will encamp at Cape May, N. J., from the 16th to the 23d

My close and continued personal associations with you as Assistant Adjutant-tieneral in the war of the Rebellion having led to the formation of the lasting friendship which then and since has ever existed, together with your marked and pre-eminent soldierly abilities, judgment, bravery, of our present system of infantry tactics, have prompted me to have the encampment known and recognized as "Camp Upton."

If consistent with your military engagements, I should be pleased to have you visit the regiment on that occasion. I am, General, very respectfully, your obedient

THE MINT.

Work to be Suspended for a Month-Extensive Repairs to be Made.

The mechanical operations of the Chief Coiner's department of the United States Mint, in this city, will be suspended for three or four weeks, commencing with to-morrow, for the purpose of having an entire new set of boilers placed in the institution. These boilers have been under preparation for some months, and were constructed with the greatest of care and skill possible to bestow upon them. Every care and skill possible to bestow upon them. Every separate piece of material was tested before being used, and all the boit-holes have been bored instead used, and all the bott-holes have been bored instead of drilled, so as to produce no fracture upon the iron. When completed, there can be no doubt that these boilers will be second to none in the country, in every essential. During the last fortnight the Mint has been ranning to its fullest capacity, so as to have a sufficient supply of coin on hand to meet all the demands of the public until the resumption of coining operations. During this suspension of work in the Chief Coiner's department all the machinery will be completely overhauled. The public, of course, is aware that the machinery of the United States Mint, during the last two or three years, has been rendered aware that the machinery of the United States Mint, during the last two or three years, has been rendered in all its branches possibly the most effective for the purposes intended of any other minting establishment in the world. New and improved drawbenches, steel rollers, new cutting-benches, and new and improved coining-press place the Mint to-day in a condition to meet all the description to the care has made upon it. The only thing that was necessary to render it complete in all its branches was the introduction of these new boilers.

The amount of coinage prepared at the Mint with-in the last two weeks aggregates three-quarters of a million of dollars. As a very large proportion of this sum was of the subsidiary or token coinage, the ount of labor will be seen to have been very great in its preparation, During the temporary suspension of operations in chanical department of the Mint, the Recely ing and Paying Departments will continue open for The pensioners have been trying to get their claims to the bounty of the Federal Government recognized, but thus far they have been unsuccessful. It is to be hoped that the Government will ere long accede to their demands. The six hundred pensioners average about sixty-two years of age. Many of them have reached fourscore and ten.

Orders from the President for a Strict Enforcement of the Laws.

From the N. Y, Times of to-day.

Yesterday despatches were received from Wash-ngton by District Attorney Pierrepont, directing him to use every possible effort to stop Cuban expe-ditions from leaving this port, and to act in co-operation with Marshal Barlow in securing the arrest of persons attempting to violate the Neutrality lact. He also received a special commission issued by President Grant, authorizing him to call on General McDowell for such troops as he may require, and on Admiral Godon, of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, for such vessels and forces as he may deem necessary to prevent the departure of any hostile expedition. Marshal Barlow was also similarly empowered, and was further instructed to proceed against certain flibusters whose movements he had made known in Washington. The commissions from the President are granted under the eighth section of the Neutrality act

After receiving his instructions, Marshal Barlow proceeded to the Custom House to confer with the Collector and Surveyor in regard to the temporary transfer of revenue cutters to his officers. It is understood that he intends to use them in destroying the fillibusterers' camp which has existed at Gardiner's Island, in Long Island Sound, for the past two weeks, or since the time of the seizure of the Catherine Whiting, which was to have conveyed them to Cuba. The men on the island have been under com-mand of Colonel Ryan, and have been waiting in the expectation that the Cuban Junta would find the means of departure. There is every prospect that they will be brought to this city as prisoners within the next twenty-four hours, or else that they will be

It has also been authoritatively reported that information of another projected expedition from this port has reached the Marshal, and has been verified port has reached the Marshal, and has being enum-by his detectives. The account is, that a large num-ber of men have been quartered at a recruiting ren-ber of men have been quartered at a recruiting redezvous on Third avenue, including a considerable number of those who were recently released from the Navy Yard on their own recognizance, and that the Navy Yard on their own recognizance, and that it was the determination of their leaders to sail for Cubs at an early date. It is further supposed that the Junta have purchased a new vessel, and that the filbusters are provided with a large quantity of arms. It is believed that Marshal Barlow will be able to intercept the proposed expedition, and that the papers will have occasion to chronicle another

This company, under its amended charter, has the exclusive right to construct a railroad from St. John's river to St. Augustine, for the term of twenty years, within twenty miles of the present line of their road. We learn that it is the intention of those most interested in this enterprise to have the road in successful operation again, and through to St. Augustine, by the 1st or 15th of November. It intended to stock the road with handsome and comfortable cars and locomotives, and to land passengers in St. Augustine from Tocoi, after the arrival of steamers, in forty minutes. steamers, in forty minutes.

A Story of French Morals.

An attempted murder at St. Denis, Paris, recently brought to light an extraordinary example of domestic immorality. At the corner of the Rue des Carmelites is a small wine shop, kept by a man and woman named respectively Sennery and Muret. The latter had a daughter aged fifteen years and a half, and Sennery took it into his head to marry her. The woman gave her consent, but the girl, who was at boarding-school, refused, knowing that the man cohabited with her mother; being, however, importanted by her parent, she at length consented, but on condition that she should remain at the school and complete her education. The marriage took place, and on the evening, as arranged, the bride returned to her school, and the bridegroom with her mother to the wine shop. That state of things lasted about three weeks, but Sennery at length got tired of his equivocal situation, and exercised his marital authority to force his wife to return to the conjugal domicile, and she was obliged to submit. As may be imagined, peace did not reign long in this polygamous household; quarrels arose daily between the man, the mother, and daughter, and a few evenings back, after a fresh dispute, the husband fired a pistol at his wife, lodging a ball in her chest. She was removed to an hospital, and is at present in a satisfactory state; while the assailant was arrested. A Story of French Morals.
