Particulars of the Terrible Tragedy in New Haven.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. New Haven, May 10 .- A brutal and bloody murder occurred here about half-past 11 last night. For atrocity and fiendishness it outranks anything of the sort ever committed in this vicinity. The facts of the case, so far as known, are as follows:-A German named Peter Elliger, who boarded at the New Britain House, on Wallace street, was accosted on the sidewalk in front of the house by a man named George McVeeny. The latter asked Elliger for a pipe, and he handed him one, when McVceny knocked him partially down, and then stabbed him twice, inflicting two ghastly and dangerous wounds in the abdomen and right side. Elliger rushed into the house, calling for help, and a comrade named Louis Bensch ran to his assistance, when McVeenv stabbed him also, cutting his heart in twain, and causing almost instant death. The murderer then fled, and has not been caught yet.

ABSCONDING CHINAMEN.

They Run Away from "Melikee" with $15,000 The readers of the San Francisco Herald (says that paper of the 1st instant) will recollect the shrewd swindle perpetrated on the 5th of February last by two Chinamen, Hong Kee and Ah Ting, who muleted a large number of Clay street grain dealers and Front street liquor merchants in about the sum of $18,000, by making extensive purchases of flour and liquor, and absconding with their flour on the China steamer. The chief sufferers among the flour merchants were: -George Babcock & Co., Sperry & Co., George W. Stewart & Co., and Kinney Brothers. They employed Vernon Seaman, agent for Oliphant & Co.'s line of vessels, to telegraph to that house in hope of selzing the flour as it was landed The despatch was sent to Liverpool: thence to Point de Galle, at the southern extremity of Cevlon, which is the terminus of telegraphic communication; thence it was taken to Hong Kong by steamer. Little hope was entertained that either the flour or the thieves would be overtaken; for it was feared that they would land their lil-gotten booty before the steamer reached its final destination; or else, antici pating that the telegraph might be called into requisition against them, would transfer it to other hands and themselves escape in the crowd at the landing. It is therefore pleasing to note that a despatch was vesterday received by Vernon Seaman from Oliphani & Co., Hong Kong, informing him that the flour was seized at the place of its destination. The slippery Celestials, however, succeeded in sliding into erowd of their moon-eved countrymen, and made good their escape into the interior.

Secretary Bontwell's Contradiction.

The financial policy of Secretary Boutwell purporting to be given in a despatch to one of your evening contemporaries on Saturday would bevery well but that it lacks the essential quality of news, to wit, truth. He has not yet determined upon establishing a sinking fund, and does not intend to cancel the bonds recently purchased by sales of gold. On the contrary, he intends to use these bonds in payment of indebtness, should the demands of the Treasury require it. The whole story seems to have been gotten up in the interests of speculators,

-A bit of Indian history, which throws light on the present state of rural life in Bengal, comes from Serampore, the well-known station a few miles above Calcutta. Six wealthy zemindars were charged before Mr. Ryland, the ma-gistrate, with oppression towards a small land-owner and ryot in their village, named Halimu-din Shaik. The ryot had a small piece of land to sell in another village, and the chief zemindar wished to buy it. But he spoke too late-it was already sold; and then the zemindar determined to seize it without further parley. He and his laborers went to the ryot's huts, bound one of his relatives to a tree outside as a caution to the neighbors not to interfere, and at once proceeded to carry off everything the poor man possessed. The cattle were driven off, the brass pots and other indispensable articles of the native kitchen taken away. Some money and papers were also stolen. All this was openly done, and two of the zemindars were present on the scene, while the others looked on from their houses hard by. Mr. Ryland committed the defendants on a charge of dacoity, and they were brought to trial. But the native police did all in their power to suppress or mutilate the evidence, and the jury acquitted the defendants, although the judge summed up for a conviction. Mr. Ryland said in his memorandum:—"The difficulty of getting any independent evidence at all in such a case can only be appreciated by those who have experience of the terror exercised by an unscrupulous landlord in the Mofussil, and upon which, together with a corrupt police, the offenders in this case doubtless trusted for impunity." It is quite evident that the laws have not yet put an end to that relentless tyranny of the landlord over the tenant which was the rule in native life until the appearance in the country of the English.

of metropolitan pauperism have not fulfilled the promise of diminution which the earlier ones held out. It was not unreasonable to anticipate, when at midwinter the numbers on the union relief lists were considerably less than in the corresponding season of 1868, that the early spring would furnish at least as satisfactory statement. But the fact is unfortunately otherwise. Towards the middle of January the claimants whose wants the London guardians had to satisfy amounted to 149,885, or nearly 20,000 fewer paupers than in the same week of 1868, and, although several of the subsequent returns of the present year exhibited considera-ble decreases, the favorable comparison has been slowly changing to an unfavorable one. table published lately shows that in the first week of the present month the London unions relieved 1500 more paupers than in the first week of April, 1868. There is something dis-heartening in this result. In spite of all the efforts made by emigration and otherwise to re-lieve London distress, in spite of better prospects of trade than the winter of 1867-8 could show, it would seem that a permanent 40 per cent. or so has been added to metropolitan pauperism. If not, how can these figures be explained for the first week of April in the four consecutive years? At that date in 1866 the total number of indoor and outdoor paupers was 104,333; in 1867, 140,789; in 1868, 145,537; and in 1869, 147,086. In January last year, as already stated, pauperism was much higher than at the commencement of 1869; but 24,000 paupers went off the lists by the 1st of April, 1868; in the same interval of the present year the decrease has been less than 3000, in the third week of January the numbers being 149,885 as against 147,086 in April. -Herr Wessely, inspector of domains, has just published, by order of the Austrian Government, an interesting pamphlet on "Austrias forest treasures and exports of wood." It appears from this pamphlet that there are at this moment in Austria about 2.000,000 yochs (3,000,000 acres) of virgin forest, containing numberless trees. Near the sea some of the wood has been cut, but in the Croatian and Slavonian "military frontier" the woods are still very thick only a few miles from the coast. The value of the wood, which has so long remained unproductive, is estimated by Herr Wessely at several hundred millions of florins. It may of course be had very cheap. Wood for shipbuilding costs on an average 23 kreutzers (5%d.) per cubic foot; clm, 19 kreutzers (4%d.); oak, 18 kreutzers (4%d.); fir, 25 kreutzers (6%d.); pine, 26 kreutzers (6%d.). For a whole oak trunk the price is often from 4 to 6 kreutzers (from 1d. to Herr Wessely adds that the wood is in excellent condition, and adapted for the most delicate kinds of carpentry as well as for the building of ships, houses, and machinery.
