TWENTIETH DIVISION.

THE BANNERS OF THE HOME LODGES.

Like an army with banners, this grand procession makes the circuit of the city. The number of ban-ners of ail sorts displayed is beyond actual compa-

ation, and as startling in variety as they are impos ing in number.

The most prominent flags were these of the Grand Lodge of the United States, but, being too large and unwieldy for carrying in the procession, they were thrown to the breeze from the Academy of Music. The largest of the two is twenty feet in length and eleven and a half feet in which, and both are madely white silk supportately embellished with scarce.

of white silk appropriately embellished with scarlet

The banner of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania however, is carried in the parade, and is remarkably attractive. It is treasured very highly by the Order, having been painted years ago by Woodside, and figured in many demonstrations, but never before today in such a grand and imposing outpouring of the Order. The front of the banner is made of white silk, and bears seven female figures, each of them typical of some one of the cardinal and guiding principles of the Oder. In addition to these figures, the face of this banner bears a representation of the coat-of-arms of the State of Bearstynan. The back is made of new State of Bearstynan.

banner bears a representation of the coat-of-arms of the State of Pennsylvania. The back is made of new silk of a rich searlet hue, with an appropriate in-scription. But not the least attractive feature is the triumlings, which are hung about the banner in gor-geous profusion. The banner has been specially renovated and reconstructed for the occasion of the grand parade, but reconstruction has not gone so far as to destroy or even to impair its almost sacred observer.

It is impossible to give detailed descriptions of all the banners in the procession, especially as it is so long and unwieldy in consequence, that we are obliged to write this description before it is fully under way. We give below, however, short descriptions of many of the more noticeable banners to be seen in the procession, beginning with those of our home lodges.

Liberty Lodge carries a superb banner. It is of large size, having a white silk front and a scarlet silk back. The painting, which is very fine, represents the Goddess of Liberty and an Odd Fellow's widow and orphan. On the back of the banner is the following inscription, in gold letters:—"Presented to Laberty Lodge, No. 272, L. O. O. F., by their Friends in West Philadelphia." The trimming is of rich gold lace and fringe, the top being decorated with scarlet velvet hanging in festoons, and surmounted by a golden eagle.

Apollo Lodge carries a very handsome banner, which is a mass of embroidery and chenille work, with a golden lyre in the centre. The body of the banner is white and blue silk velvet, and the whole is Thirty Thousand Odd Fellows in Line.

The Grandest Demonstration of the Kind Ever Seen in this City.

Pailsdelphis has never had such a throng within ber limits as was seen to-day. Camden, and all the adjacent cities and towns, furnished their quota to increase the already over-flowing population of yesterday. At daylight our citizens were astir, making their final preparations for the grand demonstration in honor of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and by 9 o'clock the streets north, south, east, and west were crowded with organizations moving to the spots designated for their formation. There was also a ceaseless tide of men, women, and children who were hurrying to secure a good stand from which they could see the grand procession, which was the largest and grandest parair ever witnessed in this country.

At half-past 10 o'clock the Division Marshals re ported to the Grand Marshal, at Broad and Coates, where they received their orders for the day. They then proceeded to the head of the divisions assigned to their charge, where they awaited the hour of 12. In the meantime the Lodges arrived on the streets running east of Broad, and by noon all were in readistreamers, combined with the music of a score of bands, was a grand affair, and one that will not be likely to be soon forgotten by those who witnessed it. All along the rest of the route, the pavements, windows and door steps were packed with people, who cheered and waved bandkerchiefs as the line passed by.

Chief Mulholland, with his police force, worked energetically, and descree the thanks of everybody for the admirable condition in which they kept the thoroughfares, none of which were allowed to be obstructed in any way, so that the line containing some 30,000 men, was permitted to pass along with all possible celerity. THE NOTABLES.

Among the notables who finally took their place in the procession were the following:-

M. W. Grand Sire E. D. Favnsworth, of Nashville, Tennessee; M. W. Deputy Grand Sire Frederick D. Stuart, Washington, District of Columbia; M. W. Stuart, Washington, District of Columbia; M. W. Grand Secretary James L. Ridgely, Baltimore, Maryland; M. W. Grand Treasurer Hon. Joshua Vansant, Baltimore, Maryland; M. W. Grand Chaplain, Rev. J. W. Venable, Kentucky; M. Grand Marshal John W. Orr, New Jersey; M. W. Grand Guardian J. W. Smith, Connecticut, and M. W. Grand Messenger J. C. Chamberlain, Maryland. A large number of the representatives of the Grand Lodge of the United States were also present in their place in the procession as indicated below, their magnificent regalia lending much to the attractiveness of the affair.

THE COMPOSITION OF THE PROCESSION. Each Lodge that appears in the procession in re-galia is formed in the following manner:-

William Price, alias Wade Sipple, an old convict, pleaded guilty to a charge of the larceny of a gold watch and other jewelry belonging to Charles Lafterty.

There were three other indictments charging the same defendant with stealing various articles of lewelry, to which, however, he pleaded not guilty, and the prosecutors not being in attendance the cases were not tried.

Christiana Lewis was acquitted of a charge of the larceny of a silk dress, belonging to a lady with whom she was living at service. There was a complete failure of legal proof, but the Court was so well satisfied that she was in some way criminally connected with the matter, that she was required to give security to be or good behaviour.

The Indians and their Agents-The West Opposed to Quaker Appointments-Naval Orders.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Quaker Indian Agents.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. WASHINGTON, April 26 .- There is a strong feeling among Western Senators and members against the President's appointments of Quakers to be Indian agents. It is asserted by Senators from Kansas and Nebraska that Grant promised them he would not interfere with Indian agents in their States without first consulting them. This promise, it appears, was made on the morning of the day when the Quaker Indian agents were sent in. This led to the rejection of several of them. Grant asserts his determination to appoint other Quakers in their places,

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Desputch to The Evening Telegraph.

The Abbott-Sprague Imbroglio-it Reaches a Crisis. Washington, April 26.—The Abbott-Sprague difficulty is beginning to reach a crisis, and is is expected that it will be settled in one way or the other to-day. At an early hour this morning Scuator Abbott addressed a note to Senator Sprague demanding to know if, in his speech in the Senate on Friday last, he meant to refer to him (Abbott) when he used the illustration of "puppy-dog;" if so, he asks for immediate and full retraction of the offensive language, which retraction, when made, is to be given to the public press.

The note, which was delivered to Senator Sprague by a friend of Senator Abbett, requests an early

Thus far no reply has been received, and it is not known what course Senator Sprague will take, but the impression is that he will deny having applied the offensive language to Senator Abbott. A the offensive language to Senator Abbott. A large number of Senators have now become interested in the affair. Among them are Senators Sumner, Sherman, Pool, Morton, and Anthony, all of whom are laboring to secure an amicable settlement. Senator Abbott declares that he will be satisfied with nothing but full ciares that he will be satisfied with nothing but full retraction from Sprague. The friends of the latter, with "pet" Haistead as their spokesman, say that "Little Rhody" has no apology to make, and that the burly Senator from North Carolina can go ahead and do his worst. The rooms of Senator Abbott are crowded this morning with his friends from North Carolina, together with several Senators and members who have taken aninterest in the proceedings. Sprague is also called upon by many persons. The city is on the qui vice for the result of the pending correspondence. correspondence.

The Eight Hour Law.

The Eight Hour Law.

Senator Wilson has already received a large number of telegrams from various trades unions, workingmens associations and leading politicians throughout the country, warmly approving of his letter to the Secretary of War, Rawlins, relative to the eight hour law. The opinion of the Attorney-General, Hoar, together with a circular of the letter of Secretary Borie, is exciting a great deal of bad feeling towards the administration among the workingmen throughout the country. Senators and members now here have received letters and telegrams almost without number, protesting against the grams almost without number, protesting against the action of Mr. Borie, and denouncing the opinion of the Attorney-General as having been made to order, at Borie's request. Some of the trades unions have petitions in circulation asking the removal of both Borie and Hoar from the Cabinet, on the ground that they are hostile to the interests of the laboring classes. The best politicians here regard Borie's order as a great blunder, and they assert that, if it is not revoked, it will tend to array the workingmen against the administration all over the country, and defeat the Republican party at the fall elections.

The City Amusements.

At the Cheskut the last performances of the amusing burlesque of The Field of the Closh of Gold will be given this week. This entertainment has had an immense success, and it is now in the full tide of prosperity, and would probably run for months to come. The previous engagements of the troupe, however, render a return to Chicago necessary, and those who have been entertained by this merry performance will have to find amusement elsewhere in the inture. The following benefits are announced for this week.—On Tuesday, Mise Katte Putnam; on Wednesday, Mise Fanny Stockton; on Thursday, Mr. M. W. Fiske; and on Friday, Mrs. J. A. Oates.

At the Walnut Mr. J. H. Hackett will appear this evening as "Sir John Falstaff" in the Shakespearian comedy of The Merry Wiess of Windsor, for the accommodation of the visitors in the city on the occasion of the Odd Fellows' somi-centennial anniversary.

The performance will conclude with the burlesque of Leion, in which the Misses Willmore and Mr. Felix Rogers will appear.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

OFFICE OF THE EVENING TELEGRAPH, Monday, April 25, 1869.

There is a very easy feeling in monetary circles to-day, which promises to culminate in a few days in a very satisfactory Money market. To-day the demand for currency was quite active, and well distributed among the mercantile, industrial, and manufacturing interests, which fact may be regarded as a sign of general business improvement. The supply of capital, however, awaiting employment is so largely in excess of demand that the pressure was not felt.
