Church News-The Crops Great Camp Meeting-A Jubilee on the Fifth. From Our Own Correspondent.

READING, July 1, 1869. This city, beautiful for situation, the gem of the old Keystone State, is all alive at present. The fires of patriotism are all aglow, and on the morning of the 5th of July, at 6 o'clock, they will be developed in a grand Jubilee, to be held on Market Square. All the vocal music societies, the principal church choirs, and the bands of the city, have volunteered their services for the occasion. There will be not less than a thousand voices in the choruses, while the orchestral accompaniment will be tremendous.

The following will be the order of exercises:-Joseph L. Stichter, Esq., will preside in the jubilee.

Prayer will be offered by Rev. T. A. Fernley, of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Hon, J. Lawrence Getz, member of Congress from this district, will read the Declaration of Independence.

Luther's Battle Hymn, "Ein Fester Burg Ist Unser Gott," will be sung as a grand chorus, The closing piece will be "With one consent let all the earth," with doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." The whole occasion will be a time never to be forgotten. The two oldest Methodist- Episcopal churches of this city, Ebenezer and St. Peter's, are being put through a course of improvements which will make them among the handsomest church edifices in this city. The first named will have a new and elegant front, with a large recess in the rear, which will be devoted to the organ and choir.

The crops around this city and all through Lebanon Valley were never more promising. Haymaking is advancing rapidly. The grass is very heavy, and should the weather prove favorable hay will be abundant, and all other things in proportion. Fruit of all kinds is most promising. Cherries and other early fruits are already a drug in the market.

A large camp-meeting for Harrisburg district Phliadelphia Conference of the M. E. Church. will be held on the 29th inst. at Lebanon, 28 miles west of this city.

The woods selected are about one mile from therailroad, and are splendidly adapted to the purpose. No prettier spot can be found. The Phladelphia and Reading Rallroad, with its wellknwn liberality and disposition always to oblge the public, has made arrangements with the committee to furnish excursion tickets at lor rates from your city and all other prominet points on the main road and all its branches.

esterday morning the conductor of a stone trm, by the name of Rhoads, residing at Pottston, while attending to his duties on his train paing through this city, fell in a fit, and fifteen ca passed over him, horribly mangling his boy. He was an excellent man, thirty-five yers of age, and leaves a wife and five small chdren to mourn their irreparable loss. Truly in se midst of life we are in death.

Since the bill sand the House of Commons there had been great citement, rumors of reaction and threatenings of speedy doom. During this excitement he and colleagues had remained in a state of great anquillity, for they felt that the review of their ork was not a matter to arouse their jealousy, but as rather a matter calculated to create satisfacn. Although great care had been bestowed on e bill, no doubt it still had many faults. He conuded: "We shall be grateful for every improve ient, and all changes shall be respectfully considred, subject to the position in which we stand, to ords spoken and pledges given, and to the comhission we have received. the following:—

Resolved, That upon the actual issues of the day the best guide will be found in the principles upon which our Government is founded, as declared by the fathers of the republic. Resolved, That the rights of the States in the Union and under the Constitution have always been and should always be maintained by the Democracy of Philadelphia. Resolved, That in our own case the right is now threatened by the attempt to regulate suffrage in Pennsylvania, and give the ballot to the

Resolved. That the issue between a free gov-ernment of the United States and that consolidation which is but another name for imperial despotism, is now clearly made before the people; that the Democracy of Philadelphia pronounces for that free government under which the native citizen was born, and which the naturalized citizen by choice adopted. Resolved, That the Democrats of Philadelphia pledge themselves to the retrenchment of expenses in the management of public affairs, and, o far as in them lies, the reform of every abuse that can give occasion for complaint.

Resolved, That the candidates presented by this convention are entitled to the confidence of

The East River Bridge. Relative to the proposed bridge over the East river, to connect New York and Brooklyn, Hon. Relative to the proposed bridge over the East river, to connect New York and Brooklyn, Hon. Demas Barnes recently said:

They say, "Who will ever climb 130 feet to cross it;" My deer sirs, who has asked you to do it? Have you ever crossed Fulton ferry? Do you know the grade you now make on either side to get from the ferry? To go from Sands street, Brooklyn, to Broadway, New York, by boat, we now descend 68 feet, and then ascend 46 feet, a total grade of 168 feet. To get from and to the same point by bridge, we will ascend 62 feet and descend 90 feet, a total grade of 152 feet, or only 44 feet more than we now do twice a day, and hardly notice it. If the effect of this bridge will add two per cent, extra to the natural increase of our wealth from this time forward, it will be $3,000,000 in 1870 and $35,000,000 in 1890, or an average of $17,500,000 new wealth per year for thirty years, which at three per cent, will bring us a tax income of $12,700,000, or $425,000 per annum. The interest on $6,000,000 of bridge debt at seven per cent, will be $426,000. All paid for us. Not a very expensive luxury, certainly. If it is said the increase will not commence immediately, I reply that I think you are wrong; but if it does not, neither is the whole debt to be at once. I think you are wrong; but if it does not, neither is the whole debt to be at once contracted. Can we afford to drive from our doors the wealth of an empire, because, perchance, we may have to pay a few
