THE DAILY EVENING TELEGRAPH-PHILADELPHIA, THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1869.

NEW YORKISMIS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORE, May 6, 1869. The Sunday Schools of the city are preparing for their May anniversary, which is to be celebrated next Tuesday week. About one hundred and fifty schools will participate in the exercises, which will consist of the usual parading, singing, and the mild dissipations of fruit and tea tables. The first of the May anniversaries of Bible and charitable societies will be commemorated next Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church, at the corner of Twelfth street and Fifth avenue.

It seems as though Brooklyn is to have a paid fire department, following the prudent and economical example set some four years ago by New York. The metropolitan experience is that the paid system is much cheaper and preferable in every way than the volunteer system. The bill authorizing the paid system in Brooklyn has already passed both houses of the State Legislature, and requires only the Govornor's signature to be of binding force. Why don't you get one up in Philadelphia? The shining success of the system in this city ought to be the best refutation to the fears of the old fogies.

We are looking to the new postmaster to make such a change in the post office system as shall enable letters to be written, delivered, received, and answered, and the answers received within a few hours at different points of the city. Under the present regime we are hours behind European cities in this respect. It takes thirty hours to receive an answer, when there is no necessity for its taking more than three. We want less politics and more punctuality.

Mr. Montgomery Queen "does good" to the drivers and conductors of the Second Avenue Railroad by such refined stealth, that I should not wonder if his complexion assumed the hue of a beet upon discover ing himself doomed to everlasting fame. His position is certainly a hard one. He has to please the directors of the company, who have already los $20,000 through the troubles between him and the men, and yet displeases the employes. The latte had just recovered from one strike when, on Mon day, they suffered a relapse. The cause is one o those dreadful time-tables which keep them on duty away from their homes literally three-fourths of thei time, while their wages are scarcely enough to keep body and soul together. These time-tables appear to be of Queen's devisement, and to be constructed on the principle of screwing the greatest quantity of work out of an employe for the smallest sum of money. Finding how matters stood, Mr. Queen went out and addressed the men who had deserted their cars and stood in fierce-looking groups around the depot. He was saluted with groans and threats, and found nothing he could say allayed the storm he had provoked. Finally, Judge Slosson, who seems to better understand human nature as developed in car conductors, promised them that their labors should be lightened and the raised rate of wages, $2.50 per day, retained, whereon they raised Hibernian cheers and joyfully manned their vehicles.

It is expected that to-day the political besom will commence its work at the Custom House. Collector Grinnell needs a strong arm and a tough broom. The Custom House is a honeycomb where drones thrive, and the Collector's return to the city will be characterized by an extensive sweeping forth of the Bohemian loungers who hold sinecures there. Some of the old subdivisions of departments are to be done away with altogether, and a fair day's work will be allotted to the majority of the men retained. The Collector has already banished one nuisance, known as the salary brokers, a set of Israelitish shysters who make advances of money to clerks in the different bureaus, and receive in return due bills to be presented next pay day. All such "brokers" have been banished from the Custom House. But how about the fast clerks that patronize them ? If they were banished, too, would not the weeding out be more perfect?

Whether the hansom cabmen will ever become popular in America we shall soon have the means of esting, since a Hansom Cab Company was incorporated in our State Senate on Monday, and as soon as the bill receives the Governor's signature we may expect to see that British institution spread by magic all over the city. Perhaps it will take a long time to persuade the American mind that it is better to ride the same distance comfortably for twenty cents that

THE NEWSPAPER IMBROGLIO.

An Explanatory Note from the General Agent of the Associated Press. The following communication has been sent to us by the General Agent of the Associated Press :-OFFICE NEW YORK ABSOCIATED PRESS, NEW YORK, May 5, 1809.—Editor Philadelphia Post.—Sir:—You are entirely mistaken in stating that the Associated are entirely mistakon in stating that the Associated Press sent out a telegram "announcing that Mr. (John Russell) Young had been found guilty of fraud and corruption in Albany, and personal dishonesty." That story I saw in print for the first time in your own columns. Nor did the Associated Press or its agents send a word of it anywhere. We did telegraph, on the 37th ult., a few words of the Sun expose of Mr. Young-much less than I now think the facts warranted and demanded of us as purveyors of eurent news.

purveyors of current news. On the other hand, we did not suppress the fact that Mr. Young had brought suit against the Sun; on the contrary, we announced Mr. Dana's arrest the instant we were informed of it. Nor is it true that the undersigned became Mr. Young's enemy became of compilets by the latter.

Young's enemy because of complaints by the latter of Mr. Simonton's administration. The entire Tri-bune establishment knows that our relations were of the most cordial nature] until Mr. Young undertook, by unfair and jesuitical achemes, to punish my dis-covery and suppression of the means by which the Post obtained our news surreptiliously. In that he signally failed, and the contempt ex-cited by his entire course leaves no room in my breast for emity or hate.

Respectfully, J. W. SIMONTON.

Behrens, the musica director of the Richings troupe, will have a benefit, when Balfe's opera of The Bohemian Girl will be given, with Miss Susan Galton as "Arline." The Lottery of Life. At the Arch the performance this evening will be for the benefit of the Cuban patriots. Lotts will ap-pear in her new drama of Pepina, and the house will of course be crowded. In crediting Mr. Edmund Falconer with the authorship of Pepina we did an in-justice. It is the production of a "party by the name of Jackson."

AT THE THEATRE COMIQUE Miss Susan Galton will appear this evening in Macferran's comic opera of Jessie Les and Offenbach's Les Deux Aveugles.

AT THE AMERICAN an attractive variety entertain-ment will be given this evening. THE NEW YORK CIBCUS will commence a season

THE NEW YORK CIRCUS will commence a season of two weeks on Monday next, on Eighth street, above Race. This establishment is under the man-agement of L. B. A SACRED CONCERT will be given this evening at St. Augustine's Church, on Fourth street. The organ having been rebuilt, and provided with elec-tro-magnetic action, will be opened by Mr. Henry G. A GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN PAPER COLLARS.-Since the introduction of paper collars and cuffs, the manufacture of these articles has engrossed the attention of inventive geniuses; and to such perfection has it been brought, that they can scarcely be distinguished from the finest Irish linen goods, and with the aid of a glass, the threads can actually be counted. The objection which was at first raised against them has been gradually removed, until now, every first-class store has included them in its line of goods. Rickey, Sharp & Co., who have one of the most elegant establishments in the city, at No. 727 Chesnut street, have just received an extensive and select assort-ment of these articles, including both ladies' and gents' wear, and they are really of the finest make. They have introduced this new branch of the business with a view of meeting the wants of their numerous customers, and they intend to devote special attention to it. Prominent among the varied styles are the Burlingame, Harvard, Defiance, Empress, La Belle Helene, and Cardinal.

you do comfortably for ten. But if prices really are placed low, it should seem as if there ought to be enough people in New York disposed to be comfortable to guarantee the company making a very respectable revenue. In London there are scarcely any other cabs than hansoms. In this city one-horse four-wheeled coaches have lately multiplied to a very considerable extent. The objection to them is the same as that against their two-horsed rivals-the charges are enormous. To ride in a snug little carriage, all by one's self, or with one pleasant neighbor. is a luxury for which one ought to be willing to pay -moderately! I presume Mumier's fortune may be considered made. Judge Darling advertised him in the most glaring and gratuitous manner, stating that, guiding himself by the evidence handed in, he deemed it his duty to acquit him, whatever his own private mora convictions might be. Mumler walked out of coura made man. He has a good grip now of very hard cash, and he must be a fool indeed if he ever let : go. The whole of the proceedings at the Tomb were characterized by a lack of common sense, and Darling has laid himself open to the contempt o: every one but the Spiritualists.

The German poet would never have cried "Light! more light still!" if that light had been obtained from gas, and such bills had been awaiting him as unnumbered heads of families in this city are compelled every year to pay. As the laws stand at present, we are obliged to pay an exorbitant price for a wretched article, and to submit to annoying regulations, without hope of speedy redress. The complaints of the people, who have long endured the evil with silent patience, have at length compelled the Assembly to frame a law which promises an improvement, but the improvement is long in coming. and affairs at Albany look as though the improve ment is not coming at all.

The expedition of five hundred armed men that sailed for Cuba on Monday night from one of the docks on Jersey shore is, I regret to record for the interest of sensation lovers, a myth. No such fleet and no such men ever existed. Going over to Jersey, it is true, is sometimes mentioned as going into ain; but how could that ever be confounded with departing for Cuba ?

Christ Church, Fifth avenue, is now recognized as the ritualistic church of this city. It is supported by an organization of extremely High-Church Episcopalians, who call themselves the "Guild of the Holy Cross," and indulge in large candles, small boys, and copious genuflexions

Miss Kate Field has been lecturing on "Woman in the Lyceum," at Plymouth Church, and receiving the compliments and attentions of some of the best men in Brooklyn. She has a masculine brain and a feminine jaw, and in that respect is a pleasant contrast to some other oratresses.

On Sanday night the "solemn mess" is to be given at St. Stephen's, on East Twenty-eighth street. Miss Kellogg has given dissatisfaction in it on two accounts: she is accused of flippancy in her readings and discourtesy towards Madame Natalle Tosta. Madame Parepa has been regretted, and the "Messe" is comparatively a failure. Mr. Strakosch likewise last Sunday night most outrageously disappointed the public. Upon flocking to the doors of Steinway Hall, they were met with the announcement that the "Messe" was "postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather !" Fancy that,
