WILL THE PEOPLE SUBMIT? The vital issue presented to the Republican party of this city just now is set forth in this query-Will the people quietly submit to the perpetration of such outrages as those which characterized the convention by the majority of which John A. Houseman was declared the Republican candidate for Recorder of Deeds? Yesterday afternoon we published two communications addressed by Samuel C. Perkins, Esq., to the City Executive Committee, from a perusal of which the public can form an idea of the manner in which it was found necessary to manipulate the convention, in order to secure for Mr. Houseman a nominal majority. Mr. Perkins is well known to the community as a lawyer of high standing, a man belonging to a class which, unhappily, seldom find their way into the nominating conventions of either party. He was regularly accredited as a member of the convention from the Eighth division of the Fifth ward, having credentials made out in the proper style and signed by all the election officers of his division. He was admitted to a seat in the convention, and was duly elected and installed as one of the Vice-Presidents. Yet, in spite of these facts, the Committee on Credentials subsequently ousted Mr. Perkins from his seat, and gave it to one George W. Bickley, on the strength of the following pretended certificate:---

"Eaight Div. 5th Ward. "This is to certify that an Election of Republican party at Regular place of holding the Election and Geo. W. Sickley was duly Elected this day June Geo. W. Stekley was duly Elected this day June the 8th 1869 to represent this Div, in the Convention to nominate a Candidate for Recorder of Deeds 1869. "THOS. J. NEAL Judge, "HARRIS HARRINGTON Insp.

GEO. JENAY This luminous document we have been permitted to inspect. Every word of it is written in the same style and by the same hand, signatures and all, without any attempt at variety in the latter. Moreover, the gentlemen whose names are appended to it have signed a paper declaring that each and all of them know nothing of the pretended certificate whatever; that none of them acted or attempted to act as officers of the election; and that their names were affixed to it without their authority or direction. Yet the Committee on Credentials gave the seat to Bickley, without taking the trouble even to go through all the forms prescribed by the rules of the party organization, and despite the protests of some of the gentlemen who served upon it. As their report was made final and conclusive by the rules, there was no present redress for the wrong so openly and flagrantly inflicted upon Mr. Perkins and his constituents.

The manner in which one vote was thus manufactured for Houseman is but a sample of the way in which a sufficient number were fixed up to secure for him a majority. There she wing that they had no fears, and to overawe the people if possible by their presence, and arrests innumerable have been made of persons suspected of promoting the disturbance. Napoleon III is a very different man from the monarchs who have occupied the French throne on former revolutionary occasions, and it is certain that he will hesitate at nothing to put down any attempt at insurrection. The question is, however, how long can he succeed in stifling the growing spirit of discontent? If crushed now it will certainly show itself more determinedly than ever on the next occasion. Persecution will only add fuel to the flame, and there will come a time when it will burst forth in all its fury. The Emperor may succeed in putting off the evil day during his own lifetime, but the prospects for his son succeeding him on the throne, or for the perpetuation of the Napoleonic dynasty, are certainly not flattering. No person can view the probabilities of another revolution in France with unconcern, and while the intricacies of the Emperor's policy have now placed him in a position of much difficulty whichever way he turns, it is certainly to be hoped that some means may be found to obviate the impending disaster.

A NICE PLACE TO LIVE IN

NEW YORK is an enterprising place, we very well know, for the fact is dilated upon in season and out of season by the daily and weekly newspapers of that city, and every true New Yorker declares that it is so. They never do anything by halves in New York, and whatever they do they take good care that the world at large shall be well informed of all the particulars. We occasionally get up an excitement in this village over a horrible murder or a big robbery, but such matters are of daily occurrence in New York; and by her peculiar system of criminal jurisprudence, it is generally the toss of a five-cent piece between the escape of the criminal and the punishment of his victim. During the past two weeks there have been no less than twenty-five mysterious disappearances in New York, which in some places would have the effect of creating an uncomfortable feeling in the minds of the inhabitants; but eels, they say, get used to being skinned, and New Yorkers, it is presumed, have, from long familiarity with the process, accustomed themselves to disappearing mysteriously. Whether they have got to the point of liking it as a pleasurable excitement is a matter in question, but as no effort is made to check the growth of crime, it would seem that they rather enjoyed it than otherwise. If they are satisfied, why should we complain? But taking it all in all, New York cannot be set down as a nice place for quiet, honest, and decent people to live in, and Philadelphians will try and be satisfied with the good that the gods have sent them, without repining after the exciting luxuries of the "commercial metropolis."

A WASHINGTON despatch states that the detectives connected with the Second Auditor's Office have caught several claim agents in New York and elsewhere charging exorbitant fees in cases before that office, in violation of law, and endeavoring to pass fraudulent claims through the office. It is said that these men will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. It is quite time that something of the kind was done.

PREVENTION -- CURE.

The infatuation of mankind is marvellous. Men of good, sound sense live in or visit unhealthy districts of country during the hot summer months, without using a single precaution to ward off disease They breathe miasmatic atmospheres and drink poisoned waters, but nover provide an antidote against the deadly fevers that lurk in the air and float in the water. No man thinks himself in danger, but any one can readily see that they are pursuing a suicidal course. Thus we find that whenever any of our friends are about to move into a fever country. all make haste to advise him to be sure and take with him a reliable antidote, like the ZINGARI

BITTERS, for example ; but no one seems to think it necessary to apply this advice to himself. Thousands of people annually sacrifice their lives by neglect, many more shake with the ague, burn with the fever, are robbed of strength, broken down in spirit, emaciated in body, so that they are useless, burdensome skeletons. In the new countries of the West this has been especially the case. Now that the Southern States on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts and in the great Valley of the Mississippi have been opened to Northern capital, enterprise, and labor, innumerable families will go thither to purchase cheap homes and reap rich harvests from the fertile soil. Yet many will reap harvests of sore atfliction disease, and death if they fail to use the proper precaution to preserve health. Medical science and the experience of mankind have rendered nothing more certain than this, that the juices of herbs properly prepared are the natural defenses against malarious diseases. As a safeguard against epidemic and endemid maladies generated by miasma and sun-heated waters, no medicine has yet been discovered that, in certainty to prevent diseases or efficacy in curing when once contracted, can in any degree compare with the GREAT ZINGARINI plant, discovered years ago by Cheopsus, the great Egyptian physician. All the known remedies were familiar to Dr. Cheopsus; he had used them in his practice in the Valley of the River Nile, where, perhaps, more than in any other part of the world, fever antidotes are used; in his researches among the flora of Northern Africa, he found and tested the medicinal qualities of many plants, but of all these the ZINGARINI HERB was the most valuable. The fame of this medicine soon crossed the Mediterranean into Europe, and the Red Sca into Asia, and there became almost the only remedy for malarious fevers. A few years ago this medicine was introduced to the American public in the form of the ZINGARI BITTERS, a pleasant and an agreeable liquid, but in not the slightest degree an intoxicating beverage. It is a gentle stimulant, but not an intoxicant. No one, therefore, need hesitate to introduce this article into his family for daily use during the seasons when the danger is greatest.

Its usefulness as a domestic specific cannot be overestimated. In cases of the stomach, sudden spasms, cholic, hysterics, lassitude, nervous headache, and innumerable other little ailments that occur in every family, it is a sovereign remedy.

This Bitters is especially adapted to soothe and tone the stomach, and every one knows that as long as the stomach is in a healthy condition no discase can effect a lodgment in the system. The digestive organs, when vigorous and in a normal condition. perfectly dissolve and assimilate the food, so that the strengthening and building-up elements can be appropriated to all the tissues of the body. But if food is not digested, there is no material supplied to replace the natural waste of the system. The great value of the ZINGARI BITTERS lies just in this fact, that it keeps the digestive organs in tone, or speedily corrects them when deranged.

were about twenty contested seats, and the presumption is that they were all disposed of in the same outrageous and iniquitous fashion. On the third and final ballot, the vote stood for Houseman 146 and for his four opponents 130, giving him a majority of 16 only. A change of nine votes would therefore have ensured his defeat. That there were at least that many votes cast by men who had no better right to participate in the proceedings of the convention than the man in the moon, is an unquestioned and unquestionable fact, in the face of which Mr. John A. Houseman cannot claim that he has received the nomination of the Republican party for Recorder of Deeds. His pretended nomination was a mere farce. Worse than a farce, it was a glaring outrage, perpetrated, in open daylight, upon the Republican voters of Philadelphia by a shameless, grasping, and tyrannical Ring.

Will the people submit to it? We answer no! and we desire Mr. Houseman to comprehend the fact that our answer is not more emphatic now than will be found the response of the people in October next. If his name retains a place on the Republican ticket, he is certain of beingdefeated. If this were the only possible result, the case would not be so desperate. But if the Republican ticket is to be headed by a name placed upon it in the manner described, the success of the whole list is imperilled. The Republican City Executive Committee have had the matter placed fairly and squarely before them. We trust that it will receive their careful and impartial consideration, and that their action will be guided by a desire to promote the strength and purity of the organization at the head of which they have been placed. It is quite time that such disgraceful and outrageous proceedings as characterized the Recorder of Deeds Convention were at an end. Let Mr. John A. Houseman be taught the salutary lesson that no Ring can triffe with the rights of the people in the manner in which the Ring of which he is a mere creature have attempted to do. If the City Executive Committee do not see fit to impart this lesson, the people themselves will not fail to do so on the 12th of October next.

REVOLUTIONARY SIGNS IN PARIS. THE news from Paris published this morning has an ugly look. That city not only declared against the empire at the late election by a very decided vote, but disturbances have taken place, which, to those who are familiar with French history, are ominous of revolution. Montmartre, where the principal disturbances have occurred, is occupied with large bodies of troops and police. Night before last, however, the crowd of insurgents broke through the line of police and formed a barricade. They were dispersed by a charge of cavalry, but not until much damage had been done to property. The Emperor and Empress have driven through the insurgent district in an open carriage, with the purpose probably of

THE RITUALISTS have adopted the word "Mass" for their celebration of the communion service. A near-sighted Roman priest, a stranger in Brighton, too, mistook St. Michael's for the Catholic Church, where he was going to say low mass. The two churches are near one another, and both of bright red colored stone or brick. Attributing the apparent want of holy water at the entrance to the fault of the architect, or to his own near-sightedness, he went up the side aisle, catching a glimpse of a vested priest at the "high altar," and entered the sacristy. Here he asked of an attendant if he could say mass there that morning. The answer was "that he could." Now as the priest was unrobing before putting on the chasuble, etc., which were all spread out before him, there enters the sacristy the clergyman fresh from celebrating, attended by a "server," and carrying "paten, chalice, and corporal" in as orthodox a manner as could the Pope himself. Now as the priest turned to look at this gentleman, in whom he expected to find the Parochus of the Catholic community, his eye lighted upon three University hoods, "Do you wear hoods here?" he inquired. The clergyman answered that such was their custom. "I was told," says the priest, hesitating, "that I could say mass here this morn-ing." "So you can," returns the clergyman, blandly. "But-ahem-is this a Catholic church?" "Yes," was the calm answer, "Ah!" says the priest, "is it a Roman Catholic church?" "Oh!" replies the ritualist, meekly, "you must go lower down for that," -Pall Mall Gazette.

Rahter—Dear —I feel it to be my duty to inform you of the great selits one of the members of my family received from use of your ZINGARI BIFTERS. One of my daugh-swas troubled for a long time with all the ills come-ent upon the stoppage of the monses. She was pale scinted, spiritless, in fact, a general wreck. We tried the a number of doctors, many nome and advertised re-dies, but no benefit was derived : finally I induced here ry your BITTERS, and after using it but a short time, ecatamenta were rostored, and her general health has endy wonderfully improved. We can never thank you ugh for restoring our belowed daughter to health. I leve it to be the greatest family medicine out, and fild under no circumstances be cithout it. WILLIAM F. MURRAY.
