumes of smoke from the smokestack, close behind your head-in fact, you will be enveloped as you rush on to the Bridge! And then you'll sing a barcarole through the Speaking Trumpet! And mind you hold tight, as the ship blows up just as you come upon your high D in the last Bar!!"

At a supper party at which Alexandre Dumus was present, the lady of the house called upon him, in the name of the other guests, to say something brilliant and witty. "Pray, do so, Monsieur Dumas," she said, when he did not seem to listen to her; "say something witty; that is your business; you are doing so every day,"

"Ah !" replied Dumas, "if you look upon the matter in that light, I am ready to do so, provided all the other guests give us likewise a specimen of their business. Pray, sir," he continued, turning to an artillery officer sitting on his left, "commence and fire off a cannon shot. It will be my turn next!"

A clergyman taught an old man in his parish to read, and had found him an apt pupil. After the lessons had tinished he had not been able to call at the cottage for some time, and when he did he only found the wife at home.

"How's John?" said the clergyman. "He's canny, sir," said the wife. "How does he get on with his reading?" "Nicely, sir.".

"Ah! I suppose he'll read his Bible very comfortably now.

into the newspaper long ago." GOOD ADVICE .- An elderly gentleman accustomed to "indulge" entered the room of a certain tavern, where sat a grave Friend by the fire. Lifting a pair of green spectacles upon his forehead, rubbing his inflamed eyes, and calling for hot brandy-and-water, he complained to the Friend that "his eyes were getting weaker, and that even spectacles didn't seem to do them any good." "I'll tell thee, friend," replied the Quaker, "what I think. If thee were to wear thy spectacles over thy mouth for a few months thy eyes would get well again."

RECIPE FOR BEING UNIVERSALLY BELOVED .- Lend, and never ask to be paid; make presents, give treats, bear and forbear, do everybody a good turn, hold your peace, and suffer yourself to be cheated.

A lady in Paris was out of all patience and spirits at hearing nothing but French day after day. One morning she heard a cock crowing, and exclaimed, "Thank God, there's somebody who speaks English!" "My son, know thyself!" solemnly said a father to one of his offspring. "Thank you, sir," replied the son, "but my list of acquaintance is sufficiently large already."

It may not be generally known that there is a sure remedy for the toothache by taking into the palm of the right hand a certain root-to wit, that of the

"My son," said an anxious father, "what makes you use that nasty tobacco?" The boy, declining to consider the question in the spirit in which it was asked, replied, "To get the juice."

"Nobody ever lost anything by love," said a benevolent-looking man.

"That is not true," said a lady who heard the remark; "for I once lost three nights' sleep." "I always sing to please myself," said a gentleman who was humming a tune in company. "Then you are not at all difficult to please," said a lady who sat next to him. Have you a sister? Then love and cherish her
