Tables.

Spring time is declining to its close. May—the sowery month—has already given to the grateful air more than half her fragrance. That's a pretty way of regarding the season; but there's another way more sensible, at any rate more stomachic, and by their stomachs men are rhied. For a recreation, spend half an hour to-morrow in any of our markets, and we warrant that you will experience that partly pleasurable, partly tantalizing sensation which we designate by the expression "my mouth waters." Everybody knows what that means—everybody will appreciate it—for everybody has felt it. The hey-day of the epicare has commenced. The canned fruits and compressed vegetables of winter have yielded place to the fresh, juley, and tempting products of the river and the field. A sight of the esculent delicacies spread in such profusion on the stalls of all our markets is enough to make any man rub his hands in satisfaction. We pity the dyspeptic chap who wouldn't make such a gesture. Why, what poor man, though he knows his purse too seant to purchase, but feels the better for even a giance at the appetizing array, or a whirf of its ravishing scent? And then the way the farmers have of displaying their greens is aggravating in the extreme. See how nicely, artistically, and adroitly they arrange their peas, strawberries, and watercresses upon the stalls. Those fellows have nothing to learn in their business. The strings of what purse but open involuntarily at the mute suggestion of the things they expose? We den't know what kind of a market old Epicurus attended, but we do know that had he lived in the present age, and in the city of Philadelphia, and had the opportunity of visiting our markets, he would have clasped his hands on his stomach, and, inspired by 'the spectacle, given impromphs to the world an immortal song. He would have sung the praises of the American cabbage, the American shad, and the American chicken, and wanted no better theme. But Epicurus is gone. Who can point us to his like? Our stalls must go uns

Summer cabbages, Bermuda potatoes, Bermuda mions, spinach, lettuce, Boston cucumbers (toma-Summer cabbages, Bermuda potatoes, Bermuda enions, spinach, lettnee, Boston cucumbers (tounstoes are rather scarce as yet), parsley, leeks, shallots, string beans, water-cresses, radishes, all these are in scasen, and all have a delightful air of country freshness and a pleasant odor of mother carth that is quite refreshing. Besides, too, what hungry thoughts a knowledge of their excellent qualities suggests to one whose plethoric purse affords him the comfortable assurance that he may reduce these agreeable visions to actual experience. But what would be these vegetable luxuries without their appropriate accompaniments—fish, fiesh, and fowl? Vegetables are undoubtedly necessary elements of good living, but after all they are only secondary. Your vegetarian philosopher—a man generally with a sour tooth—may vaunt himself as long as he chooses upon the excellence of bran and greens; but who is there able to extract "blood from a turnip?" You might as well attempt to reduce a cobble-stone to the consistence of an apple-dumpling, or deinde yourself with the notion that a boot-top could be fried as tender as a sirioin steak. Old BenFranklin—and?he is good authority, too—tried vegetarianism for awhile, but soon returned to his mutton with a vengeance, for he became so ravenous by abstinence that'he ate a whole leg of it at one sitting. The follewing stanzas of some carnivorous humorist seem wing stanzas of some carnivorous humorist seem

There was Graham, a patron of squashes and bran-He whose Christian name was Sylvester:
He was pale, slight, and dry—quite a gravyless man
Was this fanatic roast beef detester.

"He delighted in biscuit, he doated on rice,
And all meats did forever aside throw;
And averred that carnivorous tastes were a vice—
In the midst of his triumphs died though,"

A word now about fish. That, you know, heads the trio of fish, fiesh, and fowl. Salmon can be had now in the Farmers Market for about forty cents per pound—of a flavor, too, to make your hair curl. Brook trout is somewhere near the same price, and Brook trout is somewhere near the same price, and everybody votes trout splendid cating, though there be many, of whom we are one, that think it better fun to get them under one's waistband than to get under the water after them in some hole of the creek. Salmon, trout, and shad—yes, we must not forget shad, one of the best fish in the market—their condition is A No. 1. Some people imagine shad the chief, and perhaps they are not far wrong. So far as our Delaware shad are concerned, where can they be caught better? The flesh of them is so appetizing that you forget to swear at the little bones. That's that you forget to swear at the little bones. That's saying a good deal in their praise. We saw some on a stall in the market that would make a boa viant's eyes dance. Beauties they were, fresh taken from the water, and their sheeny sides glittered like from the water, and their sheeny sides glittered like silver. What language is adequate to describe the surpassing flavor of this noble fish? People who form their ideas of the flavor of this fish from the specimens caught in the Connecticut and North rivers, have no conception of what shad is. The finny monarch of the Delaware as much surpasses his brother of the North or Connecticut rivers in flavor as he does in size and beauty. To compare the two is to liken Hyperion to a Satyr. the two is to liken Hyperion to a Satyr. From 40 to 60 cents apiece is about the average for this kind of shad. Sea-bass are just beginning to come into market. They are worth an average of 15 cents a pound. There are some fine large blackfish in marpound. There are some 12 to 15 cents a pound, ket just now, worth from 12 to 15 cents a pound. Green turtle is selling at from 15 to 25 cents a pound. The fresh mackerel are in splendid condition now, and look tempting enough with their livid black stripes on a white silver ground. Flesh comes next. The most succulent and juicy in the market just now is spring lamb. You can buy a quarter of one—so tender that it will melt in your mouth—for $2 or $2.50. The prices of yeal vary very much—ranging from 20 to 30 cents a pound. Beef and mutton not being delicacies of any particular season, it is unnecessary to speak of them season, it is unnecessary to speak of them. Game is quite plenty. English snipe, from New Jersey, In-diana, and Illinois, are worth $4:00 per dozen; plover same price; yellow-legged snipe, from New Jersey, same price; squabs, $6 per dozen; Teal duck, 75 cents a pair; Mallard duck, $1:50 a pair. Fowls are also very plenty. Spring chickens are worth from $1.50 to $3 a pair, and Bucks county and Long Island fowls 25 and 30 cents a pound.

The following is a fair outline of prices for the delicacies named in the Farmers' Market:—Asparagus, 25 cents a bunch; strawberries, from 45 to 65 cents a box; peas, 25 cents a half peck; shad, from 25 cents upwards to 60 cents apiece; spring chickens, from $150 to $2.75 per pair; quarter of spring lamb, $2 to $2.50; new potatoes (Bermuda), 75 cents to $1 per half peck; tomatoes, 60 to 80 cents a quart; spinach, 20 to 25 cents a half peck; water-crasses, 3 to 5 cents a bunch; caulifower, from 50 to 75 cents a head; lettuce, from 5 to 10 cents a head; radishes, from 5 to 10 cents a bunch; salmon, 40 cents a pound; veal, 25 to 30 cents a pound.

And the voice of the strawberry woman is heard on the streets. We well-nigh forgot that. She shrieked in our ear the other morning with a tone as sweet cacles named in the Farmers' Market:-Asparagus the streets. We well-nigh forgot that. She shrieked in our ear the other morning with a tone as sweet and lively as a locomotive whistle, but the words she uttered, "Strawberries—oh! oh! oh" were so suggestive that we forgave her. The fruit, however, is not yet very plenty in the markets, neither are the vendors of it on the streets. Persons of moderate incomes must be content to wait a little longer, till the Amazonian army of shrill-voiced Teutons and Celts proclaim their full advent in the streets with the familiar cry, and bring the plump and institute. Celts proclaim their fain sevent in the streets with the familiar cry, and bring the plump and luscious fruit to our doors. Who can tell all the edible virtues of strawberries? They well deserve the rapturous encomiums that have been bestowed upon them by the poets of all nations where the fruit is grown, and a "dish of ripe strawberries smothered wid crame" is indubitably one of the most delicious bonnes bouches that ever tickled the palate of a voluptuary. Alas! that the strawberry should be such a transient blessing, but

"All that's bright must fade.
The brightest still the floctest;
All that's sweet was made
But to be lost when sweetest."

But to be lost when sweetest."

The fruiterers on Chesnut street have for some time past displayed the juicy cones in their andows, well knowing that "to impossible for the public to avoid entering their establishments in which the fruit is set forth in such tempting array, and that once in they are not proof against the allurements of those rosy beauties. Pineapples are in season, and there is an abundance of them just now. Prices range from fourteen to twenty dollars per hundred. The Messina orange is also at its ripest and juiciest, and costs from seven to eight dollars a box.

At the hearing before Alderman Pancoast, yesterday, an additional charge of conspiring to make drunk a young giri, aged thirteen years, who resides in the southeastern section of the city, was preferred against them. It seems that the intended victim had spent the day, with her mother, at Engel & Wooff's farm, and towards evening the mother left the daughter in charge of Sarah. The little thing was induced to druk some liquor, from which she became insensible. The two were held to answer at Court.

Rev. Dr. Warriner then spoke of the old reminiscences and remembrances of "Old Union;" of the RECOVERY OF STOLEN PROPERTY IN NEW YORK.— The show window of the jewelry store of Charles Liggins, at No. 1046 North Second street, in this Liggins, at No. 1046 North Second street, in this city, was smashed on the 10th of March last, by some daring thieves, and $3000 worth of jewelry of various kinds stolen. A few days ago, Captain Jourdan, of the Sixth precinct police of New York city, learned that nearly $1200 worth of rings, a portion of the property stolen from the Philadelphia store, had been perty stolen from the Philadelphia store, had been purchased by Judah Boas, keeping an establishment at No. 301 Bowery, in New York. Mr. Liggins was informed of this fact by Captain Jourdan, and on Monday last proceeded to the latter city, and made an affidavit before Justice Hogan, reciting the fact of the robbery, also the information received from Captain Jourdan. A search warrant was granted by the magistrate, and yesterday Detective Wooldridge searched the store of Boas, and found there $150 worth of the stolen rings. These were seized, and Bogs taken into custody. When taken before the magistrate, counsel for the prisoner said that he could prove that the rings were purchased by Boas on a day prior to the robbery. Mr. Liggins pointed out on the rings his private trade mark. Boas was then committed to await an examination.

THE MEETING held at the West Arch Street Presbyterian Church last evening was entirely harmonious, and promises to result in the entire payment of the debt. A committee was appointed to confer with the Rev. Dr. Willits, the pastor, "and endeavor, through divine aid, to induce him to withdraw his resigna-tion and devise means, through the help of the Holy Spirit, whereby the debt of the church may be liquidated during the next year or two, the spiritual con-dition of the church improved, and its Christian indition of the church improved, and its Christian influence, missionary labors, charity and benevolence greatly enlarged and extended." Subscriptions were made conditioned upon the payment of the whole debt, amounting to $11,110. The meeting adjourned to meet on Tuesday evening next, to hear the report of the committee. We rejoice at this result. The entire proceedings were characterized by harmony and good feeling, and we predict that West Arch will soon be relieved of all her financial embarrassments, and he productive of great good to the community. and be productive of great good to the community.

Explosion in the Pension Bureau-Nobody Seriously Hurt-Banks Designated as National Desitories-The Assistant Treasuryships, Sailing of Minister Motley from New York-Instruction to Minister Howard-Naval Orders.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

National Depositories. WASHINGTON, May 19.—Secretary Boutwell has commenced the revision of banks designated as national depositories. Under the law of the last session they will be reduced fully one-half. The act of Congress provides that no national bank shall be selected as a depository in localities where a sub-treasury exists, but the Secretary has ascertained that the business of the Government cannot be conducted efficiently with the limited means of the Sub-Treasury, and he will designate one or more banks in the principal cities as Government depositories. A large number of changes will be made, and some banks now used as Government depositories will be discontinued, and others in the same localities selected.

Explosion in the Pension Office. An explosion occurred this morning about half-past 8 o'clock in the office of Hon. Henry Van Aernam, Commissioner of Pensions, slightly injuring Alexander Hamilton, the assistant engineer of the bullding. The explosion was caused by a defective gas-pipe, which had been leaking during the night, and Hamilton, upon entering the room, struck a match to discover the leak, when the explosion took place, completely demolishing the windows and one door, setting fire to the curtains and clearing the woodwork. The fire was extinguished before anything of importance was destroyed, though several hundred dollars will be required to repair the damage.

Hon. S. S. Fisher, Commissioner of Patents, has just decided an important interference case for letters patent for self-cancelling stamps, the parties being S. M. Clark, late Chief of the Printing Bureau at the Treasury Department, and A. C. Fletcher of New York city, both parties claiming priority in these inventions, which are similar. The committee, after examining all the evidence produced, decides in favor of Mr. Clark, and letters patent will be issued to him.

Decoration Day. Secretary Boutwell to-day gave permission to the employes of the Treasury to attend the decoration ceremonies of soldiers' graves at Arlington on the 29th inst.

Hon, William A. Howard. the new Minister to China, has received his instructions, and leaves to-morrow for New York, whence he will sail for Europe on his way to China. Mr. Howard has secured promises from the President and Secretary of State to enlarge and extend the mission to a par with the British mission in China.

espatch to the Associated Press. Appointment. Washington, May 19 .- E. B. Judson, of Syracuse, has been appointed one of the Board of Visitors at the Naval Academy.

Transferred. Charles J. Pettit, clerk in the Navy Department, has resigned and been transferred as Secretary to the Pacific squadron. Commissioner Delano Returned.

Commissioner Delano has returned to Washington, and was engaged in the performance of his official duties this morning. Conscience Money.

A letter was received at the Treasury Department this morning from Newark, N. J., enclosing the sum of $55.25 conscience money.

Accounts to be Examined. The President has appointed F. A. Starring Agent of the United States to examine the accounts of the Consular offices.

Another Assistant Treasurer. Charles Clinton has been appointed Treasurer of the Branch Mint and Assistant Treasurer of the United States at New Orleans.

Naval Orders. Rear-Admiral Montgomery has been detached from the command of the naval station at Sackett's Harbor, New York, on the 10th of July, and placed on waiting orders, Commodore James R. McKinstry relieves Montgomery. Ensign Sidney A. Simons has been ordered to the Lancaster.

The Union Pacific Railroad. The President of the Union Pacific Railroad Company having filed in the Department of the Interior an affidavit showing the completion and equipment, as required by law, of eighty-six miles of railroad and telegraph, commencing at the one thousandth mile-post of that company's road west of Omaha, and terminating at the one thousand and eighty-sixth mile-post at Promontory Summit, the Secretary of the Interior has instructed the Commissioners, Messrs. Warren, Morris, and Wilson, to examine and report upon the same.

Inspector of Cigars! Mr. William T. Harvey, a third-class clerk in the office of the Secretary of the Treasury, has resigned, and will be appointed Inspector of Cigars for the port of New York.

Second Day's Session of the Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge I. O. of O. F. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

HARRISBURG, May 19.—The Grand Lodge met at 9 o'clock. About six hundred persons were present. The roll was called, and three hundred and sixty representatives answered to their names. The Grand Master made the following appointments:-Grand Marshal, Robert L. Bodine: Grand Conductor, Theodore Cornman Grand Guardian, H. P. Kinnear; Grand Herald, Augustus Pfaff. Finance Committee, Steadman, Taylor, and Huhn. The Finance Committee's report was read, and the recommendation considered on the suggestion to fix the per capita tax at ten cents. A lively debate arose, and after efforts to postpone or amend, the report was finally adopted by a large majority. A special committee on the appeal of Crystal Fount Lodge from the decision of the appeal board submitted a majority report sustaining the lodge, and a minority report recommending the dismissal of the appeal. A very spirited debate arose, lasting nearly two hours, which finally resulted in the adoption of the minority report, the case thus going against Crystal Fount Lodge. The special order for the afternoon is the proposed plan for an asylum.

An Old Convict Rearrested. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

WATERBURY, Conn., May 19 .- A man named George Dixon, alias' John Williams, was arrested in this city last night by Officers Davis and McLaughlin, of the Thirty-second Precinct, New York police, assisted by the local police. Williams was tried and convicted in New Jersey, in 1866, for murder and highway robbery, but in some way escaped the gallows and was sentenced to twenty years in the State prison at Trenton. During a fire in the building he escaped and came to this city last March, and has since worked steadily as a journeyman carpenter. He was arrested in bed, and, being a powerful man, made a desperate resistance.

An Express Messenger Robbed of 89000. pecial Despatch to The Evening Telegraph.

BALTIMORE, May 19 .- The delivery messenger of Harnden's Express Company, named Patterson, went into Bogus place, No. 16 North Charles street, this morning, to deliver what purported to be a package of money directed to parties occupying the office, when two men fell upon and gagged him, drew a bag over his head, and robbed him of packages containing $9000. The affair occurred about 9 o'clock. The messenger was somewhat hurt by rough handling. The robbers escaped with all the money. The messenger thinks he can identify one of them. Both are strangers.

DISASTER.

The Stenmer Yi Destroyed by Fire-Four Lives Relative to the loss of this vessel on the La Plata river, South America, on the 13th of March, the Boston Traveller says :-

We are pained to announce that the news is fully confirmed in all its details. This fine steamer, which was built in East Boston by Messrs, McKay & Aldus was built in East Boston by Messrs. McKay & Aldus at an expense of $200,000, was burned to the water's edge on the night of March 13, and four men of her crew perished in her. Among them was Mr. Everett Coffin, of Nantucket, a young man of about twenty-five years of age. He served his time as a machinist with Messrs. McKay & Aldus, and went in the Yi as an oiler. We knew him, and can say that he was a young man of much writing the state. young man of much promise, upright in all his deal-ings, well educated, strictly moral, and with ambition enough to work his way upward in the world. His parents reside in Nantucket, but he has two brothers and several other friends who now reside in East Boston. Those who worked with him speak of him with feelings of deep sympathy, for he was a great favorite with his fellow-workmen. We have not yet heard the names of those who perished with him, and do not even know whether they Americans; but this we may safely say—that they have left behind some one who loved them, and who are, therefore, entitled to our sympathy.

Special Despatch to The Roening Telegraph, The Internal Revenue Law.

of the Internal Revenue Department was at his office to-day. A large number of removals and appointments will be made in that Bureau during the present week. Virginia Politics. Lewis McKenzie, President of the London and Hampshire Railroad Company has come, out as independent conservative Republican candidate for Congress in the Seventh Congressional district of Virginia, in opposition to W. D. Wallach. formerly editor of the Star in this city, and Major Whittlesey, of the Virginia State Journal. Commercial Information. A condensed statement just completed of vessels entered and cleared, taken from reports of collectors of customs, shows a total during 1868 of 10,094 American vessels and 17,875 foreign vessels entered, and 9858 American vessels and 18,143 foreign vessels cleared. During 1869 domestic exports from Atlantic ports reached $356,647,725; specie exported, $651,942.24. From Pacific ports, valued in specie, domestic exports, $12,968,445; specie exports, $6,536,857. In the same year the value of merchandise and bullion imported amounted to $381,336,657. Grant and Stewart.

It is understood here that a quarrel has ensued between Grant and A. T. Stewart, in consequence of Grant's persistent refusal to allow Stewart to control the patronage of any New York city offices.

FROM NEW YORK.

The Gold and Stock Market. Special Despatch to The Evening Telegraph. NEW YORK, May 19 .- Gold continues frm at the highest figure, caused by the sudden advance of 3 per cent. on the announcement of the failure of Schepeler & Co. on Monday last. There is no prospect of a decline in price, and there is scarcely any short interest in market; gold opening at 142, fell off 34; again rallied and has fluctuated during the morning between 1413, and 141%. Cash gold abundant; transactions from 5 to 7 per cent, for carrying. Stocks, both express and miscellaneous, are also at an advanced figure and will continue; most railroad stocks are in advance of their legitimate appreclation: quotations similar to closing ones of yesterday. A sudden reaction is expected at an early day. There is little disposition to sell short. Great apprehension of a sudden change [SECOND SPECIAL DESPATCH.]

Condition of the New York Money Market_Police Troubles in Louisiana Fight Between Municipal Forces.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

The Metropolitan Police Bill-A Dissenting City-A Fight Between Municipal Forces-A Dozen Men Wounded-The Finale.

New Orleans, May 19 .- Until last night the adjoining city of Jefferson, though included in the Metropolitan Police district, has refused to accept the Metropolitan force, offering armed resistance to every attempt on the part of the Metropolitans to exercise their functions. In the meantime litigation commenced in the courts. Last night the Metropolitans of this city, mustering 300, under a capiain were detailed to take charge of the Jefferson precinct. They made a movement about 10 o'clock on the municipal buildings in Jefferson, which were filled with armed citizens, and a small battle ensued, in which 12 or 14 of the Metropolitans were wounded, some it is thought dangerously, and the police retired.

Governor Warmouth called upon Genera Mower for troops, and one company was furnished. This morning they marched quietly to the municipal buildings, and, meeting no opposition, installed the Metropolitans in possession. The citizens of Jefferson are much excited, and the soldiers are still on the ground. No demonstration has yet been made against the troors? Though the body of police is four times as la ge as the body of soldiers driven off, no citizen is believed to have been hurt. The municipal e con tion is in progress here to-day.

FROM NEW YORK.

Southern securities dull. Miscellaneous stocks quiet and steady. Express stocks dull, but geneally firm. Railways firm.

FROM BOSTON. The Presidency of Harvard University. Boston, May 19 .- At a special meeting of the Board of Overseers of Harvard University today, the nomination of Charles G. Eliot for the Presidency was confirmed by a vote of 16 to 8. NO GO !

How Unfortunate that I was Born a Mau." Robert B. Roosevelt, editor and proprietor of the New York Citizen, has petitioned the "Honorable Presidentess and members of the New York Sorosis" for admission into that association of the strongminded. Here is one of his pleas:—

I have some claim to your consideration. Through all the years that I have been editor of the Citizen the contributions of ladies were placed on the same basis as those of gentiemen. When we had to pay for them we paid at the same rate for each. When woman did the same work as man, she received from that just journal the same remuneration. In that office the ladies were not only treated as equals, but very often as superiors, strange as that may appear to you. The result you may have observed in the large umber of songs, stories, and communications writnumber of songs, stories, and communications writ-ten by members of your sex in the Citizen. I have invariably urged upon the Press Club that the exclu-sion of women should be repealed. It is true that on the occasion of certain public dinners I have taken the contrary view, but that originated from another absurd prejudice. It was said that if ladies were admitted smoking must be prohibited, and, of course, when it came to a rivalry between a cigar and a woman there could be but one answer. I do not mean this exactly, but that it seemed to me that the fault lay with your sex; for I was perfectly will-ing to let you come if you would only take kindly to the clgar.

All this was in vain, for he soon received this answer:-Mr. R. B. Roosevelt-Dear Sir:-Your propositi te become a member of Sorosis was laid before the Executive Committee, and subsequently before the club. I regret to say the decision was not in your favor. The reasons, it is only fair to state, were not those of character, position, or personal merit, but consisted solely of society restrictions as to sex. Personally you have been found very agreeable by members of Scrosis. Reputation and position are alike unexceptionable; but the unfortunate fact of your being a man outweighs these and all other claims to membership.

Claims to membership.

We willingly admit, of course, that the accident of your sex is on your part a misfortune, and not a fault. Nor do we wish to arrogate anything to ourselves because we had the good fortune to be born women. We sympathize most truly and heartly with you and the arrive male creation in their present. with you and the entire male creation in their present and prospective desolation and unhappiness; but this is all we can do. Sorosis is too young for the society of gentlemen, and must be allowed time to grow. By-and-by, when it has reached a proper age
—say twenty-one—it may ally itself with the Press
Club or some other male organization of good character and standing; but for years to come its reply to all male suitors must be, "Principles, not men."

JENNIE JUNE CROLY, President of Sorosis.
