The Resignation of Borie and Appointment of Robeson-Later Particulars of the Change.

The Resignation.

This is the letter of resignation which Mr. Borie This is the letter of resignation which Mr. Borie forwarded to Fresident Granti-NAVY DETAINTENT, WARHINGTON, D. C., June 25, 1869.—To the President—Sir:—Owing to continued in health and the demands of my private business upon me, I regret that I am compelled to tender you my resignation as Secretary of the Navy. In doing so, permit me to express my thanks for the uniform courtexy and kindness with which you have honored me during the brief period of our official intercourse. With earnest hopes and wishes for the entire suc-cess of your administration, I have the honor to be, very respectfully, your obedient servant, A. E. BORIE, Secretary of the Navy. Short and Sweet.

Short and Sweet.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25, 1869.—Hon. A. E. Borie, Secretary of the Navy:— Sir—Your note of this date, tendering your resigna-tion as Secretary of the Navy, is received and your resignation accepted. Very respectfully, U. S. GRANT.

Porter on the Surface.

Porter on the Surface. After the commission of the new Secretary, Mr. Robeson, had been made out, he entered the Navy Headquarters. One of the first to cross his path and invite him in was none other than Admiral Porter. Said the new Secretary:— "I want it understood that you are to remain here," said the new Secretary, addressing Admiral Porter. "That depends altogether upon the President," replied the modest Admiral.

replied the modest Admiral. "Well," said Secretary Robeson, with a knowing smile, "I think there will be no difficulty about that."

Where the Hitch Was.

Where the Hitch Was. The Herald's correspondent gives this as his solu-tion of the "why and wherefore" of the resignation :---It appears that Borie has been anxious for some time past to lay down the robes of office. He was not over anxious to work himself, and it is whispered that while he was perfectly willing that Admiral Porter should run the department, he was not altogether pleased that the public press should give Porter the credit for it. Borie, though not regarded here as a man of much force or ability, was never-theless considered a good fellow, and had made many friends. He was famous for his good dinners, the rare quality of his wines and cigars, both of which he imports for his own private use.

Fortune and Fame when Least Expected. Fortune and Fame when Least Expected. The President, it seems, met Mr. Robeson, the new Secretary, for the first time at West Point during his recent visit there. At that time he was on the lookout for a new Secretary of the Navy, and took a fancy to Mr. Robeson. On Wednesday, a week ago, the President wrote to Mr. Robeson, offer-ing him Borie's place. Mr. Robeson took a week to consider the matter, and finally signified his accept-ance in a letter received by the President last Wed-nesday. The new Secretary is the best looking man in the Cabinet. He is quite large, with a forid com-plexion, and about forty-five years of age. Up to the time of his appointment he was Attorney-Gene-ral of New Jersey, and is said to be a lawyer of con-siderable ability. siderable ability.

Some Questions Settled.

Some Questions Settled. The correspondent adds:--Among the rumors afloat is one to the effect that Boutwell and Hoar will be the next to go. People who pretend to know all about it look intensely wise and predict that George S. Boutwell will not be at the head of the Treasury two months hence, and that, indeed, his successor has already been agreed upon. So far as your correspondent can make out, however, there is no ground for this rumor as affect-ing Boutwell, though there does seem to be some reason for the belief that Hoar will not remain much longer in the Cabinet. Boutwell and Fish are, per-haps, the two members of the Cabinet, next to Raw-ling, strongest in the esteem of President Grant, and EXCITING.

From the Nashville Banner, June 23. At 12:00 o'clock yesterday the single report of a pistoi resonnded on Deaderick street, Our reporter left the sanctum immediately to ascertain the cause, and found crowds of people rushing through that thoroughfare on the same errand. A few persons had passed up the stairway leading to the editorial room of the State Journal, over T. P. Wade's lock and key-fitting establishment. Our reporter fol-lowed and discovered that a large crowd had already filled the room. A personal difficulty had occurred between Attorney-General Tuthil and Colonel George E. Grisham, editor of the State Jour-nal. They had been separated and were now in the custody of Officers Burke, Pflster, and Harrison Grisham asked was turned. Tuthill, with a very op-probrious epithet, retorted that he (Grisham) should not call him a "squirt," and rushed at his antago-nist with a block rule. This was taken from his pos-grong to the police station and Tuthil to

This was taken from his pos-sension, and both were soon after taken out of the room...Grisham to the police station, and Tuthill to the office of Justice Brien. After they had reached the street however...being on the opposite sides... Tuthill cried out, "Bring the ______ over here." The difficulty originated from the following article, heade the "Sanitary Business," which appeared in the first issue of the Journal:... We understand that Tuthill, the "Grate Little Skwirt," who is a present facetiously playing Attorney General for hudge John Hu. oncerning the affair is as follows.-He says that on entering Colonel Grisham's room the latter was at his desk, with his back turned towards the door. Tuthill went to the window, towards which Grisham was facing, put his foot therein and inquired of Grisham with he had blackguarded him (Tuthill) in Grisham why he had blackguarded him (Tuthill) in his paper of the evening previous. He said further that he thought any citizen had a right to criticize public journals privately, without such expressions being arrayed in print, with personal and slanderous attacks. Grisham replied that he had a witness who would testify to the statement which had been made. Tuthill did not deny having made use of the expres-sion quoted, but remarked that Grisham had no right to abuse him in the manner in which he had done. At this Grisham arose from his seat, and, done. At this Grisham arose from his seat, and, facing Tuthill, remarked that he (Grisham) was re-sponsible there or anywhere for what he wrote. Tuthill then said, "Be responsible," stepped back, drew his pistol, and fired. Just at that time Grisham sprang upon him, and, it is supposed, must have knocked the pistol down, the ball having penetrated the floor between Grisham's feet. They clinched, and went to the floor, with Tuthill on top, the latter dropping his revolver in the scuffle. S. A. Bovel, assistant editor, who had been lying on a bed, awoke at this time, and pulled Tuthill off, and gave Grisham an opportunity to become the uppermost in the fight, of which he took ad-vantage. Tuthill endeavored to keep Grisham vantage. Tuthill endeavored to keep Grisham rom striking, and in this attempt was scratched un-derneath both eyes by Grimshaw's inger nails. Mr. Bovel states that he was asleep, and did not awake until aroused by the report of the pistol. He was, therefore, unable to tell as to how the difficulty. originated. In order to prevent another difficult originated. In order to prevent another difficulty General Thomas Smiley, without consultation with either party, swore out a peace warrant before Jus-tice Matthews, late in the afternoon, against Tuthill and Bovel, the latter having made use of the expres-sion that "any man who would act like Tuthill in going into the private room as he had done was nothing but a — coward and midnight assassin, am responsible to Tuthill or any of his and friends."

Congressmen in San Francisco. SAN FRANCISCO, June 25 .- Senators Wade and Conkling and the Committee of Ways and Means of Congress to-day met a number of leading merchants and bankers and the representatives of six Chinese companies of this city. After an exchange of compliments, one of the Chinese representatives made a speech, expressing the hope that the Government would double the subsidy of the China line, and run a semi-monthly steamer. He suggested that if Congress passes laws giving full protection to the Chinese, it would be the means of inducing capitalists from China to invest their money in this country. He complained of the unjust laws of California pre-venting the Chinese from testifying in the courts, and laying a special tax on Chinese miners, collect-ing $5 per head from each Chinaman who enters the State. -The districts in the neighborhood of the Austro-Turkish frontier, which some years ago were in-fested by numerous hordes of brigands, have of late again become the scene of frequent murders and again become the scene of request murders and acts of pillage, and the Austrian Government has ordered troops to be sent against the robber bands. Lazo Skundrich, one of the most celebrated and for-midable of the brigand chiefs, who was for eighteen years the terror of the "Military Frontier," is now in the hands of the Austrian authorities. He gave In the hands of the Austrian authorities. He gave himself up to the troops in 1866, after stipulating that "neither himself nor his companions should be sentenced either to death or imprisonment for life." He was then employed, on the principle of "set a thief to catch a thief," as leader of the Austrian troops in their campaign against the brigands; and he proved so successful in his new career that in a short time the country was almost entirely cloared of the robber hunds. He was then tried in a circl of the robber bands. He was then tried in a civil court for his former offenses, and was sentenced, t gether with his band, to eighteen years' hard abor. As soon, however, as it became known that the was in prison, the brigands again began to show themselves, and their depredations have now be-come so formidable that the Government has decided to liberate Skundrich and employ him as be fore, in the pursuit of his former comrades.

The New York Money Market. From the Herald.

Fine New York Money Market.
From the Herald.
"The Money market to-day was more abundantly supplied with funds, but the increased activity in stocks kept the demand quite up to the usual degree. The general and prevailing rates during the sarlier hours were seven per cent. gold on miscellaneous collaterais, and seven per cent. currency on Governments. In fact, the rate on the latter class of securities has been generally at the legal figure, either in gold or currency, throughout the monetary activity of the past few weeks. Seven per cent. gold is equivalent to 9% per cent. So that when latter in the day, between two and three o'clock, the period during which there is a larger inquiry, the rate advanced to a thirty-second per diem, it was only a slight aggravation, 1%2 being about 11 per cent. Just as 3 o'clock was striking, the demand was confined to some two or three borrowers, who yet lingered on the sidewalk in front of the Stock Exchange, and had to pay gold interest. The rate on call was, therefore, more uniform than it has been in a good while. It fluctuated neither to extreme further. Commercial paper was quoted at 9610 per cent. for prime double-name acceptance.
The Government market was animated and storng at the opening through a continued strong market in London for flive-twentifes at the beginning of business there this morning, and improved at the gold market. This buoyancy was checked in the afternoon by the decline in London, but holders were thread to the sellers few, the market cusing steady and duit.

"The gold market was in the main dull. The range in the price was from 137 to 137%. The decline in Consols at London, despite the lowering of the discount rate of the Bank of England, is significant of a rather apprehensive feeling in the English money market. It is not easy to conjecture its cause unless we start with the surmise that there is gome-thing really critical in French publics the effect of thing really critical in French politics, the effect of which radiates from Paris to London. The change has a greater effect on the Pennsylva-nians than upon other folks. They are in a great rage at losing their representation in the Cabinet. The idea that a great State like Pennsylvania should be kept out and a little potato-patch like New Jer-sey awarded a Cabinet officer seems to them utterly present to the setting the transmission of the setting the posterous. They admit that they were not sail with Borie, but they blame the President fo not selecting another and more popular man from that State. The Pennsylvania politicians say the effect of this Cabinet change will be most disastrous upon the approaching Gubernatorial election in their State. Even the most sangninbegin to entertain doubts of the ability of the rad-cals to carry the State, which at the best is expected to be very close. The Republicans say the people of Pennsylvania will regard the action of the President in not selecting a successor to Borie from the old Keystone as a snub. It will cool the ardow of the Republicans, while it will give courage to the Demo-crats. Altogether, Pennsylvania is decidedly dis-gusted with Grant, Borie, and herself.

The Conquest of Soudan.

The London Army and Navy Gazette informs its readers that Sir S. Baker Pasha's force for the conquest of the Soudan will consist of two regiments of infantry, each 600 strong, one regiment of irregu-lars 600 strong, two regiments of cavalry each 450 strong, two light batteries and one heavy battery... in all a force of some 3300 men. The country is dif-ficult, the climate very damp and feverish. There is no opposition to be apprehended in the field, but it will be interesting to see how Baker Pasha, who is not a soldier, handles his little army. He has power of life and death in his command. We power of life and death in his command. We hope he has power to watch over his own life and his health.

Extraordinary Confession.

An extraordinary confession of murder is reported to have been recently made in the neighborhood of Hull, England. Thirty-three years ago an old woman named Lister disappeared very mysteriously from named Laster disappeared very mysteriously from Stockton-on-Tees, and some months afterwards her dead body was discovered in a hedge. Her only son, who hore a bad character, was suspected of having murdered his mother, the suspicion arising mainly from the circumstance that on the morning before her disappearance the old woman said her son was pursuing her to murder her and to rob her of two normals at the components incomet an one worlder pounds. At the coroner's inquest an open verilet was returned, the jury inclining to the opinion that the deceased had committed suicide, from the fact that a razor was found lying beside the body. The son died a few days ago at Hull, and, conscience-stricken, he confessed on his death-bed that thirtyhree years ago he murdered his mother in a planta tion at Elton, near Stockton-on-Tees.

They are not accustomed to row with a coxswain, but they are practising al-most daily with what they call their "deadweight," and the crew are all ploked men. The captain, Mr. Loring, is said to be the best man of his time at an oar. There are to be several spare hands brought over, in case any of the chosen crew fall in. Two of these reserves are close upon six feet in height, and muscular in proportion. The race will cxcite great interest in the United States, and at Harvard much anxiety is feit that Oxford should send its best respresentatives, so that it may not be said hereafter, much anxiety is felt that Oxford should send its best representatives, so that it may not be said hereafter, "If we had put so-and-so in the boat we could have beaten you." The London Rowing Club are pre-pared to treat their transatiantic friends with great pared to treat their transatiantic friends with great hospitality, and they may safely calculate on receiv-ing equally kind treatment wherever they go. It is only to be hoped that the experiences of the last match between Oxford and Cambridge will not be forgotten, and that by some means or other the steamboats will be kept under proper control.

Rems of News from Our Exchanges. RAYMOND'S SUCCESSOR.—There is quite a sharp contest going on for Mr. Raymond's successor in the Times. The principal stockholders in the concern are George Jones, the publisher and business man of the concern, who owns thirty shares; Mr. Raymond's estate, thirty-four shares; James B, Taylor, fourteen shares; E. B. Morgan, of Cayuga, ten shares; A. B. Stout, ten shares; and two other shares owned by when the shares; The shares is the shares of the shares. The Stout, ten shares; and two other shares owned by other parties, making in all one hundred shares. The shares are valued at $10,000, making the concern worth about $1,000,000. The different interests are divided as to who will be Mr. Raymond's successor. One interest favors George William Curtiss, another interest would like to see Mr. Godkin, of the Nation, and another interest is pressing Mr. District-Attorney Tracey, of Brooklyn. How the matter will end it is Tracey, of Brooklyn. How the matter will end it is impossible to way. The Times is a prosperous news-paper, and is paying large dividends. It is under-stood that Mr. Haymond made a will some time since, making Judge Benedict his administrator.—N.

THE CRANE MURDER.

The Plea of Yerger's Insaulty.

The Field of Yerger's Instanty. Jackson, Miss., cor. Cincinnati Commercial. The time of the Military Commission to-day was wholly occupied in receiving the testimony of Mr. John K. Yerger, uncle of the prisoner, regarding the family difficulties of the accused. He was unreason-ably violent, sometimes bloodthirsty, and, as the de-fense claim, crazy. His conduct for several years over was gone lite, and an effort was made to show past was gone into, and an effort was made to show that eccentricity, if not insanity, has marked the conduct of his family on the male side for some conduct of his family on the male side for some generations. A few months since he made a lunge with his knife at his brother George, and was only defeated by being knocked down with a chair; for three or four years witness had believed, and at times had said, that he was crazy; did not think his conduct was due to liquer, though drink augmented his distemper; on the morning of Colonel Crane's death accused returned from Memphis at 1 o'clock A. M.; sent for witness at 5 o'clock; did not think he had slept at all; he scemed greatly excited at the indignity and insult ecemed greatly excited at the indignity and insult to which his wife and family had been subject in the seizure of the plano during his absence; witness did not anticipate any trouble, or he would have endeavored to prevent it. Witness described the en-counter between Yerger and Colonel Crane as nar connect between reper and coloner. Crane as mar-rated before by other wijnesses. Endeavored to separate the parties; got his clothes all bloody; picked up the knife as Edward threw it down, all covered with blood; took it to his office and looked it up as it was until it should be called for; saw Colonel Crane strike Yerger, holding his hight cane horizontally, breast high, and striking out at Yerger. On this point the testimony of the witness differed from the point the testimony of the witness differed from all others when such as the second point the from all others who saw the scuttle preceding the stabbing. On cross-examination the witness would not admit that the conduct of the accused resulted from drink, or that his insanity was due to delirium tremens. The accused has gone as a delegate to the Memphis Convention, but got up the meeting himself, and it was only attended by five or six persons; had once been in the State Legislature, and was a delegate at large for the State at the Democratic Convention. He managed his own business, but managed it badly, and gave constant evidence that his undue excitement and ungoverned passions were due to an un-

-The Pall Mall Gazette says :- "Can nothing be done to check the unaccountable mania of railway officials for locking up passengers in carriages? On the Underground Railway, for instance, at Westminster Bridge, trains are constantly coming in with all the doors locked on the arrival side, and passengers are kept kicking and shouting for deliverance till a leisurely porter, with evident enjoyment of the sport, saunters along, releasing the angry captives as he goes. This is excellent fun, no doubt. Life in an underground railway must be rather duil and one underground railway must be rather dull, and one would certainly not grudge any innocent relaxation to beguile its tediousness. But some amusement might surely be devised for the officials less trying to the temper of the public. This plan for locking the carriages on the side at which people are required to get out is on a par with the ingenious idea of the South Eastern Company, who have been prosecuting a gentleman for 'unlawfully and willfully 'neglecting to alight at a station at which the train, as was proved, never stopped. It is quite clear that railway officials are not to be trusted with keys, and it would be well if Parliament interdicted them from the use of such instruments altogether,"

Court of Quarter Sessions-Judge Ludlow.

The trial of a German named Louis Goldschmidt, for keeping a disorderly house, engaged the atten-tion of the Court this morning. The place complained of is No. 1832 Master street, is used as a lager beer saloon, and is in the centre of a row of pretty and highly respectable residences; and a number of per-sons living there testified that the swearing, singing. and laughing of the drunken people who frequent there, rendered it unpleasant for any decent ramily to have a home in the neighborhood. On trial.

Nisi Prius-Judge Sharswood.

Rules and motions were before the Court to-day. In the case of Knecht vs. Price et al. exceptions to Master's report. The judge delivered his decision, dismissing the exceptions and deciding according to he Master's report.;

Court of Common Plens-Judge Brewster, The usual Saturday lists and Orphans' Court busi-ness were transacted this morning.

Judge Brewster gave the following judgments:-Greaves vs. Gamble. Demurrer to a bill for spe-cific performance. Demurrer overruled. F. Hermann vs. David Mayer. Certiorari to Alderman Delaney. Judgment reversed. Dunlap vs. Shepley, certiorari to Alderman Gib-son. In this case it was alleged that the alderman gave judgment without any evidence being heard before him. This record says that several witnesses were sworn, and that proofs and allegations were heard. The defendant and his wife were allowed to be examined in support of the exceptions, and no testimony was offered to contradict them. The Court therefore reversed the judgment.

Ogden vs. Dappy. Certiorari to Alderman Delany. In this motion three months notice to quit on the 25th of March, 1869, served on the 25th of December, 1969, le bala million the 25th of December, 1868, is held sufficient, and the Alderman's decision wister vs. Couroy. Certiorari. In this case the Court holds that a lease upon agreement that the tenant will vacate at any time upon three months' notice, does not create a term, and is, on the contrary, a pure tenancy at will; and that an alderman cannot legally act as sgent for either of the suitors before him, he being liable to indictment for an aggravated misdemeanor for so doing. The judgment is reversed.

Orrice of THE KVENING TELEGRAPH, Saturday, June 26, 1969. The improvement in several branches of trade during the past week has given additional activity to the loan market, both for commercial and manufac-taring purposes, whilst the demand for brealstuffs and wool has made heavy drafts on the funds of the market to move them to the scaboard. This, in a great measure, will account for the tightness which has prevailed in most of the currency markets of the Eastern scaboard, and no immediate relief is antici-pated by those who are best able to judge of the prospects of the future. The demand, but there is very little surplus gene-native, whilst a few of the banks feign poverty.
