

NEW-YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, June 10, 1869. The new order of Superintendent Kennedy with respect to the removal of sick and wounded prisoners to the hospital has been productive of great disgust.

The police department of the New City Hall, for which $10,000 were recently voted, is the dearest failure out. The cells are complete and ready, and it is now proposed to render them more suitable still by the substitution of close iron doors for gratings.

At length it has come. There has been a suicide in Central Park. Yesterday morning the keeper found the body of an unknown man suspended from a tree in an obscure corner of the grounds.

I made mention the other day of the new building that the Young Men's Christian Association of this city were running up. They have not, hitherto, been quite so successful in their enterprise as was at first supposed.

Permit me to be good-naturedly scandalous for a couple of brief paragraphs about that large class of feminine feuilletonistes—that is not the exact term, but it will answer for one of generalization—who earn their bread and butter by their ink and pen.
