DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA!

I, Elizabeth Branson, of Brandywine, Delaware, formerly of Old Chester, D. laware county, Pa., do certify that for one year and a half I have suffered everything but death from that awful disease called Dyspepsia. My whole system was prostrated with weakness and nervous debility; I could not digest my food; if I ate even a cracker, or the smallest amount of food, it would return just as I swallowed it; I became so costive in my bowels that I would not have a passage in less than from four, and often eight days; under this limmense suffering my mind seemed entirely to give way. I had dreadful horror and evil forebodings; I thought everybody hated me, and I hated everybody; I could not bear my husband nor my own children; everything appeared to be horror stricken to me; I had no ambition to do anything: I lost all love of family and home; I would ramble and wander from place to place, but could not be contented. I felt that I was doomed to hell, and that there was no heaven for me, and was often tempted to commit suicide. So near was my whole nervous system destroyed, and also my mind, from that awful complaint, Dyspepsia, that my friends thought best to have me placed in Dr. Kirkbride's Hospital, at West Philadelphia. I remained there nine weeks, and thought I was a little better, but in a few days my dreadful complaint was raging as bad as ever. Hearing of the won derful cures performed by Dr. Wishart's Great American Dyspepsia Pills and his treatment for Dyspepsia, my husband called on Dr. Wishart and stated my case to him. He said he had no doubt he could cure me. So in three days after I called and placed myself under the Doctor's treatment, and in two weeks I began to digest my food, and felt that my disease was fast giving way, and I continued to recover for about three months, and at the present time I enjoy perfect health of body and mind, and I most sincerely return my thanks to a merciful God and Dr. Wishart, and to his great American Dyspepsia Pills and treatment, that saved me from an Insane Asylum and a premature grave All persons suffering with Dyspepsia are at liberty to call on me or write, as I am willing to do all I can for suffering humanity. ELIZABETH BRANSON, Brandywine, Del., formerly of Old Chester, Pa Dyspersia! DYSPEPSIA!

Mr. Wishart-I have been a constant sufferer with dyspepsia for the last eighteen years, during which time I cannot say I ever enjoyed a perfectly well day. There were times when the symptoms were more aggravated than at others, and then it seemed it would be a great relief to die. I had at all times an unpleasant feeling in my head, but latterly my suffering so much increased that I became almost unfit for business of any kind; my mind was continually filled with gloomy thoughts and forebodings, and if attempted to change their current by reading, at once a sensation of ley coldness in connection with a dead weight, as it were, rested upon my brain; also a feeling of sickness would at the stomach, and occur great pain in my eyes, accompanied with which was the continual fear of losing my reason. I also experienced great lassitude, debility, and nervousness, which made it difficult to walk by day or sleep by night. I became averse to society, and disposed only to seclusion, and having tried the skill of a number of eminent physicians of various schools, finally came to the conclusion that for the disease at my present age (forty-five years), there was no cure in existence. But, through the interference of Divine Providence, to whom I devoutly offer my thanks, I at last found a sovereign remedy in your Dyspepsia Pills and Tar Cordial, which seem to have effectually removed almost the last trace of my long list of ailments and bad feelings, and in their place health, pleasure, and contentment are my every-day companions. PREVENTION -- CURE.

The infatuation of mankind is marvellous. Mes of good, sound sense live in or visit unhealthy districts of country during the hot summer months, without using a single precaution to ward off disease. " miasmatic atmospheres and drink They bream.

poleoned waters, but many provide an against the deadly fevers that lirk in the " " " and float in the water. No man thinks himself in danger, was any one can readily see that they are pursuing & anicidal course. Thus we find that whenever any of our friends are about to move into a fever country, all make haste to advise him to be sure and take with him a reliable antidote, like the ZINGARI BITTERS, for example; but no one seems to think it necessary to apply this advice to himself.

Thousands of people annually sacrifice their lives by neglect, many more shake with the agus, burn with the fever, are robbed of strength, broken down in spirit, emaciated in body, so that they are useless, burdensome akeletons. In the new countries of the West this has been especially the case. Now that the Southern States on the Atlantic and Coats Coasts and in the great Valley of the Missississis have been opened to Northern capital, enterprised and labor, innumerable families will go thither to perchase cheap homes and reap rich harvests from the fertile soil. Yet many will reap harvests of sore suffiction, disease, and death if they fall to use the proper precaution to preserve health. Medical science and the experience of mankind have rendered nothing more certain than this, that the juices of berbs properly prepared are the natural defenses against malscious diseases

As a safeguird against epidemic and endense

maladies generated by missma and sun-heated waters, no medicine has yet been discovered that, iff certainty to prevent diseases or efficacy in curingwhen once contracted, cam in any degree compare with the GMEAT ZINGARINI plant, discovered years ago by Cheopens, the great Egypman physician. All the known remedies were familiar to Dr. Cheopsus; he had need them in his practice in the Valley of the River Nile, where, perhaps, more than in any other part of the world, fever antidotes are used; in his researches among the flora of Northern Africa, he found and tested the medicinal analities of many plants, but of all these the ZINGARINI HERB was the most valuable. The fame of this medicine soon crossed the Mediterranean into Europe, and the Red Sea into Asia, and there became almost the only renedy for malarious severs. A few years ago this medicine was introduced to the American public in the form of the ZINGARI BITTERS, a pleasant and an agreeable liquid, but in not the slightest degree an intomeating beverage. It is a gentle stimulant, but not an intextcant. No one, therefore, need hesitate to introduce this article into his family for daily use dering the seasons when the danger is greatest.

Its usefulness as a domestic specific cannot be overestimated. In cases of the stomech, sudden spasms, cholic, hysteries, lassitude, nersous herdache, and innumerable other little allments that occur in every family, it is a sowereign remedy.

This Bitters is especially adapted to seothe and tone the stomach, and every one knows that as long as the stomach is in a healthy condition no disease can effect a lodgment in the system. The digestive organs, when vigorous and in a normal condition, perfectly dissolve and assimilate the food so that the strengthening and building-up elements can be appropriated to all the tissues of the body. But if food is not digested, there is no material supplied toreplace the natural waste of the system. The great value of the ZINGARI BITTERS lies most in the fact, that it keeps the digestive organs in tone, or speedily corrects them when deranged,

Chilis and fever are the pests of many communities:

whole districts of country have been depopulated by this insidious malady, families have been reduced to this insidious maindy, families have been reduced to poverty simply because their working powers had been destroyed by the slow and sure effects of this disease; and the skill of the entire madical faculty is often baffled by its pertinacity, yet no one who has tried this new remely has long suffered from chills and fever, nor has any one been attacked by this disease who used ZINGARI BITTERS as a preventive. While most men recognize and acknowledge the necessity for stimulants, few take the pains to obtain a proper one. It often happens therefore, the great evil is done in the attempt to care. Many resort to the use of raw alcoholic liquors, such as are sold in the public drinking saloons. These liquors, it has been shown by extensive and careful analysis made of those sold by extensive and careful analysis made of those sold in the salcons of New York, are often the vilest compounds of water, fusel oil, amyle, or suphwric acid. By the use of these, therefore, the system is thoroughly impregnated with deadly poisons, which will lead to fatal results. It is unsafe to trust to common liquors. We must look elsewhere for a stanulant and tonic. There is one provided which may tonic. There is one provided which may be administered with perfect safety to all who need invigorants. Its increasing popularity, its extensive use and its superior qualities, determined by the most varied experience, are the strongest evidence of its utility. The most fearful consequences have frequently resulted from a mistake in the selection and use of stimulants, and it is therefore of the utmost importance to the public to know that, notwithstanding the vast amount of deception practised in the mixing of liquors and the adulteration of drugs, there is yet a preparation thoroughly reliable, warranged to be free of all noxious elements, compounded of the purest materials, and in every sense of the word a URNITURE. The ZINGARI BITTERS are given to the public

Ret d what is one by some who have used them :— Rend the following from the Rev. R. J. Keeling, D. D., formerly Rector of Trinity Church, Washington, D. C., and present Rector of St. Stephen's, Harris-burg, Pa., late of Chicago, Illinois:—

HARMISDURG, Pa., August 23, 1868.—I am not in the habit of recommending for general use articles which have proved of special service to me, but most readily give my testimony to the merit of the Zingari Hittore, prepared by Mr. F. Rahter. I have used thin my family rith excellent results; it relieves incipient dyspepsis; is a fine appetizer, for the morning meal especially, and, unlike similar prepations, has a pleasant aromatic flavor, free from flery alcoholic taste. CUMBERLAND COUNTY, October 15, 1828.—I suffered of fever and ague more than nine months. My liver had become very much diseased. My complexion was sallow and jaundiced, my atomach irritable, and my whole system greatly emaciated, with almost total less of strength and appetite. I tried various remedies, but no core still I used the ZINGARI BITTERS. My health has been completely restored by this valuable medicine.

HARRISBURG CITY, October 17, 1866.—Personally appeared the above-named Jacob Homer, and made oath in due form that the facts are true as above stated.

HENRY PEFFER, Aldorman. [From Judge Murray].

HARRISDURG, Pa., Nov. 28, 1863 — Mr. F. Rahter—Dear Sir.—I feel it to be my duty to inform you of the great benefits one of the members of my family received from the use of your ZINGARI BITTERS. One of my daughters was troubled for a long time with all the ills consequent upon the stoppage of the meases. She was pale, emaciated, spiritless, in fact, a general wrack. We tried quite a number of doctors, many home and advertised remedies, but no benefit was derived; finally I induced her to try your BITTERS, and after using it but a short time, the catamenta were restored, and her general health has already wondurfully improved. We can never thank you enough for restoring our beleved daughter to beatth. I believe it to be the greatest family medicine out, and would under no circumstances he without it.

The following certificate is from the well-known Dunkard minister, Reubon, Sayler, and speaks for jizself. There is not a man in Marchand whose character for veracity and honesty is better known than his.

Ma. F. H. RAMTER—Dear Sir:—After suffering with Dyspopein for 25 years, and using all the temedies advertised for its cure, beside being under treatment of sight or ten physicians, and all proving a failure, I was finally induced, by the merchant at Union Bridge (Captain Leightner), to try your most excellent remedy, ZINGARI BITTERS, and I saw take pleasure in saying that it has done me more good than anything I have ever tried, and I cheerfully recasumend it to the public as one of the most efficient remedies catant for the above disasse.

I will also state that my neighbor, Mrs. Worley, who suffered of the same disease, told me, only a few days ago, that she had taken two bottles, and that she could perform as good a day's work as she ever could, to which I cheerfully subscribe.
